This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise sick women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Delle. Emerentienne Montreuil, of 114 Latourelle St., Quebec, Que.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered for eight months with what the doctors called prolapsus, which caused great weakness all over my system, with faint dizzy spells. I kept growing weaker and weaker. I tried several medicines which they claimed would cure my trouble, but nothing was of the least benefit until I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and this helped me so rapidly that I could hardly believe my good fortune. I would gladly have paid $25.00 for that first bottle, for it started me on the road to health, and five bottles cured me. I am most grateful for my splendid, robust health, and shall certainly recommend the Vegetable Compound in glowing terms to all my friends and acquaintances, for it is deserving of all the praise I can give it."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

Failing Eyesight and Torpid Liver
GOOD SIGHT AND GOOD HEALTH RETURNED WHEN THE LIVER WAS SET RIGHT BY
DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

To persons who have not considered the relationship of eyesight to general health this letter will prove especially interesting.

Mr. A. R. Price, Nose Creek Calgary, Alta., writes:—"I write to tell you how highly we think of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, for they are unsurpassed for torpid liver, constipation and kidney troubles. My husband derived great benefit from Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a couple of years ago when he was feeling depressed and regularly out of sorts. His eyesight was failing and the lamplight hurt his eyes so he could not read at all and had made up his mind to see an oculist.

"I advised him to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, thinking he was suffering from torpid liver. He did so and after using less than two boxes his eyesight entirely returned and he felt quite well again. We would never be without these pills in the house and I cannot speak too highly of them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are marvellously prompt and certain as a cure for sluggish action of the liver. While awakening the liver they also regulate the bowels and invigorate the kidney action.

In this way the filtering and excretory systems are thoroughly cleansed of all poisonous impurities and the cause of pain, sickness and suffering removed.

In every family there is need of just such a medicine as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to cure constipation, backache, biliousness, indigestion and prevent dangerous and fatal diseases of the kidneys and bowels. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

To Elect Officers

The adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade will be held to-morrow night in the city council chamber when the officers will be elected and other business transacted. A full attendance of the members of this body is desired.

WEDDING BELLS

DORRIS-BYRNE

The wedding was quietly solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral at 6 o'clock this morning of Miss Margaret Bryne, daughter of Mr. Michael Bryne, of Kinmount, to Mr. Albert B. Dorris, son of Mr. John Dorris, corner of London and Harvey street, city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. O'Brien in the presence of a few intimate friends of the young couple.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of dark blue ladies' cloth, with picture hat to match, while she carried a white Prayerbook. The bridesmaid, Miss Lizzie Bryne, of Toronto, sister of the bride, wore a pretty gown of gray ladies' cloth with white hat and white prayerbook. Mr. Jas. Judd, of Peterborough, assisted the groom.

The wedding party assembled at the residence of Mr. Thos. Holland, 138 London street, the bride's cousin.

The young couple are well known and popular in the city and were the recipients of many valuable presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorris left on the 7.20 G.T.R. train for Toronto and other western points. They will, on their return, take up residence at 31 Bolivar street.

STEAMER EMPRESS HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Steamer's Engines Were Reversed and Hawser Snapped, Swinging Big Boat Across Harbor.

The Empress of Britain, the steamer on which Mr. J. W. Wood, of this city, is sailing for England, had a narrow escape from what might easily have proven a serious smash, on Friday night. A despatch records it as follows:

The huge greyhound had just swung out from her berth at Sand Point. She lay lengthwise in the harbour, with her bow pointing towards the ocean. On her port bow was the C.P.R. tug Cruiser, with hawser attached; on the starboard the William Thomson Co.'s tug Neptune, with a second hawser.

The Britain was just beginning to move when the starboard hawser snapped, swinging the liner hard to port, and narrowly missing the Donaldson liner Cassandra, lying at the wharf on the other side of the harbour, opposite Sand Point.

Through some mistake the steamers reversed engines instead of going ahead, and it was only by a lucky chance that a serious smash-up was avoided.

FIRE! FIRE! FIRE!

Scott's Colloseum
429 GEORGE STREET

New Programme for week commencing April 8, 1907.

THE GREAT TORONTO FIRE

Only those who actually saw the great fire in Toronto can adequately appreciate the realism of the moving pictures shown in the Colloseum by Mr. Scott and his assistants. The clang of the fire bells, the rush and hurry, the terror and grandeur of the awful conflagration are marvellously brought out. The rescue work of the firemen, the rush of the crowds, fighting the flames and dynamiting the dangerous walls, are depicted with a realty that is almost incredible.

The continuous performance takes place every afternoon and evening from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m. and furnishes a refined entertainment for both small and great. Ladies are especially invited to the afternoon performances.

WANT BISHOP---COADJUTOR TO ASSIST THE BISHOP

Churchmen Feel That Work of Archbishop of Toronto Exceeds the Strength of One Man.

A MOVEMENT NOW ON FOOT

Friends in Peterborough of the Bishop of Toronto, and he has a great many, will be interested in an article which appeared in the last issue of the Churchman, in which the appointment of someone who will act as an assistant to the Bishop is considered. The Churchman says:—

"Let us go back some twenty-five years. The Bishop of Toronto was then a man in the prime and vigor of life, with two Archdeacons, one very vigorous and hard working, and a staff of Rural Deans. Now the Bishop is advanced in years, and has been raised to be Metropolitan, Archbishop and Primate of All Canada. In order to be able to discharge the duties of this high office his hands ought to be perfectly free and he also ought to have an office staff with trained knowledge. That contemplates of necessity the appointment of an Assistant or Coadjutor Bishop to take the great burden of diocesan work off his shoulders. Until that appointment shall have been made it is self-evident that everything should be done by the Archbishop to surround himself with a staff sufficient to lighten the drudgery. The clergy have increased in numbers, and all the varied institutions of the diocese and the absolutely necessary correspondence have grown with the Bishop's years until the burden is at least fourfold in amount to what it was when in his prime he entered on his office. Naturally, one expects to hear of help. But what do we find? The Archdeacons had been increased in numbers to three. But at this moment of writing the Archbishop has only one thoroughly able, vigorous and active, thank goodness, a real Bishop's eye. The other has been appointed to work which required the whole time of the best man for it in the diocese and those is Archdeacon Warren going to carry it out, attend to his work and have any time left to assist the Archbishop? The Archdeaconry of Simcoe is vacant, and as if that were not sufficient burden the Archbishop retains the position of Dean of the Cathedral. Really it is pitiful to see him struggling under such a load. There is no need for the Archbishop killing himself. . . There should be four Archdeacons and a Dean, and they and the Rural Deans should have free hands to relieve the Archbishop as much as possible. The diocese of Toronto should not be short-handed, it is uncalled for. Just think of it, with practically one assistant in the diocesan work, the Archbishop is starting out for over seventy confirmations. The thing is preposterous. We regret having had to speak so frankly and so plainly, but we think not one of our readers will say that it was not high time to do so; and another thing we have endeavoured, and we hope successfully, is to avoid saying anything to give pain to anyone, especially to the Archbishop."

PETERBOROUGH BOARD OF TRADE NOT ISOLATED

In So Far As The Complained of Lack of Harmony With the City Council is Concerned.

FORT WILLIAM THE SAME

Peterborough is evidently not the only place in which difficulty is experienced in keeping the Board of Trade in a live condition, and in awakening an active interest in the organization on the part of the members. The Fort William Times-Journal, referring to the annual meeting of the Board of Trade of that city says:—

"There were about 40 members of the board present and a large number of subjects came under discussion, the principal one of which was the apathy that characterizes the board. The always present question of funds to carry out the schemes of the board was also discussed but no satisfactory conclusion was arrived at. Many of the members attribute the apathy to lack of harmony between the City Council and the Board of Trade. The old question of a publicity agent was again taken up, but again no conclusion was reached. L. L. Pettier took the Board to task for not waking up and insisting that more business relations exist between the city, represented by the Council and the Board of Trade."

From the above it will be seen that the lack of harmony between the City Council and the Board of Trade, complained of by Mr. Hughes Charles in his annual address at a recent meeting of the Board is another point in which Peterborough Board of Trade is up against similar conditions to those in other places in this province.

A BEAVERTON MINISTER WHO WAS GIVEN WARM RECEPTION

Mr. W. O'Brien, traveller for the American Tobacco Company, was in the city, spending Sunday at his home, and related to the Examiner a "hot" reception which a new Presbyterian minister received last week at Beaverton. On Thursday he was inducted as pastor of the church there and during the same night his stable, with a horse which he had just placed in the stable that day, was destroyed by fire. A hearse which was also stored in the building was destroyed. The whole population of the town turned out to help extinguish the flames, but their efforts were to no avail, the flames having gained too much headway before the fire was discovered. Mr. O'Brien left again at noon to-day on another week's trip.

WINTER'S LAST STRUGGLE CAME WITH "SUGAR SNOW"

The last snowstorm of this winter, according to tradition, has been experienced. Last night, or to be more explicit, early this morning, the "sugar" snow, or "squaw winter," was with us. About two inches of snow fell, and, with the fall of snow, the expected rise in the temperature came. The cold weather of the last few days may be now expected to give way to the warm rays of the April sun and genuine spring weather is looked for very shortly.

To the south of the city, along the Lake Ontario shore, there was some snow, rain predominated, and this morning the snow had rapidly disappeared.

ANOTHER IMMIGRANT TRAIN TO-DAY

One Passed Through the City This Morning With Large Number On Board.

Still another immigrant train passed through the city this morning about 9.45 on the C. P. R., bearing many old country people seeking homes in this country. A number of the immigrants got off all along the line but the greater number of them went through to Toronto.

This is about the fifteenth immigrant train that has passed through Peterborough, which fact gives some idea of the rapidity with which Canada is being populated. Besides the trains that come up this many more and longer carry the immigrants from the seaboard to the Canadian by way of the main line.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"KERRY GOW"

The return visit of Allen Doone in "Kerry Gow" to the Grand Opera House Friday April 12th, will be hailed with delight by the patrons in this city.

"Kerry Gow" is a comfort to sore hearts. It is one of those tender and lovable bits of Irish life which smooth away the wrinkles of discontent, causing one to believe once more that the world is indeed beautiful and that in the end the right will surely triumph. There can't be too many plays of this sort. Heaven knows, there's sorrow enough in reality without having it put before our eyes on the stage as well—the sorrow and the trouble that conquer. An excellent company is giving Joseph Murphy's pretty play. In fact, it may be said that "Kerry Gow" has never been better presented in all respects. The actors are familiar with their parts and take them with finish and enthusiasm that cannot fail to make the right impression. Allen Doone, as the blacksmith hero, "Dan O'Hara," is just the sort of hero one expects the independent-minded, quick-witted, sweet-souled Dan to be. And don't forget the doves—they certainly accomplished their duty without a hitch. It's a pretty conceit to introduce the doves into the play in this manner. The scenery is all beautiful and the forge scene is particularly effective.

The deceased was 72 years of age and had lived practically all his life in the township in which he died. The deceased was confined to the hospital in Lindsay, and, later, was conducted to St. Joseph's, being about four months in both. Her home was in Downeyville, where she met with a serious accident last autumn. She was driving a horse which became uncontrollable and ran way, throwing Mrs. Dorrigan on to a culvert, As a result, her spine was injured, and she had never been well since.

The deceased was 37 years of age. She was married, and leaves a husband and two children to mourn her sad demise.

The remains were taken to Downeyville yesterday, and the funeral will be held on Tuesday to the cemetery there.

MANY FRIENDS ATTENDED THE FUNERAL

Late Mark Graystock's Memory Was Honoured by Many Who Gathered to Pay Their Last Respects.

The funeral of the late Mark Greystock, Esq., last Saturday was attended by a very large number of people. A private service was held at the house by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, after which the cortege proceeded to St. Mark's church where the church service was held. Mr. J .H. Armstrong, organist of St. Luke's church presided at the organ, and played the "Dead March" in Saul, while the coffin was being carried into the church. The Rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, preached the funeral sermon in which he referred to the life of the late Mr. Graystock, as having been an upright and honest life in the sight of man based upon truly religious principles. He was undemonstrative in his religious profession, but did, what was much better, live his religion. Those who had known him for many years could testify better than the speaker to the life as he lived it in their midst. He had nothing to be ashamed of, for he always endeavoured to do his duty. As a member of the Church of England he had been loyal to his church, and unwavering in his attachment to her. Nothing could disturb his devotion to his church, of which he was a generous supporter. His religion was not an incident of life, but a reality and the great fact of his life. Although in later years, on account of his great age his mind had been clouded with regards to temporal affairs, and had lived once more in the scenes of childhood, he never lost his clear conception of Christ as being his own Saviour, and to the last was able to take an intelligent part in his devotions. His Bible and Prayerbook were never far from him, and he made always good use of the means of grace. For 35 years he had been Warden of St. Mark's church; examplary in and devoted to his duties as such. The speaker urged his hearers to imitate the good qualities of this life, spent in the service of God and his fellowmen, and above all to try so to live as to be ever prepared for their death.

The interment took place at St. Mark's Cemetery.

A FORMER PETERBORO' RESIDENT DEAD

Late Wm. Herron, Lived Here Before Removing to Snowden, Where He Died.

The Minden Echo, in its last issue, referred to the death of a former well-known resident of Peterborough in the following terms:

Suddenly of heart failure, at Gelert, on Tuesday, April 2, 1907, Mr. William S. Herron, aged 70 years and 8 months.

Deceased was one of the early settlers in Snowden township, and is survived by a sorrowing wife, nine sons and four daughters, all living. The sons are Samuel, Wilson, Robert, Percy, Elmer and Frank, of New Liskeard, Ont.; Stewart, of Okotoka, Alta.; Stanley and Bert of Gelert. The daughters are Mrs. Francis, of Toronto; Mrs. A. M. Clarke, of New Liskeard; Mrs. Clements, of Okokota, Alta.; and Mary, at home.

Mr. Herron moved from Peterborough to Snowden over forty years ago and made it his home till the time of his death. He had been in failing health for some little time and on the evening of his demise four of his sons arrived from New Liskeard, bringing with them a doctor, who is a specialist on diseases of the heart, who immediately made an examination, Mr. Herron being able to answer all questions, and passed a joke with the doctor, but it was found that Dr. Bowen, the family physician, had done all that medical skill could do, and in a few minutes he suddenly passed away. So sudden was the termination of life that two of the sons had not yet seen their father, having just arrived on the evening train, and desiring not to excite him, waited. The funeral, which was under the auspices of the Orange order, took place on Friday.

HIGH CLASS ARTISTS WILL BE HEARD

At Excellent Concert to be Given in St Peter's Hall Under Management of Mrs. W. J. Morrow.

The plan of St. Peter's Hall for the splendid concert to be given on Thursday night next under the management of Mrs. W. J. Morrow, is now open at J. J. Lynch's drug store. Referring to Mr. Gilbert Shorter, who is one of the artists engaged by Mrs. Morrow, the London, Eng., Lady of Fashion, says: "Mr. Gilbert Shorter, the exceedingly gifted dramatic reciter, gave a successful recital in Steinway Hall. He runs the entire gamut of emotion, portraying each phase with equal verity. He braved the 'odiousness of comparison,' by delivering some of the old time favourites, notably 'King Robert of Sicily,' and demonstrates that he need not fear any of his rival artists. Another striking success was the humorous sketch, 'How to Propose,' by Max Fairfax, and there were poems by Rudyard Kipling, Lena Guilbert Ford and others, all enthusiastically received. He has a fine personal appearance, a rich voice, and exceptional dramatic ability."

In this concert Mr. Shorter will have associated with him Madame Lilian Adams, and her daughter, Beryl, both very talented. Some of Mrs. Morrow's pupils will also contribute to the programme.

TATE OPTICAL CO'Y

G. N. BABCOCK, Eye Specialist

412½ GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

ANOTHER VALUABLE DOG POISONED YESTERDAY

Authorities Should Get After This Weak-Brained Individual if Possible.

The despicable dog destroyer has been at work again and this time in the west end of the city. From the regularity of these occurrences it seems probable that some crank, or weak-brained person with a mania for the destruction of canines is steadily pursuing his work and it is high time that some measures were taken to prevent further losses. On this occasion Mrs. Ed. Welsh, of Elm street suffered the loss of a valuable bull terrier, a family pet and the companion and protector of Mrs. Welsh's two little daughters. The dog was very quiet and noffensive and it is safe to say that money would not buy it.

It had a habit of following almost everybody and yesterday afternoon was seen following a suspicious looking character towards Jackson Park. This man is well known by some of the west end people and it is their belief that he made away with the dog. The citizens have suffered enough already in the losses of valuable dogs.

DRUNKEN MAN ALMOST STRUCK BY NOON TRAIN

Was Walking Along in Drunken Ignorance of the Proximity of the Express.

Walking along the Port Hope branch of the G. T. R., about twenty minutes after 12 o'clock to-day, a man narrowly escaped being struck by the noon express. In truth, but for the fact that a milkman who chanced by at the time, pulled the man off the track, he might have met death. The train was late and was travelling at a rapid rate, and just as it approached the Lake street crossing it suddenly stopped. The old man had been walking along in an intoxicated condition and, helpless as he was, he did not hear the oncoming express. A milkman saw him, and, noticing that he was drunk, ran from his cart and pulled the old fellow out of danger just as the train lowed up. It was a close call, and that it did not result more seriously is due to the timely aid of the milk vendor.

THE SMITH COUNCIL IS AGAINST THE REQUEST

Opposed to Application for Liquor License for Hotel in Harvey Towpship.

At the meeting of the Smith township council, held this morning, the following resolution was passed:

"Moved by Mr. Graham, seconded by Mr. White, that this council learns that a license is being requested for the Windsor House in Harvey, and this council believes that it would not be in the best interests of this township to grant the same, as the Government intends to proceed with large public works, and it deems that it would be better to not have any liquor near the work."

This resolution will be presented to the Board of License Commissioners for the West Riding of Peterborough, at the meeting to grant the licenses on Thursday, April 18.

LOOK FOR A RECORD SEASON IN BASEBALL

According to the Port Hope Guide the season of 1907, should be a red letter one for the Midland League. The four teams along the front with a double schedule gives each team twelve games and with the short trips this should prove a financial success. All the teams are becoming strengthened and the article of ball this year will be the best ever furnished in the Midland League.

CONSTIPATION CLOGS THE BOWELS

No other cause produces so much sickness as constipation, and therefore it is dangerous to allow the bowels to become clogged up. Bad blood, dyspepsia, headaches, biliousness, boils, pimples, and piles, are all caused by constipation.

Avoid all of these troubles by the use of nature's remedy for all diseases of the stomach, bowels and blood. It acts on the bowels and promotes their free and regular action, curing constipation and all troubles which arise from it. It has been on the market for over thirty years so you are not using a new and untried remedy. B.B.B. has cured thousands of others and will cure you. Mr. B. Woodcock, Nashwaak Bridge, N.S., writes: "For over two years my wife was troubled with constipation. She tried several physicians but could get no relief, but after taking three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters she was completely cured and is to-day in good health. My wife and I cannot speak too highly of B.B.B.

TIRED AND WEARY

Mrs. Gideon J. Hamacher, New Dundee, Ont., writes: "I took your Burdock Blood Bitters for my stomach. I was very much bothered with it one spring, and was tired and weary all the time, and did not feel like working at all, but after taking the medicine I felt all right again."

USED FOR YEARS

Mr. Ambrose Logan, Smith's Falls, Ont., writes: "We have used Burdock Blood Bitters in our family for years as a Spring Medicine, and find it cannot be beat. I can recommend it highly, and would advise any person not feeling well to use it."

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, April 8. — The reaction in the market starting on Saturday was as expected, extended to-day, and the list was subjected to pressure from realizing and short selling. The amount of long stock coming out was not large, and scale support seemed to care for the offerings in a very satisfactory way. The recession is a natural one. The news of the day was not of importance and the list acted in a purely technical way. Developments indicate that conservative purchases should be made on this recession. London was again a fair seller, making the total amount of 170,000 shares sold in a week. Money was easy.

In the last half hour quite a rally set in led by Smelting and closing prices were firm, but mostly under Saturday's final.

MISSIONARIES ARRIVED AT DESTINATION

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Decks Robertson Have Reached Chentu, West China.

Friends in this city of Mrs. Harold Decks Robertson, will be interested in learning that, according to the Toronto Mail and Empire, a cablegram has been received at the Methodist Mission Rooms noting the arrival at Chentu of the nineteen missionaries who sailed from Vancouver on November 26 last. The party have been four months and one week making the trip, the distance of over 2000 miles from Shanghai to Chentu being made up the Yangtse River in house boats. This latter journey is a very slow one, as the house boats are towed up the river by Chinamen, who walk along the shore.

Master Paton has been heard before in this church, and his work yesterday, as in the past, was greatly appreciated by the large congregations.

Health And Vitality For Old People

As old age creeps on vitality is lowered, the heart beats more slowly, the blood becomes more thin and watery, and the power of resistance is lowered. It is the old people above all others who require the new life and energy which come with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Thousands of old people depend on this treatment, because it calms and quiets the nerves, gradually and certainly enriches the blood, builds up the system and instils new life and vigour into their shrivelled arteries.

FIREMAN OF LINDSAY TRAIN WAS INJURED

Bolt Struck One Leg Below the Knee Requiring Medical Attendance.

When the Lindsay express, which is due in Peterborough at 11.40 a.m., was about a mile this side of Omemee to-day, the fireman met with an accident which necessitated medical aid when the train arrived here. A bolt in some manner struck him below the knee on the right leg. The fireman of the Lakefield train took his place and Dr. Bradd attended to the injured man. It is expected that he will be incapacitated for a short time, although the injury is not very serious.

SCHEDULE OF MIDLAND LEAGUE

Football Men to Congregate Here on April 20th to Draw It Up.

The annual meeting of the Midland Association Football League to draw up the schedule for the season's games will be held at the Y.M.C.A. here on Saturday, April 20th at one o'clock. It is not exactly known yet just how many clubs will enter but it is expected that nine teams at least will be in the three series.

Oshawa will play intermediate and junior; Bowmanville, junior and probably intermediate; Cobourg, senior; Port Hope, intermediate; Keene, intermediate and the, and the Peterborough Quakers, senior and intermediate. Besides these Gore's Landing or Plainsville, and Omemee or Ida will probably enter teams so that the League will have as many teams on the field this year as it had last.

The meeting will be called sharp at the above named hour so it will be necessary for representatives from the various clubs and the officers to be there on time. Communications addressed to J. E. Sullivan, secretary of the league, will be fully considered.

BASEBALL BOOMING IN THIS CITY

Spaulding's Guide Refers to Local Condition—The Charlotte Street Team.

That Guild League baseball is attracting attention in baseball circles outside of Peterborough is shown by the Spalding Official Baseball Guide, just issued, which contains an excellent photograph of the Charlotte street team, for three years champions of the Guild League. With the photograph is the following article, which is included in a chapter on "Baseball in Canada":

Peterborough is Growing

"Peterborough is rapidly becoming a baseball centre, and with its growing population will soon become a first-class proposition in the baseball line. But Peterborough, too, is rather isolated. It is true that Cobourg has a long and honourable career in the baseball world, but it lacks the people to make it anything more than a memory, though the game is as active as ever there so far as town playing is concerned. Port Hope also has baseball ambition, but the people are not numerous and the strongest they can do is to form a little three-town league with Peterborough and Cobourg. In the old days Cobourg raised her own players, but last year and the year before had to import men from Toronto, and Peterborough followed the lead or led the procession, as might be.

"In Peterborough, the Guild League has practically purveyed the fastest ball played in the city for the past two years, and during 1906 especially fast ball was played, several players being drafted from other leagues in and around the city. The Charlotte Street Guild team has been the winner for three consecutive years, and now are the owners of the Examiner Cup, donated by the Hon. J. R. Stratton for competition among the teams of the Guild Baseball League. During last season they played eight league games, winning seven and losing the one game by a very close margin in the last part of the game. They also played several exhibition games with teams from other places, and were never defeated in these games. The games created a great deal of excitement, and the rivalry was very keen throughout. The standing was as follows: 1, Charlotte Street Guild; 2, George Street Guild; 3, St. John's.

LOCAL BOWLERS WERE SEVENTH

In a Field of Sixty in the Canadian Bowling Association Tourney.

The Peterborough bowlers who took part in the C. B. A. tournament which was finished in Toronto on Saturday night, have good reason to feel proud of the showing they made amongst a collection of bowlers which included some of the best on this continent. Messrs. Frost and Boyd of this city were seventh in a field of sixty in the open two-man event with a score of 1077, winning a cash prize of $5. The teams that beat them were: First prize, $60 cash, Storke and Woodbury, Chicago, 1189; second prize, $35 cash, Gebhard and Smith, Buffalo, 1177; third prize, $25 cash, O'Connell and Nimmo, Detroit, 1177; fourth prize, $20 cash, Widdis and Kerr, Detroit, 1103; fifth prize, $15 cash, Bruck and Mahoney, Chicago, 1096; sixth prize, $10 cash, Lee and Doran, Toronto, 1082.

Mr. Boyd's score of 574, rolled in the two-man event, was the third highest made in the tournament, the only men to beat it being Noonan, of Quebec, who rolled 613, and Edw Gebhard, of Buffalo, who made a score of 608. Mr. Boyd's score, if made in the individual event, would have won him a prize of $25.

The local men made such a favourable impression that they have been invited to take part with the Toronto bowlers in the tournament at Detroit this week. The Toronto men leave to-morrow night, and this morning Mr. C. E. Frost received a telegram from Toronto asking the local pair to join them to-morrow night. The local pair have not yet decided as to whether they will make the trip or not.

BIG BANQUET TO THE STRATHCONAS

Will Take Place on Monday Evening Next—Meeting To-night.

The big banquet to be given by the City League teams to the Strathcona, the champions of the City Hockey League, will take place on Monday night next at McCallum's Restaurant, and promises to be a most successful affair. The presentation of the Examiner Cup will take place during the evening, and a very pleasing programme is being arranged. Some of those who will take part in the musical programme are Messrs. W. S. Davidson, W. McElroy, Jas. Browne and Louis Mendel. A meeting of the representatives of the Auburns, Charlotte Street, Orphans and High Lifes is called for to-night at the store of Mr. Fred. A. Clarke to make the final arrangements for the banquet.

BASKETBALL

On Wednesday night the final game of basket ball in the Spring League will be played at the Y.M.C.A., when Dobbin's and Laing's teams will battle for the championship. The game is found to be a good one as the teams are as evenly matched as they possibly can be.

The basketball banquet has been arranged for Wednesday night at the Y.M.C.A., and will take place after the final game of the season.

MUSKRAT PUT UP VERY HARD FIGHT

Rodent Appears in an Unusual Place and is Annihilated by Scotch Terrier.

Mr. C. N. Brown's flour and feed establishment was the scene of an unusual, but nevertheless exciting, combat this morning. The contestants were a muskrat and Mr. Brown's thoroughbred Scotch terrier, and the go is said by those who witnessed it to have been a dandy. The dog won out after a hard fight, but the giant rodent was game to the finish and died with its face to the front.

Just how the muskrat came to be in Mr. Brown's cellar is a mystery. The animal is hardly in condition to speak himself, and no one seems to know anything about the matter. One thing is certain, however, that a sad blow has been dealt our civic pride. How can we boast of the fact that we have a modern city, when muskrats appear within a few feet of our principal thoroughfare, and terrorize our law-abiding dogs. The plumbing and sanitary inspectors should get their heads together and try to place our sewers in such a condition that a full-grown muskrat cannot be disgorged in the centre of our business section. This particular member of the tribe has been sacrificed, but he has established a precedent, and unless a radical change is made in conditions we will all have to do away with cellars or buy Scotch terriers.

DISTURBING THE PEACE COSTS MONEY

Young Men Fined $4.60 Each—A Case of Wages Settled in Court.

The week's police court sessions were opened this morning with several cases, one of which concerned a free fight which occurred on April 3rd in the Royal Hotel. Sandield McManus, Bernard McManus, Oscar Hallihan, Benj. LeBar and William Wallace were charged with being the participants in the scrap. They pleaded not guilty. Mr. Gordon appeared for the McManus brothers.

Mr. Kelly, proprietor of the hotel, was called, and stated that the fight began in the bar-room, but quickly changed to the yard. Witness did not consider that the fight amounted to much.

Harold Scott was called, and said he saw LeBar and Bernard McManus clinch in the bar, and pushed into the yard. From the evidence it appears that no blows were struck. Another witness said there was but little noise and that it could not be heard from the street. The general opinion was that the fight was more of a joke than anything else, that is between LeBar and McManus.

Mr. Gordon called Bernard McManus, who stated when LeBar and he were having a friendly wrestle, Wallace hit him, but witness could not strike back. From the whole evidence the Magistrate concluded there had been disorderly conduct, and fined each man $2 and costs, amounting to $4.60.

Chas. Gunther was charged with having refused to pay Frank Page his wages, $17.50. Mr. Gunther, in defence, said that he came to the city to take charge of the interior work of the Dominion Bank. He hired a number of labourers at 20 cents an hour, and Mr. Page was one of them. During the first week he earned $10.60. Mr. Page claimed that he was not a labourer, and was told that he would receive 25 cents per hour. Mr. Gunther said that he did not tell Page that he was receiving only 20 cents an hour until pay day.

The Magistrate allowed Page the full amount he was earning before being employed by the defendant. Mr. Gunther must therefore pay $20.10, in eight days; this includes the costs.

MR. JUSTICE RIDDLE WAS PRESENTED WITH AN ADDRESS

dress said it was with great pleasure that the members of the bar had learned of his being elevated to the bench. Many years ago when he was in Peterborough the lawyers learned of his great ability and of his sterling character. During the short period he had been on the bench they had the satisfaction of knowing that their consideration of his abilities had been realized. It was with satisfaction that the members of the bar learned of the Government's decision to place younger men on the bench as they will now be in a position to come in contact with the judges for a greater length of time than in the past. Mr. Pousette, in conclusion, again congratulated Mr. Riddell on his recent appointment and felt certain that he would prove himself equal to the task.

The Reply

In reply Mr. Riddell thanked the members of the local bar for their congratulations. Although the kindness exhibited to-day was, he said, a continuation of the many kindnesses he had always received from the Peterborough members of the bar in the past he was glad to receive their congratulations. He had dealings with many members of the bar in the country but he had never met with greater kindnesses than he received in Peterborough. He was pleased to state that the members of the bench in Canada were taken from members of the bar as they were then, he considered, in a better position to fulfill to a better degree the administration of Justice. In closing he again thanked the Peterborough members of the bar for their congratulations and hoped that his friendly relations with them would continue in the future as they had been in the past.

Address to Jury

In addressing the Grand Jury, Mr Justice Riddell congratulated them as well as the county of Peterborough on the fact that there were no criminal cases to be considered at the assizes. The duties of the Grand Jury, he said, had always been to inspect the gaol and other institutions, and discover the defects, if there were any, in these public institutions. The Grand Jury had the right to inspect every prisoner, the drains, ventilation, etc., and advised them to do so. There had been jails with such poor ventilation as to cause the death of prisoners who were only put in for a minor offence. He also advised them to look well after the safety of the jail, and exhorted them to take plenty of time in their work of inspection of the various institutions.

The Grand Jury then filed out of the court room, and the petit jurymen were called.

No Petit Jury

On account of the fact that the cases between Waters and Allen, in which the defendant was charged with alienating the affections of the plaintiff's wife, and the one between Frost and the G. T. R. had been settled, no petit jury was necessary and those called were given their freedom by the judge.

The first case brought before the court was Rutch vs. Spry, in which the plaintiff charges the defendant with excluding light by means of a high board fence, and otherwise inconveniencing the plaintiff. Mr. D. O'Connell, of O'Connell & Gordon, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. George Edmison, of Edmison & Dixon, for the defendant.

PETERBOROUGH MAN WILL ACCOMPANY THE REMAINS

Of the Big Mammoth Recently Discovered in Ice Formation in Alaska to the Seattle World's Fair---How the Indians Captured and Kept the Wild Carbou in Olden Times---Men of Science Interested.

The recent discovery in Alaska, of a great mammoth, flesh, bones, hair, hide, teeth, and all preserved in the heart of a vast ice formation, that has stood undisturbed since the days when men worshipped in the temple of the Sun-God at Ephesus, has aroused a great deal of interest in scientific and journalistic circles.

The management of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition which has had the good fortune of securing possession of the best preserved prehistoric specimen yet discovered, has received dozens of inquiries concerning this and other northern curiosities which it is the intention to place on exhibition during the great world's fair, which will take place at Seattle from June 1st to October 15th, 1909.

Peterborough has more than an ordinary interest in this great discovery and the fact that the great mammoth will be on exhibition at the world's fair in Seattle, in as much as the remains will be brought from its northern tomb in Alaska by a Peterborough man — Professor Kincaid, son of the late Dr. Kincaid of this city.

Through the knowledge of Geo. W. Carmack, who, it will be remembered was the discoverer of the Klondike gold fields, the greatest placer deposit yet found anywhere, a curious custom of the Aborigines of Alaska came to light, that bears somewhat on the method by which this animal was preserved throughout the ages. Few men know the Indian population of Alaska better than Carmack, who has slept in their tepees and won their respect and friendship in the village, the hunting field and the council chamber.

Their Winter Supply

Great herds of moose and caribou formerly roamed where the heart of the civilization of the gold-fields now is. Along the south shore of the Yukon, along the Klondike, the Pelly, the White, the Lewis, and the Stewart Rivers, great herds found ideal grazing grounds. The reindeer moss, on which they feed, was everywhere in abundance, and the number of other animals was so great that the lean wolves found easier food than by preying upon the herds. In consequence, they multiplied and grew fat, and the Indians coveted them for their meat, their skins and their antlers, with which they decorated the hunting lodges.

The meat supply, especially in winter, was uncertain, and the braves frequently found whole herds whose meat could not be preserved long enough to be consumed; while other times they had to wander a dozen sleeps before catching a glimpse of a herd. This led to a unique plan of meat preservation.

Along the Yukon and its tributaries are great hills and cliffs. In the middle of October the snow begins to fall, until in some places it is ten and fifteen feet deep. Great avalanches gather and at the first suggestion of a winter thaw, precipitate their hundreds of thousands of tons of snow down the hillside, burying everything in its way.

The Avalanches Studied

The Indians had studied the manner of the avalanches, and knew just when they were to be expected, and on what hills they were most liable to occur. When this season came around the braves formed a large moose and caribou hunting party and beat over a wide expanse of country.

When the herd was located, the killing did not at once begin, as on former occasions. The braves spread out in a great semi-circle, and began to gently drive the herds. This took the greatest possible skill and gentleness, as a too vigorous action would scatter the herd over a hundred square miles of territory, in such a manner that all hunting and driving would be absolutely impossible.

Gently but firmly the herd was driven nearer and nearer the village, and closer and closer to the hill on which the snow was piled by nature ready for the avalanche. When the braves approached the lodges, with the herd running in advance, the squaws were out ready to render assistance.

The animals by dint of great care, were finally got in such position that they were surrounded on three sides, and on the fourth was the snow-piled hillside. Then the squaws began to beat tom-toms, the dogs were prodded into barking, the braves yelled their hunting cry, and even the children helped to contribute to the noise by raising their shrill voices.

The Red Man's Skill

There could be but one result. The suddenly frightened, maddened herd made a wild dash for liberty, only to find the terrible noise on all sides—but one. Out across the fatal hill side they dashed in a body.

The weight of the herd was enough to set the snow moving. The slide started, grew from the size of a horse to that of an elephant, from the size of an elephant to that of a horse, from the size of a house to that of a cathedral in less time than it takes to tell of it.

And where was the herd? The gigantic weight of the snow had swept them off their feet, and buried them in the heart of the snow pile, where life soon left them.

All that remained was a vast snow pile in whose heart a herd of caribou or moose was frozen solid. When the village needed meat all the braves had to do was to dig into the centre of this pile till a frozen carcass was found and there was meat for all. One such drive was enough to supply a tribe the whole winter, and the enormous bulk of the snow, the cool repository beneath the shadow of the cliff, and the naturally backward summer, was such that the meat could be preserved until late into the summer, as fresh as on the day on which the kill was made.

Natural Refrigeration

Simple as this plan of natural refrigeration sounds, it was generally most difficult of execution. At times the drivers of the herd through misjudgment would approach too close and the frightened herd would make a dash for liberty and escape. Other times the animals' weight was not sufficient to start the avalanche and in consequence the animals escaped. Sometimes the event was variegated by the animals being driven over a cliff on whose top hung great masses of snow, which eventually buried and preserved them. Frequently two and three trips would have to be made by the tribes, and two or three herds would get away, before the winters supply could be obtained.

Carmack states that he has eaten of meat preserved in this way five and one half months after the kill, and it was as fresh as when first caught. By this method whole herds are wiped out, young and old, and game grew considerably scarcer after a few years of this unsportsmanlike hunting.

It has been suggested that the great preserved mammoth in the heart of the glacier which will be exhibited at the Alaska - Yukon - Pacific Exposition may have been similarly snared by the prehistoric men of fifty or a hundred thousand years ago; but scientists think that this is hardly the case. The chances are rather that the animal was caught by some upheaval and before the flesh had an opportunity to decay the water flowed over it, and froze solidly.

A Gigantic Upheaval

On Hunker Creek, Klondike, there is one spot, where, mixed with icy gravel, the remains of some forty or fifty mammoths have been found. These however were very indifferently preserved; in some cases a jaw bone or a few teeth being the only remaining relic of the great animal. The fact of these animals all being found together, seems to indicate that they died in some gigantic upheaval, or that they killed each other in some mighty battle of the past. Little, however, is known as yet, but it is expected that when the great animal in the Nome glacier is dug out, preserved and brought to Seattle and erected on the grounds of the 1909 exposition, science will be able to learn more of these animals than ever before.

GOT A PAIN IN YOUR BACK?

You get a pain in your back, and you wonder what is the matter. You perhaps pay no attention to it. Backache is caused by imperfect action of the kidneys, in fact, is the first sign of kidney trouble to follow.

The kidneys, proper, are composed of a close network of fibrous tissue, interlaced with tiny elastic fibres. Their object is the excretion of the uric acid, and other poisonous matter composing the urine, from the blood.

They are continuously at work to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some form of kidney trouble, but do not suspect it.

Some of the symptoms are: A feeling of weakness in the small of the back, sharp pains in back, puffiness under the eyes, and swelling of the feet and ankles, urinary troubles such as suppressed urination, excessive urination, cloudy, thick or highly colored urine, etc.

Mr. J. L. Whiting, Gunnbrook Centre, Ont., writes: "I am thankful for two years with kidney trouble. I had terrible pains in my back, hips and legs. I could not sleep and had a poor appetite. I took four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and the pains left me, my appetite returned and I now sleep well. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from kidney trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

LAKEFIELD CEMENT IS SATISFACTORY

What the Hamilton Herald Says of the Quality of the Product Supplied by That Company.

The Hamilton Herald in a recent issue said:—

There is not the slightest ground for suspicion of "graft" or crookedness in connection with the civic cement contract. The contrat was given to the Lakefield company because its cement was used by the city last year and proved satisfactory. No doubt the Lakefield company would have got the contract even if it had not reduced its price from $1.88 to $1.87. Although the sample submitted by the Belleville company showed up better in the tests than did the Lakefield sample, the latter stood far better tests than the specifications called for. Tests of samples by rival tenderers, moreover, are not always to be relied upon as guarantees of excellence in the supply throughout the year. If tests are to be made, the samples should be obtained by the city engineer—not submitted by the tenderers.

Season after season we have sold and recommended 20th CENTURY CLOTHING, simply because we have found none better, and we recommend it this season with greater confidence than ever.

ONE DAY'S RECORD OF DOMESTIC INFELICITY IN UNITED STATES

ESTRANGED FOUR YEARS; START LIFE ANEW

The Egberts Were Formally Introduced by Lawyers Who Represent the Warring Members of Family.

Examiner Special.

Chicago, April 8.—Marion Thornton Egbert and Dr. Jerome W. Egbert, who is suing her for divorce, met yesterday for the first time in four years—years of their lives crowded with tragic romance—and parted in tears.

Their lawyers declare, as a result of their meeting in the attorney's office, that there is a possibility of reconciliation, and it is almost certain that their difficulties will be settled so far as possible out of court.

BEGS TO SHIELD MAN HER HUSBAMD NAMES

Alleged Letters From His Wife Will Form the Basis of a Divorce Suit of a Sailor

Examiner Special.

New York, April, 8.—Pleading with her husband to withdraw the name of John Rogers from this complaint for divorce, Mrs. Nellie Field is alleged to have written a number of letters admitting her guilt. They will be introduced in evidence in the Supreme Court hearing this week.

Martin Field, the husband, is adament to the pleas, and will press the charge as well as a suit for $10,000 damages for alienation of his wife's affections against Rogers, a liquor dealer at Nos. 240 Seventh avenue and 108 Eighth avenue.

Field is an officer on the steamer Seminole, of the Clyde line, is much away from home. The couple were married in New York during the Fall of 1903, and all went well until two years after, when, the complaint alleges, Field discovered that his wife was spending practically all of her time away from home during the trips of the steamship to the South.

WANTS $10,000 OF A BARBER FOR WIFE

A St. Louis Restrauteur Who Says He Could Not Beat His Old Friend's Ardent Love-making.

Examiner Special.

St. Louis, April 8.—August Hiltenbrand filed suit for $10,000 against August Wiest, in the Circuit Court, alleging that Wiest had alienated the affections of his wife, Emma Hiltenbrand. The Hiltenbrands were married June 10, 1890, and lived together until August, 1906.

"He made love to her," says the petition referring to Wiest, "plying every art and device in his power to win her from her husband. He told her that he loved her deeply, devotedly, madly, and that he could not live without her."

"I don't care a 'rap' for Wiest,' said Mrs. Emma Hiltenbrand to a reporter at her home, No. 3500A Humphrey street. "He never took me to any place alone, but he then accompanied me and my husband a few times when we went out."

A Wife is Freed When Her Husband Asks Her to Work for "The Other Woman"

Examiner Special.

Chicago, April 8.—Agnes E. Fordey, 590 Twenty-fourth street, refused to do washing for the woman her husband, William J. Fordey, had fallen in love with, according to her story in Judge McEwen's court, where she was granted a divorce yesterday.

"She'll let you do her washing if I tell her to," Fordey said to Mrs. Fordey, according to the wife. "She has a number of women rooming with her, and you can do their washing, too."

Fordey is said to have gone to Kentucky with "the other woman," after selling his wife's furniture.

WIFE GETS A DIVORCE WITH HUSBAND IN JAIL

She Claims That Since Her Marriage at 14 Years of Age Her Husband Has Ill-treated Her.

Examiner Special.

St. Louis, April 8.—Sam Collins, who was arrested last December on a charge of disturbing his wife's peace was granted in the Circuit Court of St. Louis County yesterday, to appear at the May term. While Collins was in jail his wife, Ada Collins, secured a divorce and the custody of their little girl.

FROST'S

MOOSE ARE EASY DOMESTICATE

A Very Difficult Matter, However, to Keep Them Alive—The Experience of One Man.

"The reason so few moose are seen in captivity in the parks or circuses of the country, is not because they are naturally too wild to be domesticated, but because they usually do not live long in captivity," said J. C. Peterson of St. Paul. "My father was for many years a settler in Northern Minnesota, and at different times in his experience he has had three moose on his homestead, which recognized him as their master.

"All the animals were caught when they were very young, and in each instance it took them only apparently a few days to become attached to father and his small family. For two or three weeks he would keep them fenced in, and then would allow them to roam around at will. They would be gone for two or three hours, or perhaps half a day at a time, but always came back all right. By allowing them to run of the premises this way, they met practically the same conditions as if they were wild in the forest, and therefore were always in good health, but the moment any of the animals were shipped to the city a change was noticeable.

"Two of the animals were sold to city park associations at different times, and in each instance the moose finally died. They were quite willing enough to remain in the parks, but conditions were not quite as they were used to, and from the first it was to be seen that they were failing in health. A moose will stand all sorts of hardships in the woods, but when he is in captivity the lack of exercise, or lack of proper food, or lack of something else, puts him on the down grade, and as a rule he passes in his checks in a few weeks or a few months at the outside.

"One of the animals my father owned was a handsome bull, and he was trained to harness. The animal could pull a good sized load and travel through the woods with the sleigh behind him at a very lively clip. The third moose was one that was shot by a hunter near the house. All three animals met with an untimely fate which goes to prove, I suppose, that man should not meddle with the plans of nature."—Duluth Herald.

HUMAN FACE A MAP OF CHARACTER

A Woman Writer Who Says the Reading of Features Can be Reduced to Exact Science.

The face as a map of character and disposition is the subject of an elaborate study by an Englishwoman. She holds that the reading of the features can be reduced to an exact science.

There is an elaborate classification of eyes. Among the broad deductions is the dictum that dark eyes invariably indicate a strong, passionate nature, while light blue ones show a calculating, cool and resolute character.

Light brown eyes are signs of intelligence, fancy, fickleness in love and a rapidly fluctuating temperament. A sure indication of oratorical gift is projecting eyes, and they also betoken literary skill in the use of language.

A strongly developed nose is a mark of superior endowments. The owner of a big nose has more energy than the owner of a small one.

The majority of men who have become renowned as rulers and leaders, it is pointed out, had big noses—Cæsar, Wellington, Napoleon and Nelson, for example. A man with modest intellect and a big nose can always be reckoned on to make more of a mark than a man with a great brain and a little nose.

The nostrils also have their significance. Large nostrils indicate courage; little ones, cowardice. Long, narrow ones show activity and bodily vigour. Broad nostrils opening towards the sides show a predilection for horses.

Mouth and lips are full of suggestiveness. The man with a hanging underlip is apt to lack perseverance and concentration of purpose. The modest individual's lower lip is habitually pressed close against the upper lip at the centre.

The sentiment of hate causes a hard dropping of the lower lip so as to show the teeth. Persons who habitually show the teeth in this way are apt to be malevolent.

The chin and lower jawbone are important indexes of character. True love is evident in a face in which the jawbone broadens clear back to the level of the wisdom teeth. This is true, both of men and women.

The youth who seeks an amiable spirit in his sweetheart must choose a girl with gently curving lower lip and full and well-rounded chin; her eyes must be soft and brown. If he desires great constancy, he must look carefully to the spread of her lower jaw. Economy is promised by a widening of the nose just above the wings of the nostrils.

On the other hand, the young woman who desires an industrious husband should choose a man with long upper lip. If she desires even good temper in her spouse, she had best choose one with round face and curly hair.

NEW CEMENT PIER AT YOUNG'S POINT

Work is Being Rapidly Pushed Forward—The Steamers on Northern Waters Begin to Move.

Examiner Special.

Young's Point, April 8.—The school closed here last week for the Easter holidays and the teacher, Mr. A. Smith, is spending a few days in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. David Godfrey, have moved from here and located in Lakefield where Mr. Godfrey has secured a position in the sawmill.

Mr. Samuel Duval has vacated the house he was living in and moved into Mr. Godfrey's house.

Miss Anna Smyth, of Toronto spent her Easter holidays at the Lakeview House.

Mrs. Stanlem and Master Alfred spent a few days visiting Mrs. Kearney at the Lakeview.

Miss Emma Scotland of Peterborough came home for the holidays.

Mr. Walter Young is erecting a new house on his farm near the village. He intends to brick it later on.

Mr. W. E. Brooks, of South Beach, returned home after an extended visit to Rochester and Buffalo.

A number of men came up here this week to work on the dredge. Mr. Peck has charge of the work and he will commence shortly to excavate above the locks.

The work on the new cement pier is progressing rapidly and the foundation is completed above the water as far as the coffer dam above, so the high water will not interfere with the work now. Mr. M. Buchanan who is overseer of the work here is pushing it along rapidly and he expects when navigation opens, the installation will not interfere with the steam boats.

The steamer Stoney Lake made her first trip to Lakefield on Monday April 1st, and brought up three hundred and sixty bags of cement.

The Empire made her first trip up here Thursday and her second on Friday.

Several foremen of the lumbering camps were in the village this week engaging men to go back on the drives. They are paying better wages than last year.

ANOTHER DOG HAS BEEN POISON

Valuable Collie Belonging to Mr. E. Cox Has Met the Fate of Many Other

The poisoning of dogs seems to be on the increase. Yesterday a case was published in the Examiner, and since that time still another has been discovered. Mr. E. W. Cox's name is added to the list of those who are mourning the sudden taking off of their canine friends. The dog, a valuable collie, was poisoned on Thursday last, and despite the efforts of a veterinary, the animal passed away on Friday.

There would seem to be more than one person engaged in the work of exterminating the canine population, as outbreaks of poisoning take place in different parts of the city.

MR. J. W. ST. JOHN HAS PASSED AWAY

Speaker of Ontario Legislature Passed Away After Illness.

TO HAVE PUBLIC FUNERAL

Body Will Be In State At Parliament Buildings—First Speaker to Die In Office—Made Brave Fight For Life —Was Unconscious At the Last —Suffered Also From Diabetes.

Toronto, April 8.—Hon. J. W. St. John, Speaker of the Ontario Legislature, died at noon Sunday at the Toronto General Hospital.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday, preceded by a service at the Speaker's chambers in the Legislative Building, Queen's Park, at 2 p. m.

The deceased will be given a public funeral by the Ontario Legislature.

It was two weeks ago this morning that the news of Mr. St. John's illness was made public, he having been operated on for appendicitis the night before.

On the previous Saturday night at 10 o'clock Mr. St. John was taken with pains and sought relief before retiring. Next morning he felt no better, and became confined to the house, while he sought local remedies to relieve the pain.

Operation Necessary.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the family physician, Dr. Bascom, was sent for. In the evening, the Speaker becoming worse, Dr. W. P. Caven was called in consultation. His nephew, Dr. Glendinning, was also present. It was then decided that he had a very acute form of appendicitis, and that an immediate operation would give him the only chance of recovery.

Accordingly, he was removed to the Toronto General Hospital in an ambulance. He arrived there at 11 p. m. when an operation was immediately performed by Dr. Bruce. The operation showed a most critical condition, as his appendix was gangrenous.

HON. J. W. ST. JOHN

Immediately after the operation, Dr. Bruce stated that the bowel was almost perforated, and that, had the operation been delayed for a few hours more, death would have resulted from gangrene.

Mr. St. John made a most satisfactory recovery from the operation; so much so that, toward the end of the first week, the attending physician and Dr. John Caven considered him out of danger.

Unfortunately, however, he was suffering from a chronic malady, diabetes, which suddenly took on an acute form last Sunday.

Friends understood then the significance of the late Speaker's rapid reduction of weight, over which he had been wont to make merry.

Since then his life has been despaired of. He rallied, however, somewhat on Wednesday last, which improvement was maintained throughout Thursday. He had a relapse again on Friday, when he gradually passed into a condition known as diabetic coma. He died at 12 o'clock on Sunday.

He was unconscious from 2 a. m Sunday until his death.

Public Funeral.

A Cabinet meeting was held on Sunday afternoon, as soon as the Ministers had been acquainted with the news. Preliminary arrangements were made for a public funeral (to be distinguished from a state funeral).

The last public funeral in this province was that of Sir Oliver Mowat in April, 1903.

Anarchist Near Queen's Ship.

Toulon, France, April 8.—Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria arrived here Saturday and went on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert.

The police arrested a German on a small steamer in the vicinity of the royal yacht. He could not explain his presence on the vessel and was detained on suspicion of being an anarchist.

Montrealer Murdered.

New York, April 8.—The body of Frank Drake, who was shot and killed on the Bower Saturday night, will be shipped to his home in Montreal, Canada. A telegram was received in this city from his mother yesterday, asking that the body be sent there. Michael D. Manix is under arrest in connection with the murder.

Suicide Due to Ill-Health.

New York, April 8.—Francis E. Southard, 64 years old, senior member of the firm of Southard & Co., dealers in yellow pine at 11 Broadway, and living at the Rhinelander Apartments in Fifth avenue, shot and instantly killed himself in his home late yesterday. It is believed ill-health caused the suicide.

Czar Will Not Abdicate.

London, April 8.—Count Benckendorff, the Russian Ambassador, issued a statement saying there was "absolutely no truth in the report" that the Czar's abdiction was imminent.

Fooled the Doctors and Got Well

GIN PILLS CURE RHEUMATISM

They certainly were a surprised lot of doctors out Tyneside way. They had been treating Mrs. Harris for years. Gave her about everything that was ever heard of for Rheumatism—and then told her the disease was chronic.

A friend told Mrs. Harris about GIN PILLS. Just to oblige her friend, Mrs. Harris took a box. When that was gone, she dismissed the doctors and bought another box of GIN PILLS. By the time these were gone, she was so much better that she bought the third box and laughed every time she saw a doctor.

Tyneside P. O., Aug. 6, 1906.

I received your sample box of Gin Pills, but as there was only enough for a trial I got a box from our druggist, and now I am taking the third box. The pain across my back and kidneys has almost entirely gone, and I am better than I have been for years. I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism, but it has all left me. MRS. T. HARRIS.

The doctors can't explain it. They don't try to. They said Mrs. Harris could not be cured. GIN PILLS cured her. Proof beats explanation all to pieces. Do YOU want proof? Write, mentioning this paper, for a free sample of Gin Pills and try them yourself. Then you will see what Gin Pills will do for YOU. Write now to the Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg, for a free sample.

500 CHINESE HOMELESS.

Great Fire Destroyed Celestial Quarter at Steveston, B. C.

Vancouver, April 8.—The Chinese district of Steveston, the seat of the Fraser River canning industry, was totally destroyed by fire Saturday, and five hundred Chinamen were rendered business.

Fire started from a defective flue or stove-pipe in a house near the river bank at 3 o'clock, and to the piping of a southwesterly gale the whole Chinese section burned to ashes. Incipient fires broke out all over the town, and for a time it seemed that Steveston would be completely wiped out before the flames were got under control. The proprietor of the Star Hotel, one hundred yards distant, offered to sell all his interest in the building for a ten-dollar bill, and could not find a buyer, yet the hotel escaped practically undamaged.

Appliances for coping with the outbreak were of the most primitive description, but everybody turned out to fight the fire, and it was confined to the dictort waters it ieffich fined to the district where it originated.

Thousands of dolars' worth a buildings, stores and personal effects were destroyed, and many inhabitants barely escaped with their lives. Vancouver owners of the burned buildings estimated the loss at a high figure.

EMPIRE IN ITSELF.

Outlook Says Many Canadians Favor Political Separation.

London, April 8.—(C. A. P.)—The Economist says colonial statesmen do not yet know with what profound disbelief the majority of Englishmen regard the policy with which Chamberlain's name is associated in the last few years, at the same time not suggesting that it is impossible to draw closer the bonds of union with the colonies.

The Spectator discussing reciprocity and the colonial conference, says "Surely it would be wiser for the Colonies to leave our fiscal system alone while we leave theirs alone, and let each section of the Empire manage its own commercial affairs its own way."

The Saturday Review says "Mr. Bryce can hardly have enjoyed his dinner at the Canadian Club at Ottawa."

The Outlook says "Not a few Canadians agree with Judge Longley that the Dominion is an empire in itself and openly advocate the right to exist as a political entity; many more hold Longley's opinions but have not the courage to express them in public.

BOERS ARE FRIENDLY.

Relations With South Africa Constabulary Most Cordial, Says Steele.

London, April 8.—(C. A. P.)—Col. S. B. Steele in an interview stated that the relations of the South African Constabulary with the Boers were as cordial as those of the famous Northwest Mounted Police, all the men behaved like true gentlemen and the respect felt for them greatly added to their efficiency. Col. Steele also dwelt on the necessity of mutual confidence between officers and men in scouting.

Torpedo Boats Active.

Toulon, April 8.—All the torpedo-boat destroyers here show signs of activity, and the squadron has been ordered to hold itself in readiness to go to Marseilles to carry the Corsican and Algerian mails in the event of an outbreak of the threatened seamen's strikes.

Cheese Factory Burned.

Brockville, April 8.—The J. B. Wilson cheese factory at Willowbank was burned to the ground. It was valued at $2,000 and insured for $1,200.

FREEDOM OR DEATH SOON NOW

Thaw Trial Now Entered Upon Its Last Stages.

PLEAS FOR HIS ACQUITTAL

Case Will Likely Reach Jury on Thursday—Delmas Speech to Occupy Day —District Attorney's Peculiar Position — Will Ask For Death Penalty—Dr. Hamilton to Testify as to Sanity of Thaw.

New York, April 8.—That the long-drawn-out Thaw trial, now in its twelfth week, will be finished this week seems almost certain.

Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, the alienist, who was on the stand when the case was suddenly stopped by the district attorney's suggestion, that the appointment of a commission in lunacy would be advisable, will probably be recalled to the stand when the trial is resumed on Monday. He has already testified that he believes Thaw was insane when he shot Stanford White, and he will probably repeat that statement.

Now Sane.

The lunacy commission, having decided that Thaw is now sane, Mr. Jerome will probably be prevented from asking Dr. Hamilton about his opinion of Thaw's present sanity. Therefore, there is little upon which he can cross-examine the alienist.

Whether or not the defence will call any more witnesses is problematical. It is said that they expect to require no more than one hour to complete their case. If this is true, there is no reason why the case should not go to the jury on Thursday.

District Attorney Jerome Saturday night said that he had no more witnesses whose evidence he would place before the jury.

Mr. Delmas for the defence should finish on Tuesday.

Mr. Jerome still says that he will not require more than one day, and, therefore, at the latest, he should complete his argument on Wednesday. Justice Fitzgerald's charge to the jury should not require more than three or four hours, and it is therefore very possible that the case will be in the jury's hands on Thursday.

Plea For Acquittal.

Mr. Delmas will go before the jury with a plea for acquittal, on the ground that Thaw's mind was unbalanced at the time he committed the crime, and that in view of the fact that he has since recovered his mental balance he should be allowed to go free. Mr. Jerome, on the other hand, will argue that Thaw was sane within the meaning of the law when he killed Stanford White; that the crime was planned and premeditated, and that he should suffer the extreme penalty of the law.

While Mr. Jerome conscientiously believes that Thaw is insane to-day, and should be confined in some institution where he could not be a menace to the community, the commission has decided that he is not, and there is nothing for the district attorney to do but to demand that Thaw be sent to the electric chair.

White's Effects Sold.

New York, April 8.—The sale of the furnishings of the late Stanford White was completed Saturday, the receipts of the day's sale being $77,965, and the total for the entire sale reaching $125,805.

The most important article sold was a sample of the grand Gobein tapestry, which brought $10,500.

Bryce At Chicago.

Chicago, April 8.—James Bryce, British Ambassador to the United States after spending a busy day in Chicago attending luncheons and visiting a score of large commercial and industrial establishments, was the guest of honor Saturday night at a banquet given by the Commercial Club at the Auditorium Hotel.

There were 175 prominent business and professional men about the board. Ambassador Bryce was the only speaker during the evening. His topic was "The Modern City in Relation to the State."

Corruption In Morocco.

London, April 8.—Corruption in Morocco is reported to have reached that stage where civil officials are selling Government land and pocketing the proceeds, and supreme military commanders are purchasing so much gold coin with which to pay imaginary troops that the premium on French and English gold has risen.

Insane Patient Burned.

South Windham, Conn., April 8.—One woman, Mrs. Laura Backus, an insane patient, lost her life in the fire which destroyed the Grandview Sanitarium here early on Saturday. All the other patients were taken out of the building without harm, although there was no time to clothe them.

Copper King In Danger.

Trinidad, Col., April 8.—While former United States Senator William A. Clark of Montana was crossing a river 20 miles west of Trinidad, his carriage broke through the ice and was upset.

The Senator was thrown into the stream but was rescued by other members of the party as he was being held under the ice.

After the accident the Senator was hurriedly taken to a ranch five miles away and when he arrived there his clothing had frozen.

JAPAN'S LATEST WARSHIP.

Commission On Way to Place $11,250,000 Order In England

London, April 8.—It is reported here that the largest battleship in the world, to have a displacement of 21,000 tons, is to be built in England for the Japanese Government, and that a commission already is on its way here from Japan for the purpose of placing the contract with one or another of the great British shipbuilders.

It is believed that Japan would, in the future, build all her own warships, but is is now thought that a vessel of this size would be too great an undertaking for her, and it is known that the Japanese Admiralty has a full program for its home yards.

The cost of this new battleship will be about $11,250,000.

Rickard For West Durham.

Bowmanville, April 8.—The Liberal convention on Saturday selected William Rickard, ex-M.P. of Newcastle, to be the Liberal candidate in West Durham at the next provincial election.

The other nominations were W. J. Bragg, Thomas Baker, E. Clemens, and M. A. James.

Hon. George P. Graham, Liberal leader, reviewed the conduct of the Whitney Government, and compared its record with its promises before election. President R. D. Davidson presided.

Killed In Runaway.

Paris, April 8.—Saturday morning Robert McNaughton of South Dumfries received fatal injuries in a runaway.

His horse became frightened at the subway on Grand River street by a train and dashed down the long hill at a breakneck speed, crashing into the iron drinking fountain and breaking it in two.

The man's head struck the pavement with terrible force, and his skull was crushed. He died in the afternoon.

Arbitrators For Increase.

San Francisco, April 8.—The board of arbitration between the Southern Pacific Co. and the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, handed down its decision Saturday, awarding the telegraphers 7 1-2 per cent. increase in pay and a half day's work on Sunday, or in lieu thereof a vacation of 26 days in each year with full pay.

THROWN OFF RAILS.

Pennsylvania Flyer Purposely Ditched Near Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 8.—Train No. 322, eastbound, the fastest train on the Pennsylvania R. R. between Pittsburg and Cleveland, was wrecked Saturday near Hudson Ohio, 123 miles west of here. None of the passengers were injured, but the fireman, who jumped when the accident occurred, and was seriously injured.

According to the railroad officials, the train was purposely wrecked. An investigation disclosed that the attempt made by the wreckers was the same used several times in this vicinity recently.

WALLACHIAN WORK.

A New Adaptation of a Well Known Stitch.

PRETTY AND EASY TO MAKE.

The Method of Working Is Shown in the Illustration—Mostly Done in Buttonhole Stitch—Mercerized Thread and Cotton Floss Used.

Wallachian embroidery is the newest comer in the field of needlework, and because it is most decidedly pretty and easy to do it will without doubt find many admirers. The detail illustration shows the stitch employed and the method of working, the buttonhole stitches being slightly slanted toward the top of the petals so as to turn the corners nicely, the rings being worked in straight, even stitches. The centers of the rings are usually punched with a stiletto and the needle always put into the hole thus made.

A strand consisting of four or five threads of a very fine mercerized cotton may be used for the work, as in the detail shown, or a single thread of a coarse, loosely twisted luster cotton floss. These luster or mercerized cottons come in such a large variety of colors and in so many different weights that nowadays one does not experience the slightest difficulty in obtaining any desired combination of color.

In the second illustration a most effective sofa cushion is shown. A rather coarser cream colored linen forms the background, and the work is done with the same fine floss used for the detail illustration. Brilliant nasturtium shades running from a medium orange to a dark, rich yellowish red are used for the flower forms which are arranged in groups on all four sides of the cushion, while the long petals which radiate from four buttonholed squares in the center of each corner are done in several shades of green.

The entire design is carried out in the buttonhole stitch with the exception of a narrow band or stem which forms a connecting link between the corner and side figures. This band is heavily outlined, and the space between the outlined lines is filled with a series of dots worked at regular intervals. A novel and most appropriate finish is given to the pillow by turning down the edges of both back and front to the depth of one inch and then stitching them together by machine, placing the row of stitching about one-half or three-quarters of an inch from the edge. The effect of this double hem, as it might be called, is wonderfully pleasing and a decided relief from the greatly overdone cord or ruffle finish.

Shoes For Next Summer.

A word about summer shoes is not out of place here, for shoes have become more and more important each season, and next summer they are to be positively paramount in interest. The thing just at present is the buttoned boot to match the costume if that be possible. Otherwise there can be a patent leather toe and a top like the gown.

Some of the pretty blue walking dresses have shoes with tops that just match. They are buttoned with big flat enamel buttons, and the toes of the shoes are of glossiest patent leather. And there are other combinations of shoe colors.

One very pretty pair of boots made to match a blue gown showed tops of blue cloth, while the toes were of brown leather. These are worn with tan colored stockings, and the gown is blue, with tan hat, tan bag and all the small appointments of dress made of tan.

For the Period Room.

In the period room the chimney piece plays as important a part as the furniture and hangings, and every detail must be as correct. Special interest attaches, therefore, to the reproductions of beautiful samples of old French chimney pieces. Louis XV. rooms are favorites with the period fanciers, and the chimney piece here illustrated is a most attractive example of correct style. It is executed in white marble, with ormolu mounts, the modelling of the various figures being exceptionally good.

Suggestions For the Housewife.

If your lamp wick smokes, soak it in vinegar.

In packing bottles slip rubber bands over them to prevent breakage.

A piece of soft flannel is better than a brush for removing dust from silk.

A lump of camphor placed in the clothespress will keep steel ornaments bright.

Scale or crust can be prevented in a teakettle by keeping an eggshell in the kettle.

Rub white spots on oilcloth caused by heat from utensils with spirits of camphor.

Place a small bag of unslacked lime inside the piano. It will keep the strings from rusting.

To clean marble busts, mantels, etc., wipe free of dust, then wash with a weak hydrochloric acid.

Spots on plush will disappear if rubbed lightly and rapidly with a clean soft cotton cloth dipped in chloroform.

A sponging with a solution of one part ox gall to two parts of water is said to brighten the colors in a faded carpet.

To Make Veil Rolls.

Veil rolls for keeping the veils in good condition are made of mailing tubes one inch in diameter and seventeen inches long. Cover these with wadding, sprinkled plentifully with sachet powder between it. Cut the wadding just wide enough to cover by overcasting. Take five-eighths of a yard of five inch ribbon, cover the roll with this and draw the ends of the ribbon close to the ends of the roll and sew tightly. Fringe the ends of the ribbon. Take one and a half yards of one inch ribbon to trim the roll. Sew a piece the length of the roll over the seam, fastening it only at the ends. Cut the remaining ribbon in half and tie closely around each end to the tube in a pretty bow.

VOGUE POINTS.

The New Shirt Waists Have Wide Shoulder Effects.

The new shirt waist is at once detected by the width of the shoulders. Do not be deceived and think that this effect may be obtained by cutting the shoulder seam extra long—that is to say, by running it down on the arm.

The proper width must be given by the correct line of the shoulder seam; otherwise the sleeve cannot be properly put in and will droop in an ugly way over the arm, giving an ill fitting appearance to the shirt waist.

It will be found economy to buy a plain, up to date pattern of the proper bust measure and not to attempt to remodel one of the past season. The new pattern will be cut out according to the lines of an expert draftsman.

In the majority of waists variety is given by the different arrangements of trimming and not by different shaped patterns. When tucks are to be used, no matter how they are to be shaped or grouped, the length of the back and fronts of the waist should be torn from the material and the tucking done on these straight pieces.

In making thin waists it is well to put in the sleeves with a cord, which makes a pretty finish and at the same time gives strength. Long and three-quarter length sleeves will be worn. The sleeve may be shortened by omitting the cuff and also cutting any desired amount from the sleeve proper.

The tailored waists should unquestionably have the long sleeves and narrow cuffs two and a half inches wide. This cuff should fit snugly around the wrist, but be sufficiently large to give the muscles full play. The illustrations show the very new lingerie shirt waists.

For Motorists.

Decidedly the most novel acquisition to the motor furnishings is a black seal secretary to slip conveniently under the seat.

It is about eighteen inches long by twelve inches wide and is so constructed that the folio forms the lid, which may be easily taken out.

Beneath it are found the ink bottle securely fixed in its individual case, an address book of the latest description and a combined paper cutter and knife. Under the compartment containing these things is a drawer that pulls out and holds a supply of stationery.

For the hurried note en route this is the most convenient and completely appointed writing outfit for the purpose.

SNAPSHOTS OF THE MODE.

Fads in Automobile Jewelry—Striped Materials For Spring.

Automobile jewelry is becoming an important item. The woman in the auto can now open her fur coat or gray plaid ulster to display the oddest ornaments. Conspicuous among these is a huge watch, almost as big as a butter plate and almost as thin as a wafer. This watch is open faced, with numbers as big as those on an alarm clock. On the back the number of the auto is engraved.

Striped effects will rule in the spring materials. There are many dainty combinations—blue lines on a gray ground, pink or grayish green and double stripes that are almost invisible on light grounds.

A charming hat, with a somewhat boyish air, is a toque of green velvet, the crown driven in as if by a blow and the rim edged with gray astrakhan. On each side are green Mercury wings.

An expensive fad is that of lining with light colored or white silk, and consequently with white chiffon flounces.

The pronounced drooping style is noticeable in all the new sleeve effects.

We have Peter Pan hats galore, and the latest addition to the ranks is the girl's suit named after this popular hero. The illustration shows a costume of this kind. Such a gown is good style for cloth or linen.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Buckwheat Cakes.

There is nothing on the dining room table and nothing that could be placed there that is so great and formidable an enemy to the human face as buckwheat cakes. They are sure to make the complexion yellow and covered with eruptions. Don't insult your face by putting buckwheat cakes into it. They head the entire list of complexion destroyers.—Exchange.

SAW STRANGE SIGHT

Crew of Steamer See Seven Water Spouts From Bridge.

STORM LASTED 60 HOURS

Seven of the Crew Injured—Wind Raging At 60 Miles An Hour—Vessel Battered By Wind and Rain—Fires Were Extinguished—Huge Waves Break Over Her—Cabins Flooded.

New York, April 8.—With seven of her crew more or less injured and the others utterly exhausted, the steamer Virginia arrived here Saturday from Kingston, Ja., after a desperate struggle with a storm of 60 hours' duration off Hatteras.

The wind reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour and rain fell in torrents. At one time seven water spouts were sighted from the steamer's bridge. An immense wave, which struck the ship about six hours after she had run into the storm, ripped off the tarpaulins that had been hastily battened down over the hatch openings, which had been left open to give ventilation to the cargo of bananas in the hold. Galleys, cabin and scuppers were flooded four feet deep, the rush of water extinguishing the galley fires.

Several of the mess-room and cabin force were more or less seriously injured. During the 60 hours which the storm continued Captain Gech remained continuously on the bridge and every man of the crew was kept at his post.

SMALLPOX IN BRUCE.

Fourteen Cases Reported From Township of St. Edmunds.

Toronto, April 8.—Fourteen cases of smallpox are reported from the Township of St. Edmunds, in the northern portion of Bruce peninsula. An inspector of the provincial board of health has been in this and adjoining townships for some two weeks past. The local authorities, he declares, have not given the support they should have done to his measures of precaution and prevention.

Another Coxey Army.

New York, April 8.—Jacob Sohler Coxey of the Coxey army of 1894, is planning another great national crusade on new and sensational lines, and he may commence operations the present year.

Mr. Coxey was in New York several days ago and said: "I am preparing to take up my campaign of education where I was forced to leave it several years ago. I shall conduct this campaign on new and original lines, and in a way that will be certain to attract the attention of the nation. I will travel with an entire train of cars and a tent capable of seating many thousands. This country is becoming ripe for just such a great movement."

Sealing Ship Missing.

St. John's, Nfld., April 8.—The sealing steamer Southern Cross, which left this port March 11 with 172 men has not been seen since, and it is feared she has met with an accident. The steamers, Adventure and Panther, which came in Saturday, report that, except for the Southern Cross the entire sealing fleet has been accounted for. It is thought that she may have been driven from the sealing grounds and is now jammed in the ice floes far north. The ice is still thick at many points along the coast.

HORSLEY OFFENDED THEM.

British Medical Men Issue a Pro Alcoholic Manifesto.

London, April 8.—The pro-alcoho manifesto recently issued by several prominent medical men is believed to be merely a counterblast to Victo Horsley's address in Toronto last year It is stated Horsley offended numerous medical men by asserting that the profession universally shared his view as to the use of alcohol.

Bruchesi Still Busy.

Montreal, April 8.—Archbishop Bruchesi is extending the scope of his censorship. He now expresses his conviction that such books as the works of Voltaire, Rousseau, and others ought not to be included in the Civic Library at the Monument National. The City Hall Committee in charge of the Civic Library have been discussing the question with him, and it is thought that they will comply with his request and remove what he calls "objectionable" books from their list.

A BAD COLD SETTLED ON THE LUNGS

All the most serious affections of the throat, the lungs, and the bronchial tubes, are, in the beginning, but coughs and colds, and failure to take hold at once and get rid of them will cause many years of suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree and will certainly cure all coughs colds and lung troubles.

Mrs. Jas. McDowell, Langton, Ont., writes: "In November, 1905, I caught a bad cold that settled on my lungs, so I got two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and used one and a half of them and by that time I was cured. I laid the balance of the bottle away for future use. A few days after our eight months' old baby took the whooping cough.

He was so bad we had to call the family physician, but he said he could do but little.

I commenced using the Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and to my great satisfaction the baby was cured. I only used four 25 cent bottles; a small doctor bill.

I believe there is no other remedy for coughs, colds, etc.

Price 25 cents a bottle at all dealers.

Human "Steam"; Keeping It Up

The Secret Of That Tireless Energy Some People Possess.

There is another kind of steam than that in which the boy James Watt, watching his mother's tea-kettle, first saw the great possibilities that long since have become realities.

This other kind of steam is human "steam." And it is a most important factor in our affairs.

Some people call this human "steam" by other names. They call it "push" sometimes, or "hustle," or "get-up," or "life." Well, it's all of these, but after all it's just "steam." It's the power to do things,—a seemingly tireless power which some people possess.

Malta-Vita, the perfect malted wheat food, fills men and women and children with the power to do things. It makes them strong in body and mind. It keeps up their "steam."

When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, every flake baked crisp and brown, it is the most delicious and most healthful food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 99 per cent is nutrition, digested most readily, even by the weakest stomach, because the gelatinized starch of the thoroughly cooked wheat has been converted by fine malt extract into maltose, or malt sugar.

There's no other food like Malta-Vita! None "just as good." Sold by all grocers, 10 cents.

STRUCK THE SCAFFOLD.

Engineer Falls From High Chimney But Escapes Injury.

Chicago, April 8.—John Nagel, a constructing engineer, fell from the top of a 200-foot chimney at the Standard Steel Car Works in Hammond on Saturday, but in his fall he struck a projecting scaffold on the outside about 25 feet from the top which enabled him to grasp a plank thus saving his life.

Nagel was in charge of the building of the giant smokestack, and in order to see the progress he ascended to the top of the structure in a drop bucket. When the bucket neared the top the man in charge of the hoisting engine below failed to perceive Nagel's signal to stop, and the engineer was thrown over the edge of the narrow aperture above.

His fall was witnessed by hundreds of workmen on surrounding buildings whose attention was drawn to the top of the towering chimney by Nagel's cries. He escaped practically unhurt but the other men on the smokestack were so unnerved that they could not work for some time.

SHOCK WORKED CURE.

Insane Patients Recovered After Passing of Tornado.

New Orleans, April 8.—Several of the inmates of the State Insane Asylum at Jackson, La., may be discharged as cured within a short time as a result of the tornado.

When the physicians restored order and were able to make an examination the remarkable discovery was made that several of the patients had been virtually cured by shock. These men and women had been suffering from what is known as chronic hysteria. Some of them were in very bad shape just before the tornado, and the keepers believed they would be tenants for a long time. But a sudden change, which the doctors believe will prove permanent recovery, came after the first shock of the catastrophe was over.

RUN OVER BY TRAIN.

Dr. McQueen, an Edinburgh Physician, Killed.

Winnipeg, April 8.—Dr. McQueen, a physician, whose home was in Edinburgh, Scotland, was killed on the C. P. R. near Gonor, east of here, Saturday night, either by falling out of the car window or off the platform of the delayed express. Nobody saw the accident, and nothing was known of it until the crew of the express yesterday found the body and brought it to Winnipeg. The dead man's hat was found a few yards beyond the body, and it is surmised it blew off, and in endeavoring to recover it he lost his balance and fell to his death in the darkness. He had no friends here, and members of the medical profession have taken charge of the remains. He was about 35 years of age.

Fire At Lion's Head.

Lion's Head, April 8.—The Royal Hotel and stables, owned by A. Morrin, also the dwelling house of T. A. Burin, with most of the contents, were destroyed by Saturday morning; cause unknown. Both buildings were insured.

A young man named George Webster, while endeavoring to help quench the flames, fell from a ladder and broke his leg.

Suicides From Ferry.

Quebec, April 8.—A young man about 24 years old, named Joseph Picard, from Cacouna, fell from the ferry boat between Quebec and Levis, about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and was drowned. His body has not yet been recovered. It seems to be a case of suicide.

Team On Cow Catcher.

Cobalt, April 8.—Saturday afternoon the northbound mail train running at full speed just outside Cobalt station struck a sleigh and team belonging to Nipissing mine. The driver, named McDonald, jumped and got clear, but the horses and sleigh were carried for about a hundred feet before going down grade. They were not badly hurt, but the sleigh had to be fused out from under the cowcatcher.

Dr. Drummond Dead.

Cobalt, April 8.—Dr. Drummond died at his residence at the Drummond mine at 10.40 o'clock Saturday morning.

He never regained consciousness from the time he was stricken with paralysis last Monday, and no hope has really been entertained. His wife and brother, T. J. Drummond, were with him when he died.

Deceased was 53 years old.

Burned In Mill.

Saugus, Mass., April 8.—Two men were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the H. B. Newhall Tide Mill early Saturday, causing a loss of $25,000. The dead men are Oscar Ellis and Michael Desmond, both of Malden. The bodies were found near a chimney where the men were in the habit of sleeping.

HOLOCAUST OF ANIMALS.

Horses and Cattle Die In Barns Near Thorold.

Thorold, Ont., April 8.—A disastrous fire occurred Saturday night in Thorold Township, resulting in the entire wiping out of the extensive barns of William Vanderburg, whose place is on the Canboro road. Six horses and several head of cattle were burned, together with all the hay the barns contained and some chickens.

Mr. Vanderburg was awakened by the bright glare from the flames, and already the building were completely wrapped in fire. He tried to get the live stock out by chopping the stable doors down, but it was too late to save them. The loss will be probably $3,000, which is partly covered by insurance.

The cause of the fire is a mystery, but it is supposed that tramps who had gone there to pass the night set the hay on fire with their pipes. The barn was one of the largest in the county.

WAS HE MURDERED?

Body of George Wood Found In a Pool of Blood.

Edmonton, Alta., April 8.—In a shack where he and his two chums, Dick Hood and John Peacock, had lived together for some time, the body of George Wood, a carpenter, was found in a pool of blood Saturday morning. There was a wound on the back of the head, and a man named Albert Jones informs the police that, during a drunken row, he saw Hood strike Wood on the head with a bottle, at the same time exclaiming, "You beat this afternoon, but I will do you now." Hood, Peacock and John Pepper are under arrest.

Betty and The Bear.

By FRANCIS A. COREY.

Copyright, 1907, by P. C. Eastman.

And this young giant from the woolly west was her employer! Betty gave an involuntary gasp. He was so elemental, so unlike any one with whom she had ever come into close personal contact before.

"I've dubbed him the Bear," Mr. Henderson, whose desk was next to her own, confided to her. "He's straight from the Rockies, you know. And then he is so big, so brutish, so ungainly! Looks as much out of place in a New York office as a bull in a china shop."

Henderson himself was slender, handsome, polished, immaculate of attire. Betty's glance rested upon his smug, clean shaven face approvingly. His well bred tones were indescribably soothing after the hoarse rumble of Mr. Sterling's deep bass. She was rejoiced to find one congenial person in this place where the failure and sudden death of her father had left her stranded.

"There are reduced gentlemen as well as reduced gentlewomen," she thought, with a feeling of womanly sympathy for him that later on found expression in unexpected ways.

For instance, although short to curtness with her employer, she would linger after hours for a friendly chat with Henderson and even permitted him to take her out to dinner once or twice.

One day when they were alone in the office Henderson swung around in his revolving chair and said abruptly:

"Miss Vandevere, did it ever strike you as a bit strange that the Bear should have given you the best berth in the office? This is your first experience, and good stenographers are as plenty as blackberries."

"Are they?" Betty answered. "I didn't know."

"Do you mind telling me how you happened to apply to him?"

"I received a marked copy of his advertisement and wrote immediately, asking for the place."

"Hm! And got an answer by return mail, saying you might report for duty?"

"Why—yes—so I did. Is that so very surprising?"

"Oh, no." Henderson meditated a moment, a queer little spark flashing into his eyes. "See here! I'm going to tell you something," he announced abruptly. "The Bear is in love with you."

"Absurd!" Betty cried, reddening painfully.

"I know the signs. Watch him. You'll see for yourself. Can't come nigh you without flushing and trembling. Genuine case of love at first sight. I guess he knew what he was about when he took you into his employ."

"How can you say such things?"

Betty was indignant. She realised for the first time that there was a vein of native coarseness under the man's veneer.

"A pile of money comes into this office," he said after an interval, looking at her keenly. "The Bear is beastly rich. That counts for a good deal. You'll marry him for his wealth."

"A cowboy from the plains? Not if he were made of gold!"

Henderson looked relieved, but before he could reply Mr. Sterling came into the office.

Betty bent over to her desk with a scarlet face. When, presently, she ventured to steal a glance at her employer she encountered his fixed gaze and knew from the look in his eyes that Henderson was right.

The thought that this uncouth westerner dared aspire to a Vandevere made her furious. Later on, when an errand took her into the inner office, whither her employer had withdrawn, she made all possible haste, but he spoke to her before she could slip back again to her place.

"Miss Vandevere, one moment, please. You are looking pale. You are not used to such close application. You'll make yourself ill. I have a box at the opera, but I seldom go. I'd be more than pleased to have you use it."

Betty's breath had stopped, and she recovered it with difficulty.

"Thank you very much, Mr. Sterling," she said icily, "but I must decline to take advantage of your kindness."

She fled with hot cheeks, but at heart she was not so angry as she tried to make herself believe. She knew intuitively that the offer had not been prompted so much by a desire to win favor as by real solicitude for her welfare.

Further proofs of the big man's thoughtfulness were forthcoming. That same evening, on returning to her boarding place, she was met by a smiling landlady.

"See what's come for you, Miss Vandevere!" The woman triumphantly held up a basket of delicious fruit.

"Who sent it?" Betty asked, searching for a card.

None was to be found, and Mrs. Fryitt could only tell her that the basket had been left by a messenger boy. Not one of her fair weather friends knew her present address. Naturally she thought of Mr. Henderson. For some time there had been a growing tenderness in his manner toward her. When the anonymous gifts continued to appear daily she took occasion to remonstrate with him.

"Hothouse grapes are expensive luxuries," she said. "Don't send any more. You can't afford to."

"Miss Vandevere, allow me to correct a wrong conclusion. I have not presumed to send out grapes or anything else."

"Who did?"

"If I may hazard a guess—the Bear!"

Betty was so angry that she marched forthwith into the next room, where her employer was busy at his desk.

"Mr. Sterling," she cried, "it's an impertinence for you to make me presents! The fact that I work for you is no excuse."

He looked disconcerted.

"I hoped—you wouldn't know—the trifles came from me."

"Why did you do it?" she demanded hotly.

"You're not used to making your own way—of course you miss things. And, then, I knew your father, and I wanted to help you for his sake."

She stared half incredulously.

"You knew papa? When? Where?"

"In San Francisco—last winter. We met in a business way and got to be friendly. He liked to talk about you, and once he showed me your picture. So you seemed like an old friend from the first."

Betty's eyes had been opened, but the look of annoyance did not leave her face.

"I can supply my own wants. Please do not send anything more," she said, and, with her head held high, went back to her post.

Henderson glanced up inquiringly, his face revealing half a dozen impulses in as many seconds. Suddenly he rose, took a step nearer and began speaking rapidly in a husky whisper.

"Miss Vandevere, listen! I'm going to tell you a secret. I have fallen heir to a fortune. I take the midnight train for Canada to claim the legacy. No one is to know of this until after I'm gone—not even Sterling. Will you come, too—away from this hateful life? You know I love you. Decide at once! There's no time for dallying. Say you'll come!"

The startled girl trembled in the hot breath of his passion. Every vestige of color left her face.

"It is—so—sudden," she faltered. "I must think it over. Give me time."

"I'll call at your boarding house at 10 o'clock. Be on the watch. And remember how much there is at stake. But I know I can trust you."

Betty's voice seemed to have dropped down into her throat. There was no response. A silence fell in which she could hear the muffled beating of her own heart.

That night Henderson was the first to leave. Sterling was in the room, and he could only give Betty a glance of mute appeal as he went out.

She crouched over her desk with blurred eyes. For a time there was no sound save the rustle of the paper Sterling pretended to read. At length, throwing it down, he crossed to her side.

"Still at work, Miss Vandevere?" he said, a new note in his big voice.

"I'll soon finish now," she answered without lifting her eyes. "Don't wait, please. I'll lock up."

Betty heard him sigh as he went out. Hastily locking the door on the inside, she withdrew the key and returned to her seat.

An hour dragged by. Now there were shadows everywhere. The corners were black with them. She felt a suffocating terror, as if the walls were contracting and might shut together and crush her.

Suddenly a key clicked in the lock. She had barely time to drop behind a chair before a man tiptoed into the office. As he passed by her hiding place the light from the street struck across his face. For a minute she ceased to breathe. He went hurriedly on to the inner room, and after a little while a gentle clicking told her that he was working the combination of the safe.

Now was her chance! Quaking with fright, she crept to the door opening on the landing. One quick step and she was outside. Then the unexpected happened. A flood of light suddenly illumined the darkness; she saw that the passage was full of policemen. And she had rushed straight into Tom Sterling's arms!

"You! Oh, I'm so glad!" she gasped hysterically. "Quick! The safe! You are being robbed. Henderson"—

But the men in blue had already dashed past into the office. There was the sound of a struggle, then a voice shrieking dreadful curses—the same voice she had once thought so cultured and refined.

"I overheard—this afternoon," Sterling said quietly. "I had grown suspicious before. If you really love him he shall go free."

"Love him? Oh, no, no!" Betty cried with her face hidden on the big man's shoulder. "I didn't know until this afternoon whom I loved, but I do now!"

Could Not Speak Above a Whisper

COLD IN THE CHEST SEEMED TO BE UNMOVABLE, BUT CURE WAS SOON EFFECTED BY

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

It is waste of time to use ordinary cough mixtures for serious colds on the chest, and time is of infinite value when the lungs are in danger. The risk is too great, especially when you wait to think that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is for sale in nearly every store that keeps medicines at all.

This letter gives you some idea of the effectiveness of this great medicine.

Mrs. A. Barnum, Ingersoll, Ont., writes: "My husband had a very severe cold on his chest, and got so a whisper. The cough medicines he tried seemed to have no effect, and, reading about Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine I sent for a bottle. In two days he was cured and is very grateful for such a medicine. He says we will never be without this medicine in the house."

The very name of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is sufficient to explain the simple and yet powerful and well-known ingredients of which this great medicine is composed.

While linseed sheaths the mouth, tongue and throat with a protective coating to prevent injury from hard coughing, turpentine disinfects and stimulates the ulcerated parts of the bronchial tubes and lungs and is almost specific for bronchitis.

Other ingredients, which, along with these, go to make up Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, soothe the nerves, loosen the cough, aid expectoration, and by thorough action on the whole system, completely cure coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough and sore throat.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle.—10.

Making Things Clear.

An old Peebles worthy and an English lady were one day recently occupants of a railway carriage in an Edinburgh bound train. The train had been waiting long at a certain station, and there was no appearance of its starting, when the worthy remarked, "They are a gey tiglesome lot here."

"I beg your pardon," said the lady.

"I'm sayin' they're an awfu' daiditn squad here," said the old fellow.

"I really beg your pardon, sir," she rejoined.

"I'm remarkin' they're a vera dreich lot here the nicht," the old gentleman further ventured.

"Really, I must again beg your pardon," said the lady, with marked embarrassment, "but I do not comprehend you."

"I was just trying to say the train was late," he finally blurted.

"Indeed, sir, it is very late," agreed the lady.

And the conversation collapsed.—Dundee News.

Railways Killed 402.

A summary respecting railway accidents shows that 402 persons were killed and 144 injured in Canada, between February 1, 1904, and March 31, 1906. The respective figures for three lines are: G.T.R., 167 and 40; C. P. R., 185 and 59; C.N.R., 27 and 24

Of the killed 109 were trespassing on the track, 42 were killed at level crossings, 38 employes were killed while shunting, and 15 passengers were killed while attempting to get on a train while in motion. Fifteen passengers and nine employes were killed from head-on collisions, and 25 passengers and three employes injured.

Rear-end collisions killed 17 passengers and 15 employes. The killed are 73 passengers, 168 employes and 161 "other persons."

Because of the increase in the Railway Board's work, inspectors are likely to be appointed and stationed at various points in Canada to further the Board's work.

His Geography.

Said little Ned: "The man who wrote
This big geography
Has surely made a great mistake
To leave out little me.

"Why, only think, as now I stand,
All toward my left is west,
In front of me is north, and back
Is south, as you have guessed.

"All on my right is east, and so
'Tis very plain to see
That north and south and east and west
Begin right here with me.

"So I must write and ask to have
My picture pasted in
That other boys and girls may learn
Where all these points begin."

AN ARTISTIC FAD.

Jewelry Making a Fascinating Work For Clever Women.

With the fashion for handmade jewelry, clear stones in quaintly designed silver settings and combinations of coral and jade with silver or gold, there has naturally followed a fad for learning to make such jewelry.

The woman who has any idea whatever of designing, with a certain amount of patience and skill in handling such work, finds that with inexpensive tools and materials she can turn out jewelry that is pretty and artistic looking, however much it may lack in lasting qualities.

At any rate, it is fascinating work and not nearly so expensive as it may at first sound. Silver is cheap, and pieces that have been spoiled or any cuttings or scrapings may be sold to the dealer for only a few cents less than the original cost, while a number of the cheaper stones, carbuncles, moonstones, chrysoprase and others of the same varieties may be purchased most reasonably.

The materials required for the work are a small blowpipe and spirit lamp, a small pair of tweezers, a piece of asbestus cardboard, three needle files, round, square and three sided; a fine camel's hair brush, a little hammer, two small light pliers, a pair of scissors and a penknife, a small vise to screw on to the table, a piece of slate and some fine binding wire.

The first thing to learn is soldering—that is, to unite pieces of silver by melting into the joint an alloy which melts at a temperature that only makes the silver red hot.

This is done by rubbing a lump of borax on to a piece of slate with a drop of water until a paste is formed, scraping the places where the silver is to be joined until they are quite bright and tying them together with the binding wire.

The joint is covered with the borax paste, a few tiny drops of solder are put on it, then it is placed on the asbestus cardboard and a flow from the blowpipe is turned on it. Soon after the silver is red hot the solder will melt and run along the joint, and when cool the two pieces will be firmly fixed together.

In setting a stone the plain box setting will be found most satisfactory for the amateur. A piece of silver just a little larger than the stone should be cut; also a narrow strip the exact size of its circumference. This should not be too wide or it will hide the stone. Bend this up to form a collar and solder the ends together, then fit it around the stone to see that it is the right size.

Scrape the bottom and solder it on to the base, cutting off all the superfluous silver and filing the top to a level so that it may easily be burnished.

One clever woman who has taken up jewelry making as a pastime has several most attractive pieces to her credit, pieces on which the workmanship is as good as the designing, for they seem quite as substantial as those made by professionals.

One of these is a dainty slide, composed of heart shaped chrysoprase surrounded by a unique design of tiny beads and twisted wire, with a small baroque pearl drop hanging from it. The other is a most unusual looking pendant of silver and jade. The jade is of an irregular shape set into an oval design of tiny leaves and with a smaller jade drop.

FATAL COLLISION ON THE GRAND TRUNK

Wreck Near Huntsville Kills One Man and Injuries Two Others.

PASSENGERS ALL ESCAPE

Express Dashes Into Stalled Freight Train—Overturned Stove Again Does Damage—Sets Wreckage On Fire—Cars Smashed to Pieces—Wrecking Crew Do Good Work—Cause of Accident.

Huntsville, April 9.—The North Bay express, which left Toronto at 11.30 Sunday night, crashed into the rear of a stalled freight train three miles north of Huntsville early yesterday morning, killing the brakeman of the freight and seriously injuring his assistant and the conductor.

When the collision occurred the three men were in the van, the escaping steam from the express locomotive causing the death of Richardson and the injury to the other two.

The van and several other cars were smashed to pieces, and the scattered ashes from the stove set fire to the debris. The engineer of the express, J. Firman, and his fireman, jumped from the cab of the engine just in time.

A few passengers in the smoking car were given a shaking up, one man having his face cut with the glass from a broken window.

Richardson leaves a widow and child in Midland, where he was a member of the L. O. L., and his widow will receive $1,500 from the society. The two other injured men were conveyed to the General Hospital at Huntsville, and latest reports ensure their recovery.

A miscalculation on the part of the officials is held as being responsible for the smash. The express was 10 minutes behind when the freight left Huntsville, and it was thought that the latter could reach the siding at Novar in time to give the passenger train a clear right of way.

The wrecking crew from Allandale had five hours good work in clearing away the tracks.

Dead: Brakeman Nelson Richardson, Midland.

Injured: Duke Wellington, Allandale, conductor, badly scalded. Brakeman T. Myers, Allandale, seriously injured.

THAW TRIAL REACHED A CLIMAX

Delmas Commences His Address to the Jury in Defence.

STANDS BY WRITTEN LAW

Counsel Traces History of Evelyn Nesbit and Her Connection With White—Speaks of Her Mother With Contempt—Quotes Jerome's Statement and Appeals For Acquittal.

New York, April 9.—The curtain began to fall yesterday on the dramatic trial of Harry K. Thaw, charged with the murder of Stanford White.

Attorney Delphin M. Delmas, the California advocate, began his long anticipated address to the jury in the afternoon, and after he had spoken for more than two hours and a half, adjournment was taken until to-day. Mr. Delmas expects to finish his speech before the luncheon hour is reached.

District Attorney Jerome will make the closing address of the trial tomorrow and Thaw's fate should be in the hands of the jury by Wednesday evening. Justice Fitzgerald ordered the jury locked up until the end of the trial. The judge's charge to the jury will be delivered immediately after the district attorney concludes his speech, which will take up three or four hours.

Declaring that he would not base his plea upon the "unwritten law," because his client found ample justification in the written statutes of the State of New York, Mr. Delmas made a striking appeal to the sympathy of the jury. But so far as he went yesterday, the subject of Thaw's sanity or insanity at the time he committed the homicide was not even hinted at. Mr. Delmas grounded his argument solely upon the story of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw.

"Even a beast protects its young," he declared with scornful emphasis, "but this unnatural mother deserted her daughter in this city of millions to be betrayed by a false friend, to be lured into a gilded palace, and there left the victim of a gray-haired man, wounded, bleeding and devoured."

Jerome Not Present.

All of Thaw's family were in the court-room. They sat stolid, as usual, throughout Mr. Delmas' argument, their features betraying no emotion which they might feel. Thaw turned to them from time to time, as his attorney seemed to strike some telling blow, and they smiled back, reflecting his own pleasure. Thaw also turned frequently to his wife, who, in the last stages of the trial, as in the first, seems to be bearing the stress of the trial. She had a responsive smile ready for his every look.

District Attorney Jerome was not in court to hear Mr. Delmas' speech. His assistant, Mr. Garvan, took voluminous notes, however. Mr. Jerome, it was said, was busy with the preparation of his own address.

Mr. Delmas began his appeal to the jury by quoting from an utterance of District Attorney Jerome during the trial. He said:

"We have no right if the real facts were known to be here trying this man, and would be absolutely prohibited by the statutes."

Defended by Written Law.

"In the performance of my task, it is perhaps not improper to say that I shall make no attempt to influence your passions, no attempt to make your sympathies overbalance your judgment, I shall not call on such a flimsy thing as the 'unwritten law.' This defendant finds his justification in the written law, in the statutes of this state. In the written law he finds all necessary to protect his life and his liberty.

The Tragic Story.

"The story is that of two young people whom fate by inscrutable decree had determined to link together, to be united and walk through life in the company of one another. The story covers only a few years. It is the saddest, most mournful and most tragic which the tongue of man has ever uttered or ear of man ever heard."

He told of Evelyn's early life. "As she became the family drudge, assisting her mother in the household duties. But nature had endowed her with the fatal gift of beauty—a beauty which manifested itself in early youth and a gift with which the mother soon saw means of supporting the family.

Assails White.

"At this time," he said, "we find a man whose hair was tinged with gray, who had an excellent wife and an accomplished son, fixing his eyes upon the fated child and determining to make her his.

"The child was left alone. In one of those dens fitted up with all the beauty and taste which this man of genius possessed, into one of these dens this child was lured and found herself alone with this man, old enough to be her father, the man who was to be her protector."

He accused White of the crime, the penalty for which he declared that President Roosevelt had said in a message to Congress should be visited with death. This was one of the suggestions which Thaw himself made to his counsel for his summing up—one of the suggestions which played so important a part in the proceedings before the lunacy commission.

Hummel's Affidavit.

That Evelyn Nesbit's story was true, and was told to Harry Thaw, formed the subject of the argument for more than an hour. Mr. Delmas declared that the only evidence the district attorney had to bring against the girl was the "miscalled affidavit," conjured by Abraham Hummel.

Speaking of the latter, Mr. Delmas again drew heavily upon the bitterest adjectives of his wide vocabulary, and asserted with emphasis that it would require more than the word of a perjured man to send Harry Thaw to an ignominous death. Hummel was charged by Mr. Delmas of having committed deliberate perjury upon the stand when he swore he was not acting as Evelyn Nesbit's counsel, and that no action was contemplated in her behalf. He said the so-called affidavit had itself convicted the man of falsehoods.

Protest Against Commission.

At the morning session of court, Mr. Jerome formally protested against the confirmation of the report of the lunacy commission. He made no argument, however, and his motion was quickly overruled. The defence then sought to have Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton testify that Thaw was insane at the time he committed the alleged murder. The district attorney prevented this by an objection to Dr. Hamilton's sur-rebuttal.

He was sustained, and Mr. Delmas announced that the defence rested. Mr. Jerome made a similar announcement, and then an adjournment was ordered until two o'clock, that the jurors, who were to be deprived of their liberty, might adjust their business affairs.

CRAWFORD ELECTED AS SPEAKER

To Succeed Late Mr St. John As Speaker.

TRIBUTES TO THE DEAD

Premier and Members Join In Eulogizing Worth of Late Speaker—Many Are In Tears—House Adjourns In Respect to His Memory—Work to Be Rushed Till Legislature Prorogues.

Toronto, April 9.—The election of Mr. Thomas Crawford, M. P. P. for West Toronto, as Speaker in succession to the late Hon. J. W. St. John, eulogies of the late Speaker, and the early adjournment of the House as a token of respect to his memory were the features of yesterday's session of the Legislature. All who spoke in regard to the late Speaker did so in simple unaffectedness. Twice during the course of his remarks the Premier halted and almost broke down. Among the members there were many who made no attempt to hide their tears as they sat silent listeners to their colleagues paying tribute to a man they all loved. Until the Speaker had been elected the Speaker's Gallery was kept vacant. All the other galleries were well filled throughout. On motion of the Premier the House will meet at two o'clock this afternoon, and at night will adjourn until Thursday, the funeral of the late Speaker taking place on Wednesday.

It may be possible to decide to-day whether by this arrangement the business of the House can be concluded this week.

Met In Sorrowful Circumstances.

On the House assembling the Premier in brief terms spoke of the mournful and sorrowful circumstances under which they had met. Proceeding, he said: "Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor commands me to acquaint you that the Hon. Joseph Wesley St. John, member for the West riding of the County of York and recently Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, has departed this life, and that his seat in the Assembly having thereby become vacant, the appointment of another Speaker is rendered necessary. It is, therefore, His Honor's pleasure that you do forthwith choose a fit and proper person to be your Speaker, and that you do present him whom you shall have so chosen to His Honor in this House to-day for His Honor's approbation."

The Premier then moved, seconded by Hon. Mr. Foy, that Mr. Thomas Crawford be chosen as Speaker. He referred to Mr. Crawford's municipal and legislative career, and expressed the opinion that he would fill with acceptance the position to which undoubtedly the House would elect him.

Hon. Mr. Foy, in speaking to the motion, re-echoed the Premier's words as to Mr. Crawford's fitness.

Opposition's Acquiescence.

"We on this side of the House heartily acquiesce in the selection of Mr. Crawford as Speaker of the Legislature," said Hon. G. P Graham, leader of the Opposition. "In his selection we have every confidence that the good sense which has characterized the rulings of his predecessor will be continued during Mr. Crawford's term of office."

Mr. Crawford was then declared duly elected by the Clerk of the House.

New Speaker Expresses His Thanks.

The newly-elected Speaker was then escorted into the House by Premier Whitney and Hon. J. J. Foy and mounting the dais briefly returned thanks for the great honor conferred upon him.

A Tribute to the Dead.

Following the reading of the prayers the Premier addressed the House in reference to the late Speaker. Deceased, he declared, had left behind him a record as a public man in which not only those who were near and dear to him could rejoice, but of which the public also had reason to be proud. It was impossible, the Premier declared, for him to find words in which to convey anything approaching all that he would like to say of the late Mr. St. John. The Premier spoke warmly of "the transparent honesty" of the man, whose life was like an open book. This had won for him the esteem and respect not only of those closely associated with him, but of those opposed to him on public questions. Mr. St. John's bright and optimistic nature was emphasized by the Premier. "He rejoiced in general happiness. He was not happy when the people about him were unhappy. He occupied a position and left a name that neither his family, his associates in business and political life nor the community at large had any reason to be dissatisfied with."

Liberal Leader's Tribute.

Hon. G. P. Graham, leader of the Opposition, said:—"In such a time as this, when the very air is laden with grief and sorrow sits enthroned in every heart, words form at best but a meaningless medium through which to express the feelings that permeate every breast. The limit of man's vision is wonderfully prescribed, and the extent of his knowledge concerning even himself is confined to the present moment. This arrangement of a Divine mind is a merciful one, because could we know in advance the rugged paths we have to tread and the shadows through which we are to pass we would shrink from performing our allotted tasks, and possibly lament that we had been called into existence."

Continuing, Mr. Graham spoke of the late Speaker's splendid physique and the terrible suddenness with which he had been carried away. In his undertakings he had been enthusiastic, and in heart he was as large as in stature. Concluding, he said:—"As a Legislature we have sustained a deep loss, and as individuals we feel that a friend has departed. To the bereaved family, whose sorrow is too sacred to suffer intrusion, we can but offer our sincere sympathy, trusting that consolation and comfort may come from that Source which is over and above us all."

Messrs. Hoyle (North Ontario), Downey (South Wellington), Atkinson (North Norfolk) and Studholme (East Hamilton), in brief addresses added theirs to the tributes of the Premier and the leader of the Opposition.

The motion respecting the sitting of the House was then put and carried and the House adjourned.

LABOR ACT SUCCESSFUL.

Lord Aylmer's Retirement — Public Works Estimates Go Through.

Ottawa, April 9.—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux in his capacity as Minister of Labor was in a position to make the gratifying announcement that the new labor disputes bill, which he so recently was successful in piloting through Parliament, had practically had the effect of terminating the strike of 1,700 men, who had gone out at Springhill, N. S. The men had returned to work, and he read a telegram to the House stating that they had done so without raising any question as to the declaration of an open shop. With regard to the lockout in Alberta, he hoped to be able to make an announcement within a short time. In answer to Col. Sam Hughes, Mr. Fielding explained the circumstances in connection with the appointment and retirement of Lord Aylmer as Inspector General of Militia, and pointed out that the order in Council appointing Lord Aylmer for two years was initiated by himself, and that that period had not only expired, but that a slight extension had been granted. The rest of the day the House spent in supply, dealing with Public Works estimates for harbor and river works in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Quebec.

These were passed to the amount of a million and a quarter dollars.

CANADA'S BOUNDARIES.

Treaty Drawn Between Great Britain and United States.

Washington, April 9.—It was officially admitted yesterday that a treaty had been drafted between the United States and Great Britain, providing for the appointment of a joint commission, which will consider all of the complex questions connected with the water boundaries between Canada and the United States.

This will include such questions as the disposition of the waters of the great lakes; the regulation of the use of the water at Niagara Falls for power purposes and the whole general subject of fisheries regulations, not only for the great lakes but for the Atlantic and Pacific states.

The treaty will require the approval of the United States Senate to become effective, but it is possible that an arrangement in the nature of a modus vivendi will be reached between Secretary Root and Ambassador Bryce in the near future.

LIMITATION OF ARMAMENTS.

Germany Will Refuse to Discuss It at Hague Conference.

London, April 9.—The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Mail says that Germany is heartily anxious for a definite result from The Hague Conference and regrets that the deliberations will not be confined to practical international questions in accordance with Russia's proposal. He adds that when the British proposal for the limitation of armaments is submitted, Baron Marschall von Bieberstein, as Germany's chief delegate, will define her position substantially thus: Disarmament for Germany is not a problem. It is a matter upon which she holds convictions of such a character that participation in any discussion of the subject would be utterly futile. She therefore leaves consideration of the matter to those who believe its discussion will repay them.

PARLIAMENT MEETS.

Budget Expected to Lead to Prolonged Debate.

London, April 9.—Parliament reassembled yesterday after the Easter. The budget will be introduced April 18, and is expected to lead to lively and prolonged debate.

The prospects seem slight for any early effort to deal with the question described in the King's speech as the "unfortunate differences between the two Houses."

As a result of the large amount of work before Parliament, an autumn session seems to be inevitable.

Laurier May Preside.

London, April 9.—(C. A. P.)—The Standard says it is felt that Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman should take the chair at the colonial conference, but if he is unable, the responsibility should naturally, by virtue of seniority, devolve upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Upon this proposition there is entire unanimity of opinion.

First Sod Has Been Turned For New Collegiate Institute

Work Began This Morning Upon Building of Which so Much Has Been Heard in Recent Years.

UPON HISTORIC GROUND

Site of the Building Has Seen Many Changes—Has Been a Cemetery, Fair Grounds, School Yard and Ball Field.

The first sod was turned for the new Collegiate Institute this morning, when the contractors, Messrs. Langford and Sheehy, started a gang of men at work upon the excavation. It is expected that it will require about a year to complete the building.

The members of the Board of Education must view the beginning of the building, which has caused them so much anxiety and labour, with a great deal of satisfaction. It has been a topic in connection with the discussions of the Board for a goodly number of years, and three times have the people been asked for money to carry out the work. In the first place, the Board asked for $50,000, which was thought sufficient to buy the site and build the school. Ten thousand dollars was expended on the site in Central Park, and the remaining $40,000 was found to be not enough for the building. Accordingly, the people were asked to supply another $50,000, which would have made $100,000 in all. The bylaw, was, however, defeated when presented, and the Board was once more in trouble over the school. Finally, after the plans had been cut down and modified as much as possible, they asked for $21,000 to finish the work, and the people approved of the measure.

Great changes have been seen in the site selected since the days when the Indians on the trail camped there, and the wolves howled among the pines. In the early days of the city the land was used as a cemetery. Then is was used as a fair ground upon which the Central Exhibition was held. After this the Separate School was built there and used for many years. Within the last decade there has been a striking metamorphosis. The last ten years have seen the pines that dotted the yard cut down and the place turned into an athletic ground, a grandstand being erected on the north side. In the onward march of time there was another change. First, the grandstand was removed, and then, last year, the school itself was torn down, leaving the place a common. And now the Collegiate Institute will cover the ground upon which so many ball games in the last few years have been played.

NEW STEAMER ABOUT READY FOR THE WATER

Government Boat Will Be Launched in the Near Future it is Expected.

The new Government steamer being built for work on the Trent Canal is rapidly nearing the stage when she may be launched, and it is expected that in the course of a short time she will take the water. The hull of the new boat is being painted red to the water line, and above that to the gunwale she will be dark green, while her upper works will be a pea green shade.

CHEMONG BRIDGE CLOSES AT SIX O'CLOCK AT NIGHT

Is Opened for Traffic Every Morning to Ensure Safety to the Public.

The ice in Chemong Lake shows no sign of breaking up except at both ends of the floating bridge. Every evening traffic is closed at 6 o'clock, and is not opened until the same hour next morning. The reason for this is on account of the ice giving away at either end and this precaution is taken to ensure safety. Mr. Leary, caretaker of the bridge, is expecting the ice to break up very soon, but does not anticipate any trouble.

The roads in that vicinity are very bad at present.

Charge Italians $10.00 To Work For City

Ald. Morgan Proposes to Pass a By-law to This Effect—Must Take Out Certificate.

NOVEL SCHEME PROPOSED

Italian labourers, unless they are taxpayers, or unless they pay a tax of $10 a year, will not be allowed to be employed on municipal work, if Ald. Morgan has his way. He gave the Examiner an interview to-day, in which he expressed his opinion on this subject. His proposition is to make the Italians who want to work for the city, and who are not taxpayers, apply to the City Clerk for a certificate, for which they will be called upon to pay $10. He proposes to deduct $10 for each such ouror who cannot produce his certificate, and should a contractor on municipal work employ them, he proposed to deduct $10 for each such once from the amount of his contract.

It is probable that Ald. Morgan will introduce a bylaw to this effect, and he will incorporate in it a clause providing that the health inspector shall be charged with the duty of seeing that these Italians live according to sanitary rules, and that they be prevented from overcrowding.

Rev. Dr. Symonds Delivers First Lecture Of The Series

Week's Lectures On Tennyson's "In Memoriam" Opened Last Night In the Y. M. C. A. Hall---Introductory Lecture Was Much Enjoyed.

Last night a good number of literarily inclined persons who gathered in the Y.M.C.A. Hall heard the first of a series of exceedingly interesting lectures on Tennyson's "In Memoriam," by Rev. Dr. Symonds, of Montreal. The lecture last night was introductory to the series, which will be continued until Friday night.

The lecturer was introduced by Mr. J. H. Burnham, and during the evening a vocal solo by Miss Lillian Moore, with Miss Gladys Crane, as accompanist, was rendered.

Dr. Symonds does not tire his audience with a long drawn out lecture, that of last night being concluded by nine o'clock. At the same time he makes it intensely interesting.

The world into which Tennyson was born was a very different place from that which we know. The Battle of Waterloo had not been fought. There were no railways, no steamships, no telegraphs. Nevertheless the new age in which we live was already dawning upon the horizon. Tennyson at Cambridge would come into contact with the best thought of his time. It was here that he formed his historic friendship with Arthur Henry Hallam, of whom Mr. Gladstone, at the close of his long life said that of all those he had met Hallam stood supreme. This friendship lasted for about five years, and then Hallam was suddenly stricken with death in 1833 whilst travelling in Austria. Tennyson had already published two small volumes of verse, "Preludes of a Loftier Strain." After Hallam's death the poet was so overwhelmed with grief that for nine years he published nothing. Yet sorrow proved for him a great educator and refiner of character, the supreme fruit of which was the poem we are to consider this week, "In Memoriam."

"In Memoriam" was not published for seventeen years after Hallam's death. It was not designed as a whole and systematically composed poem, like Dante's Divine Comedy, and Milton's "Paradise Lost." The sections were written at many different times and in many different places, without at first any thought of publication. But, as the sections grew in number, Tennyson found that that they could be woven into a whole. The first title designed for them was "Fragments of an Elegy," but this was found unsuitable, and was replaced by that which, to us, seems the only possible title, "In Memoriam."

The structure of this remarkable poem is of the loosest. At first reading, it appears to be composed of one hundred and thirty-one independent poems, threaded like pearls upon the string of a common topic. Robertson, the famous preacher of Brighton, treated it thus, but since his day a small literature has grown up round this poem, and the problem of the structure of "In Memoriam" has been so solved as to throw a flood of light upon the poem itself.

The clue to the division of the poem is to be found in those sections which mark the recurring seasons of the year. From these it is found that the development of the poem occupies some two years and a half. It brings in autumn, and includes three Christmases, and ends in the spring (see sections 15, 28, 78, 104, 115). The whole may be divided into four principal divisions which we shall call: 1—The introductory division; 2—The first cycle; 3—The second cycle; 4—The third cycle.

In these divisions, the principal thing to be observed is the development or the progress of the poet's mood, from the utter despondency of loss, to that of restored faith and peace. As the poem proceeds, Tennyson takes his own sorrow and difficulties as typical of those of the human race, and this leads to the discussion of such types as Religion and Science, Doubt and Faith, the Progress of the Race in moral development. Mr. Geaning calls the first, second and third cycles of the poem, respectively, the cycles of the past, the present and the future, a very suggestive nomenclature, as we shall see.

Tennyson himself sometimes called "In Memoriam" "The Way of the Soul," and "The Way of the Soul" is found to be a journey from the first stupor and confusion of grief through a growing acquiescence to an almost unclouded peace and joy. The soul, at first almost sunk in the feeling of loss, finds itself at last freed from regret, and yet strengthened in affection.

The subject of this evening's lecture will be "In Memoriam, in Relation to the Age."

Will The Local Y. M. C. A. Lose Its Secretary?

Report to the Effect That Mr. G. H. Williamson May be Offered the Office of Secretary of West End Y. M. C. A.

HIS FRIEND HAS RESIGNED

Secretary J. W. Hopkins, of the West End Y.M.C.A., in Toronto, is leaving that Association to join the Provincial staff. Mr. Hopkins and Mr. G. H. Williamson, of the local Association, are, singularly enough old friends, having worked in the same church for five years and they left to enter the Y.M.C.A. work together and have been warm friends ever since.

The Examiner was informed from Toronto to-day that Mr. Williamson, Secretary of the Peterborough Association was being prominently mentioned as a successor to Mr. Hopkins. Mr. Williamson was communicated with in reference to the statement and gave the information that he had not been approached by any representative of the West End Association in connection with this particular vacancy, though he admitted that he had a few years ago been wanted by that Association, but he had at that time not seen his way clear to accept the proposition that had been made to him.

The West End Association is one of the largest and most prosperous in the Dominion, having a membership about 1,000.

Mr. Williamson would not say anything as to the probability of his accepting the vacant position should it be offered him, stating that he had no knowledge that he was to be offered the position.

SWALLOWS MAKE THEIR APPEARANCE

It may be true that "One swallow doesn't make a summer," but this morning Mr. Frank Wise, superintendent of the Little Lake Cemetery, saw two, which is a little better, and may be taken as an indication that the warm weather is at hand. Mr. Wise is the first to report the appearance of the swallows, as he was the first to record the coming of the robins in large flocks. This morning he saw two swallows on Little Lake and takes it as a sign that more of these harbingers of spring will soon be here.

Canadian Pacific Railway Officials Visit The City

General Superintendent of the Ontario Division Oborne Spends the Night Here.

INSPECTING CO'S PROPERTY

Mr. James Oborne, General Superintendent of the Ontario Division of the C. P. R., his territory extending from Montreal to Windsor, and Mr. J. R. Nelson, superintendent of this district, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon from the east on an immigrant special, to which their special car, No. 3, was attached, on their annual tour of inspection of the line, taken at this time of the year. They remained in the city until this morning when they left for the west on the way freight.

In the interval they made a thorough inspection of the company's property in this city, and expressed themselves as satisfied. It is not anticipated that any extensive improvements will be made to the property in the city in the immediate future, everything apparently being in good condition.

An enjoyable dance was held last night in the Foresters' Hall, under the auspices of the Toolmakers of the Canadian General Electric Company's works. About fifty couple were in attendance and a delightful evening was spent. Music was supplied by Howard's orchestra.

New Dynamos Destroyed Shortly After Delivery

Canadian General Electric Company Supplied Five to Chatham Gas Company and Sunday They Were Destroyed.

A SERIOUS LOSS SUSTAINED

The Canadian General Electric Company, recently completed the contract for five dynamos for the Chatham Gas Company, and delivered them a short time ago. Yesterday a despatch was received stating that the whole battery of machines was destroyed by fire. The despatch referred to is as follows:

: Chatham, April 7. — Fire broke out in the auxiliary plant of the Chatham Gas Company last night at 12 o'clock and burned five dynamos, while two engines were damaged but not badly. The fire came from an electric wire, it is thought. The firemen put it out in about an hour. The damage will not interfere with the electric light service.

Fred. Warner Elected To Asphodel Council On Monday

Election to Fill a Vacancy Was Warmly Contested—Successful Candidate Has Majority of 60.

ELECTION IN THE MUD

Examiner Special.

Westwood, April 8th. — The election in Westwood yesterday to fill the vacancy in the township council, made by the resignation of Mr. J. Humphries, who is going to Peterborough to live, resulted in the return of Mr. Fred Warner, by a majority of 60 over his next highest opponent. The details of the vote were as follows:—

	Humphries.
No. 1 Div.	15
No. 2 Div.	15
No. 3 Div.	4
No. 4 Div.	19
	43
	Warner.
No. 1 Div.	31
No. 2 Div.	11
No. 3 Div.	74
No. 4 Div.	28
	144
	Walsh
No. 1 Div.	31
No. 2 Div.	10
No. 3 Div.	17
	84

The election contest was fought through snow, mud and teetotalism, the Local Option question having entered pretty largely into the fight. Mr. Humphries and Mr. Warner have both served in the council before, the latter having won the distinction of never having been defeated. Mr. Warner was nominated at the last municipal election January, but withdrew from the contest in order to make possible an election by acclamation, both he and Mr. Walsh, who was also nominated believing that if there was a contest it would injure the vote in favour of Local Option, both men being in favour of that bylaw. When that question had been settled they both felt that they could enter in a contest.

Entries must be by April 20th.

NEW SCHOOL IN ASPHODEL WILL BE BEGUN SOON

Trustees of Section No. 6 Determined to Have a School Modern in Every Respect.

A gentleman from Asphodel was in the city lately and discussed the erection of a new school, in section No. 6, to be begun in a very short time. The old school proved altogether inadequate to the needs of the locality, besides the building was antiquated and needed many repairs.

Mr. Richard Lees, P. S. I., advised the trustees that a new school was what was needed and the opinions of the taxpayers were the same. There was no difficulty in raising the required amount to make ready for building. The plans have been prepared by a local architect, and have met with the approval of the committee in charge, and the work will be begun immediately. The contract prices have been somewhat high, and the school will probably cost $1500 or $1600.

The equipment will be modern in every respect as the trustees are determined to have a school which they will be proud of. Twenty-five new seats have been ordered and other improvements will be added. School section No. 6 will then be second to none in the possession of a fine school.

REPRESENTATIVES WERE ELECTED

By Congregation of St. Paul's Church Last Night to Appear Before Presbytery.

A largely attended meeting of the congregation of St. Paul's church was held last night for the purpose of appointing representatives to appear before the Presbytery at its special meeting in St. Andrew's Hall Thursday in connection with matters relating to the resignation of Rev. Dr. Torrance.

As a result, all the office bearers and several prominent members of the congregation were elected as representatives. Mr. J. C. Shook was in the chair, and the meeting was a very harmonious one, although there was a long discussion.

It is understood that no objection will be made to the resignation of Rev. Dr. Torrance and it is believed that in view of his long service a substantial retiring allowance will be made him. During the evening several appreciative references were made to the earnest and faithful services of Rev. Dr. Torrance.

BANQUET TO BE GIVEN THE STRATCHONAS

Arrangements Made at a Meeting of Clubs Last Night.

A meeting of the representatives of the City League Clubs, was held last night at Fred A. Clarke's store for the purpose of making arrangements for the big banquet which will be held on Monday night in honour of the champion Strathconas and which promises to be a great success. Each of the other clubs will be provided with ten tickets, which they are expected to dispose of, and which will insure a representative and large attendance.

The affair will take place at McCallum's restaurant, and the Examiner cup will be presented to the champions by Hon. J. R. Stratton.

NO WAGES

English Labourer's Pitiful Story.

31 DAYS BUT NO MONEY

South Monaghan Farmer Alleged to Have Broken Agreement With Farm Hand and His Wife re Wages.

Another non-payment of wages case is reported from South Monaghan, where a labourer and his wife, who recently came to this country, allege that they have worked for a farmer for thirty-one days and have received no money. They called on Magistrate Edmison to-day to lay an information against their employer and told a rather pitiful story.

Only recently they landed in Canada, and, on arriving at the Salvation Army headquarters in Toronto not long ago, found that the South Monaghan farmer had an application there for a man and his wife to work for him. An agreement, they claim, was entered into whereby they were to receive $18 per month, a free house, free firewood and board.

To-day they informed the Magistrate that thirty-one days had passed, during which time they had worked for their employer, but had not received a cent.

An information against him was what the party wanted, but owing to the fact that the case originated in South Monaghan, and that it was therefore outside the jurisdiction of Magistrate Edmison, none could be laid in Peterborough. The Magistrate advised them to go to Cobourg, where their contention would be attended to.

MINISTERS' SALARIES

There does not seem to be unanimity of opinion as to the wisdom of the recent increase of salary, to which Ontario Cabinet Ministers have voted themselves. It remains, in the minds of many, to be demonstrated that one-half of the Cabinet Ministers are worth one-half of what the increase makes their salary, Hon. G. P. Graham to the contrary, notwithstanding. The former salary stood at $4,000, which, with the thousand dollars sessional indemnity, meant $5,000. Now they get $7,000, and the Premier $10,000, a year. It can fairly be argued that these amounts are excessive, and it will not be seriously denied that, with one or two exceptions, no member of the Cabinet has sacrificed, by his acceptance of office, an income from his profession or business amounting to half of his salary. Nor does the increase in the salaries of Ministers represent the extent of the increased expenditure brought about by the Conservative Government of Ontario. It is well known that, with some exceptions, the Ministers off the Ontario Cabinet have had to add to their departments men of ability at a good salary to supplement their capacity for performing the duties incident to the portfolio they hold. If the increase of ministerial salaries is held to be too great on their merits, the very considerable increase of expenditure involved is not to be approved of. One standing cry of the Conservative Opposition was that the Liberal Government had unduly increased the expenditure. In the face of that attitude, the Conservatives, as soon as they got access to the Provincial money bags, proceeded to "boost up" the expenditure. The last year of Liberal rule the expenditure was $5,267,453.02. The first year of Conservative rule, it advanced to $5,396,016.74—in 1905. In 1906, the expenditure leaped up to $6,720,179.07, and in 1907 the figures will be $7,000,000—an increase of nearly two millions in two years. The revenue of the Province, thanks to the foundation laid by the Liberal Government, is buoyant, but that is no reason why there should be such a reckless increase of expenditure. As to the increase of ministerial salaries, there is, doubtless, some force in the claim that the price of living has advanced, but it does not seem that the advance has been so great as to justify so large an increase of salary, which, in addition to the actual increase, establishes a precedent which private members may claim to justify the increase of the sessional indemnity. The Ministers could not very well refuse it, though the present indemnity of a thousand dollars seems to be more than ample, as the Dominion indemnity of $2,500 is too large. Eight hundred for Ontario members would seem to be quite enough.

The salaries of Ontario Ministers are twice as large as those of Ministers in Quebec, where the Premier gets $5,000, and the other Ministers $4,200. In Nova Scotia, the Premier gets $4,000; in New Brunswick, $2,100; in Manitoba, $3,500; in British Columbia, $5,000, and in Alberta and Saskatchewan, $6,000 each. Ontario Cabinet Ministers will have to do better work and to take better care of our money than they have done, to earn their $10,000 and $7,000 a year salary.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is no reason to believe that Hon. Mr. Whitney values an increase of salary for the sake of the more filthy lucre. He insists that he shall be called, not Premier of Ontario, but Prime Minister of Ontario, and naturally desires that the salary shall correspond with the frills.

The death of Mr. St. John, Speaker of the Ontario Legislature, removes one of the most stalwart, physically, intellectually and politically, of the Conservative members of the House. He was a hard hitter and a hard fighter, with a large good nature that made him persona grata to both sides of the House.

A bill to amend the law for the improvement of public highways, before the Legislative Assembly, provides that in view of county councils being now composed of the reeves and deputy-reeves of the townships a by-law of the county council will be sufficient authority to proceed with the contemplated works and to secure the government aid instead of getting the consent of each municipality to a good roads scheme as before. The bill also provides that towns and incorporated villages not separated from the county may share in the government grant of one-third of the cost of good roads extensions.

FARM FORESTRY

Repeated blows of the woodman's axe fell the largest trees and it requires repeated blows and arguments and entreaty to induce farmers and others to take means of reproducing the trees whose removal has changed the face of the province, changed climatic conditions, and affected the growth of crops and the level of our lakes, rivers and streams. It is only by continuous urging that the public can be roused to the necessity of reforesting operations. In default of the Government initiating a vigorous forestry policy the duty falls upon the people. Before Hon. John Dryden left office, he instituted a nursery for tree seedlings, at the Experimental Farm, Guelph, and the present administration is to be commended for its action in relation to the free distribution of these seedlings. For the purpose of encouraging farmers in tree planting, the Department of Agriculture proposes distributing nursery grown trees free to those who wish to improve their wood lots, or make plantations on the waste portions of their lands, such as steep hillsides, light, sandy, rocky, or gravelly spots, swamp lands and other portions of the farm unsuitable for tillage. These trees have been grown in the forest nursery at the Ontario Agricultural College and a large number of various species are now ready to be sent out when applied for, upon the following conditions: Any farmer may obtain in any one season, trees enough to plant two acres of land, and the same number may be given to the same man for several years in succession. He must pay the express charges on the trees from Guelph to his nearest railway station. This is the only charge made. He is required to prepare the ground for planting the trees, to put them in, and to guarantee that they shall be protected from live stock. A number of farmers have already taken advantage of this offer, and more should do so, not only in their own interests, but in the interests of the country at large. The farm wood-lot is fast disappearing, and it must be replaced.

FLAG-FLYING AND PATRIOTISM

The discussion over the proposal to fly the flag on the Twelfth of July shows that the flag-flying business is being overdone. It is now proposed to fly the flag on the schools every day, and the next move will be to introduce the American custom of "saluting the flag," converting a symbol into an object of worship.

If patriotism is to be taught in the schools, it should be by means that appeal to the intelligence, not merely to the eye. Let the children be taught the resources and opportunities of their country, and the duties that these entail. Let them be taught that while it may be occasionally necessary to fight for their country, it is always necessary to work for their country, and that this is to be done by performing faithfully the daily duties of life, and showing justice and kindness to their comrades; that all good work is patriotic and all bad work is treason.

If this lesson is thoroughly instilled into the minds and hearts of children, more good will be done than by unlimited flag-flying. Patriotism so taught will rest upon a rational and solid basis. It will not be a thing of occasions and symbols, but an inspiration for daily work and for the duties of citizenship. It will be woven into the fabric of life, not merely stuck on the outside as an ornament. —Toronto Star.

WILL REPRESENT MONTHS OF YEAR

Arrangements Made for the St. John's Y. P. A. Social.

A well attended meeting of St. John's A.Y.P.U. was held last evening. The business in hand was the preparations for the big social to be held Friday evening of this week. This is to take the form of a Birthday Social and the following are to represent the months, one lady and one gentleman to each:—Misses I. Wesley, Pratt, S. Wesley, Wilson, J. Horsefield, Mrs. Davey, H. V. Bell, L. Wesley, R. Morris, S. Martin, Head, and Messrs. Loucks, Chandler, Hazlitt, McBrien, Greenhalgh, Downes, Lea, Trude, Cossey, F. Ducett, Drysdale, A. Northcott.

A large number of invitations are being sent out, but it is hoped none of the friends of the young people will be deterred through not receiving an invitation.

"KERRY GOW"

At the request of many patrons, the management of the Opera House have been able to secure Allen Doone in the pretty Irish Drama "Kerry Gow" for a return date at the Grand Opera House on Friday, April 12th. This play is certainly an interesting one, introducing as it does, the race horses on the stage, the blacksmith shop, the donkey and the doves. The plan opens to-morrow at 10 a. m. at the Box Office and as there promises to be a large sale it would be well to mark your seats early. 1d83

SIDEWALK BY-LAW CAUSES TROUBLE

Three Merchants Appeared This Morning for Allowing Boxes to Stand on the Sidewalk as Obstructions.

JUDGMENT WAS RESERVED

"I do not know what to do with you business men." In this way, Magistrate Dumble expressed himself this morning at the Police Court, after hearing the evidence in three cases in which the sidewalk bylaw was broken. The gentlemen who were charged with having left boxes, crates or barrels on the sidewalk were Messrs. C. A. J. Duranceau, Jas. R. Bell and Alex. Elliott. His Worship was in a quandary on account of the bylaw, which all the merchants are supposed to be acquainted with, but which, for a multitude of reasons, they persist in overlooking.

C. A. J Duranceau

Mr. Duranceau was first heard. He stated that the articles left in front of his shop on April 5 were too heavy to be removed without assistance, and it was 3 o'clock before he could get them off the sidewalk. He said that he always tried to obey the law, but in this case it was unavoidably broken.

James R. Bell

Jas. R. Bell received his goods on Saturday at 2.30 p.m. and when he saw them there a few minutes later he ordered a clerk to have them brought in. This was immediately done. Mr. Bell, therefore, asked that no action be taken in his case. Mr. Dumble replied that the law did not allow even one minute or any length of time.

Alex. Elliott

Mr. Gordon pleaded not guilty, as counsel for Mr. Elliott. Mr. Wm. Rudkins was called, and stated that the three barrels of whisky which were in front of Mr. Elliott's store on Friday were the property of the Government. They were in charge of the Inland Revenue Department, and not under Mr. Elliott's control. In fact, he would be liable to a fine if he caused their removal. Mr. Dumble stated that the Government must be responsible for these barrels, and he believed it would not conflict with city bylaws unknowingly. Mr. Rudkins said he would notify the Department as to the rules in this city regarding the delivery of goods.

His Worship reserved judgment for one week, stating that the law must be observed, and in no case is he allowed to make distinctions in the circumstances under which the bylaw was broken.

Mr. Duranceau asked if the carters were not responsible if they delivered goods in the afternoons or at any time on Saturday. Mr. Dumble said that there would likely be a change or an addition made to the law so as to meet this.

CITY HALL NOTES OF INTEREST

This Week is Not a Busy One for the Aldermen—Engineer's Report Ready.

BOARD OF TRADE TO-NIGHT

Affairs are pretty quiet around the City Hall this week and with the exception of two committee meetings the aldermen will not be kept busy.

The Board of Works will have its usual weekly meeting to-morrow night when the principal thing that will come up is the consideration of the Engineer's annual report which is a lengthy and comprehensive one.

Garbage System

The Property Committee will also meet this week, on what night has not been decided. The discussing of the proposed garbage bylaw will afford an evening's occupation to the members of the committee. It is likely that Sanitary Inspector Ball who inspected Brantford's garbage system last week will be present to supply the committee with information. It is proposed to have all the scavenging done by the city and to charge each householder for the work done. The matter has come up several times in the council and it is expected that the details of the scheme have been worked out far enough to permit of a bylaw being drawn up.

The Old Fire Hall

The committee at the same time will take up the question of what is to be done with the old fire hall when it is vacated as it will be in a few weeks. Alterations will of course have to be made and the committee feel that the sooner the work is done the better. Sanitary Inspector Ball will be furnished with an office in the building.

The sign and fire escape bylaws which have been left over for further consideration will be the piece de resistance of the meeting of the committee of the whole on Monday night next which will be followed by a short council session.

New System Of Land Titles

The Special Committee appointed by the council to study the Torrens System of land titles will meet in a short time. It has been proposed to substitute this simple system for the rather complicated method now in use. Under this system the person buying property may secure a certificate from the registrar to the effect that this deed to the land is a good one.

The Joint Committees appointed by the Council and Board of Health to take up the matter of how the Dickson Company's property on Waterford street is to be provided with sewer connections will also meet in a short time.

Board Of Trade

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade will be held to-night for the purpose of electing officers. There should be a large attendance of members.

Health And Vitality For Old People

As old age creeps on vitality is lowered, the heart beats more slowly, the blood becomes more thin and watery, and the power of resistance is lowered. It is the old people above all others who require the new life and energy which come with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Thousands of old people depend on this treatment, because it calms and quiets the nerves, gradually and certainly enriches the blood, builds up the system and instils new life and vigour into their shrivelled arteries.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—In your issue of the 26th inst., you ask where the sixty thousand men will come from for railway construction work. Shall we have to fall back upon the heathen Chinese? Certainly not, if it means low wages. Manchester has finished its canal costing $100,000,000 and paid just wages. Is Canada too poor?

PRESIDENT STARK HAS DENIED THE INTERVIEW

Story That All C.L.A. Players Are Disqualified is Denied.

The Toronto News printed a somewhat sensational article last night to the effect that President Stark, of the C. A. A. U., had declared that every member of the Canadian Lacrosse Association had been disqualified and that every player in the C. L. A. Junior, Intermediate and Senior Series, was ineligible to compete in all sports that are governed by the C.A.A.U. The story is given an emphatic denail by President Stark this morning, but it furnished some gossip for the sporting fraternity. If such a measure was taken it would mean that 1500 Ontario athletes would be unable to participate in any sport except lacrosse.

Following is the amateur definition promulgated by the C. L. A., which is the cause of the whole trouble.

"An amateur is one who has never competed for a money prize, or monetary consideration, or for any wage or stake bet; who has never engaged in, assisted in, or taught any athletic exercise, as a means of pecuniary gain, and who has never taken part in any competition with anyone who is not an amateur.

"Except — That amateur athletes shall not lose their amateur status by competing with, or against professionals, in lacrosse matches, for which no money prizes are given, or in championship competitions permitted by any Lacrosse Association."

This rule has been in force in the C. L. A. for some years and merely lays down the principle that amateurs and professionals may mingle indiscrimately without endangering the status of the amateur.

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, April 8.—(Special.)—Cable advices from Liverpool and London on Canadian cattle were stronger and noted an advance in prices of 1-4c to 1-2c per pound, with sales at 12 1-2c, and Americans at 12 1-2c to 13c. Exports from St. John, N.B., and Portland last week were 853 cattle. At the Montreal Stock Yards' West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending April 6 were 3050 cattle, 113 sheep and lambs, 2450 hogs and 1925 calves, while the offerings this morning for local consumption were 1016 cattle, 75 sheep and lambs, 978 hogs, and 214 calves. A feature of the trade was the weaker feeling in the market for cattle, and prices compared with those of a week ago showed a decline of 1-4c per pound. A big snow storm lasting all morning prevented intending buyers in many instances from coming to the market. Cable advices from Liverpool on Saturday for Canadian cattle noted a further advance in prices, as compared with a week ago, but this fact had no influence on the local situation, as exporters were not disposed to operate any more freely than usual, and only a few loads were purchased at 5c to 5 1-4c per pound. Choice beeves sold at 5 1-4c to 5 1-2c; good, at 4 3-4c to 5c; fair, at 4 1-4c to 4 1-2c, and lower grades from 3c to 4c per pound. A stronger feeling developed in the local market for hogs this morning, and prices advanced 10c, due to keen competition between local dealers for supplies. Sales of selected lots were made at $7.40 to $7.50, weighed off cars. Supplies of sheep and lambs continue limited, and as the demand is very keen from butchers for this class of stock, prices are firmly maintained. Sheep sold at 4 1-2c to 5c, and yearling lambs at 6 1-2c to 7c per pound. A few spring lambs sold at $4 to $8 each. There was an active trade done in calves, of which the offerings were fairly large and sales at $2 to $8 each.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, April 8.—Cattle—Receipts, about 20,000; market mostly 10c lower; plain to best steers, $4.40 to $6.70; heifers, $2.75 to $5.25; cows, $3.50 to $5; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.10; bulls, $3.30 to $4.40; calves, $2.50 to $7.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S LETTERS.

Will Be Published Soon, After Editing By King Edward.

A unique work in many ways will be the volumes of Queen Victoria's letters which A. C. Benson and Viscount Esher have been editing for the last four or five years.

It is unique firstly because of the nature of the book—it will consist chiefly of letters, with an introductory preface to each group, outlining the history of the period—and, secondly, because it is the first time that a reigning monarch has sanctioned the publication of the correspondence of his predecessor; and, thirdly, because King Edward VII has supervised the proofs.

So well have the editors done their work that King Edward has made very few corrections in the proofs. Most of them are just pencil alterations, where his Majesty thought it necessary to delete or to add a word.

The correspondence will be issued in three volumes at three guineas net, magnificently illustrated with portraits of statesmen and personalities of the times, chiefly supplied by the King himself.

It is to be understood that no intimate personal letters will be included, but many will be found that passed between Queen Victoria and the Prince Consort, as well as Queen Victoria's correspondence on the historical and political events of her long reign.

The book is to be published in October next, and it may be safely assumed that a work of such worldwide interest will be translated into every European language.

New Game of Egg Blowing.

In the new game of egg blowing, as played at Grindelwald, Switzerland, every woman player has a man partner. Parallel tracks are marked out for each pair and all start level, the women, on skates, forming a line at one end of the course, the men, wearing shoes or boots, at the other. Partners face partners. First the women skate forward, blowing the eggs along with fans. As soon as they reach the other end, the men fall flat and wiggle along, blowing the egg back again. The partners whose egg gets back first are the winners. The sport is immense, and even the gravest dignitaries have been known to bend to its charms.

A Royal Joke.

The New York Herald correspondent in London recently cabled: I have just learned King Edward's latest joke, which was perpetrated at Victoria Station before his departure. He was speaking on the platform, and said: "Have you heard that the latest Biblical research has revealed that there was not only a telephone in Eden, but the very number is now known? It was 281—Apple."

And as he laughed over this his Majesty shook hands finally with the heir apparent.

LAND OF FARM HOMES.

Census Shows Remarkable Progress In Manitoba and the Northwest.

A census blue book, giving the population of Manitoba and the Northwest Provinces by sexes, and a summary of statistics of field crops and live stock for 1906, as compared with the census of 1901, has just been issued at Ottawa.

In Manitoba the census of last year showed 205,183 males and 160,505 females. Winnipeg has 50,461 males and 39,692 females. Brandon 5,756 males and 4,652 females. Saskatchewan has 152,793 males and 104,970 females. Alberta has 108,281 males and 77,131 females. In all three provinces there are 466,257 males and 342,606 females, leaving a preponderance of 123,651 males.

In 1906 there were in the three provinces 120,439 farms, as compared with 55,625 in 1901, an increase of 65,814. Manitoba now has 35,447 farms, Saskatchewan 54,787, and Alberta 30,211. The increase in the number of farms over 1901 were: Manitoba, 3,639; Saskatchewan, 41,407; Alberta, 20,775.

In 1906 there were 688,919 horses in the three provinces, as compared with 340,339 in 1901; 384,006 milch cows, as compared with 244,216; 1,560,902 other horned cattle as compared with 698,407.

The area of wheat under cultivation last year was 2,423,345 acres for Manitoba, 1,381,921 for Saskatchewan, and 147,921 for Alberta, a total of 3,952,187 acres, as against 2,495,467 in 1901.

English newspapers are full of alarmist reports of the cold in Canada and the fuel famine in the Northwest, and there is a strong suspicion that some of the cables received are "inspired" by the anti-emigration party in this country, and American steamship agents who recognize that the tide of emigration is turning strongly to Canadian ports.

Many Married Couples Want To Emigrate Here

Immigration Agent Howson Receives Letter From London Asking for Places for Good Class of New-comers Who Are Being Sent to Canada This Year.

Mr. George H. Howson, the Government Immigration Agent has received a letter from the Central (Unemployed) Body for London, in which the fact is pointed out that the writers are anxious to send to Canada this year a number of couples, some of them with children, and places are desired for these. The agent here, would be glad to learn of any place where there is a demand for a good class of immigrants of this character, and he will be glad to communicate with the English writers and assist in placing the new comers in Canada. The letter is as follows:—

165 Temple Chambers,
Temple Avenue,
London, E.C.
March 28th, 1907.

Dear Sir,—We learn from Mr. J. Bruce Walker, Dominion Emigration Commissioner in London, that you have been appointed an agent of the Government for receiving immigrants in your neighbourhood.

We are sending out this year some thousands of selected unemployed London people. Care is taken to get references from their former employers, to visit their homes, and in other ways to learn that they are sober, industrious and respectable; their chief drawback being want of employment.

The men are usually unskilled labourers, often with a knowledge of horses, and they all state that they are able and willing to work on the land; many of the wives have been domestic servants, though some have been factory workers. They are medically examined before starting.

There are many single men, and married couples without children; there are also couples with families of various sizes, sometimes consisting of several children, some are above fourteen years old and are, therefore, wage-earners.

We are aware that it is easier to settle people who have not more than two children (two small children,) than where there are several non-earning children, but we are anxious to send all kinds of families. We, therefore, ask you whether you can place couples with small children.

We should send you a list of the people, giving their ages, and other particulars, to reach you several days before the ship arrives. Would this be sufficient notice to enable you to meet them at the railway station, or do you wish for a telegram, as soon as they reach the port of landing?

As many are getting ready to go, we may be able to send you a small party, consisting of, say, not more than a dozen persons, and with not more than two small children in any family, with a considerable proportion of single men.

May we point out that as there is a great demand in Canada for girls, there is no way for us to send them, except along with their families, including the little children.

If you can at once place such a party as indicated above, please telegraph, at our cost, to "Cubeland, London," adding merely the word 'dozen,' or 'ten,' or 'fifteen,' or whatever number you like to receive. Or failing this, please write by an early post.

Each emigrant is provided by us with two dollars on landing, for food on the railway, and we shall send you another two and a half dollars per adult to give them on their reaching you. We shall ask you to send us the emigrants' receipts for this money, together with their postal address, and the wages they will receive, and we hope to hear from you later on, as to their progress. We should also like to know what is the town population round your railway station.

Trusting that we may be able to co-operate in this important matter, I am,

Yours faithfully,
W. T. STUTCHBURY,
Clerk to the Central Body.

FIRE! FIRE! FIRE!

Scott's Colloseum
439 GEORGE STREET

New Programme for week commencing April 8, 1907.

THE GREAT TORONTO FIRE

Only those who actually saw the great fire in Toronto can adequately appreciate the realism of the moving pictures shown in the Colloseum by Mr. Scott and his assistants. The clang of the fire bells, the rush and hurry, the terror and grandeur of the awful conflagration are marvellously brought out. The rescue work of the firemen, the rush of the crowds, fighting the flames and dynamiting the dangerous walls, are depicted with a realty that is almost incredible.

The continuous performance takes place every afternoon and evening from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m. and furnishes a refined entertainment for both small and great. Ladies are especially invited to the afternoon performances.

Spring Assizes Concluded In Less Than Four Hours

Kendry Given Judgment Against Richmond for $1000 and Costs---In Case of Reutsch vs. Spry Judgment Was Reserved---Remarkable Rapidity with Which Cases Were Disposed Of.

Seldom has it occurred in the city of Peterborough that the Spring Assizes were completed on the same day as they commenced, or within three and a half hours after the hour of commencement. But such was the case yesterday, when the Peterborough Spring Assizes were begun at 1 o'clock and concluded at exatly half past four. Court, however, remained open during the evening and again this morning at 10 o'clock to admit of the Grand Jury making their presentment. As mentioned in yesterday's issue, Mr. Justice Riddell presided and was presented with an address of congratulation on his elevation to the bench by the local members of the bar.

Both the cases before His Honour were non-jury, and, although embodying fine points of law, were not of very great importance to the general public.

The first case called was that of Frederick Reutsch vs. Louis Spry, in which judgment was reserved. In the second, Thos. Herbert Kendry vs. John L. Richmond, judgment was given the former for $1,000 and costs of the action.

Reutsch vs. Spry,

In the case of Ruetsch vs. Spry, the plaintiff, Frederick Ruetsch, who is a mechanic, and the defendant, Louis Spry, a tinsmith, both reside in Peterborough. In May, 1903, the defendant sold a portion of some property which he owned on Sherbrooke street, to the plaintiff, and the latter built a dwelling house on it and resides therein. The plaintiff claimed that in November, 1906, the defendant erected a high, close board fence on his property, but situated it in such a manner as to exclude the air and light from three windows in the side of the plaintiff's house. Ruetsch claimed that Spry built the fence with a malicious purpose, being at loggerheads with Ruetsch on account of the latter defeating him in a law suit some time before. Ruetsch wanted the assistance of the court to have Spry remove the fence, and to have it removed permanently. He also asked for the costs of the action.

The defence claimed that Spry had a right to build the fence, as it was on his own property.

Messrs. O'Connell and Gordon appeared for the plaintiff, and submitted evidence from a number of witnesses, after which His Honour came to the conclusion that the height of the fence was sufficient to cause privation of light in the bath-room, so that electric lights had to be continually used, and rendered the occupation of the house uncomfortable. He believed, therefore, that the plaintiff was entitled to costs and damages on account of such privation of light.

Mr. O'Connell insisted that the fence be removed so far down as to prevent any accumulation of ice and snow.

Mr. Edmison, for the defence, contended that as the property belonged to the defendant, he had a right to erect the fence where he wished. His Honour, however, reserved judgment until he had an opportunity of looking into authorities on similar cases.

Kendry vs. Richmond

The facts bearing on this case were that the plaintiff, Thomas H. Kendry, sold a farm to the defendant, John L. Richmond, last August, the price being $2,000, to be paid in stipulated instalments. The land in question had been used as a chicken farm, and when it was sold, Richmond claimed that the purchase included 800 chickens and 12 old hens, which the plaintiff was alleged to have stated were on the farm. On taking possession of the farm, the defendant claimed that there were only 500 chickens, and that in some other respects he did not find the place as called for in the agreement of sale. He therefore refused to make the payments and refused to carry out the agreement, the property reverting to Kendry again.

Kendry claimed $1,000 and the costs of the action for damages sustained through the failure of the defendant to carry out the agreement, while Richmond had a counter claim of $200 for labour and chicken feed during the time he was in possession of the farm. He also asked for costs.

Messrs. O'Connell and Gordon appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. A. P. Poussette, K.C., for the defendant.

Herbert Kendry

Thos. Herbert Kendry, the plaintiff, was first called, and to Mr. O'Connell testified that he had been a tenant in North Monaghan for over two years up to last August for the purpose of raising poultry. At the time of the sale he had over 800 chickens of various sizes. He entered into an agreement with Mr. Richmond to sell out for $2,000, which was signed on the 10th of August, and he took possession on the 11th. Ten dollars was paid down shortly after the sale, and he agreed to pay $490 off on September 1. He later received a letter from the plaintiff stating that he could not make the purchase, and, on seeing him, he had asked for an extension of time to make the payment, to which the plaintiff agreed.

He had gone to see Mr. Richmond, and asked him if he might sell the goods for $1,000, to which Mrs. Richmond agreed, if he gave them back the $50 they had given him on the September payment. Mr. Richmond told him that he also had made several attempts to sell the place after he had found out that he would not be able to meet the first payment on September 1.

The witness, to a question from His Honour, stated that he could not take back the property then as he had obtained a position at the Auburn Woollen Mills and did not care to lose it.

He afterwards disposed of the property to Mr. Jas. Booth for $1,000, but stated that he was offered $1,800 just after he had signed the agreement with the defendant. The property, he said, was in a very bad condition when the defendant released it. Soot was scattered all over the wall paper, weeds had been allowed to grow, and the granary was left in a damaged condition. He had put $4,000 into it altogether, and stated that it was in first-class condition when sold to Mr. Richmond, and easily worth $3,500.

In reference to the number of chickens, he had told the defendant that if he thought there were not 800 on the premises when he took possession he would make it right with him.

To Mr. Poussette, witness stated that he had been asked to present an inventory to the defendant, which he had done and which was produced in court. He stated that he would have had difficulty in getting a purchaser if he had taken back the property. He sold the property to Mr. Booth for $1,000, he said, because he had been dickering so long with so many and wanted the property disposed of, as the chickens were running around with no person to attend to them.

James Booth

Mr. Jas. Booth, the purchaser of the property, was next called, and stated that Mr. Kendry's description of the premises was about correct. He further stated that there were about 500 chickens when he took possession.

G. M. Roger

Mr. Roger stated to Mr. O'Connel that he was solicitor for the lessors when the extension of the lease was made. The Misses Crawford had no objections to the extension of the lease, so long as Mr. Kendry remained liable for the rent.

With this witness the case of the plaintiff was concluded.

His Honour concluded, after hearing the evidence of the plaintiff, that the latter had carried out the terms of the agreement, that he had acted reasonably, and, he considered, was entitled to judgment of $1,000 and costs.

The Defence

Mr. Poussette, for the defendant, submitted that the plaintiff, having accepted the recision of the contract, had no right to re-possess the property, but should have sued for the whole amount. He further contended that the plaintiff was not entitled to receive what he asked for, as he himself had stated that the property was worth $3,500, and yet he deliberately sold it for $1,000.

The judge, however, disallowed these arguments, and gave judgment to the plaintiff for $1,000 and costs.

BIG TORONTO FIRE IN MOVING PICTURES

Splendid Entertainment Given at the Colloseum, 432 George Street.

The moving pictures this week at the Colloseum, conducted by Messrs. George Scott & Co., 432 George street, are the best in this line ever seen in the city and last night the hall was crowded all evening. The feature this week is a marvellous series of views of the great Toronto fire, which cleaned out practically the whole of the warehouse section. The views show the alarm and the respond of the brigades in all parts of the city, the arrival of the Buffalo firemen, the burning of the building, and other warehouses, the Gutta Percha Rubber Company's building, and other warehouses, the firemen's fierce battle with the flames, a panorama of the burned district, and the dynamiting of the ruins.

Some very funny moving pictures are also shown, and the programme is certainly an entertaining and amusing one.

RING WORM AND DANDRUFF

They Are Each Caused By A Pestiferous Germ

Ringworm and dandruff are somewhat similar in their origin; each is caused by a parasite. The germ that causes dandruff digs to the root of the hair and saps its vitality, causing falling hair, and, finally, baldness. Without dandruff there would never be baldness, and to cure dandruff it is necessary to kill the germ. There has been no hair preparation that would do this until the discovery of Newbro's Herpicide, which positively kills the dandruff germ, allays itching instantly, and makes hair glossy and soft as silk. Take no substitutes. There is nothing "just as good."

A number of repairs are being made to the Charlotte street bridge to-day. Jail Prisoners Should Be In House Of Refuge

So Advise the Grand Jury in Their Presentment Made to His Lordship This Morning---Congratulate Him on Elevation to the Bench---Hospitals and Homes in Good Condition---Recommend Improvements In City Jail.

The Grand Jury, empannelled yesterday at the Assizes for the purpose of inspecting the charitable institutions, made their presentment at 10 o'clock this morning to His Lordship Mr. Justice Riddell. In their report, the jury claimed there were prisoners in the county jail who should not be there, and recommended that arrangements be made with the county whereby they might be placed in the County House of Refuge.

They found the hospitals and Homes in excellent condition, but made a recommendation that some slight changes be made in the jail.

The Grand Jury empannelled consists of Wm. Hales, Reeve of Chandos; J. J. Hannah, Smith; T. J. Johnston, Otonabee; J. C. Sullivan, East City; Andrew Brayeau, Belmont; M. McFadden, city; T. Q. Quartermaine, city; Jno. J. Armstrong, city; Jno. Cooper, Lakefield; Jas. Finnis, city; D. C. McIntyre, Otonabee; J. A. Fowler, Smith; Robert Allen, Douro.

The following was the Grand Jury's presentment:

Peterborough, April 9, 1907.

To His Lordship
Mr. Justice Riddell,—

The Grand Jury of the County of Peterborough beg to make the following presentment:

We beg to extend to you our congratulations upon the occasion of your elevation to the High Court Bench of this Province.

Your frequent attendances at the Assize Court of this county in past years, in many important cases, have caused us to feel a more than general interest in your appointment, and we trust that your brilliant career at the bar will be rounded out by many years of distinguished service as a member of the Judiciary of this great Province.

We are very pleased that no criminal matters whatever have, on this occasion, to come before the Grand Jury for consideration, and trust that Grand Juries of the county in the future may frequently have an opportunity to note the absence from crime which the county enjoys.

We are very pleased to note that a House of Refuge, for the care of the old and infirm, has been erected and opened recently by the county of Peterborough. We would recommend that arrangements be made by the city of Peterborough, with the county, for the care, in such institution, of the old and infirm of the city. At present, there are confined in the county jail several who should properly be inmates of such an institution.

We have visited the public institutions situated in the city, namely: The County Jail, the Nicholls and St. Joseph's Hospitals, the House of Providence and the Protestant Home. We would recommend that a new bath and sink be placed in the county jail, but, apart from this, we have found all these institutions clean and well kept, and the sanitary arrangements satisfactory, and in the hospitals and Homes above mentioned we found all the inmates apparently comfortable and well satisfied with their surroundings.

Respectfully submitted,
WM. HALES,
Foreman.

The Abnormally High Water Causes Trouble

Some Complaints are Being Made But Canal Officials are Doing Their Best to Get Surplus Water Off.

A REMEDY FOR IT SOON

There is an abnormal flow of water in the Otonabee river at the present time, and it is understood that some complaints are being made against an alleged dangerously high water below the Locks bridge. A letter received to-day from a resident of North Monaghan protests against the condition prevailing there.

Inquiry at the office of the Superintendent of the Trent Canal, where the control of the water is directed, elicited the information that while it was recognized that the water at that present time was abnormally high every reasonable effort is being made to get rid of it with as little inconvenience to everyone affected as possible. Not only are all the stoplogs out at the dam below the city that it is possible to take, but the same course is being pursued at Hastings dam. Those whose property borders on Little Lake are making complaints that they are being troubled with high water and as a matter of fact dredging operations have to be suspended temporarily until the flow of water is reduced.

It must be expected that at this season of the year there will be high water, but the Examiner is assured by the canal officials that every possible effort is being made to get the water away with as little inconvenience as possible.

The letter, from the North Monaghan resident, to which reference has been made is as follows:—

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—Can nothing be done to prevent the nuisance existing in North Monaghan? Residents' land is flooded to a great depth and some people have to travel by punt, boat or canoe along the road, south of the Radial Railway Company's tracks. I notice a considerable number more stop logs out at the locks than there has been any other season, and it appears to me that favour is being shown to one wholesale man in the city whose cellars were flooded. If the water was let go at Hastings, or some other outlet it would benefit a great number of people along Otonabee's shores and highways. Surely property adjoining the city limits ought to have just as much say as a few mills, etc., located in Rice Lake.

"North Monaghan Resident."

The School Board Justified Re Collegiate Institute Tenders

Last night, our evening contemporary, the Review, got off a good deal of bombastic denunciation of the Examiner over the matter of the Collegiate Institute tenders. It accuses the Examiner of defending the "star chamber" methods of the Board and calls this a "hypocritical pose." No matter what it calls the Examiner's attitude, it is the right, the proper, the prudent, the business-like attitude. The Examiner has no desire to pose as the defender of the Board—it will condemn it when it is wrong, and be fair enough to uphold it when it is unjustly assailed, on the head of doing the proper thing in the public interests, as it has been in connection with the tender question. The Examiner is anxious to publish all the news available, and felt itself justified in printing, a week in advance of its contemporary, the fact that the tender for the Institute Building had been awarded to the firm that secured it. The whole point is here. The Board acted in a proper and businesslike way in withholding the figures of the unsuccessful tenderers till after the contract was executed. The forfeit accompanying the tender is not large enough to deter a contractor from sacrificing it if the figures of other tenderers should lead him to believe that he would meet greater loss by attempting to carry out his tender. The Board places the figure of its marked cheque low, so that contractors of moderate means shall not be shut out from competing. While, as a rule, it might be desirable to have committee meetings open to the press, there are occasions when it is the most rudimentary business prudence to conduct deliberations in secret. The Board is withholding nothing from the public only so long as the public interests would be imperilled by undue publicity. Members of Parliament are frequently refused information which, as a matter of right, they are entitled to, and which they get when it can be given without injuriously affecting pending negotiations. The Review is not astray in demanding that the figures of all tenderers in connection with school contracts should be published—but they should be published at a time when their public knowledge would not affect important interests. In all business transactions there must be an element of confidence, and we can certainly trust the School Board to tell the truth in stating that the Collegiate Institute contract was awarded to the lowest tenderer. Work is now proceeding on the work of building a Collegiate Institute. This might not have been the case had the figures of the unsuccessful tenderers been prematurely divulged, and we might have had a repetition of the sickening delay that we have experienced in connection with the project of a new Collegiate Institute building.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

Dear Sirs,—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,
(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

CANADA NOW A NATION

ADMIRAL LORD CHARLES BERESFORD PRAISES DOMINION.

Declares Canada Not Only Is the Country of the Future But Has Already Taken Her Destined Place—Unable to Find Greater Attachment to Britain In Any of the Colonies.

Lord Charles Beresford passed through Winnipeg recently on his way to New York. The admiral is in America in connection with the estate of his brother, Lord Delaval, who was killed recently in a wreck in Texas. He went west to San Francisco from Texas and reached the city by way of Vancouver.

"One of the common remarks we hear in Great Britain with reference to Canada," he said, "is that the Dominion is the 'coming country.' There can be no doubt regarding the future of the Dominion, which will be increasingly bright for hundreds of years to come.

"The fact is, however, not that Canada is the country of the future—Canada already has arrived. She has passed through the early years of infancy and childhood and has taken her place as one of the countries of the world.

"I cannot tell how pleasantly I have been impressed by all that I have seen in the West. I made short stays at several points, including Calgary and Medicine Hat. I had not previously seen much of Western Canada.

Visited Coast Years Ago.

"Many years ago, it was in 1864, I spent some time on Vancouver Island and on the main land of the Pacific Coast. These were the days when I was with the Pacific squadron. I was on three frigates on the Pacific, and was on shore on many fishing and hunting trips. The memories of those days are exceedingly pleasant.

"I was again in the Dominion in 1874, when I was on the Atlantic coast and saw something of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Of the great interior portion of Western Canada, I have seen nothing until the present time, and nothing would express my admiration too strongly.

"I was particularly struck with the great natural advantages about Medicine Hat, where we spent a few days. It would appear certain that this town is destined to become a city of great importance.

"The town appeared to me to be located very similarly, though in a smaller way, to, say Chicago, or Hankow in China.

Great Commercial Future.

"The supply of natural gas, as long as it lasts, must have a great influence on the future commercial development of the city.

"Then there is the river, not very deep, but with an excellent water head and capable of carrying a considerable traffic. The town also has the rail head and, all in all, is possessed of singular advantages.

"Calgary also is remarkably built, and is a most thriving and progressive city.

"The people of the West are all of a fine, manly stamp, full of energy and go.

"In England, the feeling unquestionably is that the connection between the mother country and the Dominion, and in fact all the colonies, should be drawn closer.

WINNIPEG CITY HALL.

"I frequently have expressed the conviction, which is the conviction of large numbers of British people, that the colonies are of more consequence to Great Britain than Great Britain is to the colonies.

Imperial Feeling Strong.

"I have not been able to find anywhere in the colonies any traces of a feeling in favor of any change in the relations between the mother country and the colonies.

"If Canada should decide to break the connection between herself and the Empire, the tie of course would be broken at once.

"I believe, however, that there is not one of the colonies in which the people are more attached to the mother country than they are in Canada."

Speaking of war, Lord Beresford said: "There is less chance for war than at any previous time in the history of the world. There was a time when governors and rulers made war and peace. This is no longer the case. War cannot be declared unless the people are for war, and peace is not made until the people are for peace.

"What we must have in the Empire is a perfect organization, both in size and numbers, but it is better to have a small force, perfectly organized, than a large force disorganized.

"There can be no doubt that it must be the policy of the Empire now and for many years to come to be prepared for war."

Lord Beresford was informed of the contents of a letter appearing in The Morning Post from Sir Charles Tupper, suggesting that the representatives in London of the colonies should be members of the Privy Council, and thus admitted to councils of the nation.

"I should say it was a most excellent idea," he said. "We must get closer to the colonies. I believe the proposal would be warmly received in all parts of Great Britain, and there is no reason why the suggestion should not be adopted."

LIVED IN FIVE REIGNS.

Distinguished Canadian Lady Passes Away In Toronto.

By the death of Mrs. Featherston Osler who died recently in Toronto at the advanced age of 101, Canada has lost one of her most distinguished daughters.

Mrs. Osler, who was the widow of the late Rev. Featherston Osler, rector of Dundas and Flamboro, has lived under five British sovereigns, having been born in Cornwall, England, in 1806, when George III. was still on the throne. She was married in England, and accompanied her young husband to Canada when sent out in 1838 by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. As the pioneer missionary of the Church of England, Rev. Mr. Osler endured many hardships, all shared by his devoted wife. In 1882, Rev. Mr. Osler retired from active work and came to Toronto, where he resided until his death in 1895.

Since that time, Mrs. Osler seldom left her residence, but until a few years ago, she was an active member of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of England, a body in which her deceased daughter, Mrs. Williamson, was a moving spirit in the early days of its existence.

There are now living five sons and a daughter, twenty-six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The celebration of Mrs. Osler's one hundredth birthday on December 14th last, aroused the very greatest interest not only among her large circle of relatives and friends, but in many cities where the names of her sons have become famous. All her living descendants with the exception of two or three were present on that occasion.

To few women fell the lot of seeing no less than four of her sons rise to eminence in differing but equally important walks of life, but this is the privilege which crowned Mrs. Osler's old age. Her second eldest son, the late Britton Bath Osler, K.C., was for years before his lamented death the chief ornament of the Bar of Canada. Edmund Boyd Osler, M.P., her fourth son is a leader in financial and political circles, and his brother, Mr. Justice Featherston Osler, has occupied an honored place on the bench for more than a quarter of a century. Her youngest son, Dr. Wm. Osler, regius professor of medicine at Oxford University, enjoys a world wide reputation in his chosen profession.

A Curious Bird Mistake.

Many birds frequenting flowers for honey or insects are thus liable to get their heads covered with pollen. And since the pollen of different flowers varies in color, a bird may become yellow headed, red headed, blue headed, etc., says the London Globe. This led to a curious mistake in the case of a New Zealand bird. This bird was a honey sucker and a haunter of flowers. Now, in the early summer it visited most frequently the flowers of the native flax and later in the year fed chiefly on the fuchsia. The pollen of the former is red and of the latter blue: hence in the early summer the bird appeared with a red head and was named the red headed honey sucker. But when later in the year it went to the fuchsia its head was stained blue, and it was called the blue headed honey sucker. Thus for a long time this bird was thought to be two distinct species, and only recently was it found that the red headed and the blue headed were one and the same and that the real color of the head was blackish brown.

The Queen of Spiders.

The queen of spiders—the largest, handsomest and most capable workman of her tribe—is the orange-yellow and black creature known as orange argiope. Hers are the most beautiful cobwebs made, hung low to catch the innumerable insects required for a rather large appetite, and you find them among the bushes and vines and in the fields. Argiope captures and ties up her victims as ably as a cowboy might do with a lasso, and she excels the cowboy by manufacturing her own rope as she goes.

The Cinchona Tree.

The cultivation of the cinchona tree is one of the principal industries of Java, and the chemical process adopted by the Dutch for the preparation of the drug is said to produce the best sulphate of quinine procurable. This is carried out in Holland, whither the bark as stripped from the trees and dried is exported. Cinchona plantations are frequent on the lower hills throughout Java, and the trees are of all sizes, from the mere sapling up to thirty feet high.

FIREMEN ARE CRUSHED.

Falling Debris Kills One Man—Fatally Injures Three Others.

New York, April 9.—Fire early yesterday partially destroyed the car barns and power-house of the Metropolitan Street Railway Co., extending from 145th to 146th streets, and from Lenox avenue to Seventh avenue. During the course of the fire one fireman was killed and three others probably fatally injured. The financial loss is heavy.

The dead—Captain John Ryan, of Engine Co. No. 80.

Injured—John Connors, fireman; John Roxbury, fireman; F. D. Lepold, fireman.

The men killed and injured were fighting the flames from a second storey fire escape on the Seventh avenue side of the building when the wall fell, burying the men in the debris. Captain Ryan was taken out dead and Fireman Lepold, who was rescued alive, was probably fatally injured. He told the rescuers that six men besides the captain were in the ruins and that all were dead. Later it was found that all but Connors and Rexbury, who were taken out gravely injured, had escaped with a few bruises.

The fire started in the repair department from a grounded wire in one of the cars and communicated to the paint and varnish rooms, which burned so fiercely that it took the firemen nearly three hours to bring it under control.

WHIPS HER HUSBAND.

Farmer Complains of the Short Comings of His Spouse.

Toronto, April 9.—In the non-jury assizes yesterday, Mrs. Forsythe of Altona, Pickering Township, brought suit against her husband, Ralph Forsythe, to compel him to maintain her as his wife. She alleges non-support.

Forsythe says his wife's shortcomings are as follows:

Refused to get dinner on Sundays, saying two meals were plenty.

Left the cows for him to milk during harvest.

Neglected to mend his clothes.

Spent two days a week from home.

Struck him with a pair of horseshoes.

Whipped him.

Lifted a plate to throw at him.

Threw a granite teasteeper twice one morning, hitting him each time.

Called him a liar, a hog, a fool, a rogue, a worse thief than some in prison.

Threw part of a loaf of bread at him. Encouraged children to call him nicknames.

The son stated that the house was a little hell on earth, and the daughter told of frequent punishment administered to her mother by her father.

The case goes on to-day.

MARVELLOUS ESCAPE.

Electrician Survives Shock of 60,000 Volts At Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, April 9.—After receiving the shock of a flash from 60,000 volts, Eugene Pilon was picked up unconscious, but still living, at the sub-station of the street railway Sunday.

The current passed right through him, leaving the impress of his feet burnt into the floor, the soles of his shoes being burnt off by the powerful current which had struck him, and which, in passing out, bored deep holes into the concrete.

It is stated by an expert that probably the carbon in Pilon's pencil attracted a jump spark from wires at a distance of 10 inches and this would be near enough to give him a terrible shock, although not the full force of the current.

Second Unknown Suicide.

Toronto, April 9.—The body of an unknown man was found dead in the men's lavatory at Centre Island yesterday morning, with a bullet wound in his head.

Deceased was clean shaven, about 5 feet and a half in height, and of fair complexion. He carried a nickel watch and 11 cents in money. Three street car tickets and one return ticket to the island were found on him. He wore an Irish frieze overcoat, pepper-and-salt coat and vest and striped trousers. A hard black hat was lying beside him. A five-chambered 32-calibre revolver was on the floor. Four chambers were loaded.

There will be no inquest.

Ex-President Assassinated.

City of Mexico, April 9.—Gen. Manuel Lisandro Bassillas, former president of Guatemala, was assassinated Sunday evening in Calle Seminiarro as he sat in a street car.

The car stopped and a young man about 17 years of age climbed aboard, and rushing at the general stabbed him twice, the first blow severing the jugular vein, the second cutting his face He died instantly.

The assassin gave his name as Yose Estrada and his home as Ocos, Guatemala.

King Edward In Spain.

Cartagena, Spain, April 9.—King Alfonso, the Dowager Queen Christinia and the other members of the royal party arrived here at 7.30 yesterday morning from Madrid, in order to meet the King and Queen of England.

The British royal yacht Victoria and Albert, escorted by warships, was sighted later in the day and King Alfonso went out to meet King Edward and Queen Alexandra on board the Spanish royal yacht Giralda.

The royal visitors were accorded a magnificent reception on their arrival here.

The Official Gazette yesterday published a royal decree appointing King Edward an honorary captain-general in the Spanish army.

Women In Finnish Diet.

Helsingfors, April 9.—The returns of the elections for members of the Finnish Diet show that 19 women, of whom nine are Socialists, have been elected. This is the first occasion that women representatives have been elected to any national legislative body.

London, April 9.—A fisherman named Forbes has sailed for Canada to take possession of a steam yacht and a substantial sum of money recently left him by a Canadian magnate whose life he saved at great personal risk.

Trouble With Ice.

Buffalo, April 9.—The steamers Robbins and Elphicks, which sailed from this port on Saturday, are reported fast in a big field of ice opposite 18-mile creek. Eleven steamers sailed hence Sunday.

Puerto Cortez Has Fallen.

Mobile, Ala., April 9.—Advices received yesterday say that Ceiba was taken April 3 by the Nicaraguans without a shot being fired. The Nicaraguan forces then left for Puerto Cortes, which cable advices say, is now also in the hands of the Nicaraguans.

After Fur Smugglers.

Toronto April 9.—American fur houses have been employing Jews to smuggle Canadian furs across the border, is the charge made by Game Warden Dan Blea of Parry Sound district in a report to Chief Game Warden Tinsley.

Beaver and other skins are bought from the Indians and sneaked over the border. The close season for these furs lasts till 1910, and the animals are increasing in number.

Warden Blea suggested three months' imprisonment for a first offence at illegal trapping, and six months for a second.

Poisoned by Wallpaper.

Chicago, April 9.—Mrs. Zachariah Watson, the third wife of a farmer in Posey County, Indiana, died a few days ago. Her death was due to the wallpaper on the walls and ceiling of the parlor that she cleaned two days before being taken ill. The wall was impregnated with virulent poison. Watson's first two wives died in the same way, their deaths occurring one and two years ago.

Boy Convicts Saloonmen.

Ottawa, April 9.—A boy, aged 15, appeared in the police court yesterday and gave evidence against five hotel men for selling himself, a minor, intoxicating liquors.

The boy acted by himself and stood a long cross-examination well.

The saloon-keepers were fined $10 each solely on his evidence.

Receiver Heavily Punished.

St. Thomas, April 9.—Moses Levin, for selling brass stolen by boys, was yesterday sentenced to one year in Central Prison, and Charles Service and W. Bryson, who pleaded guilty to stealing brass from the Wabash, were given six months each.

Floods In Servia.

Belgrade, Servia, April 9.—Widespread floods, caused by the melting of the snow, have wrought devastation in many Servian towns.

Railway traffic is interrupted, and a number of fatalities have been reported.

The King and the Boy.

King Edward, who has recently been at Marienbad, taking the cure, was one day having tea in the Cafe Bellevue gardens with a party of friends. A small boy, with bare brown legs and a head covered with curls, was playing about in charge of his nurse. He was attracted by the King's smile, which comes readily for children, and drew near the Royal table.

His Majesty smilingly offered him a piece of cake, whereupon, becoming suddenly shy, the little boy took to his heels and scampered away.

The King laughed softly. But as he knows a good deal about child nature, he placed the plate with the cake on it invitingly near the edge of the table, and presently "curly head" came haltingly back. His Majesty again extended the plate. This time the boy took it.

"Thank you," said he.

The King bowed with the utmost gravity.

Then, resting the plate on the King's knees, the boy ate the cake with appetite, even stooping to pick up and eat a rather large crumb which had fallen at his Majesty's feet.

When the last crumb had disappeared, he placed the plate on the table. "Thank you!" he said again.

"Most welcome, returned the King, holding out his hand.

The boy took it, quite unconscious that he was shaking hands with England's sovereign, and ran off to his embarrassed and horrified nurse without a backward glance. But when the King was leaving the gardens the boy spied him, and remembered that he had broken bread with him. With all his little might he chased his Majesty's retreating figure.

"Good-bye!" he panted. "The cake was fine."

His Majesty's hand rested for an instant on the curly head, and those who witnessed the little scene say that it was a father's and not a king's smile that accompanied the words.—Youth's Companion.

LOCAL COMPANY SHIPPED 1200 H. P. MOTOR TO REPLACE OGILVIE'S FAMOUS ENGINE

Electricity to Replace Steam in Large Mills of Ogilvie Milling Company at Winnipeg.

THE HISTORIC ENGINE GOES

Examiner Special.

Winnipeg, April 9.—Electricity is now the motive power which drives the Ogilvie Flour Mills in this city, and as a result their famous steam engine, one of the largest in Canada, now lies dormant. This engine was long regarded as one of the sights of Winnipeg, and even royalty has gazed in wonderment at its massive proportions. This is a utilitarian age, however, and this king among engines has had to give place to the more concentrated, direct and powerful electric motor.

Among the many notable personages who have visited the Ogilvie Flour Mills are numbered their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, and their Excellencies Earl and Lady Grey. They were greatly impressed with the operations of the engine, which derived its supply of steam from a large battery of boilers, the little army of engineers and stokers adding picturesqueness to the scene. The power from the engine was communicated to the mill by means of a ponderous belt, which also was a source of interest to sightseers.

The electrical equipment supplanting this milestone in the decadence of steam power was supplied by the the Canadian General Electric Co., and consists of a 1200-h.p. motor directly connected to the shaft in the main mill, and several smaller motors of 150-h.p. in the outlying premises. This direct motor connection with the shaft marks a new departure in mechanics and is regarded as quite a forward step. It does away with the belted or rope drive, and supercedes mechanical clutches for connecting the revolving shaft with the motors. The beauty of this installation is that the mill runs smoothly seven days in the week and fifty-two weeks in the year without the attention of a single person other than to see that oil is supplied, while under the old system a little army of men were required to stoke the boilers and guard the engine.

COST $1000 TO SAY THAT A HOUSE WAS HAUNTED

Winnipeg Free Press Lost Suit for Damages—Stated in the Paper That a House Contained a Ghost

AN UNPARALELLED CASE.

Winnipeg, April 9.—Judgment was given in the Court of Appeal yesterday in the case of Nagy vs. The Free Press, which is an action for damages arising out of the publication of the following item in the Free Press, founded on a repoirt in the police books:

"There is a ghost in the north end of the city that is causing a lot of trouble to the inhabitants. His chief haunt is a vacant house on St. John's avenue, near Main. He appears late at night and performs strange antics, so that timid people give the place a wide berth. A number of men have lately made a stand against ghosts in general, and at night they rendezvous in the basement and close around the haunted house to await his ghostship, but so far he remains at large."

The house in question was the property of Mrs. Nagy and she entered action. The courts of King's Bench dismissed the case with costs, but the Court of Appeal yesterday reversed the decision and awarded $1000 and costs to the plaintiffs.

The case aroused remarkable inging practically without a parallel in Canadian legal history. It will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

HEAVIEST SNOW STORM OF THE WINTER ON APRIL 8

Montreal, April 9.—Yesterday's snow storm will rank with the most interesting that will be told of by the "oldest inhabitants" in the years to come. It seems hard to believe that though it was the eighth of April, and Montreal had seen some heavy falls during the winter, yet this exceeded them all, and by the time the last fluttering flakes had reached the ground there was recorded a depth of 10.5 inches. The next biggest fall was one which was decidedly welcome at the time. It was on Christmas day when there was recorded a fall of just an inch and a half less than that of yesterday.

SPENT $400 FOR WIFE HE ADVERTISED FOR

But the Woman Turned Man Down Who Came From Saskatchewan After Her.

Hamilton, April 9.—Smith H. German, a well-to-do farmer from Souther, Sask., started to-day for his home, a sadder but wiser man than when he arrived in Hamilton, about a week ago. German is a widower, and a few months ago he advertised in a number of eastern papers for a bride. Among the answers he received was one from a Hamilton woman. It looked good to him, and he opened up a correspondence with the woman, and was led to believe that if he would come to Hamilton she would become Mrs. German. The Saskatchewan man arrived last week, but the woman he expected to make his bride refused to have anything more to do with him, and claimed that the whole affair was a joke. German had spent about $400 on the trip, and he consulted the local police to see how he could get his money back, but they could do nothing for him. He left this morning for his home in the West.

WENT OVER SLIDE ON FOUR LOGS

Incident Recalled by Lumberman Starting for the Drives—McDonald Estate Men Start This Week.

100,000 LOGS FOR ESTATE

Within the past two days two gangs of men have left for the timber limits to commence the work of floating the winter's cut of logs to the sawmills. These men are employed by the McDonald estate, and their duties are to bring the logs to the Little Lake to be used in the McDonald mill.

Yesterday Mr. P. McGrath of this city started north in charge of 25 men. His destination is in the township of Galway. The camp is situated on the Squaw River, and from this point the logs will be started on their downward float, through Buckhorn Lake, and the other lakes in the district. There are forty thousand pieces to be conducted by Mr. McGrath's men, and several months will be taken up in the work.

On Tuesday morning Mr. Jerry Ford left this city with 20 men, for the same purpose. The logs they will have charge of were cut near Apsley, and will be floated in Nogie's Creek, and conducted to the McDonald's mill in this city. A third cut is to be brought down from Gull Lake via the Mississauga river. Altogether this company has 100,000 logs ready to be floated to their mill during the coming months. Seventy-five men will be engaged in the work, a number being taken on at Burleigh and Young's Point.

In this month's issue of "Outing," a popular magazine, the lumberman's life is vividly described, their habits, their ideals, their work, and also their play. The men become so skilful on the logs that they very seldom lose their footing. They are genial fellows, who work during working hours, and amuse themselves afterwards, their only fault being their jollifications when they return to the cities. The article is a very realistic one, and displays life on the drives as it really exists.

Over the Slide

The men on the drives around here become very proficient on the logs and an occurrence which happened at Inverlea Park is often related. At that place there is an old slide, which a few years ago was more dangerous than it is now. The average man would not go over it then in a punt. One day four riverdrivers were working above the slide and towards the close of the day they were each standing on a log and making straight for the slide.

Arrived at the top the fore parts from the impetus, gained, continued through space, then fell, and were rushed down into the seething waters. The logs disappeared and the men were to their waists in water. A moment or two in this position, and they reappeared again and only one man had been thrown off. He had to regain his hat and pole and swam quickly to escape other logs that were just behind them.

This was witnessed by several people who testify to its authenticity, and it is only an example of what these men can do.

PORT HOPE GIRL LOSES LOVER AND SUICIDES

Throws Herself Into the Lake Where She Went to Bid Good-Bye to Her Lover

Port Hope, April 10.—A young girl named Jameson, of about 20 years of age, employed as a domestic for the last couple of years, sought a watery grave about 8.30 last night, just as the schooner Oliver Mowat cleared for Oswego.

She went down to say good-bye to a young man on the vessel, who had been keeping company with her for some time. Some men frustrated her first attempt to throw herself into the water, but later on she succeeded in her purpose. McMahon Brothers, after two hours' dragging, secured the body.

Mr. Edwin Taylor, one of the oldest and most reliable drivers on the G. T. R., is very ill at his home in Belleville and is not expected to recover. Conductor Heskill visited him recently and says his condition is precarious.

Mr. Taylor was engineer on the express from Peterborough to Belleville and return. It arrives here at 8.10 a.m. and leaves in the afternoon at 2 o'clock. He quit work last fall, and has not returned since. He is well known in this city, especially in railway circles. He is one of Belleville's most respected citizens, and was an alderman of that city for a number of years.

CAVALRY REGIMENT FOR THE COUNTY

A Proposition Which Will Probably be Carried Out—Military Men Talking of Such a Scheme.

TROOPS FROM TOWNSHIPS

Some prominent local military men are interested in the formation of a cavalry regiment, the ranks to be filled with men living in the various townships of the county. The scheme has been threshed out at length, and there is every possibility that the regiment proposed will be formed in the near future.

The proposition is that Peterborough, when the new Armouries are erected, become the headquarters of the cavalry regiment, and that troops from Otonabee, Smith, Douro, Dummer and other townships interested make up the regiment.

So far as obtaining men to compose the various troops is concerned, little trouble would be experienced. The young farmers throughout the country are naturally cavalrymen from the following of their daily duties, so that all that is necessary is drill in the various movements. These young men have always taken a deep interest in military affairs, and would constitute a regiment of which the county might well be proud.

The camp season comes at a time when the farmers have little work to do on the farms, and would, therefore, have no difficulty in getting away for a period of twelve days towards the end of June. Cavalrymen, the first year at camp, are paid $1.55 per day, which includes $1.00 for their horse. The third year at camp they receive $2.05 per day, besides their efficiency pay and board for themselves and horses.

The monetary inducements, therefore, are by no means insignificant, and would have a tendency to attract the young men in the rural districts to the ranks of such a regiment.

Otonabee has already enough men in the 3rd Dragoons to constitute a troop; Smith could easily contribute another; Douro and Dummer another, and probably North and South Monaghan.

The question is yet in its infancy, but from present appearances will be fully considered by the military men.

A GREAT SPRING MEDICINE

Every Housekeeper cleans and brightens up the house in Spring-time. The house has been closed up all Winter and when Spring comes it is time to open the doors and clean the house.

The same with the human system. During the winter heavy foods are eaten, the rooms of the home are kept warm and when Spring comes the system is in a condition where a good Spring Medicine for cleaning out, toning up and renewing the system, is demanded.

Our Stomach and Liver Tonic is just the right Spring Medicine. It is one of those good old-fashioned remedies which cannot harm anyone, but which greatly benefits those who take it.

Take our advice and give this medicine a good, thorough trial, especially if you are inclined to be weak and suffering from loss of strength.

IMMEDIATE CHANGES NEEDED AT THE MARKET

Lavatory There in a Most Disgraceful Condition—Where is the Sanitary Inspector?

Spring is here again, and yet nothing has been done to better the circumstances existing in the lavatory of the Market Hall, to which many attention has now been called several times. The lavatory is in a most disgraceful condition, and a visit from the Sanitary Inspector, whose duty it is to look after such nuisances, would be very acceptable to those from the country who use the Market Hall on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

What seems to be necessary is a better sewer system connected with the market than now exists, and it would not doubt be a wise act on the part of the Council if ever a city of the Market Hall, to what many are seriously considered.

LOW RENTALS

It would seem that the house supply in Peterborough has in one sense been pretty well met by recent building operations. Yet there is a great lack of houses, to meet a certain demand, the demand of tenants with limited means, who cannot afford to pay high rents. Now the great number of new houses in Peterborough are of a comparatively expensive kind, for which the owners must have good rents to make them reasonably paying investments. What is needed is a number of houses to accommodate the average working man. Not that a working man cannot enjoy as good a house as any other man, but he simply can't afford it. A Toronto manufacturing concern is erecting two kinds of houses for its workmen which can rented at $7 and $5 a month, respectively. These consist of small single houses and larger ones, containing four tenement of 4 rooms each. The single house rents at $7 month and the four roomed apartment house at $5 per month. If some enterprising builder would erect several such houses here, they would meet with ready demand and prove a genuine boon to tenants of moderate means. No information is available as to the character of these houses—whether or not they are provided with modern improvements, baths, lavatories, etc. This makes a considerable difference. It is possible to build too cheap a house, and it will pay even the poorest tenant to pay a dollar or so more per month for the sake of having such conveniences as modern building demands. The tenant will pay a little more rental, but this would be offset by the fact, that he and his family would enjoy greater comfort and would have to pay less in the way of doctors' bills. It would be much wiser to pay a little more rent to the landlord and a little less to the doctor and druggists. When cheap houses are demanded it must not be forgotten that it is a mistaken economy to construct them without providing for first-class sanitary conditions. Health and strength are the workingmans capital, and it would be a mistake to impair this capital for the sake of getting a house at a cheap rental. Any rental is dear that does not carry with it a guarantee of domestic conditions that tend to promote and maintain good health.

TENEMENT LIFE

It may interest our readers to know something about the class of tenement building that is being put up in Europe. Professor Otto Fick, of Copenhagen, has recently arrived in New York, where he is enlightening the people as to how to solve the problem of city living for those of moderate means. A contemporary thus describes his plan:

He would have New York introduce flats conducted on the co-operative plan, such as he has been instrumental in establishing in his city and Stockholm. His ideal co-operative flat would be not less than five storeys high and to contain not less than twenty-five families. Most of the flats he would have three-room affairs, all the cooking to be done in a big, central kitchen. He would have the company owning the building keep a corps of servants to supply all the services required by the tenants. Meals would be sent to each family by a dumb waiter. He would have the required capital provided by the subscription of the tenants to a certain amount of the company's stock — about as much as the rent would amount to. In each building he would have a kindergarten in which children may be left while the parents go out.

Professor Fick claims that under this plan the cost of living can be made 20 per cent. lower than at present. But, while such a style of living might be cheaper, it would seem to have a tendency to impair home life and to destroy family identity and individuality.

BUILD UP ONTARIO

The proposed creation of a new province out of a portion of New Ontario, roughly consisting of the Rainy River and Algonquin districts, is, in many quarters, regarded as a joke. But it has its serious side. We heard no demand for secession when the Ross Government was in power. There may have been sporadic complaint of failure to meet certain demands of the settlers, but not till the Whitney Government came into power and had an opportunity to do some measure of justice, did the residents revolt against what the people "up there" call "the utter indifference of Premier Whitney and his colleagues," and demand secession. The people of New Ontario emphasize the fact as they assert it, "that, in spite of remonstrances from all sources, and from both parties, robbing of the districts mentioned has been continued by sale of timber, collection of unjust dues, iniquitous mining and timber laws, and the absolute refusal to return even five per cent. of the revenue so taken, have led to a deep feeling throughout the entire country that, if we would grow and prosper, we must not look to Toronto for further assistance, but secede, and legislate for ourselves. The feeling that New Ontario has been the milch cow long enough is firmly held, and it is not likely to end as long as Old Ontario holds the balance of power, and retains all our revenue without an adequate quid pro quo." This is the substance of the complaint of a recent representative meeting of residents of the Rainy River district. Premier Whitney is quite consistent, for once, in taking an attitude towards New Ontario that is driving the people into secession; for he has always had a poor opinion of New Ontario, describing it in terms of reproach as "the land of the stunted poplar." The motto of the Ross Government was "Build up Ontario" — largely by the development of the new regions, and, to this Government, the north owes the chief elements of development—the "Soo" industries and the Provincial railway. The Whitney Government practically found this railway ready to their hands. It proved a money-maker from the beginning, and would be a province-builder if the Whitney Government would make an honest effort to use the facilities it provides to people the splendid agricultural clay belts to which the railway gives access, and thus catch a part of the stream of immigration that is pouring past our very doors, to build up Manitoba and other western provinces. There are vast resources in New Ontario whose development could well engage the attention of the Government of the day. The Whitney Government might better try to put into practice a little constructive statesmanship and "build up Ontario," instead of promoting its dismemberment by neglect and misgovernment.

BUILD UP ONTARIO

Build up Ontario is an object worthy the attention of the provincial government, and the consideration of all citizens. Old Ontario is fairly well supplied with the means of transportation. New Ontario has its railway. But what is being done for Northern Ontario? Stories of unrest among the residents of the north come down to us. What is the matter? Where there is so much smoke there must be some embers. The only matter that vexes them is the lack of railway accommodation. In this their complaint is just, and it should be made right by the government. Another government road, this one running through Northern Ontario, would be the solution. If not a government road, then as an alternative, a guaranty for the Algoma Central to enable it to finish its line, and Northern Ontario will thus be in a measure appeased.—Toronto World.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. William Richard, ex-M.P.P., has been nominated as the candidate of the Liberals of West Durham. Mr. Richard carried the riding once and he will probably do so again.

The people of New Ontario claim that the Whitney Government takes an immense revenue from New Ontario, and does not return a fair share to improve the conditions of the settlers in the new parts of the province. Why do this when the money can be spent to better advantage? The Whitney Government has voted itself an increase of salary aggregating $17,000 a year. This capitalized would represent $425,000 at 4 per cent. That would do a good deal of good, if spent in New Ontario.

Mr. Studholme, M.P.P., the Labour representative of West Hamilton, has been talking to the News about the Whitney salary grab. His views are fairly expressed in this extract from the interview. He says he undertook to serve for $1,000, and he has no right to take more. The Ministers should view it similarly:—

"The people pay us to do a certain work," he said. "If the House sits until midnight the members should stay on the job. When they think they are not being paid enough they should go to their employers, the people, and ask for more compensation. But they should not sit here and vote the public funds into their own pockets. We are scarcely sent here to do that. The people want us to be square. It is not right for us to do this thing, and then ask for authority. Of little avail it would be for me to go back to Hamilton after the two remaining sessions of this Parliament, to snap my fingers in the face of my constituents, and say: 'I have the thousand dollars extra; what are you going to do about it?'".

SIR WILFRED AND THE WORKINGMEN

La Presse, Montreal, has the following: "An interesting incident occurred at the Windsor station, Montreal, on Thursday, on the occasion of Sir Wilfrid Laurier alighting from the special train to shake the hands of those who had come to greet him, (on his way to England.) There were present lawyers, doctors, captains of industry, Senators, members of Parliament, etc. There were also present humble workingmen, in their working clothes, who had come to salute the First Minister. It was to these that Sir Wilfrid first directed his steps, and it was their hands that he first shook."

Give Fair Play to Zutoo

A really reliable remedy for headache—Zutoo.

If you have got it into your head that Zutoo Tablets will hurt you, you are mistaken.

It isn't fair to us for you to judge Zutoo by the drug cures.

It isn't fair to yourself to suffer from headache, when this really harmless vegetable headache cure is within your reach.

The fair thing for both of us is—to judge Zutoo on its merits—to test it.

If you find it does not cure your headache, sick, nervous or otherwise, in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time—no bad after effects, then discard it.

But do not condemn it unfairly without a trial, and keep on suffering from headaches. You really do not have to, and one trial of Zutoo will prove it.

All we ask for Zutoo is fair play—that you give it a trial before concluding as to its merits or demerits.

Wont you do this? You'll be glad ever after if you do.

We'll send trial tablets for nothing, or you can buy them at dealers in 10c. and 25c. packages.

CORDIAL INVITATION

ADDRESED TO WORKING GIRLS

Mlle. Robitaille Tells How Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Helps Working Girls.

Girls who work are particularly susceptible to female disorders, especially those who are obliged to stand on their feet from morning until night in stores or factories.

Day in and day out the girl toils, and she is often the bread-winner of the family. Whether she is sick or well, whether it rains or shines, she must go to her place of employment, perform the duties exacted of her—smile and be agreeable.

Among this class the symptoms of female diseases are early manifest by weak and aching backs, pain in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach. In consequence of frequent wetting of the feet, periods become painful and irregular, and frequently there are faint and dizzy spells, with loss of appetite, until life is a burden. All of these symptoms point to a derangement of the female organism which can be easily and promptly cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mlle. Alma Robitaille, 78 rue St. François, Quebec, Quebec, tells what this great medicine did for her. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

Overwork and long hours at the office, together with a neglected cold brought on a very serious female trouble until finally I was unable to go to work. I then thought of a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when her health was in the same condition that mine was and straightway sent out for a bottle. I finished that and took two more before I really began to improve but after that my recovery was very rapid and I was soon well and able to go back to work again. I certainly think your medicine for sick women worthy of praise and am indeed glad to endorse it.

It is to such girls that Mrs. Pinkham holds out a helping hand and extends a cordial invitation to correspond with her. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Her long record of success in treating woman's ills makes her letters of advice of untold value to every ailing working girl. Address, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Busy Millinery Store

The weather for the past week may not have been satisfactory from the standpoint of the milliner, but, judging by the number of boxes supplied the J. C. Vigor and Health Fully Restored.

THE OLD TIRED, LISTLESS FEELINGS, THE SLEEPLESSNESS AND NERVOUSNESS WERE DRIVEN AWAY BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The experience described in this letter corresponds to that of thousands of women who have not yet learned of the marvelous restorative and invigorating power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. Henry Clarke of Port Hope, Ont., states: "I have used several boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for nervousness and a completely run-down system, and can heartily recommend it as a wonderfully effective treatment. Before using this treatment I had been in very poor health for some months. I appeared to have no energy or ambition, felt tired and listless most of the time and could scarcely drag myself about the house. I was weak, irritable and nervous, could not sleep well and felt discouraged about my health. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has taken away these symptoms and given back my usual vigor and health, consequently I endorse it fully."

Weakness, lightheadedness, dizziness at rising is one of the certain indications of thin blood, and an exhausted condition of the body.

The action of the heart is weak, digestion is impaired, and all the vital organs perform their functions imperfectly, giving rise to headaches, feelings of fatigue and depression.

Because it goes directly to the formation of new, rich blood, every dose of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is bound to prove of some benefit under such conditions.

Naturally and gradually the exhausted system is restored until every organ is given back its accustomed strength and vigour. The weight is increased, the form is rounded out, and health and vitality drive out weakness pain and disease.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and restorative, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author are on every box.

JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT

Was Alarmingly Afflicted With La Grippe. Cured by Pe-ru-na.

The Grip is Properly Termed Epidemic Catarrh.

As Pe-ru-na Cures Every Form of Catarrh, It Has Relieved More Cases of Grip Than All Other Remedies Combined.

HON. W. H. PARSONS,
925 H. St., N.W.,
WASHINGTON, D.C.

The Fear of Grip Makes People Nervous.

There is no remedy in the world that meets the conditions produced by the grip better than Peruna.

Peruna strengthens as it renovates, soothes while it stimulates, heals as it expurgates.

Peruna is not a purgative, or cathartic or sedative, or stimulant, nor a vegetable or mineral poison.

It reaches the source of all diseases of the mucous membranes by its action on the vaso-motor system of nerves.

After-Effects of the Grip.

Every person who has had la grippe during the last year should take a course of Peruna. No one need expect perfect recovery unless they do so.

The grip has produced catarrhal inflammation of the whole mucous membrane, and good health is impossible until these are restored to a normal condition. This Peruna will do.

A great many remedies have been suggested for this condition from time to time, but Peruna is the only remedy that has any substantial value in these cases.

It has never failed to give satisfaction during forty years' experience and still occupies the unique position of being the leading (if not the only) specific remedy for the after-effects of la grippe.

No Time Like the Present.

If you are suffering from the after-effects of la grippe—if you have become discouraged in your attempts to cure yourself with other treatments, take a bottle of Peruna now.

A bottle of Peruna taken during the beginning of the disease is worth more than a dozen bottles after the trouble has become deep-seated.

W. H. Parsons is Ex-State Senator and Ex-Special Judge of the Supreme Court of Texas, and was also Brigadier-General in Confederate Army. In a recent letter from 925 H street, N. W., Washington, D. C., this prominent gentleman says:

"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials as to the efficacy of Peruna in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grippe with which I have been afflicted for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment with this justly celebrated formula. I feel a decided change for the better after using it only one week.

"It is especially good in toning up the stomach and has had a decided effect upon my appetite. I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration.

"My numerous friends in Texas, where I have had the honor to command a brigade of her Veteran Cavalry in a four years' war, may accept this voluntary testimonial to the merits of Peruna as a sense of obligation on my part for its wonderful efficacy."—W. H. Parsons.

A reward of $10,000 has been deposited in the Market Exchange Bank, Columbus, Ohio, as a guarantee that the above testimonial is genuine; that we hold in our possession authentic letters certifying to the same. Every one of our testimonials are genuine and in the words of the one whose name is appended.

FIRE! FIRE! FIRE!

Scott's Colloseum

432 GEORGE STREET

New Programme for week commencing April 8, 1907.

THE GREAT TORONTO FIRE

Only those who actually saw the great fire in Toronto can adequately appreciate the realism of the moving pictures shown in the Colloseum by Mr. Scott and his assistants. The clang of the fire bells, the rush and hurry, the terror and grandeur of the awful conflagration are marvellously brought out. The rescue work of the firemen, the rush of the crowds, fighting the flames and dynamiting the dangerous walls, are depicted with a realty that is almost incredible.

The continuous performance takes place every afternoon and evening from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m. and furnishes a refined entertainment for both small and great. Ladies are especially invited to the afternoon performances.

A QUESTION

When Eating an Orange Why Do You Throw the Skin Away?

You immediately answer, because the skin is indigestible, unpalatable, useless.

This delicious and nutritious fruit has a parallel in cod liver oil. Over fifty medicinal alkaloids or curative elements are to be found in the cod's liver, and for centuries people have been swallowing the greasy, indigestible, nauseating oil, either in its raw form or in an emulsion, to get the benefit of these medicinal elements.

Now it has been proven by two celebrated French chemists that the oil which envelopes the curative properties found in the cod's liver is just as useless as the skin of an orange, and have discovered a way to separate all of these medicinal elements from the oil, retaining all that is good and eliminating the bad, and thus make Vinol.

This will explain what a valuable medicine Vinol is, and why it is superseding old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, and why it has been so successful in curing stomach troubles, giving strength and renewed vitality to the weak, run-down and aged, and curing chronic coughs, colds, and building up the convalescent, and it is because we know so well of what Vinol is made that we unhesitatingly offer to return money in every case where it fails. The Toronto Star of last night said: Gordon Ridpath, better known as "Kernel" Ridpath, the grand little left wing of the Parkdale Canoe Club's Junior O.H.A. team, leaves this week for Lakefield, where he will go into the stationery business with his brother. He expects to remain. Ridpath will not be eligible to play junior next year, but his absence will be a distinct loss to hockey in the city. With a bit more weight he would make a good candidate for senior company.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT REV. DR. SYMONDS' SECOND LECTURE

The Relation of "In Memoriam" to Modern Thought---Such a Thing as Honest Doubt Possible---Increased Attendance at Last Night's Lecture in Y.M.C.A.

The attendance at the second lecture by Rev. Dr. Symonds, on Tennyson's "In Memoriam," last night, was so large that a second room had to be taken in. The audience was greatly pleased with the lecture last night, the interest in the series having increased. Mr. E. A. Peck was the chairman last night, and before the lecture Miss Mattie Robertson and Miss Gladys Crane favoured the audience with a piano duet.

The second lecture had to do with the relation of the poem to modern thought. It was pointed out how Tennyson's sorrow became typical of the sorrow and agony of the human heart. "In Memoriam," therefore, deals with the questions of Immortality, Faith and Unbelief, Science and Theology, Social Progress, Prayers and the like. These are not new problems, but the forms which they assume in our time is new.

Tennyson, like Carlyle, had a strong sense of the distinction which in theological matters must be drawn between the form of a doctrine and its essential content. The form was the husk, and the essential content was the kernel of the doctrine. Hence the form might change without involving the loss of the doctrine.

The lecturer dwelt at considerable length upon this point, because of its bearing upon modern conditions. Modern Science and Historical Criticism have greatly modified our old conceptions of Nature and the Bible. The breaking down of these has led to the so-called conflict between Faith and Science. Tennyson knew what internal struggles the New Thought of the age was originating in the minds of many of the noblest men about him. Was doubt a sin? The Church regarded it as the most heinous of sins. Tennyson could not agree with this. There was such a thing as honest doubt. This topic is the subject of one of the most famous sections of "In Memoriam:"

"You say, but with no touch of scorn,
Sweet-hearted you, whose light blue eyes,
Are tender over drowning flies,
You tell me doubt is devil born.

I know not; one indeed I know,
In many a subtle question versed,
Who touched a jarring lyre at first,
But ever strove to make it true.

Perplexed in faith, but pure in deeds,
At last he beat his music out;
There lives more faith in honest doubt,
Believe me, than in half the creeds.

He fought his doubts, and gathered strength,
He would not make his judgment blind,
He faced the spectres of the mind,
And laid them; thus he came at length,

To find a stronger faith his own,
And Power was with him in the night,
Which makes the darkness and the light,
And dwells not in the light alone,

But in the darkness and the cloud—

Concerning the systems of Christian doctrine which theologians have constructed at various periods, he wrote:

Our little systems have their day,
They have their day, and cease to be;
They are but broken lights of Thee,
And, Thou, O Lord, are more than they.

Dr. Symonds pointed out that the movement of thought in the early part of the century, gave birth to two great schools of thought in the Anglican church, viz., The High Church and the Broad Church Schools.

The first was reactionary, yet it performed a useful service. The Broad Church School, represented by such men as Maurice, Kingsley, Robertson of Brighton, Dean Stanley and others were in closer sympathy with modern thought. They sought to shape to old truths anew, and exerted a powerful influence for good over their generation.

But whilst welcoming the New Thought Tennyson was not unaware of the distress which it must give rise to in the breasts of many good people, to whom change means destruction. He wrote largely for these. Even to him Science and Criticism were in some of their aspects grim monsters, devoid of reverence and love. It was only after he had fought the "spectres of the mind" that he could cry:

And all is well though faith and form,
Be sundered in the night of fear;
Well roars the storm to those that hear,
A deeper voice across the storm.

It was only after conflict and a measure of loss that the poet could cry:

"To One that with us works, and trust,
With faith that comes of self-control,
The truths that never can be proved."

And when he reached that confident faith he ardently desired to see an alliance between Faith — not thought of as a series of dogmas, but as a sense of fellowship with the Infinite — and Science.

Let Knowledge grow from more to more,
But more of reverence in us dwell,
That mind and soul according well,
May make one music as before,
But vaster.

This evening Dr. Symonds will commence the discussion of the poem itself, treating of The Introductory stage which includes the first 27 sections.

To-night Mr. D. Hughes Charles will occupy the chair.

ICE IN RICE LAKE CAUSE OF HIGH WATER IN OTONABEE

The statement is made from the office of the Superintendent of the Trent Canal that the cause of the present high water in the Otonabee River below the city is the fact that the ice has not gone from Rice Lake and backs the water up the river. Every stop-log that it is possible to take out of the Hastings dam is out, and the water is being gotten rid of as quickly as possible.

The water is higher on the back lakes in some places this spring than ever before, Chemong Lake being particularly high, but if inconvenience is being caused it is not the fault of the canal officials, who are doing all in their power to get the water away without doing damage to any interests concerned.

DECEASED MEMBER WAS VERY POPULAR

Late John Montgomery Was Eulogized at Meeting of Court Stanley, A. O. F., Last Night.

The regular meeting of Court Stanley, A.O.F., was held last night in the S.O.E. hall. There was a fairly good attendance of members. C. R. Bro. T. Hendry presided. Two candidates were duly initiated and one member admitted by clearance card. Three applications were received for membership. The good work is still being kept up and the Court is adding more to the roll at every meeting. The Chief Ranger made reference to the death of late Bro. John Montgomery who died recently in Scotland. During his residence here he joined the Court by clearance card, and when he moved away he withdrew his card. His illness was only of a few days' duration. The members sympathize with the widow in her hour of sorrow, as Bro. Montgomery had made many friends during the short time he was with us here.

PETERBORO' BILL HAS PASSED LEGISLATURE

Third Reading Was Given Yesterday to City's Private Bill.

IMPOSSIBLE TO STOOP OR BEND

SEVERAL DOCTORS COULD DO NO GOOD.

PAIN IN BACK AND KIDNEYS.

People often say, "How are we to know when the kidneys are out of order?"

The location of the kidneys, close as it is to the small of the back, which is not affected materially by other organs, renders the detection of kidney trouble a simple matter.

The note of warning comes from the back. Backache is the signal sent out by the kidneys the minute they become overtaxed. Those who heed the warning when it first comes, usually have but little trouble. The danger lies in delay. A few doses of taken in time, often saves years of suffering, and in many cases life itself.

They stimulate the action of the kidneys, enabling them to perform their duty perfectly.

Miss S. G. Pye, Economy, N.S., writes: "For the past three years I have been troubled with a very bad pain in my back and kidneys. It was so bad it was impossible for me to stoop or bend. I had several doctors attend me, but found no relief until I picked up one of your Egyptian Dream Books, and found out about your remarkable remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured two boxes and their action surprised me, for they completely cured me. I don't think they have an equal for kidney trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 2 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

OWES CURE TO ZAM-BUK

A Prominent Manager's Telling Testimony.

Mr. D. R. Gourlay, advertising manager for the well known piano firm of Gourlay, Winter & Leeming, Toronto and Winnipeg, is amongst prominent men and women who testify to Zam-Buk's great curative power. He writes to the Company as follows:—

"Gentlemen,—I have pleasure in stating that upon the recommendation of a relative I purchased a box of your remedy Zam-Buk, and by a few applications entirely cured a very severe strain of the back. While not given to indiscriminate use of, or belief in, patent medicines, I can conscientiously recommend Zam-Buk.

"Sincerely yours,

"(Signed) D. R. GOURLAY."

That is just where Zam-Buk proves its superiority! It is treated by men and women who have tried it, as altogether different to ordinary preparations. Doctors, hospital nurses, trainers, matrons of convalescent homes—all give Zam-Buk a good word; and better still, they use it. Zam-Buk is as good for muscular stiffness, sprains, rheumatism and sciatica as it is for skin troubles. Baseball players and athletes in general find it invaluable. For spring eruptions, pustules, scalp sores, itch, eczema, ulcers, boils, abscesses, blood poison, cuts, burns, bruises, and abrasions, it is a speedy cure. Takes the soreness out of wounds almost instantly, and kills all disease germs, thus preventing festering and inflammation. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box, or post free from the Zam-Buk Company, Toronto, for price. Six boxes for $2.50. Send 1c. stamp for trial box.

LOAD OF HAY AND OWNER HAD A FALL

Came Successfully to the Market But Met With Accident There.

It is very seldom that a farmer brings a load of hay to market in safety over rough and muddy roads, and just when he arrives at his destination, to have the load upset, necessitating the extra labour of reloading. But such was the occurrence at the market to-day, when Mr. Bruce Johnston, of North Monaghan, met with an accident which upset him and his load on the Market Square.

He had just completed the weighing of the hay and was driving away from the scales to await the arrival of a purchaser. In turning the horses to go around the hoad rens, he was hampered somewhat by machinery at the rear of Drummond & Duffus' office, so that a gate caught in the wheel and turned everything upside down. Mr. Johnston was fortunate in escaping, neither was the waggon or rack injured, but the hay had to be taken to its destination in relays by the owner.

Many Men Will Have To Leave Regiment's Ranks

Not Able to Qualify Physically—About 275 Mustered for Weekly Drill Last Night—Many Recruits Make Application for Admission

SOME PROMOTIONS MADE

The military men of the Peterborough Rangers mustered in the armouries last night, in large numbers, and held practically the first drill of the season. Judging from the interest manifested in the drill and the numbers who turned out, the regiment will very soon acquire its full strength. Last night it turned out 275 strong, with a couple of the companies almost up to their full strength.

The drill constituted squad manoeuvring and was done with a precision that would have done justice to a regiment with much more practice.

The recruits numbered about 40, making an average of about five for each company. The ambulance corps and the bugle band were also in attendance.

Major Clegg and Captain Watt, who have recently been promoted to these ranks, were present in their new capacities for the first time.

As a result of the enforcement of the regulations regarding the physical qualifications of each member of the regiment, there will probably be a large number excluded this year. After the drill last night, the chest measurements of many were taken, including a number of the recruits, and several will be unable to qualify.

The following were the orders issued:

Headquarters 57th Regiment,
Peterborough, April 9, 1907.

Orders by Lt.-Col. J. W. Miller, Commanding 57th Regiment, "Peterborough Rangers."

No. 1. Detail of duty for the week ending April 16th, 1907: Captain for the week, Capt. Bennett; next for duty, Captain Mills. Subaltern for the week, Lieut. Kelly; next for duty, Lieut. Langford.

"General Order, No. 19, 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, Provisional Lieutenant R. M. Glover is permitted to retire, 19th January, 1907.

"General Order, No. 20, 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, To be Major, Capt. E. B. Clegg, vice Major L. M. Hayes, who is permitted to resign his commission, 25th January, 1907.

"To be Paymaster with honorary rank of Major, under the provisions of paragraphs 46 and 47, King's regulations and orders for the Militia, 1904: Louis Martin Hayes, Esquire, vice Paymaster and honorary Major R. M. Dennistoun, who is permitted to retire retaining rank, 25th January, 1907.

"Chaplain and Honorary Captain the Rev. J. C. Davidson, is granted the honorary rank of Major under the provisions of paragraph 22, King's Regulations and Orders for the Militia, 1904, 25th of January, 1907.

"General Order No. 21, 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, To be Captain, Lieut. R. P. Watt, vice E. B. Clegg, 25th of January, 1907."

No. 3. Captain Watt is hereby transferred from Company No. 6 to Company No. 2.

No. 4. The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following promotions:

Pte. G. F. Clarke is transferred to the Bugle Band.

PROGRESSIVE FIRM'S NEW CATALOGUE

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons Issue Handsome 116 Page Trade Catalogue—A Work of Art.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons are issuing their new spring catalogue, and if any proof of the enterprise of this firm, or the breadth of their business activities were needed, it is abundantly furnished by their new catalogue. Typographically, it is a work of art, and is a credit to the job department of the Examiner, in which it was gotten out. One hundred and sixteen pages are required to describe the articles manufactured by the firm, and the pages are embellished with numerous cuts, many of them showing work of the firm for local merchants, and others all over the country, awnings and signs being depicted.

The cover is printed in five colours, blending well on a background of red utopia book cover paper. On the page next to the title page there is a large group picture of the five members of the firm, with the senior member in the centre, and following this is a picture of the factory and warehouse of the company. On one page are two half-tone cuts of the Peterborough Lift Lock, for which, and for Turner's tents, this city is famous throughout Canada.

As an indication of the business done by the Examiner in its book-publishing department, it may be mentioned that to-day an estimate of the number of books in process of completion in this department gives it as 14,600.

MILES OF CARPET AT TURNBULL'S

The Carpet Showrooms Again Re-modelled and Enlarged

EXPOSITION OF NEW STYLES

This Firm's Carpet Trade Increasing by Leap and Bounds—New Carpet Salesman.

This season, more than ever before in the long and successful history of The Turnbull Company's departmental store, George and Simcoe streets, enthusiasm has reached the highest point in the vastness and richness of the stocks shown. The firm have been reaching out as never before — planning, as at no other time, to meet and provide for the constantly growing demands of shoppers.

But it is more particularly of the departments of Carpets, Linoleums, Curtains and Draperies, that special mention is to be made at present. The commodious and convenient ground floor space on Simcoe street wholly devoted to Carpets, etc.—which has been enlarged and remodelled on several occasions within the past two years—has again been undergoing important changes, with the object of enlarging and improving its boundaries. The Carpet showroom is now — feet in length with side shelving of varying widths, filled with choicest selections of new spring floor coverings. The new system of display racks afford superior facilities for handling and exhibiting the heavy rolls of the varying grades and sizes of Carpet. A new floor has also been laid in the Carpet room, the walls and ceilings artistically decorated with harmonizing wall paper combinations, and the front show windows greatly improved for the free admission of floods of daylight into the showroom.

Monster Spring Stock

"In full bloom" describes the spring perfection of these thrice-remodelled and beautifully equipped Carpet showrooms. The personal invitation extended to get a glimpse of the wealth of Carpet beauty that was strewn at our feet revealed a sight that would have delighted the heart of the home-furnisher desirous of replenishing the floor coverings of new home or old. How much home comfort you will enjoy the present season will depend, in good degree, on whether you have seen what is best in Carpets, etc., at Turnbull's.

Great shipments direct from the famous Old Country looms have been piled up, including heavy, rich Axminsters, Wiltons, Velvets, Brussels, Tapestries, Squares and Rugs. The firm's sales of rugs has become quite large, the demand for a real good quality growing larger every season. Luxurious samples are also shown from our own local carpet factory, the Brinton Company's product of lovely Axminsters and Rugs — the combinations being a reflex of all that is artistic in high art floor adornment. There is also shown a remarkable gathering of fine, all-wool Carpet of good, heavy, reversable quality, as well as Scotch inlaid Linoleums and Oilcloths. Invoices have just been checked off, comprising a large purchase of English Oilcloth in new floral, tile and mosaic patterns, being the balance of one line of a manufacturer's stock. This will afford very wide choice of selection, and at prices, so it was stated, equal to about the actual wholesale cost.

A visit to the Curtain and Drapery showroom will furnish another delight to the spring home-furnisher. The firm are showing many new novelties in Lace Curtains, Portiere Curtains, Drapery Fabrics, Window Shades, etc. Those intending refurnishing their house should not miss the advantages possessed by The Turnbull Company's store. Very special attention is given to the calls of customers out of town, as well as in the city.

The firm have engaged the services of a good, all-round Carpet salesman in the person of Mr. W. H. Tewsley, who is now in charge of the department. This gentleman possesses a valuable experience, gained in some of the largest carpet houses of Canada, and the help he can render in suggesting floor coverings that will meet the particular needs of particular people for particular rooms will be at the service of customers.

OBITUARY

JOHN WHIBBS

Few residents of the township of Douro, were more widely known, or more highly respected, than the late Mr. John Whibbs, whose lamented demise occurred yesterday afternoon, after a brief illness of a few days, the deceased having taken ill on Friday last with pneumonia. The late Mr. Whibbs was 77 years of age and was born and lived all his life in Douro, residing on the same farm for 32 years. Mrs. Whibbs survives her husband, and two sons and three daughters are also left to mourn his death. The sons are George and Frank, both living at home, and the daughters, Matilda, at home, and Mrs. William Quinlan and Mrs. E. J. Allen, both of whom live in Douro. The deceased was married 54 years, and during his long and useful life was looked upon as one of the township's most residents. He was of a quiet disposition, and was in politics a staunch Liberal.

The funeral will take place on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, from the family residence to St. Joseph's church and to St. Joseph's cemetery.

A LIVE BUTTERFLY SEEN THIS MORNING

Mr. Mark Spenceley Notes a Harbinger of Spring.

Mr. Mark Spenceley considers that all the harbingers of spring already noted this season are eclipsed by one that he saw this morning, nothing less than a butterfly, which appeared from a window in his house on Bethune street. The insect was as lively as if there was no such thing as snow in the air and mud under foot. Poor, misguided little butterfly to imagine that spring is anywhere near.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

DEFENCE IN THAW CASE IS NOW OVER

Delmas Says He Was Not Responsible For His Deed-

TOUCHES UNWRITTEN LAW

Counsel Urges Jury to Give Prisoner Benefit of the Doubt—Says Murder Was An Act of Just Retribution —Thaw Was Driven Mad By His Wife's Story—Delmas' Closing Words.

New York, April 10.—One more day and the concluding chapters of the trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White will have been written into history.

With an oratorical appeal to both the written and the unwritten law, for the justification of his client, Delphin M. Delmas, the California attorney, concluded his exhaustive summing up address to the jury yesterday afternoon.

With the exception of the moments when he was reading from testimony, to establish the truth of Evelyn Thaw's story, which he said had been given with "sublime renunciation," Mr. Delmas' speech was one of sustained oratorical effort. He threw about the form of Harry Thaw the cloak of chivalrous knighthood. "Why," he shouted, "should we who admire the chivalry of the knights of the middle ages, who went about redressing wrongs and rescuing maidens in distress, withheld our sympathy from this brave man?"

The Hand of Providence.

"Ah, gentlemen," the advocate went on, "if Harry Thaw believed he was the instrument of Providence, who will say he was mistaken?"

"The man who had brooded on this subject for three years, who had pictures of dreadful horrors haunting him day and in the stillness of the night, could not be human to retain the calmness of reason. Gentlemen, put yourselves in his place; picture to yourselves the horrors he went through and do justice to Harry Thaw," he said.

Mr. Delmas discussed but briefly the testimony of the expert witnesses, declaring that whatever weight might attach to their utterances was on the side of the defendant.

He declared the burden of proof as to Thaw's sanity at the time of the homicide rested with the prosecution, which had failed to make out its case.

The Benefit of the Doubt.

"Before you send this young man to his doom, you must be satisfied of his guilt beyond every reasonable doubt.

"A great English judge once said that it is better that 99 guilty men should escape rather than that one innocent man should be punished. If there is one chance in a hundred that this defendant was of such unsound mind as not to know the nature of his act, then you must give him the benefit of that doubt.

Thaw's Insanity.

"The district attorney will make light of the experts because they have not studied the species of insanity from which they say Harry Thaw is suffering. It is a species of insanity which has been recognized of every state of the Union—from Canada to Mexico, from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

"It will suggest its name," he declared, "I would call it dementia Americana. It is that species of insanity which makes the American man believe his home, his wife, his daughters, are sacred and that whosoever stains the virtue of his threshold violates the human law.

The Unwritten Law.

Mr. Delmas' closing was an almost direct appeal to the unwritten law. He said he left Thaw's fate in the hands of the jurors, with every confidence that he would be acquitted under that golden law—the oldest law of all—the foundation of all laws—"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

New Law Unworkable.

Winnipeg, April 10.—It is stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway have found that some of the provisions of the new Lord's Day Act are unworkable.

When the act came into effect orders were given that no work should be done on Sunday, except that incidental to the handling of through passenger trains. No trains were to leave the local yards between Saturday night and Sunday midnight.

Local employes are said to have declared that it was impossible to do the work which had to be done under these conditions.

TO BE DYSPEPTIC IS TO BE MISERABLE

Hopeless, Confused and Depressed in Mind. Forgetful, Irresolute, Drowsy, Languid and Useless.

This disease assumes so many forms that there is scarcely a complaint which it may not resemble in one way or another. Among the most prominent symptoms are constipation, sour stomach, variable appetite, heartburn, water-brash, gas in the stomach and bowels, distress after eating, etc.

is a positive cure for dyspepsia, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels or blood. It stimulates secretion of the saliva and gastric juices to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood and tones the entire system to full health and vigor.

Mrs. M. A. McNeil, Brook Village, N.S., writes: "I suffered from dyspepsia, loss of appetite and bad blood. I tried everything I could get but to no purpose; then finally started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. From the first day I felt the good effects of the medicine. I can eat anything now without any ill after effects and am strong and well again."

Price $1.00 per bottle or 6 bottles for $5.00.

Safest Medicine for Women's Complaints

Women certainly do neglect themselves. They work too hard—over-tax their strength—and then wonder why they suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex.

Most cases of female trouble start when the bowels become inactive—the kidneys strained—and the skin not cared for. Poisons, which should leave the system by these organs, are taken up by the blood and inflame the delicate female organs.

WEDDING BELLS

LITTLE-WILLIAMS

All Saints' church was the scene of a pretty, but quiet wedding this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Miss Adelina Williams, daughter of Mr. G. H. Williams, 77 Homewood avenue, was united in marriage to Mr. D. W Little, commercial traveller for the Canadian Gas and Gasoline Company, Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wm. Major, in the presence of only a few friends of the contracting parties. The bride who was unattended was dressed in a pretty costume of navy blue broadcloth. The usual wedding dejeuner was served at the home of the bride's parents, where a large array of beautiful presents was spread.

Mr. and Mrs. Little left for a ten days' wedding trip to New York and and on their return will reside in Peterborough during the summer.

OBJECTIONABLE BY-LAW DISCUSSED

Meeting of the Retail Merchants Association Will be Held To-morrow for This Purpose.

The merchants of the city are aroused over the action of the city council in directing that the bylaws with reference to the over-hanging signs and opening boxes on the sidewalks, be rigidly enforced, and a meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association will be held to-morrow night, when the matter will be discussed. Some of the merchants state that if the Council insist on enforcing these bylaws, which they consider unfair to the business men, they will have to go out of business. He stated that so many restrictions were being placed by the council upon the business men that they were feeling it seriously.

The council will likely be told some pretty plain truths to-morrow night.

A PLEASANT FAMILY REUNION

Mr. Edward Clarke's Family Celebrated His Eighty-first Birthday.

A pleasing event took place last night at the residence of Mr. Frank Clarke, Bolivar street, when a family reunion took place to celebrate the 81st birthday of Mr. Clarke's father, Mr. Edward Clarke. All the members of the family living in Peterborough were present, and telegrams were received from members in Chicago and New York. Among those in attendance were Mr. Clarke's daughters, Mrs. Jobe and Mrs. J. W. Johnston and their families, and Mr. Frank Clarke and his family.

The evening was pleasantly spent in music and other forms of entertainment. Mr. Clarke, who has resided in Peterborough for 48 years, sang a number of old favourite songs. During the evening he was presented with a handsome pair of gold spectacles.

WILL BE INSTRUCTOR IN OTTAWA RINK

Mr. A. W. Spencley, late of New York City, but who has been residing in Peterborough for the last nine months, has accepted a position with Mr. Sheridan of this city, as instructor for the roller skating rink at Ottawa. Mr. Spencley did excellent work at the Charlotte street rink during last season. He captured two of the best prizes that were given. His many friends will wish him success in his new duties which he will take up on Monday. Mr. Spencley will leave for Ottawa on Saturday morning.

DELIGHTFUL AT HOME LAST NIGHT

Held at Residence of Mr. A. Gilbert—Initial Event of This Kind for Ladies' Auxiliary.

The "At-home" held at the residence of Mr. A. Gilbert, 270 Sherbrooke street last night, proved to be a very delightful event. It was in aid of the Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church, and was largely attended. Not only was it successful from a social standpoint, but the offerings from guests resulted in a fairly large total.

Mrs. Gilbert, assisted by Mrs. Buller, Mrs. Blois and Mrs. Firth, received the guests. The evening was pleasantly spent in song and music. Vocal and piano selections were rendered by Mrs. Dovey, and Misses Hunter, M. Gilbert and M. Hopper and Mr. Dovey. Dainty refreshments were served, and everyone expressed their delight with the enjoyable entertainment that was provided. Rev. Wm. Major and Mrs. Major were present.

The ladies are more than pleased with the success of the "At-home."

TWO ELECTRIC CRANES FOR TRANSFORMER BUILDING

Will be Erected Shortly Under Supervision of Mr. John Deannard.

Mr. John Deannard, of the Canada Foundry Co., Toronto, is in the city for the purpose of overseeing the erection of two electric cranes in the new transformer building at the C. G. E. Works. Mr. Deannard has had an extensive experience in this line of work and will commence operations on the new building in a few days. Some delay has been caused in the arrival of necessary tools, which are required in the work, but they were received by Mr. Deannard to-day. Two cranes in this building will mean that things will be busy when it is completed and actual work commenced.

Mr. Deannard is a former resident of Peterborough, but has lived in Toronto for a number of years. He has been in charge of many large contracts and has been invariably successful.

GOOD DEMAND FOR MARRIED COUPLES

Mr. Ged. Howson, Government Immigration Agent can place about a dozen married couples on the farms of the county if they are of the right class, and he is now in negotiation with the Immigration authorities in England to secure such persons. He states that he finds a good demand for domestics in the country and in many cases a hired man is needed too, and he is of the opinion that he could place several married couple who would be willing to do it in these respective capacities.

PORT HOPE TEAM WILL FINISH NEAR THE PENANT

Port Hope figures on landing pretty close to the top in the Midland Baseball League this year, according to the Guide, which says: Port Hope's first game in the Midland League takes place in Bowmanville on May 24. The local club will start right out from the opening of the season this year to play ball, and they should land near the top.

A. Kolb, of Rochester, arrived in town yesterday and will take a position with the Central Foundry Co. Kolb will play third base for the locals and is one of the best in the business. In 1905, he played with Port Hope in Peterborough, and on that occasion it was quite evident that he was awake to all the fine points of the game. He is a snappy fielder, quick on the bags, and can handle the willow to perfection.

Surphlis will be down in a few days and Bobby Sheets is likely to return from New Brighton.

The infield would line up the way: Surphlis, p; Sheets or Boney, c; Briggs, 1st; Brown, 2nd; Kolb, 3rd. The shortstop is expected to arrive in a few days.

BASKETBALL GAMES AND BANQUET TO-NIGHT

Final Spring League Game Will be Followed by a Supper.

The final game in the spring basketball league will be played this evening at the Y.M.C.A. between Laing's and Dobbin's teams. Both these have won two and lost one game so that a close contest is looked for this evening. A great deal of honour, too, is attached to the result as the winning team hold the title of champions of the Spring Basketball League.

After the game the basketball men will congregate in the banquet room of the Y.M.C.A., where a supper will await them and a pleasant evening in songs and speeches is predicted.

SHERBOURNES WANT TO PLAY THE LOCALS

This Well Known Toronto Nine After Peterboroughs Scalp.

It looks as if the Peterborough ball teams will not have much trouble in securing games this season; the only difficulty will be in accommodating all the teams that want to play the locals. A letter has been received from H. E. Lockheed, secretary of the Sherbournes of the Toronto International League, seeking to arrange exhibition games with the Peterboroughs. Other senior Toronto teams have written to the same effect, and the fans will be given some great games when the season gets under way.

Mr. Wm. Whittom, a son-in-law of Mr. T. H. Crowley, Lundy's Lane, has recently purchased a valuable trotting mare, "Silver Queen." Mr. Whittom will enter the horse in the next races in the city, under the auspices of the Turf Club, and expects to clean up some prizes with her. It is understood that the purchase price was in the neighbourhood of $1,000.

BASEBALL

The Strathcona Baseball Club will meet to-night at the Little Windsor Hotel for reorganization purposes, and it is desirable that there should be a large attendance. The Strathconas will place a very strong team in the field this year and will enter a nine in the City League if that organization materializes.

CITY BALL LEAGUE NOW A PROBABILITY

Enthusiasts are Desirous of Seeing One Formed.

Among the baseball enthusiasts of the city the project of forming a city league is arousing considerable interest. There would be no trouble in forming a four-team league which would furnish the fans with plenty of good ball. The Strathconas who organize to-night would like to see a league formed and it is known that the Shamrocks, practically the old T.A.S. team are also desirous of entering. It is probable that the next week will see a move made to establish a league.

BOWLING

Great interest is being taken in the bowling tournament which will be held at the Majestic Alleys, Water street on April 25th, 26th and 27th. Already the High Lifes and Merchants have signified their intention of placing teams in the five-man event and it is probable that other teams will be found in the competition. The field in the doubles and singles will be a large one.

HOCKEY

STRATHCONAS' BANQUET.

Preparations are about completed for the big banquet to be tendered the Strathconas, City Hockey League champions, at McCallum's Restaurant on Monday night. The tickets are selling fast, and the attendance promises to be a large one. A very enjoyable musical programme will be given in addition to the toast list, among those taking part being Messrs. W. CENTRAL MILLING COMPANY

Annual Meeting Was Held Yesterday—Dividend of 7 Per Cent. Was Declared.

PROGRESS IS GRATIFYING

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Central Milling Company, was held yesterday in the Foresters' Hall Simcoe street, when the reports and accounts were submitted, and the declaration of a dividend of seven per cent. approved. The financial report was submitted by Mr. George K. Martin and the general reports by the manager, Mr. Henry A. Mulhern. The following gentlemen were elected directors for the ensuing year, viz., Messrs. John Stothart, D. Carlow, J Finnie, J W Hall, J G Armstrong, J Murty, P Dawson. Mr. George K. Martin was re-appointed auditor.

After considerable discussion it was decided to do away with the rebate on their purchases which has hitherto been given the stockholders of the company, so that in future all the customers of the mill will be on the same basis, in their business relations with it.

At the conclusion of the general meeting the new directors met and the following appointments were made:

President—John Stothart.
Vice-President—D. Carlow.
General Manager—H. A. Mulhern.
Secretary-Treasurer—O. Myers.

It must be particularly gratifying to the stockholders of this company to know that the mill is doing as well or even a little better than was at first expected. It has been in existence just six years and during that time it has paid in dividends 45 cents on every dollar invested. This is a splendid record and reflects great credit upon the management. The dividends paid have been as follows: First year 6 per cent., 2nd year 10 per cent., 3rd year and fourth year 8 per cent. each year, 5th year 5 per cent., 6th year 7 per cent. The business of the mill is not only holding its own but is increasing all the time. The machinery is kept running steadily and even then it is not always possible to keep up with the orders. The outlook for 1907 is particularly bright and a good dividend for next year is assured.

THE BAPTIST MISSION BOARD'S GOOD REPORT

Evangelist A. W. Torrie, Who Worked Here, One of Two Evangelists Engaged to Work on Mission Fields.

The Baptist Home Mission Board of Ontario and Quebec at their half-yearly meeting yesterday, passed appropriations amounting to about $14,000 for the ensuing six months to more than one hundred missionaries who preach in about two hundred and fifty churches and mission stations. Besides those, fifty students go out for the summer months from McMaster University to mission fields.

The board has employed during the past six months two evangelists, Rev. Mr. Vansycle and Rev. A. W. Torrie. About $2000 received in advance of last year was reported by the treasurer.

The board decided to open a number of new stations in the Temiskaming, Rainy River and North Shore districts.

It is a token of esteem, and also intended as a slight recognition of his services in this city as organizer for the society. The cane is a splendid one. It was purchased from Messrs. Frank Clarke & Sons, jewellers. It will be sent to Mr. Hardy immediately.

Dr. Morrison New President Of Local Board Of Trade

Officers Were Elected at Adjourned Meeting Last Night---Suggestion Made to Make the Board More Representative---Mr. Pousette Wants Banks to Keep Their Money at Home.

The adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade called last night for the purpose of electing officers and other features of interest, among which was a suggestion from the Mayor regarding an effort to have the membership of the Board more representative. He thought that the different interests should select a certain number of representatives, which, he thought, would have the effect of making the members more responsible and more likely to take an interest in the affairs of the Board. Mr. A. P. Pousette gave notice that at the next meeting he would move that a resolution be passed making an effort to stop the Canadian banks from investing too much money outside the bounds of this country, which, he said, had the effect of making it difficult to secure money for Canadian commercial enterprises. Dr. M. A. Morrison was elected president of the Board for the ensuing year.

There were present, Messrs. D. Hughes Charles, T Q Quartermaine, A P Pousette, W S Dodd, Robt. Fair, Geo. A Gillespie, P Downham, Ald. Bradburn, J O Brown, Jas. Drain, Rev. Canon Davidson, Mayor McWilliams, B F Ackerman, H LeBrun, F D Kerr, R M Glover, John Riddell, W H Moore, W Switzer, Dickson Davidson, G B VanBlaricom, Dr. M A Morrison, R E Wood, Carruthers and S W. Lowrey.

Communications

The following communications were read:—

From the Canadian Municipal Journal, asking the Board to subscribe to that periodical.

From T P Morris, secretary of Toronto Board of Trade, enclosing a copy of a resolution, urging the placing of the civil service upon a non-political basis.

From R M Dennistoun, thanking the Board for resolution passed concerning himself.

From the manager of the Royal Bank at Hanover, asking for information as to what benefit the Board of Trade had been to the city and also for information as to the bylaws, etc., it carried.

Better Representation

Before the election of officers was proceeded with, Mayor McWilliams referred to the need of having a better system of representation upon the Board, which he thought, should be one that should thrive and flourish. That it had not, was not the fault of the men who had striven so energetically and constantly to make it a success, but the chief reason was, he said, because it was a meeting of a few individuals who could only speak for themselves as individuals, and their opinion did not go out as the opinion of the business world of the city. However respected they might be their opinion would not have the weight they would have if they were meeting as the representatives of certain interests. The Mayor made the suggestion that the Board should be divided into sections. The manufacturers of the city should be given the opportunity of selecting men to represent them on the Board, and the same rule could be applied to the mercantile and the financial interests. In this way, he thought, the Board could be made much more representative body than it is at present.

President Hughes Charles remarked that all these classes had been represented on the Board, but that they would not attend the meetings.

Mr. A. P. Pousette agreed with the Mayor that the members who come to the meetings did not come with the power that they would have if selected to represent a certain section. They came voluntarily and might not be as regularly as if the was responsible to some one. He thought that it would be well to consider an amendment of the constitution along this line. It could not be denied that the Board of Trade had not done what might fairly be expected of a Board in a city like Peterborough. The fault was not on the part of the officers. President Hughes Charles had been most energetic, but no president could do anything without the active support of the members.

Election of Officers

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Dr. M. A. Morrison.
Vice-President — Geo. A. Gillespie.
Treasurer—W. H. Burnham.
Secretary—T. Q. Quartermaine.

Dr. Morrison, on taking the chair, thanked the members of the Board for the honour they had conferred upon him, which he felt was more than he deserved. He would do his best to discharge the duties of the office as they had been discharged by the retiring president.

Mr. Pousette moved, seconded by W. S. Dodds, that Messrs. M. A. Morrison, D. Hughes Charles, R. Wood and W. H. Moore be appointed a special committee to nominate members of the council of the Board of Trade, and to strike the Standing Committees for the ensuing year, and that it be an instruction to our committee to confer with the different branches of the Board with a view to conforming to the proposal of His Worship the Mayor."—Carried.

Messrs. MacFarlane, Wilson and W. S. Dodds were appointed to audit the books for last year.—Carried.

Banking Institutions

Mr. Pousette brought up a matter that, he said, was of the greatest importance, and proceeded to point out that it was difficult for Canadian commercial enterprises to secure loans from the banks. The reason assigned by the speaker for this was the amount of money invested by the Canadian banks in other countries. The amount, he stated, at the end of February, 1907, invested outside of Canada was $90,000,000. He thought that, in view of the privileges granted them by their charters, they should be ready to assist commercial enterprises. "It is an outrage," said the speaker, "that the banks of this country should be permitted to invest such an enormous sum outside the bounds of this country, and then to tell the people of this country that they have not enough money to aid them in commercial enterprises." He gave notice that at the next meeting he would move that the following resolution should be passed: "That in the opinion of this Board, the Bank Act should be so amended as to provide that no bank shall employ, out of Canada, any greater proportion of its funds than an amount equal to the proportion of its capital stock and deposits held out of Canada, and that, for greater certainty, a definite percentage, having regard to the present States, be named as such proportions."

Mr. D. Hughes Charles pointed out that it was necessary for the Canadian banks to have a reserve in such a position that it could be called upon at short notice. This was the reason that so much money was invested in the United States, where it could be called upon at any time without having a bad effect upon the trade of Canada.

The Board then adjourned.

HIS TICKET TO ENGLAND WAS BURNED UP IN HIS POCKET

The Lindsay Post relates the following incident: John Dolan, a labourer of town, and a well-known expert in the fowl-plucking business at Flavelle's egg house, sustained a rather serious loss to-day in a rather unique way. He had purchased a ticket for passage to England, and had placed it in his vest pocket for safe keeping. Later, absent-mindedly, he placed his still hot pipe in the same pocket. When he came to look for the ticket he found that it had been almost entirely consumed.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN

Is Rivaled By Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Shooting the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide.

NEWSPAPER SAID SHE WAS DEAD AND TO BE ACCOMMODATING SHE DIED

Examiner Special.

Chicago, April 9.—A despatch from Evansville, Ind., says: Thrown into a state of nervous prostration by reading an account in a newspaper of her supposed death, Mrs. Louisa Duley, aged 49 years, expired last night. Through an error, the death of a woman of the same name was reported as having occurred as Mrs. Duley, aged 49 years, and as she read the story she fell from her chair to the floor. A physician was called, but was unable to learn the reason for Mrs. Duley's collapse. She became rational after a while, and, after talking a few minutes, began to cry, "I am dead! I am dead! I saw it in the paper!" and died in hysterics.

GEORGE STREET SOUTH WILL BE OPENED AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Obstacles in the Way Has Been Removed by Compromise With the Halpin Estate---$1700 Will be Paid for Their Property---Board of Works in Session Last Night.

One of the greatest obstacles in the way of the opening of George street south to Lansdowne street has been removed, and the extension will be carried forward as soon as possible. This was the determination arrived at at the meeting of the Board of Works Committee last night. The Council have hitherto met with an obstruction in connection with the property owned by the Halpin estate, over the value of which there has been argument for some time. The owners wanted $2,500 for the property, and the city was willing to give $1,500. The matter has now been compromised at $1,700.

Several other matters of importance were taken up by the Board. It was decided to pay Mr. Bogue the sum of $1,818, the amount awarded him by Arbitrator Spence.

There were present, Ald. Duncan, chairman; the Mayor, Ald. Wilson, McIntyre and Johnston, City Engineer Hay, and Street Commissioner Harry Evans.

Ald. Wilson moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that John Quartermaine be given permission to cut down a tree in front of his property.

A favourable report was read from the City Engineer on the request of a number of residents, asking for a wooden walk on Gilmour street, and, on motion of Ald. Wilson, the walk will be built.

Crossing on George Street

The Engineer did not report favourably upon the application of Mr. Dale for a crossing in front of his property on George street south, near McDonel's mill, stating that it would be an expensive piece of work.

After some discussion, it was moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that a concrete crossing should be built across George street at the northerly limit of Mr. Dale's property, and that a board walk be built south to Mr. Dale's gate.—Carried.

Dickson Co's Agreement

The agreement between the city and the Dickson Co. re new street through the property at the corner of Burnham and Hunter streets, which the company propose to open up for building purposes, was read. The company agree to grade and water table the street before the city takes it, and the city agrees, in return, to allow the company to fill the plan. The city will do the work and will be paid by the company.

The Bogue Award

The Mayor brought out the question of the Bogue award, stating that the City Solicitor had reported that the only thing the city could do was to pay the bill and get a receipt from Mr. Bogue.

Ald. Wilson moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue a cheque in favour of Mr. Bogue for $1,818.—Carried.

Opening of George Street

In regard to the opening of George street south, the Mayor said that one of the obstacles in the way had been the Halpin estate. Progress had been made lately, and the owners of the property had compromised and were willing to accept $1,700 from the city, and the estate to take buildings thereon away. The owners had asked once $2,500.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the Council be recommended to authorize the treasurer to issue a cheque to pay for the property on the understanding that the buildings be removed by June 1.—Carried.

On motion of the Mayor and Ald. McIntyre, the City Engineer was instructed to open George street to Lansdowne street as soon as the condition of the ground will permit, and that the owners of the property be notified of this step.

The Dredging

It was moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the Mayor, Ald. Duncan, and the City Engineer be a committee to arrange for the securing of dredgings from the dredge "Trent."—Carried.

Foremen Appointed

The appointing of foremen for the sidewalk, sewer and crossing construction was the next thing taken up, and there was considerable discussion as to the most satisfactory arrangement that could be made along this line.

It was moved by Ald. Wilson, seconded by the Mayor, that the sewers, sidewalks, drains and bridges be constructed during the season under the following foremen:

Sidewalks and concrete tops for bridges—Two gangs, one for long sections, the other for small sections of 500 feet and under, under the supervision of the Street Commissioner, assisted by J. Thirnbeck, as foreman.

Sewers—Two gangs, under W. H. White and M. Leary, foremen.

Concrete crossings—E. Johnston, foreman.

Ward No. 5 drain — R. Tivey, foreman.

Also, that the foremen be paid $3 per day on the certificate of the City Engineer, and that Jas. O'Brien be inspector of the Cedar street sewer, to be paid at the same rate.

Ald. Wilson moved, seconded by the Mayor, that the City Engineer and chairman be instructed to commence the Sherbrooke street sewer as soon as possible, and that W. H. White be the inspector, and that M. Leary commence as soon as he is finished with the Cedar street sewer, on the Parnell street and Park street sewers.—Carried.

It was moved by Ald. Wilson, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the City Engineer be instructed to report on all places where the Radia Railway Co. has not kept the street in good order.—Carried.

Ill Temper From a Bad Liver

Carlyle justly attributed the bad temper which made him a monster in the eyes of the world to a bad liver. Nothing makes one feel more miserable or more gloomy and discouraged than liver complaint, and consequent biliousness and dyspepsia and nothing so promptly and thoroughly sets the liver right and overcomes these ailments as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the great family medicine.

Fire and Water

By LOUISE J. STRONG.

Copyright, 1907, by P. C. Eastment.

The fever scorched him physically and befogged him mentally. He tossed in a hot, restless haze, at times babbling childishly of "mother"—the mother whose loss three years before had sent him to the far west to try to forget his homeliness. The struggle to master the new conditions attendant on ranch life had taken him ont of himself and done him good, and as success crowned his efforts dreams of a home again, made so by the presence of a sweet faced girl wife, lighted his toil.

They were only dreams as yet, for he held himself humbly and had hesitated to offer his love until he felt that his affairs were on a firm basis financially, as they would be when his present abundant crop was harvested.

In his partial delirium and hazy wandering he muttered now the long repressed confession, whispering it eagerly with feverish impatience for the response his heart hoped for.

At length the silence which lay like the pall of desolation upon the lonely little shack was broken by heavy footsteps on the planks at the door, and a burly fellow strode in with a noisy greeting: "Hello, Harris! Laid up, hey?"

The sick man roused to consciousness and smiled feebly: "How do, Lamson. Glad you came in. Yes, I've been laid up a bit—can't remember how long—fever muddles my head." His speech was broken and dragged thickly.

"Ain't wanting to eat much, I s'pose, and good thing that is, too, for an old bach that's got nobody."

Harris winced. Mother had been in his sick fancy so much and with such vividness that his bereavement seemed but a few days back. With an effort he replied:

"I want nothing but water, and Slade brings me a pailful mornings, when he doesn't forget, as he did today." He gestured toward the empty bucket on the chair beside the bed, but the visitor did not notice it—nor the longing in the fever red eyes and the cracked lips.

"Doctor, of course?" he intimated briskly.

"No: Slade wouldn't go for him, and no one else's been in."

"Slade wouldn't go! Ha, ha! Guess not much! You don't get the old ground hog that far from his hole back of the hill. Everybody's busier than in sheep shearing time, you know, harvesting their grain. Reason no one's been along, I reckon. I'm through in fine shape, I tell you, and I've promised myself and gang to Snyder for a week. And, man, you'd ought to be looking after yours. It's spoiling fast, I noticed." He laughed at the startled expression that widened the hollow eyes. "Forgot it, had you? Well, you want to see to it right away. I must mosey. I'm out on a sweet errand. Got my new house done. It's a beaut, too, and furnished tiptop. And now the cage is ready I'm going up to settle the date of taking home my bird. Lizzie's fought shy, but she'll pull steady when we're tied all right. Ha, ha!"

"Lizzie?" Harris repeated vaguely, his voice hesitating and troubled.

"Sure! Lizzie Bradley-Lamson. Kind o' tidy name, I take it; something like those swell New Yorkers. Ha, ha!" He roared boisterously at his flash of wit. "Well, hope you'll pull up soon. So long!" He stamped away, whistling, leaving the door open.

In the silence that again closed upon him Harris lay and stared out at the quivering heat waves and little dust eddies that whirled in at times, aggravating his burning heat and thirst. But he did not notice them. He was striving to steady his throbbing brain and analyse the torturing inner sense of pain and loss which now intensified his bodily distress.

The crop—the c-r-o-p—that was all right. It was great. He could put up the dainty cottage he had planned so often these last months, since the promise of early summer had shown such abundant fulfillment in the ripening fields. The crop—the crop! Who said it was spoiling? It was all right. He would begin on it today, when he had a drink. He could drink the well dry. He fumbled clumsily with the bedding and essayed to rise, but fell back inertly a little foolish smile on the parched lips. His head was so big! He had not known one's head could be so big and heavy. And the crop? The crop was all right. He would build the cottage—for—for Lizzie. Lizzie! He cried out hoarsely, with a pang of anguish at the sudden dull recognition of his loss. There was no Lizzie for him—none—none—nor had been. What mattered the crop? Let it spoil. What mattered anything now Lizzie—Liz-z-i-e—bird—cage—Lizzie Brad—Liz? He scowled impatiently. He could not get the name right. His head was so big. He was so hot—burning.

Mother! Where was mother? Was she in the fiery lake that Elder Watson had so scared the little boys with? He hadn't meant to be a bad boy—mother knew—she would keep him, but he was so hot—burning! Water, water! Lizzie—Liz—zie Brad—ley-Lamson! Lizzie Bradley? Lamson! The perplexed look deepened to a frown of pain and trouble. He had found her name, and as he drifted further and further from consciousness he carried her name with him back to little boyhood, tangling it with his brother's, but never losing it entirely again. Lizzie Bradley-Lamson—be careful Davy—mother said not to go so near the bonfire—but he did, Joe, the careless one—and now he was burning, burning—mother—Lizzie Bradley-Lamson.

"Oh, you poor, poor boy! Bring some water, quick!"

Did some one speak, or was it—again the little, foolish smile cracked the parched lips. He had known mother would come—she always did when her boys were hurt, even if they did it carelessly themselves—but she did not know how big his head was or she would not try to lift it. Oh, he was at the old spring drinking—drinking!

"He must not have too much at once, the poor boy!" A warm rain fell upon his face; the cup vanished; his groping, trembling hands could not find it. How could he have too much when he was burning? That wasn't fair, Davie, when his head was so big that he couldn't run.

"The brute—the perfect brute, to go off and leave him like this! Never even get him water!"

Was that father? No; Tige had not hurt him. It was the fire—and heedless Joe—where was the spring—and—the cup. There! Mother was bathing his burning head and face and neck, his hands and arms. He smiled at her and whispered "Good," and again the warm rain dropped upon him, and his big, heavy head was lifted and laid—why, it must be the cool, damp moss above the spring! It was heavenly! If it was not for the dreadful something that hurt so about Lizzie—Lizzie Bradley-Lamson—he could—Lizzie Bradley-Lamson—Liz.

"I don't know that any of us can say much for ourselves. Let such a sick man lie here alone for days—never come near him, so busy hustling for the dollars—but all the same, Lamson's a brute, with less feeling than a hog! And the thought that Lizzie'd—laugh!"

Lizzie—Lizzie Bradley-Lamson—Liz.

"Don't say that, Joe Harris! Can't you understand? Lamson lied!" Lizzie—Bradley—Lamson—

"Oh, never mind, mother. He's too light headed yet. But the fever is cooling, and the doctor'll be here soon. Look out yonder. Ben's got a crowd, all right! Joe's grain 'll be in the stack in short order, and it isn't hurt yet, not an atom, in spite of Lamson's know it all verdict!"

Lizzie Bradley-Lamson—he was hurt. Did Lizzie Bradley-Lamson—no, he wouldn't—wouldn't put out his tongue. It was too stiff and big, like his head. And he wouldn't have a spoon in his mouth.

"Here, young man, you take this! Swallow it. Do you hear? Some one shook him slightly, with the order, and he swallowed and grinned and said it was Davy's cough drops, and it was Lizzie Bradley-Lamson who—who made the fire. Was that little Sis who cried out sharply and sobbed? Davy mustn't hurt little Sis. He, Joe, was all right, only Liz-zie.

"Oh, shut up!" the gruff one commanded. "I'm the doctor, and I say for you to drop it and go to sleep."

There was mother again, with the gourd from the spring, and he drank and drank till they took it away, and then he slid down and down and out where there was only a cool, quiet blankness.

It was late the next day. The sun was sending its level rays across the door when Joe Harris came to himself and looked about with a calm and growing consciousness.

There was a faroff, cheery sound of busy machines. Through the open window he could see his fields swarming with men and teams. The food wagon and eating tent stood back by the well, the important cook bustling over a fire. This room was cool and fresh. Flowers stood upon his little homemade table with the doctor's medicine glass.

Bit by bit he studied it out, and as he recognized Mr. Bradley and the boys and other neighbors and Mrs. Bradley herself putting his freshly washed shirts upon the line his eyes filled, and he murmured a faint "God bless them!"

At the sound there was a stir by the head of the bed, and a girl with anxious eyes leaned over him and touched his forehead with a shy little hand.

He looked at her a moment; then he muttered feebly, questioningly, "Lizzie Bradley-Lamson?"

With a rush of tender tears she laid her warm pink cheek against his, murmuring: "No, Joe, dear; no! Lizzie Bradley Harris!"

WEAK HEART
SYSTEM WAS RUN DOWN

When the heart is healthy and performing its functions naturally, it should beat regularly seventy-two times a minute without causing its owner the slightest inconvenience or distress.

When it begins to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beat fast for a time, then so slow as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

The least excitement or exertion seems to affect it.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through unnatural action of their heart.

To all such sufferers

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

can give prompt and permanent relief. Mrs. F. Fletcher, South Ste. Marie, West, Ont., says: "I have been troubled for four or five years with weakness, and ran down system. My feet were always cold and I felt almost dead. My heart was weak and I was so nervous I could hardly walk across the street. I started taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using three boxes I felt much better. I continued their use until I had taken twelve boxes and I am now well."

Wonders of a Modern Factory

The Perfect Food Is Made In Absolute Cleanliness.

A visit to the greatest modern food factory is a revelation to anyone not familiar with the development of machinery in recent years. Such a visit verifies the claims of the manufacturers of Malta-Vita, that this perfect whole-wheat food is cooked, steamed, mixed, baked and packed in absolute cleanliness.

"Purity" is the watchword of this wonderful establishment. From the time the wheat is received in the factory until the finished product is shipped out to all parts of the world, Malta-Vita is not soiled by human hands. Machinery, clean, shining machinery conveys the wheat through all the long process, even to the packing and sealing of the air-tight, germ-proof, dirt-proof packages.

After the wheat has been thoroughly cooked and steamed it is mixed with pure barley malt extract and each grain of the malted wheat is rolled into a wafer-like flake. Then it goes to the great ovens where, under intense heat, it is baked crisp and brown—Malta-Vita, the most delicious, the most healthful food in the world.

Malta-Vita is always ready to eat. No cooking. No inconvenience. And you never tasted anything quite so good. All grocers, now 10 cents.

The Apathy of the Chorus Girl.

The ambitions of a chorus girl, as a rule, die young and as many refuse lines as accept them. There was a girl, one of four sisters who were all in the chorus of various musical organizations. One night at the Grand Opera House in New York the soubrette of the company was too ill to appear, and her understudy was also absent. In his predicament the stage manager appealed to this particular chorus girl to go on and read the lines as well as she could. The girl said she would not only read the lines, but could sing the songs as well, all of which she did, and did with confidence and ability, and for the first time in her life had a spotlight follow her about the stage and heard waves of applause rush over the footlights which were intended for her and her only. After it was all over she said quite casually to the admiring throng that surrounded her: "There's nothing in it, girls. I've been a chorus girl eight years, but I'm too old to be a principal. "I hope it'll never happen again."—From "Behind the Scenes," by Charles Belmont Davis, in Outing Magazine.

The Favorite Girl.

She is the girl who is not "too bright and too good" to be able to find joy and pleasure all over the world, says the Chicago News.

She is the girl who appreciates the fact that she cannot always have the first choice of everything in the world.

She is the girl who is not aggressive and does not find joy in inciting aggressive people.

She is the girl who has tact enough not to say the very thing that will cause the skeleton in her friends' closet to rattle his bones.

She is the girl who, whether it is warm or cold, clear or stormy, finds no fault with the weather.

She is the girl who when you invite her to any place compliments you by looking her best.

She is the girl who makes this world a pleasant place because she is so pleasant herself.

The National Capital.

It is claimed that Washington is the cleanest city in the United States. If they were so disposed the ladies might wear their best afternoon gowns on the street without having them soiled. The general cleanliness of Washington is due to the noticeable absence of factories with their soft coal smoke, and the asphalt streets are kept so clean that there is little dust or dirt in the air. An almost forgotten fact is that Washington was first called Rome, and a creek which flowed through the site of the city was spoken of as the Tiber. Oddly enough, the first owner of the land upon which the capital is now located was named Pope.

Spool Thread Numbers.

Spools of thread of different qualities are all numbered alike, irrespective of factory or maker. The reason for this is that the system of measurement of sewing cotton is practically universal, and when 840 yards of yarn weigh 7,000 grains (a pound of cotton) the makers mark it No. 1. If 1,680 yards of yarn weigh a pound it is marked No. 2, and so on, each progressive number signifying that 840 yards more are required to weigh a pound.

Lord Erskine.

From midshipman to lord chancellor is a very far cry. Lord Erskine, however, whom Lord Campbell once described as the greatest advocate of ancient or modern times, did not find much difficulty in reaching the Woolsack, although he started life as a "middy" and did not settle down to study law until he was twenty-five years of age. His defense of Captain Baillie, prosecuted for his exposures of gross abuses at the admiralty, raised him from an obscure lawyer to a foremost position at the bar, and thirty briefs were offered him before he left the court. From that time until he became chancellor in 1806 his career was marked by a long list of successes.—London Standard.

To Make Your Hair Curl.

A curious recipe for making the hair curl "naturally" is given in an ancient household notebook and is as follows: "In the early spring, when the sap of the wild grapevine begins to flow, take a bottle to the woods and tie it under an incision made in the vine, through which the sap may drip, and leave it there till it is filled. The same subtle chemistry which curls the tendrils of the vine will act upon the hair and twist it into softer rings than the ubiquitous hot iron or any of the patent curlers of the day. The sap should be allowed to ferment all it will before it is corked. When ready for use it should be rubbed into the hair with a soft sponge."

Scotch Bulls.

Two Scotchmen were discussing the relative merits of churchyards and cemeteries when one of them boldly expressed his aversion to the latter burial places in the remark, "I'd raither no dee ava than be buried in sic a place." To which his companion retorted, "Weel, if I'm spared in life an' health, I'll gang nearwhaur else."

AFRICAN WITCH DOCTOR

PEST WHICH THE WAR HAS NOT ELIMINATED.

Are Present In Every South African Village — Kaffirs Revel In Witchcraft—They Are Credited With Every Calamity—Their Influence Is Enormous, and They Are at the Bottom of All Mischief.

Among the innumerable pests with which the unpeaceful land of South Africa is so liberally cursed, the witch doctor must take high rank.

I, myself have known a great many witch doctors of all degrees, from Eupajina, the mighty rainmaker, who professed to control the seasons, down to petty local practitioners who could do little more than smell out wisards and arrange to poison their neighbors, but of the whole number I cannot remember one whom I regarded with anything but disfavor, says a London Mail correspondent.

Source of All Trouble.

Whenever there is trouble in a village it is always safe to blame the witch doctor, for if he did not actually plan it, he certainly assisted in the later stages. If anyone dies mysteriously, twisted up into a knot by one of those ghastly vegetable poisons so dear to the heart of the Kaffir, you may be sure the witch doctor supplied the dose. If a trader is boycotted, if his huts are burned and his cattle assegaied, it was the witch doctor who brought it about. If a mine suddenly ceases to get labor, if the boys run away without any apparent reason, it means that the place has fallen under the ban of these pests. If a tribe rises against the white man, it was the witch doctor who stirred up the passions of the people and who gave the signal for the first massacres.

Controls the Kaffir's Life.

The influence of these men is enormous, for witchcraft controls every action of a Kaffir's life, from the cradle to the grave. At his birth the local magician threw the bones to discover if it were auspicious for the new arrival to live. His choice of a wife, his journeyings and hunting, his seed-time, the sale of his cattle and his daughters, his friendships and his vengeances, all are determined by the will of the spirits as interpreted by the witch doctor, and, even after death, the ghost of the departed still requires the ministrations of its former adviser.

Witchcraft is the main interest in the native's life. He revels in it. It provides him with an unending source of conversation, adds zest to existence, relieves the otherwise impossible tedium of the daily round in the kraals. Go into the native districts, live among the Kaffirs, learn their languages, watch them in the fields, in the kraals, at the beer drinks, get to know them as intimately as possible for a white man, and I guarantee you will never come across anything in the least resembling the assegai-waving heroes of whom you read in the book. But, none the less, you will see many interesting things, learn many gruesome secrets, as you sit beside the fire at night and listen to those deep, guttural voices.

Witchcraft All the Time.

There will be no hint of noble barbarism, no high-flown sentiment, no longings for independence from patriotic reasons. It will be witchcraft, witchcraft, witchcraft, all the time. Grim stories of uneasy spirits, the restless ghosts of the unburied dead, who cannot sleep with their fathers, but wander perpetually on the mountain sides, tales of the hyena, the loathed and loathsome horse of the evil spirit; tales of the owl, the lion, and the snake, the sons of the evil spirits; tales of the eagle, the messenger of the departed. Then will come even grimmer stories still, a list of the wizards who have been smelled out by the witch doctors and removed by poison, by the assegai, or by the knob-stick, a long list this, an appallingly long one.

It is a hideous revelation at first, until you get used to it. Then you accept it as inevitable, as part of the Kaffir's very existence, and you realize that no legislation can ever stop it, for prosecution is useless where evidence is unobtainable.

In the Royal Private Apartments.

To many people the most interesting parts of Windsor Castle are the private apartments occupied by the late Queen, and also now by King Edward and Queen Alexandra. The suite is approached from a small circular hall, hung round with the late Queen's favorite family pictures, especially representations of all her children's weddings, which she always had painted as mementoes of the

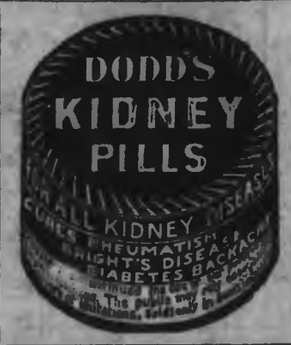
Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Mrs. H. A. Misener, Port Williams, N.S., says: "My son had a dreadful cough. It started in the fall and lasted all through the winter.

At last we became very much alarmed about it and started to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and before he had used one bottle his cold was completely cured."

Price 25 cents per bottle. Put up in a yellow wrapper. Three pine trees the trade mark.

Refuse substitutes. Dr. Wood's is the genuine.



deeply-interesting event. In this gallery she kept all her most prized possessions, one of which was a crystal case containing Gen. Gordon's Bible, open at his favorite chapter. The late Queen had always cherished the greatest admiration for Gordon, and was known to be deeply grieved over his fate. This Bible had been presented to her by Gordon's sister in private audience. Another possession most dear to her, which was always kept in a sort of oak shrine, and only opened and shown to her most intimate friends, was the beautiful statue in pure Carrara marble of herself.

£70,000 For Lifeboats.

Over £70,000 has just been bequeathed to the Royal National Lifeboat Institution. According to the will of the late Mr. Charles Carr Ashley, of Mentone, this great sum is to be devoted to the establishment and maintenance of five lifeboats, and the benefit of the widows and families of lifeboatmen who have lost their lives in endeavoring to save life at sea.

The conditions attached to the bequest are that the lifeboats shall be five in number and named the Susan Ashley, Charles Henry Ashley, Richard Ashley, William Cantrell Ashley, and Fifi and Charles; and that they all be first-class, without steam, and be stationed on the English and Welsh coasts.

To Make the Job Complete.

"I wish you would see what is the matter with this," said the customer, handing his watch across the showcase. "It has stopped. Perhaps there's a hair tangled up in the balance wheel."

The jeweler opened it, screwed his eyeglass into place and made the customary horrible grimace at the helpless watch.

"A hair!" he said. "There's a lock of 'em."

"Well, give it a shampoo."

Saved by Ghouls.

Misson in his "Medical Anecdotes" tells of a woman, the wife of a consul, who was buried alive in Cologne in 1577. She was dressed for the tomb in gay attire, with jewels, as on her wedding day. Robbers came at night and were taking the rings from her damp and swollen fingers when she suddenly sat bolt upright, stared at them and smiled. They fled in terror, and the lady rose and walked home, where she was received at first with fear, afterward with great joy. She lived many years afterward in perfect health.

His Definitions.

"Faith," said Brother Williams, "is de faculty what kin turn de song er a sawmill into de hallalulah er de angels."

"An' what is hope?"

"Hope is de faculty what keeps you lookin' fer something you never gits."

THE PRIME MINISTER.

He Is the Real Ruler of the Great British Empire.

The real ruler of the British empire is not the titular sovereign nor the hereditary nobility. It is the leader of the political majority, who derives his power solely from the direct vote of the people. The Prime Minister of England is subordinate neither to the King nor the House of Peers. Every man who shares with him in the work of the Government is his subordinate.

Following a general election the sovereign sends for a member of the majority party and instructs him to form a Government. This is one of those fictions of the constitutional authority of the sovereign to which the English people cling as to the heritage of tradition. The summons is delivered, but it is merely a form. The party leader is such not by the grace of the sovereign, but by the choice of the majority; not by election, but because he has the qualities of leadership.

Autocrat of the Empire.

The leader, having received the sovereign's instructions to form a Government, becomes by that mandate the autocrat of the empire. His power is absolute. Like the president, he may appoint whomsoever he pleases a member of his Cabinet, but, unlike the president, he is not influenced by geographical considerations, nor does he have to submit his nominations to the Senate. In both countries the members of the Cabinet hold office at the will of the appointing power, but the tenure of office is even more precarious in England than it is in the United States. Here a Minister may differ from the president on a matter of policy and not feel it incumbent upon him to resign. In England there can be no differences. Either a Minister agrees with his chief or he resigns.

Functions of Cabinet.

In England the Cabinet is an extra legal creation. Nominally it is one of the committees of the Privy Council, whose functions are to advise the sovereign, but this is simply a survival of mediævalism. The Cabinet is under the sole control of the Premier, unhampered by royal or other interference. But—another survival—no member of the Cabinet may make public any matter discussed by the Cabinet without the express sanction of the sovereign, and when the Premier issues a summons to a Cabinet council, which meets at irregular intervals, according to the exigency of public business, the Minister is "requested to attend a meeting of his Majesty's servants."

LADIES WANT CHINAMEN.

Ask the Legislature to Remove the $500 Poll Tax.

In the Chinese immigration question the British Columbia Legislature will, at its coming session, be confronted by one of the hardest problems ever set before a Canadian Provincial Government. Shall Chinamen be admitted to the Province, or shall they continue to be rigorously excluded? That is the question that must be answered by the Government, and right speedily at that; and whichever way it is answered it is bound to entail trouble and dissatisfaction, if not actual suffering.

When some three years ago the Government practically prohibited the immigration of Chinese by imposing a head tax of $500, the measure had the support of the majority of the people of the Province. At that time the only interests involved were those of capital and labor. It was to satisfy the laboring men, who saw the average of their wage rate cut down by the Chinamen, that the law was passed.

Needed As Domestics.

Now the women—the housewives of the Province are agitated over the question. The Chinese make unexcelled domestic servants—as cooks they are not to be surpassed by the best Parisian productions, and so long as immigration was unhampered the homes of British Columbia had at their disposal an unlimited supply of the best servants imaginable. Once the head tax was imposed that supply was cut off, and ever since that time Chinese servants have been growing more and more of a perquisite for the families of the wealthy only. Since 1903 the population of the Province has grown immensely; hundreds of new families have settled in the cities of the coast—Vancouver, Victoria, and New Westminster—and the demand for domestic servants has been growing greater and greater. The number of Chinese servants has, however, remained stationary, or grown less, for with the rise all round in the price of yellow labor many of the servants have preferred to leave their household positions and seek more remunerative employment.

Breaks Up Friendships.

The inevitable result of the increase in demand has of course been an increase in the average wage rate, and to hold a Chinese servant the housewife must now pay as much per week as she was in the habit of paying per month in the good old days. Even then she cannot be sure of holding her servant. Jealously she guards her treasure, hiding him from the prying eyes of neighbors, but, nevertheless, despite all her care, it often happens that by offers of higher pay and shorter hours a neighboring housewife will manage to charm him away. More friendships have been broken in British Columbia during the last year over Chinese servants than over anything else.

English Girls Marry.

Various attempts have been made to fill the deficiency caused by the shortage of Chinamen. Swedish and Norwegian girls have been imported, but beside the deft and silent Chinaman they appear clumsy and stupid. English girls have been sent out by various charitable organizations, but they have always persisted in getting married just as soon as they arrived on the coast. All possible expedients have been given a trial, and now the housewives of the Province are crying out for the Chinamen again.

Louder and more urgent for the past two years, have been growing their demands, but up to a few weeks ago the ladies had been restrained by husbands, brothers, and sons who hated the yellow man, and had no desire for his return. Now have the women of the Province shaken off the control of their lords and masters, and have commenced to work, and to work in earnest, for the abolition of the head tax. The ladies of Victoria have been the first to take the lead. A petition has been prepared, for presentation to the Government, asking that the head tax be taken off, and is even now being signed—a sort of declaration of independence of masculine rule—by hundreds of ladies. Other similar petitions are being circulated in Vancouver, New Westminster, and the other cities of the Province, and the whole will be submitted to the Legislature at its coming session.

Frozen In Solid Ice.

Letters from Ernest Leffingwell, geologist, containing the first news from the Anglo-American polar expedition, headed by Capt. Elmar Mikkelsen, since the expedition left Alaska, have just been received.

The letters were dated Nov. 21 and Nov. 23 and were carried over the icefields to Point Barrow, where they were delivered to the Canadian Mounted Police.

Mr. Leffingwell states that the ship, the Duchess of Bedford, was frozen in solid ice about 200 miles off Point Barrow and that the preparations at that time were almost completed for starting the expedition into the unknown country lying to the north early this spring.

Leffingwell says that, judging from the tides and from talks with the natives, the conclusion has been reached that a large island exists not far from the mainland. The party, he says, may not return for two years.

The weather was moderate at the time the letters were written. The entire party of 15 were in good health; experiments made by Dr. Howe in the use of vegetable foods demonstrated their inadequacy and the serving of meat to the men had been resumed.

The experiment was made in the belief that vegetable food would decrease the danger of disease.

Leffingwell says the letters may be the last to reach the outside world for two years, unless he succeeds in sending a couple of men next summer.

London's Rainfall.

If all the rain that falls in London in a year could be gathered and collected, the supply would amount to 40 tons of water for each person.

The French Census.

The French census, taken on March 4 last year, shows that the total population of France was 39,252,267, an increase over 1901 of 290,322.

London's fire brigade consists of 1,304 men.

Experience Appreciated by Peterboro's Citizens

J. W. Browett, Dr. of Optics of Philadelphia has during the past fifteen years visited the principal cities of the United States and Canada; conducting thousands of examinations as his records show, and teaching Opticians, Mr. Browett has now made Peterboro' his home, and the large number of Eye Examinations which he has already conducted for our citizens, is the best evidence that his knowledge and experience is appreciated.

THE FIRST LIGHTHOUSE.

It Was Built on the Island of Pharos, Near Alexandria.

The first lighthouse ever erected for the benefit of the mariners was that built by the famous architect, Sostratus, by command of Ptolemy Philadelphus, king of Egypt, between 285-247 B. C. It was built near Alexandria on an island called Pharos, and there was expended upon it about 800 talents, or over a million dollars.

Ptolemy has been much commended by some ancient writers for his liberality in allowing the architect to inscribe his name instead of his own. The inscription reads, "Sostratus, son of Dexiphanes, to the protecting deities for the use of seafaring people." This tower was deemed one of the seven wonders of the world and was thought of sufficient grandeur to immortalize the builder.

It appears from Lucian, however, that Ptolemy does not deserve any praise for disinterestedness on this score or Sostratus any great praise for his honesty, as it is stated that the latter, to engross in after times the glory of the structure, caused the inscription with his own name to be carved in the marble, which he afterward covered with lime and thereon put the king's name.

In process of time the lime decayed, and the inscription on the marble alone remained.

LONG AND SHORT DAYS.

Where the Sun Never Sets For Three and a Half Months.

The length of day or night a man prefers is merely a matter of choice and the ability to get to the proper place. If any one is not satisfied with what he gets at home there is an assortment of daytime which ranges from three hours' duration to three months and a half, from which he may take his pick. On the other hand, he can play the nighthawk for from two hours and a half up.

At Wanderbus, in Norway, the day lasts from May 21 to July 22 without interruption, and at Spitzbergen the longest day lasts three and a half months.

At Tornea, in Finland, the longest day has twenty-one hours and a half and the shortest two and a half.

At St. Petersburg and Toboisk the longest has nineteen and the shortest five hours.

At Stockholm and Upsala the longest day has eighteen and a half hours. At Hamburg, Dantsic and Stettin the longest day has seventeen hours and the shortest seven.

At Berlin and London the longest day has sixteen and a half hours and the shortest about eight.

Romance of Stocking Knitter.

Romance may certainly figure in many of the knitted waistcoats and gorgeous stockings worn by our undergraduates today, but these have not so romantic an origin as the first of these articles produced in England, for tradition has it that William Lee, who in the sixteenth century invented the knitting frame on which both stockings and waistcoats were produced mechanically, was driven to this piece of ingenuity by the cruel flouting of the lady he loved, who happened to be a stocking knitter. Enraged at his failure to make an impression on her heart, he sought to make it on her purse by killing her means of livelihood, and one is glad to read that all stocking makers combined to frustrate his cruel purpose, with the result that he fled with his invention to France, where he finally died of a broken heart, whether for love of his lady or of his spoiled invention tradition does not say.—London Chronicle.

A RACE OF SEAFARERS.

Some First Impressions of Newfoundland and People.

A feature of Newfoundland which strikes a newcomer wherever he goes about the coasts is the type of sailing craft affected by the inhabitants. All the sailing vessels, almost without exception, are schooners. They vary in size, they vary in finish, but they are all schooners. They are beautiful boats, and are evidently very serviceable. The majority of them are built, I believe, in Newfoundland, though a few may be built in Canada or the States. This is the kind of craft in which a large number of Newfoundlanders live during a big part of the year. They go fishing, they go sealing, they go trading and carrying freight in these boats. The inhabitants of Newfoundland almost all live on the coast; they almost all earn their living from or on the sea, and therefore live near it. Go where you will into the innumerable harbors, big and small, good and bad, and you find the little whitewashed wooden houses near the water's edge, and at the very edge of the water the landing stages built of fir poles, with the sheds on them in which the fish are prepared for export.

Superior Codfish.

When one speaks of fish in Newfoundland only one kind is referred to—that is, the codfish; any other kind of fish requires a specific name—but not cod. And when speaking of codfish I should just like to mention that the codfish caught here is quite superior to the same article in the Old Country. There is not the coarseness to which people there are accustomed. And the June codfish is the fish; then it is at its very best; and I understand that even when salted and dried it does not lose this superiority of flavor; even then, when cooked, it can be noticed that it is better than the fish caught at other times.

You will rarely find a Newfoundlander living inland. They are born and bred on the sea. If they do not go in schooners they go in small boats, and they go big distances and face dirty weather in these same small boats. They have a place for lighting a fire to boil water, etc. It does look somewhat alarming to see a small boat of this size bobbing up and down on the crests of big waves, with two or three men in her, and smoke issuing from somewhere aboard. There is no chimney or anything for the smoke to pass through. This alarming view of such an occurrence is not that of the Newfoundlander, of course. For a good part of the year these people are on the sea. What a nursery for sailors! What a recruiting reserve for our navy! Where in all the Empire have we such a field? When our home supply is exhausted where shall we look? In Newfoundland most men are sailors, and all are loyal and true to the old flag.

Attitude Towards Colonies.

Why is it that in the Old Country the general attitude of a large section of the people towards the various Colonies is one of superiority and patronage; an attitude which would be well expressed in the words, "Just take what you get and be thankful"? Neither governing party is more to blame than the other. Nor need one blame a political party alone. In social and club life at home one finds this same vulgar spirit. Indeed, it may even be that various vexatious and irritating steps taken by different Home Governments have had their origin in this prevalent clubland spirit. In any case, it is not in political relations alone that this attitude of many in the Mother Country finds expression. It is found in other relations. It is keenly resented, wherever found; and small wonder!

Kind and Simple Folk.

The people of Newfoundland are very hospitable and kind, and they are a simple folk. I have been entertained and treated as if I had been known for years to my hosts, instead of having suddenly dropped into their midst, and never before having been heard of by them. This is only one instance, but it is fairly typical. As one goes round the various harbors, one is impressed by the number of religious denominations in evidence, even in communities of small size. In a village of 300 people, young and old, more or less, you may quite likely find Methodists, Episcopalians, Salvation Army followers, and Roman Catholics. In some you may even find a fifth division, Presbyterians; but these latter are not as a rule very numerous, though theirs is quite a respectable total. In a few communities they may be the most numerous, but this is a rare thing to find. Frequently it is found that Roman Catholics are the sole inhabitants in one harbor, while in the next there are only Protestants; or when they both live in the same community, one section of the village is exclusively Protestant while the other is Roman Catholic.

'Possum Scared Elephant.

Size isn't everything, as the 'possum at the Toronto Riverdale Zoo doubtless could state, if its language were translatable. The once popular song had it, "Says the ant to the elephant, who are you shoving?" There was something of this nature at the Zoo recently when the 'possum strayed from its cage and nearly broke up the happy home of the elephant. The 'possum in its midnight ramble, so scared the big specimen of Elephas Africanus that the latter set up a dismal wail, and the dissembling little creature was fain to seek other shelter. This was no less a place than at the feet of the sleeping lioness, and when the keeper discovered the situation the lioness resented the keeper's intrusion on her domestic affairs. She evidently was pleased with the 'possum's trust, and wished to adopt the stranger. However, the 'possum was removed by means of a rake.

The Dreamland Train.

When I would go to fairyland,
Upstairs the station lies.
Just after dark the good train leaves;
An early start is wise.
I take a special sleeping car;
There is no fare to pay.
But mother dear collects a kiss
Before I start away,
And then she tucks me in my berth
And turns the light down low.
I always fall asleep before
The train begins to go.
Through all the night the train flies on;
It is a famous run.
And when the morning comes at last
I'm wakened by the sun.
And then I find I'm somehow home
And in my little bed.
Do you suppose 'twas all a dream,
As my big sister said?

SENATOR JOSIAH WOOD

Director of Record Foundry Co.

Senator Josiah Wood, of New Brunswick, well-known throughout Canada, is connected with several manufacturing concerns, the largest of which is the Record Foundry and Machine Co., of Moncton, N.B., and Montreal, P.Q. This important industry, established in 1855 by the late Mr. C. B. Record, on a very small scale, has grown to be one of the largest, if indeed not the largest, stove manufacturing concern in the Dominion of Canada, and sell from Halifax to Vancouver. Their "Calorific" and "Admiral" furnaces and "Penn Esther" ranges are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

LOW NECK CLAMS.

A Joke That Met a Man Who Had a Feeble Sense of Humor.

An ex-governor of Wisconsin, famous as a story teller, once rejoiced a company of friends with an account of his experience at a New Jersey clambake. At the clambake there were plenty of people who enjoyed the speech of the Wisconsin man, but there was one serious minded listener on whom it fell flat.

"I started off," said the ex-governor, telling the story, "by stating that I had eaten so many of their low neck clams that I wasn't in the least sort of condition for speechmaking. At that moment a long faced old man directly across the table scowled at me and said in a stage whisper:

"'Little neck clams, little necks, not low necks!'

"I paid no attention to him and went on with my remarks. After dinner he followed me out of the hall.

"'You're from Wisconsin, aren't you?' he asked.

"'Yes,' I answered.

"'Don't have many clams out there, I reckon?'

"'Well,' I said, 'we have some, but it's a good way to water, and in driving them across the country their feet get sore and they don't thrive very well.'

"'Why, man alive,' said he, 'clams haven't any feet!'

"Soon after that he buttonholed one of my friends.

"'Is that fellow governor of Wisconsin?' he demanded.

"My friend admitted that I was.

"'Waal,' said he, 'p'r'aps he may be a smart enough man for Wisconsin, but he's a good deal of a fool at the seashore!'"

TESTED HIS LIBERALITY.

And the Host In Turn Tested His Guests' Generosity.

A rather parsimonious gentleman got the better of some of his acquaintances, who were continually pestering him about his niggardliness. Goaded to desperation by their taunts, he one day invited his detractors to a dinner. When they made their appearance they were amply astonished at the magnificence of the treat provided. Apologies were tendered, and the miserly individual was warmly complimented as well.

"Now, gentlemen," said the host when acknowledging their compliments, "you have put my liberality to a test. I am going to try your generosity. I know a poor man who is very much in need of financial help through untoward circumstances, and I propose to raise a subscription in his behalf. See, I commence the list with 10 shillings. Will you help?"

Needless to say every one subscribed liberally, as no one cared to be thought more close fisted than the host, who, when he had collected all the money, coolly said:

"I thank you, gentlemen, for your sympathy, and now I think we are quits. You have paid both for your joke and your dinner. It was I who required the money."

Left Overing.

"Look here," exclaimed the angry man as he rushed into the real estate agent's office, "that ground I bought from you yesterday is thirty feet under water!"

"Pardon my oversight," apologized the gentlemanly agent. "We give a diving suit with each plot. I will send yours today."

Encouraging.

"Perhaps, doctor," said the sick man, "you'd better present your bill."

"No," replied the doctor. "I don't want to worry you with that now."

"Oh, well, if you think it's best!"

"Yes, I'll send it in to your executor in good time."

Cause For Alarm.

Benham—Don't worry if I don't get in early tonight. Mrs. Benham—I should worry if you did get in early. I should know there was something the matter with you.

HIGH GRADE TEAS.

Some That Never Get Beyond the Boundaries of China.

"Many of the highest grade Chinese teas never leave the country—that is, are never exported in commercial quantities," says a writer. "Tea specialists in Europe and America manage to obtain specimens through corresponding firms in Chinese export centers, but these samples are not for sale. These rare teas are preserved for occasional comparison and testing with the general commercial teas. They are known as 'unexported teas.' I have known of only one person outside of the tea producing countries who supplies the trade of the general public with specimens of the rare teas. His prices range from $75 to $100 a pound.

"As not even an expert can safely judge such tea by its appearance alone, it is necessary to taste it in the cup before purchasing. The vender can hardly afford to dispense this $100 tea gratuitously, so a charge of $1 to $1.50 a cup is made, and as a judiciously prepared infusion allows the making of about 200 cups from a pound of tea the profit from this tasting is almost gigantic. On rare occasions exceptionally valuable teas sold at auction in London have brought from $225 to $275 a pound.

"But these fancy teas—almost literally worth their weight in gold—are rarely seen by ordinary people. They are preserved in sealed glass jars in the safes of the tea specialists who own them. Such exceptional teas are worth the high valuation placed upon them."

THE WAITER.

An Enviable Job, His, According to One of the Profession.

"Why do the young men of America sneer at the waiter's calling?" said the quiet man in the black swallowtail coat. "A waiter can travel all over the world, become a superb linguist and easily earn from $25 to $50 a week. Yet the young clerk or salesman, with 'eight per' and no future, sneers at him.

"When I was a young chap my good mother wanted me to take a job in a department store selling collars. Not I. I said I'd be a waiter. And my mother was shocked.

"Yet look at me. As a waiter I travel wherever I wish. One winter I'm in Egypt, the next on the Riviera, the next in Rome. Spring finds me in Paris, and thence I leap the channel in time for the London season. In the autumn I am back in America again with full pockets.

"I have learned French, German and Italian. I have made friends with many rich, intelligent, amiable people. I have seen the world, and I earn $2,000 a year. Yet clerks and counter jumpers think they can sneer at me. They had better learn my trade."

She Had Many Suitors.

Napoleon III., when he was living in London; the Duke d'Aumale, Lord Beaconsfield and many other conspicuous figures of the nineteenth century are on record as having been among the suitors for the hand of Miss Burdett-Coutts, who afterward became baroness, and it is doubtful whether any woman ever received so large a number of matrimonial offers as the baroness. In fact, they became a positive nuisance, and in 1847 she was compelled to bring legal proceedings against a lawyer of the name of Richard Dunn, who, according to the terms of the indictment, had for eight years prosecuted her with most unwelcome attentions with a view to matrimony. Dunn was sent to prison for eighteen months, although there is no doubt that he was, while sane in other matters, perfectly crazy on the subject of Miss Burdett-Coutts, as she was then, and particularly on the subject of her fortune.

Time to Compromise.

In McIntosh county, Ga., there was a lawsuit about a cow. The cow was dead, but the lawsuit went on. It was decided by the justice of the peace, appealed, remanded, decided again and once more appealed and remanded. This went on until the case came back to the squire for the eleventh time. It was a jury case, and when the last trial was on the squire astonished the attorney by announcing an indefinite postponement, saying:

"This case has exhausted the whole jury venire of the county, and you will have to wait until the coming generation gets old enough for jury duty."

Then the litigants compromised.

Real Causes of Earthquakes.

While civilized man is trying to grasp the meaning of an earthquake the uncivilized of all ages have long ago resolved their doubts. In Mongolia it is the breathings and skippings of a huge frog that cause the mischief, in China a gigantic dragon, in India a world bearing elephant, in Celebes a hog and in other countries the scheme is varied by the introduction of a bull and a tortoise. Earthquakes in Siboria are believed to be due to the frolics of mammoths who live in the center of the earth, while in Vancouver island it is the spirit of evil with his marshaled hosts of all the wicked people who have ever lived.

HOUSEKEEPERS who are wise will not be persuaded into purchasing the unreliable baking powders which some dealers wish to sell for the sake of the additional profit derived therefrom. Crudely mixed from low-grade, impure ingredients, such powders cost but half as much to make as the highly refined, absolutely pure Royal Baking Powder, although retailed at the same price. They are unwholesome and lacking in leavening strength.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER gives the greatest value for its cost, and there is no other baking powder or leavening preparation that will give such satisfaction, or make such pure, wholesome and delicious food, or which in practical use will be found so economical.

A MEMPHIS LANDMARK.

The Famous Old Mart Where Slaves Were Bought and Sold.

Grim, unsightly, paintless, seamed and crooked throughout its masonry, there stands today an old brick building on Adams street, midway between Main and Second, about which clusters more of history and of change than can be compressed into song or story. It is situated just on the east of the alley midway between Main and Second streets and is used as a shelter for the city prisoners who are worked on the rock pile.

If you will take the trouble to step to the westward side of this old building, where it faces the alley, and glance up along its second story you may still discern the inscription, "Negro Mart and Livery Stable," or as much of it as time has not penciled out. The last letter of the word "mart" and the last letter of the word "stable" are gone. The others are dimmed with age and might pass unnoticed unless you look a second time.

Time was when this was a famous negro market. It was presided over in its time by no less a man than General Forrest himself. Thousands of negroes were bought and sold within its walls, and hundreds of thousands of dollars passed there from buyer to vender.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

FORCE OF GRAVITY.

What Our Average Man Would Weigh on Mars and on the Sun.

If the planet Mars is really inhabited the people who live there must be an exceedingly nimble race. The average weight of a man is about 140 pounds, but the force of gravity on Mars is so much less than on the earth that the 140 pound man would weigh only fifty-three pounds if he were transported there. With such light weight and still retaining the same strength, an individual would be able to run with the speed of an express train, go skipping over ten foot walls and do various other extraordinary things. On the moon a man would be even lighter.

But on the sun our 140 pound man would have his troubles. Instead of being an airy individual he would weigh in the neighborhood of a ton and three-quarters. He would probably have the greatest difficulty in raising his hand, for that member would weigh about 300 pounds.

Aluminium.

Aluminium, it is generally known, is a metallic element found in clay and is the same material of which rubies, sapphires, emery and alum are made. It enters into the composition of a large number of other materials, and it is estimated that in its various compounds aluminium forms about one-twelfth of the crust of the earth. Every brick in every building is said to be 30 per cent aluminium. It is produced by the decomposition of clay, which is a salt composed of silicic acid combined with aluminium. The aluminium is separated from the silica by the application of electricity. Separation has never been successfully done in any other way.

De Nerval's Pet Lobster.

A few days before Gerard de Nerval was found dead in a narrow, dirty street of Paris he was seen walking in the Palais Royal, dragging after him by means of a blue ribbon a live lobster. To a friend who accused him of madness he replied: "Why is a lobster any more ridiculous than a cat, or a dog, or a gazelle or any other beast that will follow man? Besides, I enjoy the company of lobsters. They are quiet; they are serious; they know the secrets of the sea; they do not bark."

ATTRACTIVE TRIFLES.

Include a Silk Frock in Summer Outfit—Short Walking Skirts.

A good silk frock is one of the costumes to include in the summer wardrobe. One of the most conspicuous of the spring silks is the pajah variety, which is shown in all the new color combinations and designs. There are fascinating plaids and stripes in two tones in wide and hair line effects.

Alice blue is again to figure as a modish color, and in silks this shade is especially effective with the new satiny sheen.

Apple green taffeta worn over a blouse of fine cluny lace in a deep cream shade is a charming summer gown. A touch of black on the bodice in the form of a butterfly bow is decidedly Frenchy on such a costume.

The plaited skirt holds its own for street wear on the new spring suits. It is cut three inches from the ground and is only objected to by women who do not wear dainty shoes.

Long skirts are worn on all house dresses. A train is not necessary, but a good sweeping length is needed.

The pony jacket, though seen in a number of smart models, is not as modish as it has been, but it will be ranked with the styles that are good taste. This means much, for it implies that whosoever wears it has not gone wrong in selection.

Here is a nightgown that is at once simple and dainty. It is sufficiently open at the neck to allow freedom, and its sleeves are wide and loose, yet there are no fussy details about the pattern. JUDIC CHOLLET.

MOTHER'S DAY OFF.

A Novel Plan That Worked Splendidly. Try It.

"I'd been married twelve years before it dawned on me that, with the exception of my wife, every one in the house had a day off once a week," said the man.

"I suppose a woman does generally have rather a bad time of it in that way," I remarked.

"I always had Sundays," he continued, "the children had Saturdays and Sundays, too, and one of the maids had every Wednesday, while the other was free on Thursdays. But when I began to think it over it seemed to me that the wife never by any chance got a day entirely to herself."

"What did you do?"

"We talked it over together first, then the wife consulted the maids, and as soon as they grasped the idea they were as keen as mustard to do what they could to help.

"Finally we decided that every Tuesday the servants, the children and I were to be left entirely to our own devices. The wife might stay in bed all day if she liked, go away, shop, visit, look in at a picture gallery or, in fact, do anything that she liked. She was to have absolutely no responsibility for meals or anything on that one day every week."

"And how does the thing work?"

"Splendidly! The maids rise to the occasion, and we vie with one another in trying to keep everything running smoothly and are as pleased as possible when we can manage to spend less than we are allowed for the catering department and yet show good results."

"And the wife?"

"Isn't like the same woman. I tell her she seems to have discovered the secret of perpetual youth, and she assures me that if only every woman in the world had a chance of trying the same plan there would be more happy homes around.

"After all, I don't see how any one can expect a woman to keep bright and happy if she never has any regular time to amuse herself, do you?"

"I think you've probably hit on an idea that heaps of people would be only too glad to put into practice if they only knew of it," I said. And so I pass it on in case readers may be interested.

CHILDREN'S FROCKS.

No Very Radical Changes In Young Folks' Attire.

In the spring showing of suits for girls are small black and white shepherd checks. The plaited skirt is again to the fore in tailored suits, and the coats differ from those of last year only in minor details. They fit closer both in the back and at the sides, with straight fronts closing single breasted. Last year the bias strapping concealing the seams was barely half an inch wide. This season some measure as much as one and a half inches wide, so wide that they resemble box pluits. The sleeves, in conventional coat style, end in silk cuffs, and the neck finish is a man's turnover collar faced with the black silk. The buttons are mostly of the material inclosed in black rims.

White frocks and suits hemmed with a color are again to be worn, headed with plain or fancy white braid, which effect brings the two colors into more harmonious relations.

Double skirts appear on many smart little white dresses hemmed with rose linen, the bertha and sleeves showing the same finish, the band of braid taking away the kimono-like appearance.

Soutache braid will never go out of fashion for trimming children's dresses until something equally appropriate is made to take its place. This year these braids are more alluring than ever. The pretty mercerized varieties are quite as good as the linen, being totally unlike the stiff cotton soutache of a few years ago. These braids must be shrunk before using, and especial care should be taken not to strain or pull when sewing them on.

A graceful little frock for a wee girl is pictured. The material is Persian lawn trimmed with embroidery and beading. The epaulets are of embroidered flouncing. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Monument to Her Oath.

In the market place of Devizes, a town in Wiltshire, England, there stands a monument erected by public subscription as a warning to falsifiers and irreverent persons, to commemorate the tragic death of a woman who, according to the inscription on the stone, was stricken dead as a punishment for her blasphemy. The story, as told among the country folk, is that one of the village women, becoming involved in a dispute over money with a merchant in the Corn Exchange, called on the Almighty, with a fearful oath, to strike her dead if her statement was false. As she left the market place on her way home she fell dead upon the spot where the monument now stands, her perjured gains being afterward found in her tightly clinched hand.

A Few Twists.

Some Sabetha girls once made up a list of definitions of Kansas towns, the names of the towns to be guessed from the definitions. Here they are: Very bowlegged, Great Bend; a thin monastery, Abilene; the price of yeast, Leavenworth; why Mrs. Smith went, Smith Center; descendant of a sneeze, Atchison; a sire, a circle and a term in singing, Paola; what the American needs to secure a duke. Price; what some folks have to do for a living, Russell; my first, not wearing the second, got the third, Manhattan.

Resentful.

Deacon — By the way, that man Brown you married a year ago, has he paid you your fee yet? Clergyman—No. The last time I reminded him of it he said I'd be fortunate if he didn't sue me for damages.

Blessed Privilege.

Daughter—What do you ask of me? That I shall marry Mr. Richhouse, that old fool? Never! I hate him! I loathe him! Mother—But, dear child, you can tell him all that as soon as you are married to him.

CHIC STYLES.

Demisaison Hats—Ostrich Boas Substitutes For Fur Neck Pieces.

Horsehair—crin—is to make many of the dressy hats, and some of these chapeaux can be worn as long as cold weather is with us. A delightful model in black crin is of the picture order trimmed with a soft scarf of black silk drawn through a large jet buckle. A handsome black ostrich feather hangs over the hair at the back.

The favorite feather boa is flat and ranges in length from fifty to seventy-two inches in length. This boa is to be much worn in the early spring, when the fur neck piece becomes too burdensome.

Among the new spring colors is rosewood, a mingling of brown and rose and coppery browns that are almost red and many shades of bronze.

Old kid shoes that will no longer take a restorer can be renovated by painting them with enamel—paint heel and all—and by sewing on a tiny bow of the same colored silk, and a very presentable pair of shoes will be the reward.

Pongee in the dyed shades is going to be very much worn, and a new tone of violet, known as parme, is peculiarly attractive in this material. The gown illustrated is carried out in violet pongee, with guimpe and sleeves of cream lace made over chiffon. The circular skirt is trimmed with violet velvet and tiny black braid.

HINTS FOR SPRING.

New Tailored Skirts—Checks and Men's Suiting Smart.

The new skirts on spring tailor mades are short, reaching barely to the instep in many cases, and have side breadths cut with a broad circular flare. The apron front gore is held flat with a shaped box plait made solid, with one or three side ones. The effect of this front is that of a V upside down with the sharp point lacking.

Men's suiting and "spring checks"—thin lightweight wools with much white crossed by delicate lines of color—are smart materials. On the less dressy frocks which the men's suitings turn out there is seldom any trimming other than that of stitching, but the more elegant checked stuffs are trimmed slightly on the coats with taffeta in black or colors, with narrow soutache outlinings forming flat neck and cuff adornments. The majority of the coats are collarless, and sleeves are of both wrist and elbow lengths. If the coat is loose, there may be a narrow vest.

The sleeves for practical coats and frocks are not nearly so big as those we have been wearing.

When it comes to the odd coat, it is plain that the tan covert has not lost its prestige. There are many smart models, both long and short, but the shorter coats fall barely to the hip or the least bit below it.

A perfectly new model for tan covert or any lightweight cloth which would do for spring is a long, tight fitting paletot, which on the figure is extremely fetching. The seams of these run in long straight lines.

The child's coat illustrated is a model especially adapted for pique or any of the summer fabrics. It is trimmed with embroidery on collar and cuffs, and the double breasted fronts fasten with pearl buttons.

Hen Bears Bacco.

Mr. Dilworth lost a hen five or six weeks ago at Moulton Sea's End, near Spalding, England. It had been found in a hovel behind some bags, where it was hemmed in. It was still alive, although, judging from its appearance it had no food during this long period.

MOONSHINING.

More Illicit Stills in New York City Than in Kentucky.

"Don't talk to me about moonshining in Kentucky," said the internal revenue agent. "There's more moonshining going on all the time in little old New York than could be done in ten Kentuckys. In the crowded sections of the east and west sides stills spring up right along and for awhile conduct a flourishing business in the low grade whisky they manufacture. You see, it doesn't take much trouble to equip a still with corn and yeast and start in to make the mash, which is finally turned out as a pretty poor sort of whisky. The great difficulty is in getting rid of the peculiar smoke and odor from the stills without exciting suspicion. This is usually attempted by running the still in connection with a dye shop or some other chemical enterprise as a blind. We keep watch on all such establishments and have the town well covered by sharp eyed and sharp nosed agents besides. We are constantly arresting these small moonshiners and sending them to jail. But enough spring up in their places for you to say with safety that, as I say, there's more moonshining going on in New York city right along than there could be in ten Kentuckys.

THE PIANOFORTE.

A Direct Descendant of the Clavichord and Harpsichord.

The pianoforte was directly evolved from the clavichord and the harpsichord. In 1711 Scipione Maffei gave a detailed account of the first four instruments, which were built by Bartolommeo Cristofori, named by him pianoforte, and exhibited in 1709.

Marius in France exhibited harpsicherds, with hammer action, in 1716, and Schroter in Germany claimed to have invented the pianoforte between 1717 and 1721. Marius at first was generally credited with the invention, for it was not until 1738, when Cristofori's instruments had become famous, that the Italian advanced his claim, and it was in 1763 that he brought forward the proof of his contention.

Pianos of that period were shaped like the modern grand, the first square piano being built by Freiderica, an organ builder of Saxony, in 1758. The first genuine upright was patented in England and the United States by John Isaac Hawkins, an Englishman, in 1800.

Queer Timekeepers.

To ascertain the time at night the Apache Indians employ a gourd on which the stars of the heavens are marked. As the constellations rise in the sky the Indian refers to his gourd and finds out the hour. By turning the gourd around he can tell the order in which the constellations may be expected to appear. The hill people of Assam reckon time and distance by the number of quids of betel nuts chewed. It will be remembered how, according to Washington Irving, Governor Wouter van Twiller dismissed the Dutch colonial assembly invariably at the last puff of his third pipe of tobacco. A Montagnis Indian of Canada will set up a tall stick in the snow when traveling ahead of friends who are to follow. He marks with his foot the line of shadow cast, and by the change in the angle of the shadow the oncoming party can tell on arriving at the spot about how far ahead the leader is. Doubtless the first timekeeper was the stomach, which notified its owner when the hour for a meal arrived.

Coughed All Night, Could Get No Sleep

COLDS ON THE CHEST WOULD YIELD TO NO TREATMENT UNTIL WE USED

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Overwhelming evidence from the people of Canada attests that there is no treatment so effective in the cure of bronchitis and cold on the chest as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

This is positively proven in two ways. First, by the extraordinary increase in sales and secondly by hundreds of such letters as this which follows:—

Mr. James F. Thompson, Yonge Mills Leeds Co., Ont., writes:—"Last winter my two boys were so bad with colds on the chest that they coughed all night and we could get no sleep or rest. Several cough remedies were tried to no avail until I was told about Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and this treatment soon cured them. It is invaluable as a cure for colds on the lungs and bronchitis."

Parents who make a practice of keeping Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house have at hand the most certain means of curing coughs, colds, croup and bronchitis, and positively preventing more serious disease. It is sometimes forgotten that few ailments possess more possibilities of danger than a common cold.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine was especially prepared for the children by one of the most skilled and conscientious doctors that has ever practised medicine.

Experience taught Dr. Chase that some of the simple products of the vegetable kingdom possessed most extraordinary curative properties, and he succeeded in so combining these in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as to make a medicine that is at once pleasant to the taste and wonderfully effective.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle.

THE NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL MET

Many Matters of Importance Considered by the Governing Body of That Council.

THE RAILWAY CROSSINGS

The North Monaghan Township Council met in the Town Hall at 2 p.m. on Monday, April 8th.

All the members were present and the Reeve presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting were approved and signed.

Accounts were handed in from:—The Mann Lumber Company, material for Town Hall, $19.49; Messrs. Lynch & Sanderson, work, repairing town hall; $9.75.

On motion of Messrs. May and Howden these accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

Communications were presented and read from:—

D. W. Dumble, of Peterborough, enclosing a petition from A. Cummings and seven other ratepayers in the township, asking to have Cottesmore street graded and put in shape for public traffic.

From Timothy Hurley, asking the township to open a street through his property as he proposed to sell it off in small building lots.

A communication was also read from A. D. Cartwright, secretary of the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada, enclosing a copy of an order of the Board in relation to the Grand Trunk Railway sliding crossing Lansdowne street to the property of the Toronto Real Estate Company and the Brinton Carpet Company.

The clerk reported having written to the C.P.R. Superintendent as directed at last meeting re the crossings on 11th concession and read a letter in reply from Mr. Nelson.

Mr. Nelson stated that while the crossings named might be somewhat dangerous, yet no brushwood or trees were allowed to grow upon the right of way. However, he would be ready to co-operate with the township in having the crossings made more safe for public traffic, and suggested that perhaps one of the crossings might be done away with by closing the highway along the west side of the railway track and enclosed a plan of the proposed change for the consideration of the council.

Mr. Charles O'Reilly, of Norwood, representing the Good Roads Company, and Mr. Hampson, representing the Sawyer & Massey Co., of Hamilton, attended the meeting and in addressing the council set forth the advantages of their respective rock crushers and other road-making machinery.

It was moved by Messrs. Howden and Morrow, that the clerk be hereby directed to examine the registered plans referred to by Mr. Dumble, as showing Cottesmore avenue to be assumed by the township as a public thoroughfare and to report thereon to the council.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Morrow, that the clerk is hereby directed to inform Mr. T. Hurley that upon the production by him for the use of the council of a plan, prepared by an Ontario land surveyor, showing the proposed subdivision of his property and all streets thereon, then the council will consider the advisability of assuming those streets as public thorough fares.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Morrow, that the clerk is hereby directed to acknowledge the receipt of the order by the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada in reference to the railway sliding on Lansdowne street.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Howden and Morrow, that a committee consisting of the Reeve and Councillors May and Dobbin, are hereby appointed to investigate the proposition of Mr. J. R. Nelson, re altering the road along the C.P.R. track on concession 11.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Dobbin and Howden, that a committee consisting of the Reeve and Councillors Morrow and May, are hereby appointed to investigate the complaint of Mr. J. Succee in regard to the overflow of water upon his property in the 11 concession).—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Howden and Morrow, that the whole council be hereby appointed a committee to consider the question of purchasing a rock crusher, the committee to meet in Peterborough on Saturday, April 13th, next.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Howden and May, that the clerk be hereby instructed to notify the road commissioners to not undertake the regular road work, pending a decision by the council as to making some changes in the system of carrying on road construction and repairs in the township.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Howden and Dobbin, that the clerk be hereby directed to render an account for gravel and stone to all parties taking such and who have not as yet paid for the same and require immediate payment therefor.—Carried.

The clerk then submitted By-laws, Nos. 581, 582 and 583. These bylaws relate to the division of the township into road divisions, etc., the fixing of the number of statute labour days against each person assessed and the commutation of statute labour of the same at 75c per day. This re-enactment was made necessary through loss of the originals.

Council then adjourned until Monday, May 27th to meet in the town hall, at 2 p.m.

POPULAR TEACHER WAS HONOURED

Mr. R. H. Leighton Was Presented With Fountain Pen and Address by Sunday School Class.

Examiner Special.

Norwood, April 9. — Mr. R. H. Leighton, who has accepted a position in the High School at Prescott, left for that place on Saturday. Mrs. Leighton, and daughter, Clarice, went to Brampton, where they will remain until Summer, before taking up residence in Prescott. On the eve of their departure, the members of Mr. Leighton's Sunday school class met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Stevenson and presented him with a pearl handled fountain pen, accompanied by the following address:

Mr. R. H. Leighton—

Dear Sir, — We, the members of your Sunday school class, with which you have been so closely identified during the term of your residence in Norwood, feel that we cannot let you leave us without expressing our deep appreciation of your work. Your kindness has won our affections; your faithfulness as a teacher, has inspired us also to be faithful in our attendance at the school, and your presentation of the lessons we have studied together, has been so attractive and impressive that none could fail to derive great and lasting benefit. We are very sorry to lose you and your place will not be easily supplied.

We ask your acceptance of the accompanying small gift as a souvenir of our five years' associations. We wish you and yours every happiness in your new home, and would repeat the prayer offered when you took leave of the school last Sunday: May you still be blessed of God, and continue to be a blessing in the years that are to come.

Signed on behalf of the class,
Annie Birt,

OMEMEE EXPECTS LINE TO C.P.R.

Village Wants Connection With the New Line—Factories are Busy and Easter Holiday is Over.

HAS LEFT FOR PETERBORO'

Omemee, April, 8.—The Easter visitors have all returned.

Omemee High School opened to-day with a large attendance.

Many of our citizens went to Peterborough during Easter holidays on business and to visit friends.

Mr. John Tisdale, one of our old and enterprising citizens will open in Peterborough a bakery and confectionery store and will be sure to get his share of trade.

Our sawmill is turning out 8,000 feet of lumber daily.

Pigeon River is opened up for about 4 miles north and many have been testing their canoes and yachts already.

Recent reports from Birtle and other parts of Manitoba are most encouraging. An enormous yield of grain is reported and none have suffered from coal famine.

There is a large amount of grain chopping for stock been done by farmers who have been banking lots of money from the proceeds of stock sales.

The new line of C.P.R. will run about four miles north of us and there is a probability of a switch being placed at our wharf, half a mile down the River.

The churches were largely attended during Easter Sunday. The musical services were very attractive. The Anglican church had the ministers of other denominations to assist.

Rev. Mr. Peakover preached by request, on "Predestination" in the Presbyterian church, on Sunday, handling the subject in a most masterly style.

George English, proprietor of the Omemee planing mill and sash and door factory is turning out a lot of material, and the noise of his gasoline power keeps the village alive.

Several new residences are in contemplation.

Thos. Newman was married on last Wednesday to Mrs. Post, relict of the late John Post. The marriage ceremony was performed at the parsonage by the Rev. Francis Johnston, in the presence of a few intimate friends. The band serenaded the bride and groom and were handsomely rewarded.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,
(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

City Has Nearly 30 Miles Of Concrete Sidewalks Now Laid

City Engineer's Annual Report Gives Interesting Information Concerning Work Done on the City's Streets---Over $18,000 Spent During the Past Year by Department in Charge of City Engineer.

DETAILS OF THE WORK GIVEN IN THE ANNUAL REPORT

Some Features of the City Engineer's Report.

$18,785.52 expended on the streets during 1906.

Of this amount $7,068.88 was spent on general street repairs.

Concrete crossings, a special work, were constructed at a cost of $996.00.

During 1906, 4.05 miles of sewer were constructed in the city. The total length of sewers now constructed is 19.75 miles.

Last year was a record for concrete sidewalks construction, the report showing that 6.4 miles were laid, at a total cost of $19,989.81.

The amount of cement used in sidewalk and crossing work was 3,886 3-4 barrels.

At the present time there are 26 1-2 miles of concrete walks in the city, and 24 3-4 miles of wooden walks yet to be built in concrete.

The increase in the number of poles on the streets was referred to in the report as a serious matter, and one which the council should consider.

The Street Inspector's report, which forms a part of the Engineer's report, states that the cost for snow-cleaning during the past year was $847.71, as compared with $2,260.21 in 1904-5.

The City Engineer's report, which has been handed into the council, and which will be taken up on Monday night at the meeting of the council, gives a very large amount of information, which will, no doubt, be read with interest by the citizens generally. Mr. Hay has prepared a comprehensive resume of the work done in his department during the past year, and the figures give a good idea of the manner in which the money has been expended upon sidewalks, sewers, etc.

The amount of sidewalk built during the year was large and over half the sidewalks of the city are now built in concrete, and the work will be steadily carried on this year.

Expenditure

The report showed that the appropriation for expenditure on the streets and bridges account for the year, was as follows:

Original appropriation	$17,000
Supplemented by...	1,500
	$18,500

This amount was exceeded by $288.52, making the total expenditure, $18,785.52.

Sewers Constructed

The statement of sewers constructed showed that 49 sections of sewer had been built during the year, some of the contracts being let and work commenced in 1905, of which 2.40 miles were laid in 1905, and 4.95 miles in 1906. The total length of sewers now in use in the city is as follows:

Ninety-one private connections with the sewer system were made in addition to 451 included in contracts, making a total of 542 in 1906.

Surface Drainage

A 24-inch cement pipe was laid to carry the water from Mason's creek, from the corner of Aylmer and along the north side of Mc-Donel street and the east side of Bethune street, to the creek at Murray street, with catch basins at four places. The work was done by day labour and cost $1242.79.

The River Front

The report referred to the river front, stating that the dredging in the river commenced in October, 1905, by the Dominion Government, was continued through the season of 1906. By an arrangement with the Department part of the dredged material was deposited in the basin between the C. P. R. spur line and the west shore. F. J. Conroy was the contractor to deposit the dredging at the rate of 13c. per cubic yard. At the end of the season 13,000 cubic yards were in place. The contract will be continued during the coming season; $1348.97 has been paid the contractor, and a drawback of 20 per cent. retained until the completion of the work.

--A SKULL--

Found In Central Park Yesterday

IN SCHOOL EXCAVATIONS

Gruesome Discovery Made by Men Digging for Foundations of the Collegiate Institute.

A somewhat ghastly discovery was made yesterday, afternoon, by the men at work upon the excavation for the new Collegiate Institute, in Central Park, when the plough turned up a skull. The ground was formerly a cemetery, and many of the pioneer residents of the city were buried there. When the new cemeteries were opened many of the bodies were removed to them, but there was a large number left there, and it is probable that other discoveries of this kind will be made before the excavation work is finished. The skull was found about two feet from the surface of the ground.

This morning another relic of the dead was discovered when a thigh bone was uncovered.

The bones will be collected and buried somewhere else.

IMMIGRANTS THE VICTIMS

Broken Rail Causes Serious Smash-Up Near Chapleau Yesterday—Tourist Passengers Killed.

Examiner Special.

Montreal, April 11.—According to an official statement issued by the C. P. R., fifteen lives were lost in the disaster to the C. P. R. westbound express yesterday near Chapleau, nine adults and six children. Most of the dead were from England and are believed to have been occupants of the tourist car. The train, it is stated, was running at the usual rate of speed, when about twenty-two miles west of Chapleau it was partly derailed by a broken rail. Five cars ran down an embankment and caught fire, it is said, from the cooking range, and the dead were all either killed outright or cremated. Women and children were the principal victims, only three men being mentioned in the list of victims.

Ald. Morgan's Italian Tax Was Handlec Without Gloves

Trades and Labour Council Call it a Blow at Personal Liberty---Approved of Council's Action in Regard to Day Labour.

A meeting of the Trades and Labour Council was held last evening in the Labour Hall, George street. President John Alexander occupied the chair, and there was a good attendance of delegates from the different organizations in the city. The meeting was an interesting one, several splendid addresses being given on the different questions dealt with.

On motion, it was decided to defer the election of officers until the next meeting of the Council. President Alexander, who was a delegate from the local Council to the Labour Convention in Toronto on Good Friday, presented his report, and Mr. Jos. Crowe, who represented the Moulders' Union at the convention, also spoke in reference to the great [illegible]

The report of the Legislature Committee was an interesting and important one.

Ald. Morgan's Scheme

Ald. Morgan and his Italian tax scheme was handled without gloves during the evening. The question was characterized as a blow at personal liberty.

The question of postal delivery was also introduced during the evening and the secretary was instructed to communicate with Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., in order to ascertain if any action had been taken on the largely signed requisition which had been forwarded to Ottawa.

Before the meeting closed Mr. T. J. Begley, president of the Typographical Union, was given permission to address the meeting in regard to the label campaign inaugerated by the I. T. U., in the United States and Canada. He asked the assistance of the different labour organizations in the city in order to make the campaign more effective as far as this district was concerned.

PETERBOROUCH METHODIST PREACHERS WHO TAKE PART IN ANNUAL CONFERENCE

REV. H. M. MANNING, Charlotte Street Church.

REV. J. G. LEWIS, Mark Street Church.

HOW BACHELORS IN PETERBORO' IN 1877 FOUND THEIR WIVES

While tearing down the ancient building at the rear of the Crown Hotel, an old Examiner was unearthed from beneath the floors yesterday, which dates back to September 8, 1887, and which contained a small advertisement of interest, re-printed below. The paper was picked up by Mr. J. W. Morden, who is assisting in the repairs, and had belonged to Dr. Bingham, whose name appeared across the corner. The item is of special interest to the men, showing how, in the olden days, bachelors were accustomed to find their wives.

"Personal to the Ladies.—Wanted, by a middle-aged, temperate, good-looking and respectable gentleman, with means, to correspond with a maiden or widow lady between the ages of 20 and 40, with a view to matrimony: the lady must be of good disposition, wealthy, respectable, and have good common sense, not foolish pride; gentleman is tall, has brown hair, fair skin, grey eyes mixed with blue, and weighs 170 lbs.; does not snuff, chew or smoke tobicco; does not swear, play cards, dice, or any other games of chance; does not bet on horse races, or any other system of gambling; is neither poor nor rich, learned nor unlearned, saint nor devil, hypocrite nor sycophat, spendthrift nor miser; no bigot in religion; no tyrant in politics; a man of few words; kind, affectionate, even disposition; loves peace and quietness; loves home and its associations; loves ideas and things out of the track of custom, and in many ways old and origianl; shy, bashful and modest as a woman; reliable and satisfactory references given and required; photos exchanged. Address, one week, to Box 288, Peterborough."

PETERBORO' PREACHERS WILL TAKE PART IN CONFERENCE

Sessions of the Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference Will be Held in Bowmanville, Commencing on June 5th.

A LENGTHY PROGRAMME

The programme of the annual sessions of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist church, published in this week's issue of the Christian Guardian, shows that the Peterborough Methodist preachers will take prominent parts in the sessions. The Conference will be held this year in Bowmanville, and will open on June 5th, the Stationing Committee to assemble two days earlier.

The first day, June 5th, will be devoted to Sunday schools and Epworth Leagues, and the chairman of the night meeting will be Mr. R. W. Clarke, of Millbrook, president Ontario Sabbath School Association. On the following day which will be the Missionary Anniversary, the chairman will be the Rev. Dr. Shorey, formerly pastor of the George street church. Addresses on Missions will be given by N. W. Rowell, K.C., and Rev. E. E. Shore.

On Friday evening the reception service, in many respects the most important function in connection with the conference, will be held. The president of the conference will preside and addresses will be given by Rev. H. M. Manning, of the Charlotte street church, and Rev. J. P. Wilson of Belleville, a former Peterborough pastor.

On Sunday afternoon in the Conference church, a special Sunday Sunday school service will be held, and at it an address will be given by Rev. J. G. Lewis, pastor of the Mark street church.

The conference will continue for about ten days.

A New Oddfellows Lodge To Be Instituted Soon

Members of Local Lodges Will Put on Degrees at Marmora—Mr. J. A. Tully Organizing New Lodge.

CHARTER LIST OF THIRTY

A new Oddfellows' lodge will be instituted in Marmora, through the efforts of Mr. J. A. Tully. A charter list of thirty members has been secured and the institution of the lodge will take place on April 24th, when the initiatory and first, second and third degrees will be put on by a degree team composed of members of the two local Oddfellows' Lodges.

Additional interest centres in the report of the institution of this new lodge by reason of the fact that it is being formed in this district during the term of office of Mr. W ifill, as District Deputy Grand Master.

At the meeting to-night of Peterborough Lodge the members of Otonabee Lodge are requested to be present and make final arrangements for the institution of the new lodge. It is probable that a number of members of the local lodges, in addition to those on the degree team will go to Marmora for the event, and it is considered probable that a special train may be run.

Considerable interest is being taken among the Oddfellows of the city and a number will take the trip on the 24th.

Professional Hockey Team For Peterboro' Next Winter

If the People of the City Look Favourably Upon the Project---Will be One of the Strongest Pro. Teams in Canada---Opinion of the Public is Awaited.

Peterborough will in all probability be represented by one of the strongest professional hockey teams in Canada next season. There have been a number of gentlemen very well known in hockey circles in the city during the last few days looking over the field, and they have come to the conclusion that the proposition would be a profitable one. If the people of the city look favourably upon the idea there will be found an all-star team here next winter, one that will make the best in the country sit up an take notice. What is desired now, however, is to get the opinion of the hockey-loving public on the subject.

JURY IN THAW CASE REACHED NO VERDICT

After Having Been Out All Night and Part of To-day, They Still Fail to Come to a Decision—A Disagreement is Expected.

MANY RUMOURS ARE OUT

J. E. Heintz Special

New York, April 11. — The jury in the Thaw case has so far been unable to agree on a verdict. After being out all night they returned to the court room about 10.30 this a. m., and asked for six exhibits, including the Longfellow letters, the Comstock letters, Harry Thaw's will and a diagram of the Madison square roof garden.

They then had read to them the testimony of Meyer Cohen, witness for the State, who testified as to having seen the shooting, and as to Thaw changing his course while leaving the roof garden so as to walk past Stanford White. The testimony of Paul Broody, fireman at the Garden, was also read to the jury. Broody is the man who took the revolver away from Thaw.

The jury retired, and up to 2 p.m., when they went to lunch, had arrived at no verdict.

All kinds of rumours have been floating about and have been causing much confusion. Pittsburg had a report of Thaw's acquittal at 10.30 this a.m., which was afterwards denied.

About 12.30 a report of acquittal was again flashed from one end of the country to the other, some papers even getting out extra editions giving the news, but this could not be confirmed for an hour when it was denied.

ACCEPTED RESIGNATION OF REV. DR. TORRANCE

On the Last Sunday in June He Will Complete His Pastorate of St. Paul's Church—Presbytery Met This Morning.

OTHER BUSINESS DONE

At the special meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery this morning the resignadtion of the Rev. Dr. Torrance as pastor of the St. Paul's church was accepted. The resignation will take effect on the last Sunday in June and on the first Sunday in July the pulpit will be declared vacant by the Rev. Dr. Marsh, who was appointed Interim Moderator.

A large delegation from St. Paul's congregation was present in connection with the resignation and were heard at length.

Addresses were given by Messrs. E. S. Clarry, D. H. Moore, Wm. Menzies, R. W. Grubbe, Dr. Carmichael, R. F. McWilliams, A. Hall, W. H. Hill, G. M. Roger and Robt. Harrison.

After the addresses were concluded it was moved and seconded that Dr. Torrance's resignation be accepted to take effect on the above mentioned date and the motion was carried.

Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. uAdrew's, entered his strong dissent against the action taken by the Presbytery in receiving the resignation.

About eight or nine ministers from other churches applied to the Presbytery for admittance and their names and qualifications will be handed in to the General Assembly for consideration.

The following ministers were in attendance: Revs. A E Camp, Moderator; J G Potter, McLennan, Wm. Johnston, Dr. Marsh, J A G Sterling, A Bright and D A Thomson, Clerk.

The question of giving him a retiring allowance was left over for the consideration of the congregation of the church.

READY-MADE HOUSES ARE THE LATEST INNOVATION

Buildings Which May be Erected by Unskilled Workmen---Lindsay Firm Gets Order for Fifty of These Houses.

BE A GREAT CONVENIENCE

Continued use has made us accustomed to ready made clothes, but ready made houses are something new. It appears, however, that they are the latest style, a Lindsay despatch announcing that the Kennedy & Davis Milling Company have recently received an order for fifty ready made houses for the West.

The building are made of dressed lumber, and in sections as to be readily put up without skilled labour. The size is 14x18, with a 7 ft. wall and a pitched roof with suitable sills, etc., making a strong, substantial building. They will have windows, door and a partition to make a bed room, and would make very neat summer cottages.

The introduction of this class of houses may help to solve the problem which almost every city is up against, that of housing the people who are coming in from the country and from the ranks of the immigrants.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN DRUG STORE OWNERSHIP

Mr. A. J. Johnston Buys Drug Business Conducted Successfully for 22 Years by Mr. John Nugent.

LONG ESTABLISHED BUSINESS

When Mr. John Nugent's drug store is removed from his present stand to the one now known as the J. Long confectionary store, 386 George street, opposite Mr. Cressman's dry goods store, there will be a change in ownership—Mr. A. J. Johnston, who has been in Mr. Nugent's employ for 17 years, will then take charge. The store will be known as the "Nugent Drug Co," A. J. Johnston, proprietor. Mr. Johnston, who is a native of Peterborough and has spent most of his life here, is well and favourably known throughout the city and district. He learned the drug business in the Ontario Drug Store, known as Dr. Kincaid's, in the building now being fitted up as the Dominion Bank. After graduating in pharmacy, he spent ten years in Manitoba. Then for a time he lived in Detroit, where he owned an drug business until the death of his uncle, Mr. Geo. Johnston, late chief constable, when he moved back to Peterborough, shortly afterwards entering the employ of Mr. Nugent, with whom he has remained up to the present time. Mr. Nugent not only disposes of his stock and good-will, but also the formula of all his celebrated preparations, which are so well known in this vicinity, and, in fact, in some cases, being sold throughout the Province and to the Northwest.

Mr. A. A. Fowler, who has been with Mr. Nugent for over ten years, and is also a graduate in Pharmacy, and who has built up a successful optical business, will also be in the new store with an up-to-date optical department, where both he and Mr. Johnston will be pleased to see their many friends.

Mr. Nugent, while severing his connection with the business, will be frequently found in the new store during his residence in the city. He, of course, intends remaining a resident on retiring to a well-earned rest. He hopes that his old friends will stand by the old shop. Mr. Nugent began his drug career in Lindsay, and was in business for eight years in Fenelon Falls, moving from there to this city in 1885, where he has built up a highly successful business.

THE NEW LABOUR LEGISLATION

Since Confederation, the only legislation placed upon the statute books in the interests of labour has been placed there by a Liberal Government. The present Liberal Government, recognizing the importance of labour in the national economy, created a Department of Labour, with a responsible Minister at the head of it. This is only one of the many measures adopted to promote the interests of labour, and, incidentally, the interests of the country at large. This labour legislation is designed to prevent strikes and the great attendant loss. The new law changes the relations of capital and labour, or, rather, of employee and employer. The essence of the new law seems to be that employees cannot go on strike at will, but are bound to remain at work, no matter what the ground of complaint, until a board of investigation is appointed, and that, pending the report of this board, work is to be continued. This Act, though only on the statute books a few days, has been instrumental in averting serious strikes, and, consequently, averting industrial paralysis on a large scale, and great financial loss to thousands of workmen and to employers. The employees of the Cumberland Coal and Railway Company, Springhill, N.S., to the number of 1700, threatened to strike, and, under the operation of the new law, the men have gone back to work, pending investigation, which will doubtless result in settlement.

Not only this, but the lock-out of the coal miners, of the Canada West Coal and Coke Company at Taber, Alberta, has been averted, and the employees are at work, pending investigation. The employees of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, the Western Canada Collieries, the Canadian-American Company, of Frank, and the International Colliery at Colborne, threatened to organize a strike, which would involve 2770 men. On an application from the miners themselves, the new Act was put into force, a board of investigation has been appointed, and the men are at work, pending the report of this board, which will doubtless result in a permanent settlement.

Thus within a short time after the passing of the Act, it has operated to prevent a total of 4470 men from quitting work, and saved a great loss, not only to the employees themselves, but to the employers and the public dependent upon the production of the mines affected. By the law in question, both strikes and lock-outs are offences against the law; a strike, without investigation, as the law prescribes, renders those participating liable to a fine of $10 per day, and a lock-out, without investigation, renders employers liable to a fine of from $100 to $1,000 per day.

ONTARIO,S FEEBLE-MINDED

Dr. Helen McMurchy, of Toronto, who has made a special report and taken a census of the feeble-minded people in Ontario, reveals a state of affairs that needs immediate attention. There are 1385 feeble-minded persons in the Province—676 being women, 183 girls, 418 men, and 108 boys, not including school children. Among those thus afflicted is the criminal class, who are seldom out of jail. For them the doctor prescribes the intermediate sentence. Another class are the girls who are constantly found in maternity hospitals, havens, etc. She suggests that the Government should appoint some one to look after their interests, just as the official guardian looks after the affairs of infants. Then there are "the good, but weak" girls who should be classified by themselves. The present plan of dealing with these persons, on want of plan, results in the perpetuation in an ever-increasing ratio of the feeble-minded, and a continual increase of the criminal population. Miss McMurchy advises taking hold of these people when young. Special schools and classes should be provided, and permanent care afterwards. Some such steps are necessary to stamp out this threatening evil.

FEDERAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

In this issue of the Examiner appears the report of the twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Federal Life Assurance Company, of Canada, which was held in the new head-office building in Hamilton, Tuesday, March 19th. The directors annual report states that during the past year two thousand and one hundred applications for assurance had been made, aggregating $3,049,877. Of these two thousand and fourteen application had been accepted, amounting to $2,868,624.33. The assets of this company had been increased by $273,254.55, and had now reached $2,910,702.62, exclusive of guarantee capital. The security of policy holders amounted, at the close of the year to $3,580,702.62, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims, to $2,486,129.30, showing a surplus of $1,094,573.32. Exclusive of uncalled guarantee capital, the surplus to policy-holders was $224,573.32. The total payments to policy holders amounted to $247,695.31. The total insurance in force was $17,884,073.61. This is unquestionably a most satisfactory statement to the public, and indicates a prosperity in which the company should take a just pride.

The district agent of the Federal Life in Peterborough is Mr. George H. Pope, with offices at 406 George street. From him it is learned that the Peterborough district shared in the general prosperity of the company, his reports of the year's business being of the most satisfactory character.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The aggregate provincial expenditure for this year is $7,035,332; it was $5,267,453.02 when the Whitney Government took power.

We in Peterborough, complain of the unseasonable cold, but worse than that, Montreal is still wrestling with the snow shovelling problem.

Newspaper work seems to be dangerous at times, the Winnipeg Free Press has been "salted" to the tune of $1,000 damages, for telling ghost stories about a lady's house.

A London newspaper has discovered that Laurier must go. It is to be hoped, remarks the London Advertiser, no one will be mean enough to spoil his visit to the Old Country by cabling him the news.

Premier Whitney has taken the Normal College away from Hamilton, and since the people elected Studholme, the Labour Candidate, it is said that the Ambitious City is in danger of losing the Mountain.

For wind-filled bombast, for hysterical high-falutin', the address to the jury of Delmas, the counsel for Thaw, bears the palm. If a Canadian counsel should flaunt such rot in a Canadian criminal court, he would be laughed out of court.

Mr. Foster's action in using his position of trustee to speculate with trust funds for his own advantage, seems to have been so serious as to require two explanations. He had a special chance before the Commission to make a carefully prepared defence. Now he takes another chance before Parliament.

The total capitalization of Cobalt Mining Companies is now probably four hundred millions—it was $365,515,000 on March 23rd, and the number is being added to daily. To pay even 6 per cent. on these immense investments will require a profit of twenty millions a year. There seems to be money in Cobalt mines, even if it has to be put in by credulous investors.

The Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce, stung by a newspaper statement that there were not 50 upright men in the higher walks of life in the city undertook a canvass and published a list of twenty-eight prominent Pittsburgers who are said to be above reproach. This is a somewhat better showing than Sodom and Gomorrah made. But nominate then twenty-eight perfect men for office and see how they would come out of the ordeal.

As an example of how the Mail and Empire manufactures public opinion, it may be pointed out that yesterday, in its report of the Parliamentary proceedings, it gave three and one-half columns to a report of a debate originated by a motion of Mr. Lavergne, condemning the bonusing of immigrants. The organ in its heading tries to create the impression that the motion gave Hon. Mr. Oliver, Minister of the Interior, a great deal of anxiety, that that gentleman "made a sorry showing." The buncumbe character which the House gave to the motion of Mr. Lavergne, the leader of the fourth party, is shown by the fact that the motion was defeated, only two voices being raised in its behalf, and both the mover, and Mr. Bourassa, the leader of the third party, who had championed it for show purposes, being absent from the House. Though the Conservatives applauded the utterances of these gentlemen, they had more prudence than to vote for the resolution they thus endorsed.

REMAINS STILL UNSOLVED.

In Port Credit Mystery Jury Return Open Verdict.

Port Credit, April 11.—How Edward Elliott met his death on the railway, one mile east of Port Credit, early Good Friday morning, seems likely to be recorded among the unsolved mysteries.

After hearing the evidence of Doctor Sutton, the principal witness, at the reopening of the inquest yesterday, and Harry Gallagher, the cook of the section gang, in which the dead man belonged, the jury returned an open verdict, the testimony not being sufficient to enable them to give a decision as to how deceased was killed.

Cause of Death.

Dr. Arthur Sutton stated that a clean-cut wound, running up from the base of the skull, four inches long, had caused death. He also found a punctured wound, one and a half inches deep, which might have been caused by a sharp round instrument. This hole ran to the root of the tongue. He found no trace of a bullet.

As to the wound on the head, the edges were clean-cut, with no traces of oil or gravel. The doctor could not say whether deceased was murdered or killed by a train.

Harry Gallagher cleared any doubt as to his whereabouts on the night of the 29th.

It was at first supposed that Elliott and Gallagher left the section camp at Clarkson together, but the latter left early in the morning on Thursday, while Elliott was still at work.

Elliott Was Sober.

Elliott went to Port Credit and to the Wilbur House. The bartender and the proprietor stated that six drinks had been served to him, but no flash of whiskey. To clear up any doubt, the crown attorney called John Hayes, the hostler of the hotel, who sometimes tends bar, to see if he had sold Elliott anything that day, but Hayes was not in the bar that day.

The evidence of the three showed that Elliott left comparatively sober, about 8 o'clock, and that he said he was going back to the camp.

A constable volunteered information that a person in the village had seen three men hanging around Lorne Park depot, a little west of where Elliott was found, on the night in question.

FOUR MEN INJURED.

Serious Accident at Canada Foundry —Man's Back Broken.

Toronto, April 11.—By the collapse of a wall at the Canada Foundry yesterday morning, Harry Carter, a bricklayer of Tiverton avenue, had his back broken; Alfred Carter, bricklayer of 24 Franklin street, was severely cut; J. Brown, a steamfitter, had his head cut and T. Sanderson, a painter, was lightly injured.

Three of the men were taken to St. Michael's Hospital, where their injuries were attended to. All but Harry Carter were able to go home, who, although in a critical condition, was resting easier last night.

Holtby Bros., contractors, could not give any reason for the collapse of the wall beyond the idea that the wind was high and that the dozen or so men working on the scaffold had been leaning against the structure.

WANT TO BE RICH.

Three Thousand Men Invade Larder Lake District—10,000 Expected.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 11.—During the past few days, according to a report brought here by a miner, three thousand men invaded the Larder Lake district, where gold ores rivalling the Cobalt silver ore, are claimed to have been found. More are coming every day, and teamsters are getting $60 a load for hauling supplies. The only building in the place has 12 bunks, and it is a hard problem to handle the rush.

One miner claims he was offered $400,000 for his claim by an American syndicate.

Stories of vast wealth in the hills started the biggest rush ever known in Canada. It is expected that 10,000 people will arrive during the next few weeks, hundreds coming from the United States.

FOR NEW CENTRAL PRISON.

Government Has Closed Deal For 200 Acres Near Halfway House.

Toronto, April 11.—The new Central Prison will be on the Kingston road. It was learned yesterday that the Ontario Government had purchased 200 acres of land in the vicinity of the Half-Way House as a site for the institution.

The policy of the Government, as announced some time ago was to establish a Central prison outside the city limits, where the farm system could be introduced, and manufacturing dispensed with.

The Government, it is reported, purchased 100 acres some weeks ago and have just closed the deal for another 100 acres.

EXPLOSION ON ENGINE.

G. T. R. Fireman Met Peculiar Death Near Ingersoll—Brakeman Injured.

Ingersoll, Ont., April 11.—An accident which resulted in the instant death of A. W. Smith of Sarnia, fireman of a G. T. R. freight train, west bound, occurred at Patton's Siding, three miles west of here, at 7.15 o'clock yesterday morning, caused by the flues of the engine blowing out. The engineer made his escape by following the running board of the engine and jumping, while the front brakeman, whose name could not be learned, had his hands and face rather seriously injured. Smith either jumped or was blown from the engine. When picked up by sectionmen he was dead, and his cap burning. His head was crushed by coming in contact with a rail.

The engine was disabled by the accident and the train had to be hauled to London.

FEDERAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

OF CANADA

Twenty-Fifth Annual Statement

DIRECTOR'S REPORT

The Twenty-fifth Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada was held at the Company's new Head Office Building in Hamilton, Tuesday, 19th March, 1907, at 2 p.m., Mr. David Dexter in the chair, Mr. W. H. Davis acting as Secretary.

The Annual Report, as follows, was read and adopted, on motion of Mr. Dexter, seconded by Lieut.-Col. Kerns:

Your Directors have the honour to present the Report and Financial Statement of the Company for the year which closed on the 31st December, 1906, duly vouched for by the Auditors.

The new business of the year consisted of two thousand one hundred applications for insurance, aggregating $3,049,877.00, of which two thousand and fourteen applications for $2,868,624.33 were accepted.

As in previous years, the income of the Company shows a gratifying increase, and the assets of the Company have been increased by $273,254.55, and have now reached $2,710,702.62, exclusive of guarantee capital.

The security for policyholders, including guarantee capital, amounted at the close of the year to $3,580,702.62, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims, $2,486,129.30, showing a surplus of $1,094,573.30. Exclusive of uncalled guaranteed capital, the surplus to Policyholders was $224,573.32.

Policies on seventy-four lives became claims through death, to the amount of $131,110.96.

Including Cash Dividends and Dividends applied to the reduction of premiums, with annuities, the total payment to Policyholders amounted to $247,695.31.

Careful attention has been given to the investment of the Company's funds in first-class bonds, mortgage securities and loans on the Company's policies amply secured by reserves. Our investments have yielded a very satisfactory rate of interest.

Expenses have been confined to a reasonable limit, consistent with due efforts for new business.

The ratio of expense to premium income shows a decrease of nearly three per cent., compared with the previous year. The unrest caused by the investigation of the affairs and methods of Life Insurance Companies tended to lessen the amount of new insurance obtainable at a reasonable cost, and to increase the number of lapses and surrenders. However, in other respects, the results of the year indicate a most gratifying progress. Compared with the preceding year, the figures submitted by the directors for your approval show an advance of nearly ten and a half per cent. in assets.

The assurances carried by the Company now amount to $17,884,073.61, upon which the Company holds reserves to the full amount required by law, and, in addition thereto, a considerable surplus.

The Directors have pleasure in announcing the completion of the very substantial and imposing new Head Office Building of the Company at Hamilton, and feel quite sure it will prove a most judicious investment.

The field officers and agents of the Company are intelligent and loyal, and are entitled to much credit for their able representation of the Company's interests. The members of the office staff have also proved faithful to the Company's service.

Your Directors are pleased to be able to state that the business of the company for the past two months of the current year, has been of a most satisfactory character, and that the outlook for the future is most encouraging.

DAVID DEXTER, President and Managing Director.

To the President and Directors of the Federal Life Assurance Company.

Auditors' Report

Gentlemen,—We have carefully audited the books and records of your Company for the year ending 31st December last, and have certified to their accuracy.

The Cash and Journal Vouchers have been closely examined and agree with the entries recorded.

The Debentures, Bonds, etc., in the possession of the Company have been inspected, while those deposited with the Government or Banks have been verified by certificate, the total agreeing with the amount as shown in the Statement of Assets.

The accompanying Statements, viz., Revenue and Assets and Liabilities, show the result of the year's operations, and also the financial position of the company.

Respectfully submitted,

H. S. STEPHENS,
CHARLES STIFF,
Auditors.

There passed away in Moscow, Addington County, on Tuesday last an aged man, well known to Peterborough people—Walter Palmer, father of Mrs. Jas. Long, Reid street, at the ripe old age of 84 years. The late Mr. Palmer was well and favourably known in Peterborough, having visited here on many occasions and made a number of fast friends who will regret to learn of his demise.

The funeral will take place from the family residence at Moscow on Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

BASKETBALL SEASON CLOSES WITH DELIGHTFUL BANQUET

Supper Preceeded by Exciting Basketball Game in the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium---Dobbin's Team Won the Championship---A Successful Series Ended.

The basketball game at the Y.M.C.A., last night and the banquet following were events that will long remain in the memories of those fortunate enough to be present as events of the brightest in Y.M.C.A. life of the year 1907. The evening was one most pleasantly spent, opening at the rise of the curtain with the final basketball game in the Spring League. The contest was between the two best teams in the league and both fives went into the game with a determination to carry off the honours. It was between Dobbin's and Laing's aggregations, a championship was at stake and the game was instrenuous.

The former won out by the score of 49 to 42 although at the turn Laing led by 21 to 19. The latter half was particularly strenuous yet at times some brilliant ball was played including a few dazzling combination plays.

A couple of the players were ruled off by Referee Jno. Laing and the game was stopped for repairs on one or two others. The best of feeling, however, was manifested throughout and the game ended with everybody satisfied that the best team won. Crossman scored six baskets in the game which held the record. Robertson and Ross Dobbin came next with five each.

Mr. John Laing who was instrumental in forming the Spring League series, refereed in his usual capable manner not one of his decisions being disputed.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Dobbin's—Turner, Brace, Dobbin, Crossman, Loomis.

Laing's—Elliot, Bolson, Laing, E. Best, Robertson.

The Banquet

The most pleasant and concluding part of the evening's programme followed the big game, the scene of this act being laid in the Board Room of the Y.M.C.A. Here a tempting supper had been spread on two beautifully decorated tables arranged and decked by a number of the lady friends of the players, who also attended most assiduously to the temporal wants of the merry gathering.

Seated about the board, in addition to the members of the four basketball teams, there were Messrs. J. J. Howden, Jas. Connal, R. E. Harding, F. H. Dobbin, Secretary G. H. Williamson, Garnet Galley, chairman of the Physical Committee, and Mr. E. Dingman, Physical Director.

The Toast List

The proposing of and the responses to the various toasts was the feature of the evening. They were chiefly of an impromptu character but the different speeches savoured much of wit which kept the boys in an almost continuous state of laughter.

The first toast proposed by Mr. Garnet Galley who presided, was in honour of the King, whose health was heartily drunk. The toast to the "Y.M.C.A." was proposed by Mr. J. J. Howden and responded to by Messrs. R. E. Harding, and G. H. Williamson, who eulogized the work of Mr. Dingman, the physical dire to.

The "Physical Committee" was next proposed by Mr. Jas. H. Counal and responded to by Mr. F. H. Dobbin, the latter in his address tracing the evolution of some sports from the early days until the present time.

The Winners Toast

"The Winning Team" was proposed by Mr. Geo. Robertson, when the healths of the champions was heatily drunk. Mr. Ross Dobbin, as captain, in his reply paid a tribute to the excellent work of Mr. Jno. Laing, who had so efficiently acted as referee for the majority of the games.

The cause of the "Ladies" was ably championed by Messrs. E. Dingman and E. Best, both of whom were loud in the praises of the fair sex.

The health of Mr. "Dick" Baker, the common friend to the basketball men was drunk with the singing of "For He's a Jolly, Good Fellow." Mr. Baker responded briefly thanking the boys for their kind sentiments and shortly after the pleasing event was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

At a well attended meeting held in the Windsor Hotel last night the Strathcona Athletic Club was organized with a large membership and roseate prospects for future success.

The election of officers took place and resulted as follows:—

It was decided to leave the election of a captain over until a later date.

Messrs. Burns and Wilson were appointed as representatives to attend the meeting which will be called in the near future to organize a City League.

Red and white will be the colours under which the team representing the club will play.

This summer baseball will engage the activities of the club, and it is expected that with the return of winter a hockey team will be placed in the City League, and an effort made to repeat the success of the Strathcona team of the past season.

FOOTBALL

The Peterborough Quakers will resume their practices to-night at Central Park at 6.45.

* * * *

The basketball men have postponed their football match until next Wednesday night on account of the disagreeable weather which has existed this week. The game will probably be played on Central Park and will begin at 7 o'clock. The players will be selected from Dobbin's and Laing's men for one team and Best's and Richardson's for the other.

It is learned from the authorities that Conductor Barnes of the C.P.R. will appeal the judgment of Magistrate Dumble given recently. GROCERY DRIVERS' WANT A UNION

Believe That They Can Thereby do Away With Their Long Hours.

The grocery drivers of the city are discussing among themselves the advisability of forming a union to further their interests, and it is likely that in the near future some steps may be taken along this line. The drivers think that if they unite they may be able to do away with the long hours they say they are forced to work at present. Difficulty has been experienced in finding a hall in which to meet, but this is being overcome.

THE MERCHANTS WILL DISCUSS BY-LAWS

Important Meeting Will Be Held in Y. M. C. A.—All Merchants are Asked To Be Present.

The merchants of the city are asked to attend the meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association, which will be held to-night in the Y.M.C.A., when the two bylaws, referring to overhanging signs on the streets and the now famous "Box Bylaw," will be discussed.

Do not forget the Skating contest. (Ladies and Gentlemen skating in couples) at the Roller Rink to-morrow night.

A LAKEFIELD GIRL LOST HER POCKETBOOK

A young lady from Lakefield came to the city to-day and went home a sadder but a wiser girl. She was staying at one of the hotels and through her carelessness in leaving a purse with $15 lying on a chair is now the loser of just that amount. The pocketbook containg the money was left on the seat while she went upstairs. Returning a couple of minutes later the seat was vacant, and no trace of the cash has yet been received.

ALDERMAN MORGAN'S TAX IS CRITISIZED

Citizen Thinks that He Should Give Premium Instead of Taxing Italians.

To The Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I have read with surprise Ald. Morgan's proposition to levy a tax of $10 on the sons of Sunny Italy,—and for what? Because they are willing and able to dig our sewers and do other laborious work required to be done. He thinks we should tax them for the privilege. I gave Mr. Morgan credit for being a man of better judgment. I would like to remind Mr. Morgan that the Italian is not a wage-cutter, and if he had any large amount of this kind of work to be done he would feel more like offering a premium of $10 than placing on a tax. I think this is rather a cheap way to play to the grandstand, and hope the first appearance of any kind of a motion to this effect will be consigned to the waste basket.

FIRE! FIRE! FIRE!

Scott's Colloseum
422 GEORGE STREET

New Programme for week commencing April 8, 1907.

THE GREAT TORONTO FIRE

Only those who actually saw the great fire in Toronto can adequately appreciate the realism of the moving pictures shown in the Colloseum by Mr. Scott and his assistants. The clang of the fire bells, the rush and hurry, the terror and grandeur of the awful conflagration are marvellously brought out. The rescue work of the firemen, the rush of the crowds, fighting the flames and dynamiting the dangerous walls, are depicted with a realty that is almost incredible.

The continuous performance takes place every afternoon and evening from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m. and furnishes a refined entertainment for both small and great. Ladies are especially invited to the afternoon performances.

CITY HAS NEARLY THIRTY MILES OF CONCRETE PAVEMENT NOW LAID

crete walks were constructed during 1906 by Mr. H. Evans, Street Commissioner, as follows:

	Feet.
Inside tree line	23,309
Outside tree line	8,283
Crossings	2,303
Total	33,895

Or 173,854 1-5 sq. feet.

The total cost of the work was $19,989.91.

Cost for inside work, 10.9 cents per square foot.

Cost for outside work, 12.5 cents per square foot.

Cost of crossings 14 cents per sq. foot.

The cost exceeds that of last season's work by one-half cent per square foot on account of higher cost of cement and wages, as well as of several costly sections built.

In all forty-six sections of concrete walks were built during the year.

The gravel, sand and stone used cost for loading and hauling an average of 54c. per cubic yard. The following quantity was used:

From Hilliard pit	5860
Obtained elsewhere	1213
Total cubic yards	7073

The cement used was the Monarch Brand made by the Lakefield Cement Company, and supplied by the Peterborough Hardware Co., at $1.90 per barrel, tested, stored and delivered, an advance of 20 cents per barrel over price of 1905.

The quantity used was 3,888 3-4 barrels, and the cost $7,388.62.

Walks Now in Use

The total length of concrete walks now in use are:

	Feet.
4 foot walks	16,657
5 foot walks	96,894
6 foot walks	12,071
8 feet walks	3,545
10 feet walks	11,202
	140,370

Or 26 1-2 miles.

There yet remains to be renewed in permanent material 24 3-4 miles of wooden walks.

Concrete Crossings

There were 16 concrete crossings laid during 1906, in addition to the 49 laid in the course of constructing concrete walks, at an average cost of $56.25, or a total cost of $896.

Engineer's Report

There are 17,470 feet of wooden walks to be renewed in concrete, and parts of streets on which there are no walks, to be laid in 1907, in addition to those provided for, but not constructed, during 1906, or an equivalent to 3.31 miles.

Bridges

Re-decking with reinforced concrete of bridges over the creek on Hunter and George streets was completed, the cost of which was:

Hunter street	$1039 70
George street	396 66
Total	$1436 36

or 36 3-10c per square foot.

Of the other bridges over the creek, that on Charlotte street, authorized in 1905, was delayed, but is now ready to be erected as soon as the weather permits. Provision has been made to redeck in reinforced concrete the bridges on Dalhousie and Reid streets, and to re-build those on King and Aylmer streets.

The Smith street bridge over the river was repaired in the summer of 1906 at a cost of $572.91. To rebuild the bridge would cost (estimated) $37,200. This would include an 18-foot roadway with two sidewalks 6 1-2 feet each. It was decided to repair the bridge during the winter of 1906-07 at the cost of $550, making the bridge good for another year.

Miscellaneous

The report stated that building operations had been very active during 1906, principally outside of the fire limits.

Many complaints have been made about the absence of street name plates, and great inconvenience, the report states, is caused thereby. Where new walks are laid, the name is inscribed in the concrete, but these are difficult to read at night and in the winter.

The report says: "The various electric power, telephone and telegraph companies have made extensions to their systems during the past season, and the increase in the number of poles is becoming a serious problem, there being so many companies, and each company having a separate line of poles, although the number of wires carried on each is small. I have for a long time endeavoured to have each company file a plan of its lines, showing the number of poles, position, etc., but so far none have done so."

Mr. P. Thompson, plumbing inspector, granted 296 permits to licensed plumbers for plumbing and drainage during 1906.

Street Inspector's Report

Snow Cleaning

Paid contractors	$802 50
Additional expenses	45 21
Total—	$847 71

Expense of winter of 1904-05 was $2,260.21, a difference of $1,412.50 This was due to the very light fall of snow in 1905-06.

Crushing Stone

A new portable crusher was purchased and set to work at Hillier's pit in May, 1906, and operated 60 days. The cost of crusher was $600; setting up, etc., $207.23, making a total of $807.23. The output amounted to 3050 cubic yards at a cost of 75 1-2c per cubic yard, delivered and rolled.

The following streets were laid with crushed stone and rolled: George street, between McDonel and Argyle; Smith, between George and Water; Water, between Smith and Argyle, in part; Charlotte, between Aylmer and the creek; Aylmer, between Charlotte and Simcoe.

Gravel put on streets from Hillier's pit amounted to 3625 cubic yards; from cellars of new houses, 2430; or a total of 6055 cubic yards. Thirty-six wooden culverts were replaced with pipe drains in the process of ordinary street work.

Fourteen streets or sections of streets were graded, water-tabled and rolled, and 18 streets or portions were graded, water-tabled and gravelled during the season, and many holes in the streets were filled up in all parts of the city.

The report showed that the plant and machinery consisted of the following: 1 20-h.p. portable engine, 1 stationary stone crusher, with screens and bins; 1 portable stone crusher, with screens and bins; 2 cement mixers, with gasoline engines; 1 15-ton steam roller, 1 6-ton horse roller, 10 snow ploughs, 6 water wagons, 1 flushing wagon, 1 street grader, 1 street scraper, 1 rooter plough, 2 double wagons, 1 single wagon, 1 dump cart, 3 hand carts, 1 lot of road hand tools, 1 set concrete sidewalk tools.

CONDUCTOR ON G.T.R. WAS DISMISSED

Was Charged With Having Allowed His Train to Block Charlotte Beyond the Limited Time.

EVIDENCE DID NOT AGREE

"Owing to the conflicting nature of the evidence in this case I cannot make a conviction against the G.T.R. conductor with due justice to him. Some mistake has been made in the reckoning of the time, and I do not think that Mr. Fowler, who was anxious to get his car past, is wrong." Mr. Dumble thus dismissed the charge against Conductor DeBois for blocking Charlotte street on April 4th.

Harry Fowler was sworn and stated that he is conductor on one of the Jackson Park cars. During the evening of April 4th at 7.29 his car was held at the G.T.R. tracks on Bethune street. Witness said he was obstructed for 10 minutes and a half by a double headed freight train. About fifty or sixty people and a number of rigs were also impeded. When the car turned off George street to Charlotte the freight was then across the street. Fourteen minutes were lost by this blocking the street, and a trip is made in this time. Witness said this was the third time during his two years' service that he had been held beyond the limit of five minutes.

The next witness examined was Mr. John Ritchie, motorman on the car that was held. He did not take a record of the time spent at the crossing. Mr. Dumble advised him to look at his watch on future occasions.

Mr. Frank Sandy, station agent at the G.T.R. station, gave evidence that Mr. DeBois is the conductor on the train that held the Jackson Park car on April 4th.

Mr. R. L. Sargisson, testified that he was on the other Jackson Park car and was waiting at the switch on Park street. After waiting a reasonable length of time for the other car to come he walked to the corner of Park and Charlotte and saw the train blocking the street. It was four minutes later that the street was cleared. His car also missed a trip.

Defense

Mr. H. DeBois, conductor of the G.T.R. freight in question said that he was coupling up the "moonlight" train which is made up in Peterborough. Forty-one cars constituted the freight. There were 19 cars above Charlotte street and three couplings to make. The other 22 were already coupled and attached to the engine. At 7.30, Mr. DeBois stated, the caboose passed the station on its way out of the city. He said that he has always endeavoured to keep the crossings clear.

Mr. P. Nugent was called and stated that he is engaged as brakesman on the G.T.R. and was working on the freight that obstructed passage on Charlotte street, April 4th. On this occasion the three couplings were made without the train once stopping. Witness did not see the street car until the van passed Charlotte street.

Mr. Fowler was recalled and stated that the train moved up and backed down again twice before it finally pulled out.

Mr. Wm. Henry stated that he did not think the car was held more than five minutes.

Mr. Wilton Smith, night operator at the G.T.R., gave evidence that the caboose of Mr. DeBois' train passed the station at 7.30 p.m. on its way out of the city. He produced the arrival and departure sheet on which he recorded the departure of the train.

Mr. Dumble said that he believed the street railway men were correct. However, the G.T.R. men also took the time and it would be an outright disbelief of one party if the testimony of the other was accepted as absolutely correct. On account of the conflicting evidence he dismissed Mr. DeBois, and a warning was given that more consideration be shown by railway men for the citizens rights.

THIRD LECTURE ON "IN MEMORIAM"

Good Attendance at Tennyson Lecture By Rev. Dr. Symonds at Y. M. C. A. Hall Last Night.

INTRODUCTORY STAGE

With the third lecture in the course on "In Memoriam," Dr. Symonds came to close quarters with the poem. The first twenty-seven sections form the "Introductory Stage" leading up to the three cycles of the past, present and future, each of which is marked by recurring Christmas poems. (Sections 28, 78, 104.)

In the "Introductory Stage" five points were noticed.

1. No thought of the immortality of the dead friend as yet emerges.

2. The prevalent mood revealed in these sections is a morbid, almost sullen sense of loss, only doubtfully relieved in its closing lines:

"'Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all."

3. His depression provokes the dreadful thought that the whole world is but the result of a blind fate, and that there is no purpose or plan displayed in the universe.

4. Tennyson, himself, further on and in the prologue criticises the verses of this part of the poem. He calls them "wild and wandering cries," and "an echoes out of weaker times." In the famous 106th section the poet cries:

"Ring out, ring out my mournful rhymes
But ring the fuller minstrel in."

5. But still, although the consolations of faith and hope are as yet denied him he will keep his love for his friend intact. For true love (not to be confounded with sentiment or passion) is "an essential endowment of the holiest manhood and is to be cherished and valued; even though its object be forever removed."

The chair was occupied by Mr. D. Hughes Charles, and the attendance was again very large, the second room being required once more to accommodate the attendance.

To-night the chairman will be Rev. Dr. Crothers, and a solo will be given by Miss Lillian Moore. The subject of the lecture to-night will be "The First Cycle."

STYLES SIX MONTHS' AHEAD

The Men Behind the Shears Who Make The Fashions for Men.

The man in the West who visits the East to-day finds his clothes in the prevailing style. This uniformity of style is due to Semi-ready tailoring. From coast to coast the styles prevailing each season are close copies of the designs prepared by the President of the Semi-ready Company six months ahead of the time when the public first sees them. Styles in Canada are neither American nor British, but have distinctive features of their own. The New York styles are just a bit fashion-plately for gentlemen who dress well in Canada. A. W. Cressman, agent for Peterborough.

THE RAILROADS UNPREPARED

There are bitter complaints of the inability of the American railroads to handle the freight that is pressed upon them. Railroad men have many explanations. Some of them say the engine and car works are unable to fill the orders for rolling stock that have been given them. Others talk of the need of more trackage and better terminal facilities.

It is interesting to observe that the conditions complained of by American shippers exist in other countries. They are found in England. A correspondent of the London Times says: "So inadequate are the resources of some of the English railway companies that many collieries are losing time, and steel works are being shut down in the Midlands, notwithstanding heavy order books, because the railway companies are unable to move the output from the pits or to supply the furnaces with fuel." Matters are not quite so bad as that in the United States. The officers of the overworked English roads say that locomotive plants cannot provide the additional engines that are needed.

Only a short time ago there was serious traffic congestion on the Italian roads. These roads are mostly operated by the government, which helps to explain their inability to handle freight satisfactorily; but the French lines, which are operated by private companies, were also unable to meet the demands of the shippers.

In view of all the facts it must be admitted that the men who manage the American roads are not the only sinners. They seem to have been to a certain extent the victim of conditions which obtain in both Europe and the United States. There as well as here there has been a rapid expansion of manufacturing energy which has suddenly outrun the carrying capacity of the railroads. That there has been a great expansion in this country is proved by the increased imports of materials for use in manufacturing and by the increase in the exports of finished goods.

In a measure the American railroad men are to blame for not foreseeing the growth of manufacturing, which makes freight, and not making arrangements to take care of that freight. They ought to have seen that the productive industry of the country was under a full head of steam. But the men who control the railroad systems of England, France and Italy were blind to what the manufacturers of those countries were doing, and were taken unawares like their American brethren. Perhaps there will be more foresight hereafter on both sides of the Atlantic. — Chicago Tribune, April 1, 1907.

There was a sensation of tightness in my side, and my liver was entirely out of order. I could could not sleep at night, suffered also from kidney trouble, and was altogether in a very serious condition. I had been ailing in this way for years and it is gratifying to find that Bileans were equal to my case."

BELLEVIDERE READY FOR SEASON

Eastern Stoney Lake Summer Resort Promises to be Most Popular.

Mr. John R. McKelvie, proprietor of "Belvidere" summer resort, and store, at Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, is making great preparations for the opening of the season, which he believes will be the most successful in the history of the eastern part of the lake. Belvidere is ideally situated, opposite the famous Eel's Creek, and High Falls, and in close proximity to Jack's Creek, South Bay, Blue Mountains, mica mines, and Lake Koshkabogamog.

The East End Cottagers' Association will build a pavilion similar to the one at Juniper Island at "Belvidere" this year, and regattas will be held off the shore. The course is an ideal one, both for paddling and sailing events.

With a new house and new furnishings, and daily boats and mail, "Belvidere" will be a splendid resort this season.

2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Wm. Wand.

CASE WAS HANDED OVER TO THE JURY

Judge Fitzgerald's Summing Up Is Adverse to Thaw.

JEROME SCORES EVELYN

Killing Was Deliberate Says District Attorney—Cannot Possibly Be Justified— Attacks Idea of Dementia Americana—Four Possible Verdicts — Prisoner's Only Hope Lies in Disagreement of Jury.

New York, April 11.—After having been retired for nearly seven hours yesterday, it was announced at midnight that the jury, with whom the fate of Harry K. Thaw now rests, would be locked up for the night.

The life of Harry Thaw yesterday will go down as the most trying he has ever experienced. From the opening of court until the jury retired the fates dealt unmercifully with him. He left the courtroom dejected and with apparently little hope left for an acquittal.

Thaw Discouraged.

In District Attorney Jerome's final argument and throughout the judge's charge Thaw had to listen to a scathing attack upon his wild life, and to a narrative of hard facts which stripped his deeds of the halo of chivalric glory which his own attorneys placed over them.

The judge's charge, lasting about an hour, was a careful and concise outline of the law, and informed the jury of its right of rendering any one of the following four verdicts: Murder in the first degree; murder in the second degree; manslaughter in the first degree, or not guilty on the ground of insanity. The statute governing the plea of insanity was defined clearly, much stress being laid on the fact that an irresistible impulse to kill has no place in the law.

The judge also informed the jury that an illusion, unless the illusion, if true, might result in the injury of the man suffering it, could not be accepted as an excuse.

"Proof of partial or incipient insanity is not sufficient as an excuse. The settled law of the state is that so long as the power to appreciate the nature and quality of the act is present, no man must commit crime if he would escape the consequences," he said.

"If he took, aimed and discharges a revolver, as it is alleged here, did he know when he cocked and fired the weapon that the act was wrong and would probably destroy a life, and did he know the act was forbidden by law? That is the question which the law must have answered.

Presumes Thaw Sane.

"The legal presumption is that the defendant was sane when he committed the act. It was not incumbent upon the prosecution to introduce preliminary testimony to show that he was sane. Whoever denies sanity must prove that insanity is present. The law assumes that all men are sane, as it assumes all men are innocent.

"The hypothetical questions, which were answered by the experts, assumed certain facts, and the answer was only the opinion of the experts on those assumed facts. You are not obliged, nor are you permitted, to accept opinions as you would facts. In considering the testimony of medical experts, you are to consider their experience and knowledge, and you should consider the quality of the medical testimony, and not its quantity.

"The so-called irresistible impulse has no place in the law, and is not an excuse, nor is every person of disordered mind excused. As the burden of proof of insanity is on the defendant, he is also entitled to every reasonable doubt on the subject. If the defendant knew the nature or the quality of his act, or knew that the act was wrong, then he committed a crime. All men differ mentally and physically, and this makes it impossible, as I said before, for the court to lay down a fixed rule as showing deliberation and premeditation.

"You must be guided, gentlemen, entirely on the evidence. Clamor, prejudice or sympathy must not prevail. You must be guided by your reason and your judgment."

The district attorney's summing up evoked many comments of praise from those who read it. It was a comprehensive, logical and forceful review of all the evidence adduced, devoid of flowery phraseology. His arguments were consistent with the testimony.

Jerome's Attack.

"It was the desire of this girl to be a great actress that caused her to play between these two men until she brought one of them to his grave," he said.

"Men of this jury, there is in this case every element of the simply vulgar, everyday tenderloin homicide.

"If the defendant were any person but the rich Harry Thaw of Pittsburg; if he were the son of a padrone in Elizabeth street; if Stanford White were not a leading architect, but a Chinaman in Mott street; if this girl were a chorus girl in The London Theatre on the Bowery, how long would the 'brainstorm' or the paranoia theory be listened to?"

The real question here is, said Jerome, whether New York City is to become a mining camp.

"If this sort of thing can go on—if the only thing between a citizen and his enemy is a brainstorm, then every man had better carry a gun.

"Mr. Delmas appealed to the Scriptures. Let me, too, direct your attention to them, to what the Lord said: 'Vengeance is mine, and I will repay.'

"Let me also remind you of the great fundamental laws founded down the ages—the commandment of God—'Thou shalt not kill.'"

The jury is said to be almost hopelessly divided and none of those connected with the case would venture the hope last night of anything better than a disagreement as the climax of the long drawn out and expensive trial.

MILLIONS ARE FACING SLOW DEATH

Twenty Million People Now Starving In Samara.

ARE DYING BY DEGREES

Awful Condition of the Population In South Russia—Urgent Need For Relief—Meagre Dole For Famishing Families—Only One Meal in 24 Hours—Appeal to Anglo-Saxon Sympathy and Help.

London, April 11.—Dr. Kannard, commissioner of the Society of Friends, who was sent to investigate the Russian famine, writing from Samara, April 3, says:

"There are 20,000,000 people distributed in the southeastern provinces of Russia, who cannot live to see another harvest without aid."

In Samara, he adds, thousands are dying, and 750,000 are starving. Of the latter, only 372,700 are getting relief, one meal in 24 hours. As a meal is only two pounds of bread and a bowl of soup, this, according to the commissioner, means dying by degrees. Even this meagre dole, in countless instances, is divided among many mouths. There are only sufficient funds on hand to last until May 1, whereas money would be needed until the end of July, when the harvest will bring relief.

The commissioner especially appeals for canned milk. He says there are 300,000 children in Samara Province who have no milk and are forced to eat coarse bread made of acorns, powdered wood and cucumbers, resulting in thousands of deaths and much disease.

In conclusion, the commissioner appeals to the Anglo-Saxons for $2,500,000 to save "twenty millions of human beings, who are dying lingering deaths from starvation."

PROTEST ENTERED IN THE HOUSE

Mr. Foster Says Insurance Commission Exceeded Its Powers.

WHAT THE ENQUIRY COST

Mr. Borden Condemns Commission As Political Instrument—Land Deal Was Private Business—Mr. Aylesworth Replies—Canada and the States—Warships On the Lakes —Winnipeg Terminals Bill.

Ottawa, April 11.—There was but a slim attendance in the galleries of the House of Commons yesterday when Mr. George E. Foster commenced what was intended as a rebuttal of the findings of the Insurance Commission. Seldom has such a tense speech been heard in the House as that made by the member for North Toronto. It was easily to be seen that he was suffering from great nervous strain, while his voice practically gave out, curtailing what was intended to be a much longer speech. His address showed a careful preparation, and amounted to a repudiation of a personal responsibility in connection with the investment of Union Trust Company's funds, a claim that his connection with the well-known western land deals was his private business and beyond the powers of the inquiry given to the commission, and the reiterated statement that the commission's chief object was to work his political downfall.

The Minister of Justice followed, and held the floor for upwards of three hours. He delivered a speech notable for its lucidity and for the manner in which he disposed of the arguments of Mr. Foster. The debate was carried on by Mr. R. L. Borden, who condemned the commission as a political instrument.

Early Morning Queries.

When the House met in the morning, in reply to Mr. Smith (Nanaimo), Mr. Oliver said the G. T. P. Railway Company by order in Council was considered to be the first applicant for coal lands along their right of way in Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Mr. Lewis drew attention to a despatch emanating from Washington and published in the Canadian press to the effect that a treaty was being negotiated between Great Britain and the United States with regard to the appointment of a joint commission for the settlement of all questions between Canada and the United States.

The Minister of Finance said that the Government had no information on the subject, but he thought that it might be safely assumed that a newspaper report of that character was not to be relied upon.

The Winnipeg terminals bills was read a third time and passed.

A bill to amend the adulteration act, authorizing the assistant analysts in the Inland Revenue Department to make analyses, was discussed in committee, reported to the House and passed.

Warships n the Lakes.

On motion that the House should go into Committee on Supply, Mr. R. L. Borden asked if the Government had any information with regard to the reported intention of the United States Government to place the cruiser Detroit on the great lakes, and whether the placing of a warship on the lakes was in accordance with the convention which had been in existence for many years.

The Minister of Finance—The matter being one of international importance, although I have some personal impressions concerning it, I prefer that question should stand as one of notice.

Mr. Borden—I think that is reasonable.

Cost of Insurance Commission.

The House having gone into Committee of Supply, the Minister of Finance drew attention to the estimate of $75,000 in connection with the Insurance Commission. His estimate of the total cost of the commission when the accounts were made up was $105,000. The Government had taken an appropriation of $30,000 in 1905-06 and $10,000 in 1906-07, and now asked for a further $75,000, which included a sum of $30,000 obtained under the Governor-General's warrant, making a total of $105,000. The allowance to commissioners was $30 a day each with moving expenses, and $15 a day for the Secretary with moving expenses. Mr. Shepley by arrangement with the Department of Justice, under the late Minister, received $100 a day and moving expenses, and he expected to receive in addition a general fee in proportion to the extent and responsibility of the work. Mr. Tilley was allowed $50 a day with moving expenses, and payments to actuaries amounted to $7,041, and the stenographer had received $6,955.

ONLY 3 DAYS MORE

SATURDAY, APRIL 13th

Will be the LAST DAY that You can buy a PIANO at Sacrifice Prices, and then you will have to pay from $75.00 to $100.00 more money for them.

Seldom have PIANOS been offered at less than Cost. These PIANOS are all New and High Grade, Fully Guaranteed.

You may never have a chance like this again in a Life Time.

People who never thought of buying before have bought and now have a beautiful Piano in their home; others who thought that there was plenty of time yet on account of their children being too young or some other paultry reason have seen it to their advantage to save dollars by buying now while this Bargain Sale is on. Dollars Saved are Dollars Earned. No home is complete unless there is a Piano installed.

You will live just as long and die just as rich by having a Piano as by doing without one; there is nothing that will bring into a home as much sunshine as music, and no accomplishment so refining.

Since this Bargain Sale has been advertised, many people have asked the reason who the J. M. Greene Music Co., can afford to offer to sell Pianos at such ridiculously low prices. They explain by way of illustration of a certain firm in New York City conceiving the idea that it was necessary to advertise their place of business, and in order to make known their particular address they advertised that American 2c. Post Stamps would sell for a certain number of hours on a certain date for 1c. each. Can you conceive a profit that would be made in this particular case, whereby they offered 2c. for 1c.; yet it did prove a financial success to the Company. This Firm became so well known through this method of advertising, that their business has grown from year to year until at the present time they are considered one of the shrewdest and wealthiest Firms in New York City. The moral in this particular reference is, that while the public who patronised this sale of Postage Stamps, they not only received Genuine Stamps, at half price, which enabled them to swell their own bank account through the enterprise, but through this small transaction a continuance of the patronage resulted in building up one the the largest merchantile concerns in the City of New York.

The J. M. Greene Music Co. are not offering Postage Stamps, but Genuine High Grade Pianos, at price, which have appealed to the thoughful, careful buyers of this district and many have already availed themselves of this opportunity.

The J. M. Greene Music Co. adopted this means of advertising themselves and place of business, and in so doing, hope that in the future instead of selling One Hundred Pianos a year, they may be able to sell Two Hundred per year.

We would again call your attention to the different makes of Pianoes we are selling, namely:—.

"KARN" of Woodstock "DOMINION" of Bowmanville

"KOHLER & CAMPBELL" of New York "KRYDNER"

And the popular and much talked of "NEW SCALE WILLIAMS" of Oshawa, Canada

Dominion Militia System Highly Commended by Col. Herbert.

London, April 11.—(C. A. P.)—In the House of Commons yesterday, Col. Herbert, defending Haldane's national army scheme, said:

"We are going back, not to feudalism, but to the principles which once underlay the whole military system of this country, which still underlies the military system of the colonies It has been said it is impossible to unite under one system all the volunteers unless we had compulsion.

"The difficulty has been got over in Canada, where each class of the community performed a training in the way best suited to their ordinary vocations.

"Many of his own predecessors in Canada urged dependence on the English principle of a permanent staff. He received the impression that it is against the feeling of the people to introduce this permanent element. He took the view that every unit should maintain itself in every particular.

"It is the only way that the esprit de corps shall be obtained. They therefore are not trying a new experiment in this bill."

PEARY WILL TRY AGAIN.

Has Secured Three Years Leave of Absence From U. S. Navy.

New York, April 11.—The application of Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., for leave of absence for three years, just approved by the Secretary of the Navy, has uncovered the fact that Commander Peary definitely purposes to make another attempt this summer to reach the North Pole.

The steamer Roosevelt is at Scoter's Island and is being refitted with new boilers.

Commander Peary, before the end of his last voyage, determined to select his own crew for his next advance on the pole, to avoid the trouble which arose because of unruly and discontented spirits among his last ship's company; he will pick every man to be taken.

Sledges will again be the dependences of the explorer, and he will again follow the American route, making a dash across the ice from his winter quarters towards the pole, which he is more confident than ever of reaching.

WANT TO MAKE HISTORY.

Sir Robert Bond's Views on Secession and Confederation.

Montreal, April 11—Sir Robert Bond, Premier of Newfoundland, left yesterday for New York, en route to the conferences of Premiers in London.

"It is reported that you mean to secede unless you can carry your point, Sir Robert; is that true?" was asked.

"Secede! From what?" was the reply.

"From the Empire."

Sir Robert laughed. "You seem to want to make history rather rapidly."

Confederation with Canada was suggested.

"I have to learn," replied Sir Robert, "that Canada's rights have always been respected, as I have heard of an Alaska boundary dispute, for instance. What about the territory that was given up?"

Violated Alien Labor Law.

HONORED IN DEATH.

Funeral of Hon. Mr. St. John Attended by Many Thousands.

Toronto, April 11.—Hundreds of citizens who had been pleased to regard Hon. J. W. St. John as a personal friend, and thousands who knew of him and respected him, yesterday paid their last sad tribute to him.

Ten thousand persons, it was estimated, passed the casket as it lay in state in the Speaker's apartments at the Parliament Buildings yesterday morning. The apartments were draped in black, the portrait of the late Speaker hanging on the south wall. The floral tributes were banked around the casket.

The chief mourners at the funeral were Mr. St. John's brothers, James and William Glover; his brothers-in-law, Henry and John Glendinning, and their wives. Mr. St. John's sisters, Dr. Glendinning, his nephew; W. J. Paulin, nephew, and Mr St. John's son and daughters. Mrs St. John did not feel strong enough to attend.

The Government was fully represented by Premier Whitney and the other Cabinet Ministers, and by the greater number of the members of the House. Premier Whitney and Hon. G. P. Graham marched side by side, as honorary pall-bearers.

Lieut.-Goverenor Mortimer Clark, Major Macdonald, A. D. C., and Major Fraser, secretary, also attended.

The final ceremonies of the Masonic ritual were conducted at the cemetery chapel, and were very impressive, the Doric Quartette taking the recitative and vocal parts

After the ceremonies were over, the casket and the flowers were removed to the vault, from whence it will be taken for interment later.

Of the Late Thos. Hoarn Who Was Killed in Spokane, Wash., Recently.

James Hoar of this city called at the police station to say that he knew a relative of Thos. Hoarn who was killed in Spokane, Wis., and regarding whose death Chief Bonnel received a telegram Thursday. An account of it appeared in yesterday's paper, where it was noticed by Mr. Hoar. He states that Mr. Michael Hoarn, a brother, resides at 1146 Queen street west, Toronto, and he addressed a letter to him early this morning. Mr. Hoar believes that the deceased Thos. Hoarn is the same man whom he knew a number of years ago. He lived in Emmismore, but later went to Spokane where he was generally supposed to be living.

JURY CANNOT AGREE ON A VERDICT FOR THAW

At 3 p. m. Statement Was Made That There Was Still No Verdict —10-2 For Acquittal Says the Defence.

BETTING ON ACQUITTAL

Special to The Examiner by J. E. Heintz

New York, April 12, 3 p.m.—Still no verdict in the Thaw case. The jury has been wrangling and arguing all day long without having reached anything definite. It is believed that two of the jurors are holding out, one way or the other. Opinions differ as to which side the two are on, the latest Journal bulletin saying that counsel for the defence says it stands ten to two for acquittal, while the District Attorney's office professes to believe that it is ten to two for conviction.

The jury came into the court room about 1 p.m. and asked to communicate with the court. Shortly after, a recess until 2 o'clock was taken. The betting on the Stock Exchange now is even money for an acquittal.

Teamster Almost Trampled To Death By His Horses

Archie Rutherford Sustains Serious Injuries at Wilberforce—Was Taken to the Ross Hospital at Lindsay.

HE MAY NOT RECOVER

Mr. Archie Rutherford, an employee of the Wilberforce Lumber Company, on the I. B. and O. Railway, was very seriously injured yesterday morning in the stables of the Company, at Wilberforce. Mr. Rutherford is a teamster, employed with the Company and this morning went to the stables to attend to his horses as usual. The other men, shortly after entered the stable, heard a noise and ran in, finding Rutherford beneath the feet of one of the horses and bleeding from wounds inflicted by the steel shoes.

He was rescued as quickly as possible and brought to Lindsay on the first train and placed in the Ross Memorial Hospital, where his injuries were attended to. One of his ears was pulled off, and he was otherwise injured. Fears are entertained for his recovery, as it is believed that he has sustained serious internal injuries.

Council Will Be Asked To Modify The Two By-laws

Retail Merchants' Association Regard Box By-law as Drastic and Unjust—Changes in Hours is Wanted.

OLD SIGN BY-LAW ALL RIGHT

When the council meets on Monday night to discuss the sign bylaw they will be waited upon by a delegation representing the merchants who will ask them to allow the old bylaw to stand and also lay before them reasons why they think the bylaw with regard to the blocking of the sidewalks with packing boxes, etc., should be changed.

This was decided upon last night at the special meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association in the Y.M.C.A. at which there were present a large attendance, particularly of those who are most interested in the two bylaws. The measures were discussed at length and it seemed to be the general feeling of the meeting that if the council were informed of the hardship they were putting on the merchants by the bylaws they would moderate them so as to make them reasonable and fair to all parties concerned.

With regard to the sign bylaw the the merchants could see no reason for making a change. They expressed themselves as being unable to see that there was any necessity to impose any such restriction on the merchants and the opinion was given that the old bylaw was good enough if properly enforced.

The meeting was unanimous in the opinion that the packing box bylaw was an injustice to the merchants, especially to the fruit dealers, and the feeling was that the council had no right to impose such a drastic law upon a large number of men who provide 45 per cent. of the revenue of the city. Mr. W. Butler, of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company was asked to give his opinion of the bylaw. He stated that his company was non-plussed by the measure and hardly knew where they were at with regard to the delivery of packing boxes.

It was decided to ask the council to modify the bylaw so that the merchants may be allowed to unpack their goods up to 3 o'clock in the afternoon of every day in the week but Saturday, and on that day that they be given until 10 o'clock. The following committee was appointed to wait upon the council on Monday night:—Messrs. E F Mason, W E Conway, A W Greasman, Jas Connal, H Fair, R M Roy, R A Dutton, Jos. Mather, Walter Oke, Geo. O'Brien, G Kingdon, Minicolo Bros. and W. Butler.

ORILLIA UP AGAINST BIG PROPOSITION

That of Entertaining the 800 or 1000 Delegates to the Oddfellows Convention to be Held There This Year.

The Orillia Packet this week, referring to the gathering to be held there this year similar to that held in Peterborough last year says:—

It is time the townspeople were beginning to realize that there is a big task before Orillia in entertaining the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, which is to meet here early in August. It is anticipated that there will be from eight hundred to a thousand visitors in town for two or three days at that time.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"When The Harvest Days Are Over"

Neil Twomey's "down east" play "When the Harvest Days are Over" was produced under the author's personal direction at the Grand last night and thoroughly pleased the large audience present. It is a pastoral comedy drama with a strong and interesting plot and many funny situations. Felix Haney as Hez Huckins had the principal comedy role and was the source of plenty of amusement. Mr. Twomey was excellently cast as Robert Travis the Hero of the play, and the other roles were in the hands of capable actors who got the most out of them. Mr. Haney's song "Travelling" won him two encores. On the whole the play is a very pleasant way of whiling away an evening.

WM. ANGLESEY ARRESTED FOR THEFT

The theft was committed yesterday in a local hotel. Miss Graham took off her coat and laid it on a sofa and thoughtlessly placed her chatelaine on it. She went upstairs and returning in a few minutes found to her dismay that it had disappeared.

LUCKY ESCAPE FROM BEING IN WRECK

Sister of Mr. W. C. Austin Found That C. P. R. Train Was Too Crowded.

Mrs. Jos. Rogers, of Brockville, sister of Mr. W. C. Austin, city, who recently visited her brother here, and was intending to visit Kenora, had a fortunate escape from the terrible C.P.R. railway wreck at Chapleau on the 10th. She tried to take the train at Carleton Place Junction, but the Imperial Limited was so crowded that she had to wait for the next train. A postal card was received here to-day recording her escape, which was a great relief to her friends in Peterborough, who knew of her intention to take the train which was wrecked.

Mr. Wm. Mikes, 109 Welford street, a foreman with the C. G. E. Co., was painfully injured this afternoon by being run over by a wagon. Mr. Mikes was riding down Park street on a bicycle returning to work and was passing the wagon, when in some manner his wheel was upset, throwing him under the wheels, which passed over his legs, bruising them painfully.

HORSES ATTEMPTED TO JUMP THE FENCE

Were Attached to Load of Grain—Runaway Accident at Zion.

Examiner Special.

Zion, Otonabee, April 12.—A runaway occurred in this vicinity the other day which was almost accompanied by disastrous results. Mr. Wm. Rutherford was preparing to come to Peterborough with a load of grain, and while getting ready in the house, left the team, which he recently purchased, at the door. The horses became frightened at the noise made by Mr. David Thompson's team coming along the road, and made a dash for the gate. The hired man headed them off, only to turn them into the wire fence, which they attempted to jump. With the horses on one side and the wagon on the other, they were brought to a standstill, as the owner, who had been in the act of dressing, appeared on the scene in clothing suitable to a much warmer climate.

No damage was done except to the wire fence, which will need a few repairs.

MAN'S STRENGTH OF PURPOSE

He Shows It While He is Buying for Himself.

When a man goes into a store he wants to get just what he asks for. According to his success can be judged his strength of purpose and his keenness. It is the little things that mark the man of big achievements.

According to the records of complaints received, there were nearly 9000 men in 1906 who allowed themselves to be deceived when they wanted a pair of real Slater Shoes. They got imitations. A GREAT SPRING MEDICINE

Every Housekeeper cleans and brightens up the house in Spring-time. The house has been closed up all Winter and when Spring comes it is time to open the doors and clean the house.

The same with the human system. During the winter heavy foods are eaten, the rooms of the home are kept warm and when Spring comes the system is in a condition where a good Spring Medicine for cleaning out, toning up and renewing the system, is demanded.

Our Stomach and Liver Tonic is just the right Spring Medicine. It is one of those good old-fashioned remedies which cannot harm anyone, but which greatly benefits those who take it.

Take our advice and give this medicine a good, thorough trial, especially if you are inclined to be weak and suffering, from loss of strength.

The Y. M. C. A. Building Was A Busy Place Last Night

That the Y.M.C.A. is a public centre (as it should be) as well as a resort for men was well illustrated last night. The Historical Society held a meeting in the parlour. In the Club Room the Oval Tennis Club held a business meeting, while up-stairs in the hall Dr. Symonds was lecturing and the Retail Merchants' Association were meeting in the Board Board Room, and the Murray street choir held a practice in the Boys' room in the basement.

In addition the game room and reading rooms were thronged with young men all evening, while one of the best attended Working Boys' gym. classes for the season held sway in that part of the building.

THE CANINE CONSIDERED

There has been considerable poisoning of dogs in the city recently; and the cause has been attributed to malice. It seems to be a question whether it is malice, retribution or protection. There are two sides to every question, and dog owners, who suffer the loss of their animals, are not the only complainers. In many respects the dogs are found to be a nuisance. Dogs allowed to run at large commit many depredations that are extremely annoying. While it is a cowardly thing to remove dogs by poison, yet some persons may feel to be driven to it, on account of the injury they suffer from roaming dogs, belonging to persons who take no care of them, and, by starving them at home compel them to forage about the premises of other persons. The poisoning of valuable dogs may not always be intentional. Poison is perhaps placed for some disreputable cur, and the good dog, who is allowed abroad, sometimes gets what was intended for the mongrel canine. The dog nuisance has enlisted civic attention in St. Catharines. Ald. Nicholson, of that city, in a recent interview, said:

"We are determined to put a stop to the depredations committed by dogs allowed to run at large by their owners. People who take pardonable pride in the appearance of their lawns and gardens have been complaining, with just reasons, for years past, of the destruction caused by these dogs, and no action — at least no effective action—was taken to stop it. I mean this, and the Board of Works will take every means of carrying out its intention. As for the opposition that is being made to our proposal to engage two special constables to impound and destroy vagrant curs and the statement that the city cannot afford to pay two men to do this special work, I have only to say that our opponents might as well take the stand that a drunken and disorderly man ought not to be arrested because the city cannot afford to prosecute him."

If the dog poisoner in Peterborough is not acting under the impulse of a mania, but is doing his work as an act of prevention of the damages done by vagrant curs, and if the owners of dogs will take care of them, or dispose of them, if they cannot be prevented from becoming a nuisance to their neighbours, the dog poisoning will cease.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Young man, "go west — not now, but soon." Wait till the snowbanks melt. The Northwest railways are just now in the grip of a severe snowfall.

Spring doesn't come to Peterborough any too rapidly, but severe snow storms seem to play all round us, and leave us snowless. Heavy falls of snow have at once buried Quebec Province and the Northwest.

The naif remark of the Globe, that making Cobalt a dry camp, will convert it into a "myopic swinarium," will suggest to the Hamilton newspapers to classicalize Hogtown into the Metropolitan Swinarium.

Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior, has warned the employees of his department, that if they interefere in politics, they do so at their peril. A needed warning, no doubt. In its avoidance of the spoils policy, the Laurier Government has retained in office many civil servants appointed under the preceding Conservative regime; and it is a well known fact that many of those who have been so generously treated are not grateful. They are more loyal to their party than they are to their bread and butter. They should mind their business, or be allowed to get some business of their own to mind.

VEXATIOUS BYLAWS

At the meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association last night the overhanging sign bylaw and the bylaw relating to the delivery of packing cases were discussed and—condemned. A memorial will be presented, asking the Council to retain the old sign bylaw and to modify the packing case bylaw.

And merchants and other business men object, and with much force and good reason, against the over-hanging sign bylaw. Not against its enforcement, for no law or bylaw should be upon the books unless it is enforced. Failure to enforce any particulaw law, or bylaws, tends to demoralization — to contempt of all law. Why should the law be in existence at all? A measure to limit the size and limit the projection of signs is necessary, but there is no danger whatever, worth speaking of, from over-hanging signs of moderate size. It seems the bylaw forbids them on the score of appearance, on the ground that these signs disfigure the streets. What, then, about the forest of poles that are allowed to cumber and outrage the streets. George, and other business streets, are hideous with multiplex lines of poles, that make it look like a lumber yard on end. And yet, on the score of beauty, these poles are allowed to remain, but neat, attractive, overhanging signs must go. They are are rather an ornament and a sign of life and business enterprise. The poles are a sign of the tyranny of corporations. They disfugure the streets, they interrupt traffic, and, in case of fire, the wires they support are liable to interfere with firemen's work, and cause immense loss to our merchants. These poles pay no taxes, bring in no revenue; whereas the merchants and business men of the city pay, it is estimated, 45 per cent of the taxes. Yet they are discriminated against and harshly treated. Ugly pole lines are permitted on the streets, while the merchants who pay 45 per cent. of the taxes, who pay the taxes of the many industries, very properly exempted as a measure of encouragement, from taxation, are not permitted the benefit of the advertising represented by over-hanging signs, except illuminated signs. A lager beer sign, with a light inside, is lawful, while a sign indicating a Bible depository, is a crime. One set of merchants is allowed a sign day and night; another is allowed none at all. While this piece of petty tyranny exists, it should be enforced, as should also the bylaws against wheels on the walks, against cruelty to animals, (especially horses), against tramping down boulevards, against street loafing, etc., etc., etc., or the bylaw should be made fair.

Another vexatious bylaw that should be modified is that respecting delivering goods at the front of shops. Many shops have no rear access, and it seems a distinct hardship to enforce the letter of the bylaw. The bylaw should be made more elastic and less drastic. These two bylaws seem like persecution of our merchants, who claim to pay forty-five per cent. of the city's taxation, and who have, besides, high rents to apy. These bylaws are easy to enforce; the police do not have to exert themselves, and we have frequent prosecutions, because cases are easy to work up, while there has never been a prosecution under the boulevard bylaw, which is broken a thousand times a day; and the bicycle bylaw gets no attention unless a wheelman runs into a policeman on the pavement.

In many cases real hardship, interruption to business and actual loss, will result from enforcing this bylaw as it stands. In the case of fruit dealers, in the height of the season if goods are not to be allowed to be delivered in the morning the public will have to use stale fruits or go without and merchants will lose the harvest day business of the week. The bylaw should permit a little latitude. Would it not be better to allow goods to be delivered when it can be done without dislocating business and limit the time during which the goods may be unpacked or otherwise removed? The law limits the time which a railway train may block a crossing and the same might be applied to packing cases. Policemen patrol the business streets constantly and can easily see whether such a provision were observed or neglected. At any rate make the bylaw reasonable. The city council should help, not harrass our merchants.

Thousands of Women

ARE MADE WELL AND STRONG

Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Rests Upon the Fact that It Really Does Make Sick Women Well.

Thousands upon thousands of Canadian women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Their letters are on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office, and prove this statement to be a fact and not a mere boast.

Overshadowing indeed is the success of this great medicine, and compared with it all other medicines and treatment for women are experiments.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such widespread results for good?

Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work for a quarter of a century.

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has even approached its success is plainly and positively because there is no other medicine in the world so good for women's ills.

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womankind is not because it is a stimulant—not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructor ever discovered to act directly upon the female system, positively curing disease and displacements and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures, and physicians who have recognized the virtue in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due. If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience that it will effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), falling, inflammation, ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration, or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Anyway, write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It's free and always helpful.

Your Exact Measurements

That's the essential difference between Custom-made and Ready-made Clothing.

When you order a Suit or Overcoat made to your own exact measurements, in proper form, you get your own personality, figure, dimensions, peculiarities, posture, and all the rest that you instruct your merchant tailor.

When you buy a Suit or Overcoat out of a pile of Ready-mades, it makes little difference whether the pile is stacked up on a dusty table or on a wax figure—the "brand" differs only in the factory label it bears.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional remedy. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundations of the disease and give the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BUT I AM WELL NOW AND BELIEVE I OWE MY LIFE TO

There is a remarkable cure described in the letter which should prove of vital interest to anyone sufferiong from derangement of the kidneys.

Mrs. Dave W. McCall, Lombardy, Leeds Co., Ont., writes: I desire to acknowledge the benefits I have received from Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I was troubled with kidney disease for eight years and doctored with several doctors to no avail until my husband got me Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I began using them. Altogether I used ten boxes, and can truthfully say I would have been dead long ago only for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Words cannot express my praise for them, for I believe there is no medicine so good for kidney and liver disorders."

In the treatment of Bright's disease or inflammation of the kidneys, the first consideration is rest for these filtering organs and this can only be obtained by quickening the action of the liver and bowels.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills succeed where mere kidney medicines fail because they act promptly and directly on the liver, take the work off the kidneys, and then, by their invigorating action on the kidneys restore them to health and vigor.

Because of the intimate and sympathetic relation of the liver and kidneys it is useless to treat them independently of one another. This fact was in the mind of Dr. Chase when he prepared the formula of his celebrated Kidney-Liver Pills and the phenomenal success of this great medicine has proven his wisdom.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills positively cure liver complaint, biliousness, constipation, backache and kidney disease. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his medicine.

Scott's Colloseum

439 GEORGE STREET

New Programme for week commencing April 8, 1907.

THE GREAT TORONTO FIRE

Only those who actually saw the great fire in Toronto can adequately appreciate the realism of the moving pictures shown in the Colloseum by Mr. Scott and his assistants. The clang of the fire bells, the rush and hurry, the terror and grandeur of the awful conflagration are marvellously brought out. The rescue work of the firemen, the rush of the crowds, fighting the flames and dynamiting the dangerous walls, are depicted with a realty that is almost incredible.

The continuous performance takes place every afternoon and evening from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m. and furnishes a refined entertainment for both small and great. Ladies are especially invited to the afternoon performances.

Rev. H. J. Keith Inducted To Knox Presbyterian Church

Impressive Ceremony in the Recently Formed Church Last Night---Addresses Given by Three Members of the Presbytery---Rev. Dr. Torrance Conducted Induction Services.

Knox Presbyterian church, but recently separated from St. Paul's, contained a large audience last night on the solemn occasion of the induction of the first pastor, to that church, the Rev. H. J. Keith, of Smith's Falls. The ceremony was conducted by four ministers of the Peterborough Presbytery — Reverends H. Peckover, Dr. Torrance, J. G. Potter and Dr. Marsh.

A call had been extended some time ago to the Rev. A. Bright to accept the pastorate of Knox church, but the invitation was declined. The congregation next decided to hear ministers desirous of coming here and their unanimous choise rested upon Rev. Mr. Keith, who accepted the call, and who comes to Peterborough with an excellent reputation. He is a young man who has a splendid college record, and his pastorate here will no doubt be successful.

The Sermon

After devotional exercises Rev. H. Peckover of Omemee, delivered an impressive sermon from the words as found in Isaiah lxii, and 1st verse —"For Zion's sake will I hold my peace, and for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest, until the righteousness thereof goeth forth as brightness, and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burneth."

There was about these words, he said, a ring of truth; they rang out with lofty inspiration, and were speeches, refreshing and inspiring. In these words we have noble deeds as well as lofty speeches, and both are reuired in our daily lives. We have barriers to break down, evils to overcome, and messages to carry. We want a religion, not that dreams or speculates but that does something. The prophet Isaiah had a purpose before him, which many of us are lacking, and little can be accomplished without a purpose.

The Master had a purpose in view —the regeneration of the world — which in spite of countless oppositions he finally persevered in. Evidently the prophet was a man of purpose and of great ability, and he devoted himself to the cause of Zion.

The world wouldn't be much the worse if some of us had never lived, said the speaker. Every life that hasn't God for its purpose will topple over.

There was a great body of Christian people, he said, who had to be carried around in cots, like sick people, who never think they have any service to perform to comply with the demands of humanity. Many people think they are conferring a great favour upon almighty God by coming to service and believe that the Almighty should be much obliged. Some people, he considered, seemed to have the idea that a minister must be a mule — he must be something to draw.

In closing his remarks Mr. Peckover exhorted the congregation of the church to give themselves to God if they wanted the work under their new pastor to prosper, and asked them to take into their lives and hearts every person within their reach in the city.

The Induction Service

Following the sermon the induction of Rev. Mr. Keith took place, and he was formally received as the first pastor of Knox church.

Rev. Dr. Torrance conducted the solemn service which closed in prayed for the divine blessing on the new minister. The hand of fellowship was then extended to him by the other members of the Presbytery present, and the ceremony concluded.

Rev. J. G. Potter

The address to the minister was given by Rev. J. G. Potter, in which the speaker set forth the duties of a minister in charge of a Presbyterian congregation. The work over which Rev. Mr. Keith will have the oversight, he said, would be such as to require the best energies he possessed. He referred in glowing terms to the college life of Rev. Mr. Keith and was assured that he would do honour to that past record while pastor of the Knox Presbyterian church. He considered that along all lines of study the disciplined mind was the best, therefore it was necessary for him to devote a good deal of his time to the preparation of the services on Sunday.

A pastor needs to be a man of strong Christian personality; he must be a manly man, and one attractive enough to win the hearts and lives of men to Christ.

The world around us honours that true manhood, and oftentimes the ungodly and unsympathetic men are brought into touch with such a character and edified.

A pastor must also be a man of Pentecost, one endowed with the spir-

REV. H. J. KEITH, M.A., B.D.,
Who was last night inducted as Pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church.

it of the Holy Ghost. He must have this requisite, besides being well cultivated and well trained.

The duty of Every Christian minister, said the speaker, was to preach the doctrine of Jesus Christ as it was preached in the apostolic days, and he strongly condemned the new doctrines which are now springing up in the world.

Keep The Doubts

Ministers ought to realize more and more, he declared, that to save the soul, the ethical, or the philanthropic gospel will not hold good. They have had their day, and have failed to lift the fallen humanity. The gospel needed is that which is going to elevate human society, and that which would teach the simple love of Christ. Jesus Christ is still the great High Priest, and there is no other way to enter into the Kingdom of God than by Him.

If the new minister had any doubts as to the sincerity of the gospel, he asked him not to give them to the people—it too often sent men and women away from the House of God without the satisfactions they were seeking.

In closing his remarks, he hoped that the ministry of Rev. Mr. Keith would be a blessed and a useful one, that the congregation of Knox Presbyterian Church would be much benefitted, as he was certain it would, by the pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Keith.

Rev. Mr. Potter's address was followed by a duet splendidly rendered by Miss Winnie Anderson and Mr. Duncan Campbell, which preceded the Rev. Dr. Marsh's address to the people.

Rev. Dr. Marsh

Dr. Marsh's address was confined chiefly to the things the congregation should and should not do. He asked the parents to not allow the minister to be the first to speak to their children about their souls. There was no higher privilege, he said, under the dome of heaven than the privilege of the parents to speak to their offspring about Jesus Christ. This should not be left to the minister to do.

The speaker also reminded the people not to consider their minister a prophet. He should be given all information concerning the sick and the troubled, but should not be expected to know this without being told. He advised them not to send for the minister unless they were very ill, and if they were seriously ill they should send for the doctor. The minister might be informed, and if the case was serious he would go anyway.

Time to Prepare

The minister should be given plenty of time to prepare his sermons, and he should not be expected to be travelling about the streets calling on everybody, so that when Sunday came he would be able to have a sermon of energy to give his people.

The minister should be paid; he should not be paid only what he is promised, but all that the congregation was able to pay. Rev. Dr. Marsh complimented the congregation on the choice they had made in calling the Rev. Mr. Keith, and he believed that he should be respected and encouraged.

In conclusion, he urged the congregation to have patience with the minister and to pray for his welfare and his work, and he assured them that their efforts and those of their spiritual adviser would be accompanied with success.

The induction services were then brought to a close by the singing of the Doxology and the recital of the Benediction.

OBITUARY

JOHN HICKEY

Mrs. Eugene Archambault, 71 Elm street, this morning received a telegram announcing the death in Rochester, of her brother, Mr. John Hickey, at the age of 50 years. Deceased was a native of Peterborough, though for the past 25 years a resident of Rochester, where he has occupied a prominent position as mechanical superintendent of the Bausch & Loomb optical works. The death must have been comparatively sudden as no intimation of his illness prior to his death, had been received by his relatives here, who include Mrs. Archambault, and several cousins. He leaves a wife and five children, three boys and two girls. Interment will take place in Rochester.

MORE BONES HAVE BEEN FOUND

Four Skulls and Other Relics of the Dead Discovered in Excavations.

As the work of excavating for the Collegiate Institute proceeds, more indications of the fact that the ground was at one time a cemetery, are being found.

This morning a large number of bones were found, including four skulls. They are being collected in a box and will be buried again. The relics of the dead were discovered about three feet in the earth, being turned up by the plough. The finds are causing much interest and the excavation has been watched by a large number of people all day.

One of the skulls found was well preserved with a number of teeth still remaining in the jaws, and shreds of hair upon the skull.

DRAMATIC RECITALS OF EXCELLENCE

Given by Mr. Gilbert Shorter and Madame Lillian Adams Under Direction of Mrs. W. J. Morrow.

LOCAL TALENT ASSISTED

Mrs. W. J. Morrow scored another distinct success last night on the occasion of the presentation of Mr. Gilbert Shorter and Madame Lillian Adams in their dramatic recitals and sketches. The concert was held in St. Peter's Hall, which was almost filled with an audience that manifested its appreciation of the efforts of the principals in the entertainment. Several of Mrs. Morrow's pupils assisted with credit to themselves and to their able instructor, and it may be said that they contributed largely to the success of the concert.

The numbers given by Mr. Shorter, Mme. Adams and Little Beryl were a novelty to a local audience, as well as a delight. They were of an unique character, and, dramatic as some were, and humourous as others, still there was a certain indefinable quality that was foreign to the usual style of recitals. The pith of a story was not as prominently brought out as is generally the case, and the audience were left to themselves to determine the full meaning. This was noticeable in many of the sketches, and added a charm to them. Especially was this true of "The Story of the Uriah," by Kipling, the first of Mr. Shorter's numbers. He is a comprehensive actor, and is particularly strong in dramatic effects. His "King Robert of Sicily" was expressively presented and was thoroughly appreciated. Of his lighter numbers, "An Old Sweetheart" was treated in a dainty manner and was the best of his sketches in the lighter vein.

Little Beryl was a favourite with the audience, and, for one of her years, is splendid. Her stage presence left nothing to be desired as she was always at her ease. Her numbers were varied in character, and she was delightful in all of them. Perhaps she appeared to best advantage in "The Tendril's Faith" and "Little Blackasheep." She is a winsome child and gives promise of a bright future.

Madame Lillian Adams appeared in several of the recitals, but her forte is truly the piano. She accompanied Mr. Shorter and Little Beryl in the majority of their numbers, the music being of her own composition. The dramatic effects were greatly enhanced by the excellence of her efforts, the various moods being vividly portrayed. She is a versatile pianiste, and her opening selection demonstrated her ability in solo work. The rest of the programme was contributed by Mrs. Morrow's pupils.

Mrs. (Dr.) Archer's double number was well received. She is the possessor of a strong contralto voice, and was heard to good effect in both selections. Miss Mollie Young rendered, in a finished style, "In the Chimney Corner."

Miss Lavina Hallihan was in good voice, and her rendition of "The Jewel Song," from Faust, was perfect. She graciously responded to a hearty encore.

Mr. John King's splendid bass voice was heard to good advantage in "Deep in the Mine." He surpassed himself in this number, and received a well-merited recall. His second selection was "The Rose."

Mrs. Morrow accompanied these vocalists in her customary excellent manner. She deserves great credit for the entertainment provided, not only from Mr. Shorter's and Madame Adams' work, but also up the successful efforts that have attended her teaching. Her pupils won many praises upon the high standard of their singing.

The programme was presented as follows:

Music Composed by Lillian Adams.

Before the last number of the programme, Rev. Father McColl addressed the audience, expressing on behalf of Mrs. Morrow her thanks for the large attendance, and the appreciation evidenced after each number. He spoke highly of the performers and gave the assurance that future entertainments will be of the same high standard.

The concert was concluded by the singing of the National Anthem.

It will be of interest to many to mention that Mrs. Adams is a daughter of the late Col. Kennedy, well remembered by many Peterborough people, who accompanied the Red River expedition under Lord Wolsley, and who died on his way home from an attack of small pox. The family was well known in Peterborough.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS,—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result, my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

Women Suffer Agonies from Kidney Trouble

GIN PILLS CURE THEM

There is Mrs. Ripley, for instance. She suffered terribly with her back. It ached, ached, ached—all the time. Even in bed, it seemed as if she could not get easy. It finally became so bad that housework was impossible.

She certainly was a discouraged woman when she began to take GIN PILLS. And there isn't a happier, healthier woman in the Dominion than this same Mrs. Ripley to-day.

Williamsdale East, May 9th.

I cannot refrain from writing you the benefits I have received from Gin Pills. Before I had taken Gin Pills I suffered dreadfully with my back, and had suffered for twenty years. I have tried almost everything but got no relief until I got "Gin Pills."

I have taken six boxes and now I have not the sign of a pain or an ache in my back. I am now 48 and feel as well as I ever did in my life. There is nothing can hold a place with Gin Pills for pains in the back to which women are subject. Yours truly,

MRS. MILLARDE P. RIPLEY.

Mrs. Ripley had serious Kidney Trouble. And the sick kidneys were making her back ache—were giving her those splitting headaches—were sapping her strength—and dragging her down. GIN PILLS really saved her life. GIN PILLS cured her kidneys. She has been well ever since. GIN PILLS are a grand medicine for women.

Try them at our expense. Mention this paper when writing and we will send you a free sample so you can see for yourself just what GIN PILLS will do for you. The Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg, Man. 91

FIRST CYCLE WAS CONSIDERED

Interesting Lecture by Dr. Symonds on Tennyson's "In Memoriam" Last Night in Y. M. C. A. Hall.

SPLENDID MUSICAL NUMBERS

The First Cycle of "In Memoriam," or the "Cycle of the Past," was the subject of Rev. Dr. Symonds' lecture last night. For the first time in the poem, the thought of immortality occurs, and is the almost continuous subject of the entire division (sections 28-72).

Tennyson regards immortality as at once a truth revealed and a fact implied in the constitution of human nature. Should it be said that if immortality may be proved by the reason, and therefore revelation is unnecessary, the answer is that the arguments of the philosopher cannot be grasped by the ordinary man, and so Christ revealed by His life what otherwise could not have become a living faith for all, and therefore, we value the philosophic arguments yield.

We yield all blessing to the name of Him that made them current coin.
For wisdom dealt with mortal powers,
Where truth in profoundest words shall fail:
When truth embodied in a tale,
Shall enter in at lowly doors.

So, for the mass of men, immortality is a revealed truth. Nevertheless, there are many intimations from the very nature of man that convince us that "we were not made to die." With some of these, as, for example, the sense of feeling of our kinship with the Infinite, Tennyson deals. In "Locksley Hall Sixty Years After," he sings:

"Since our dying race began,
Ever and for ever was the leading light of man.
Those that in barbaric burials killed the slave and slew the wife,
Felt within themselves the sacred passion of the second life."

The question has often been asked, "Was Tennyson a Christian, in the ecclesiastical sense of the term?" In spite of his oft-re-eated disparagment of systems and creeds, our answer must be "Yes." His uses of Christ the theological term, "The Word." We recall the words of the prologue:

Strong Son of God, Immortal Love,
Whom we that have not seen Thy face,
By faith, and faith alone, embrace,
Believing where we cannot prove.
And, again,—
And so the Word had breath, and wrought
With human hands the creed of creeds.

Many of the questions connected with the future life are discussed in this division of the poem. The poet indicates his belief that the exact nature of the spirit life cannot be known in this stage of our existence. In this agreeing with St. Paul when he writes, "Eye hath not seen, nor hath ear heard, nor hath entered into the heart of man to conceive of the things God hath prepared for us." Nevertheless, in many beautiful verses, he discusses and answers these questions. Do the dead remember their earthly life and friends? He concludes that they do. He does not believe that they are unconscious until the final judgment. Nor will he for a moment believe that the individual life is, at the moment of death, absorbed into the universal death, absorbed into the Universal Soul.

"That each, who seems a separate whole,
Should move his wounds, and lusing all
The skirts of self again, should fall
Remerging in the general soul.

Is faith as vague as all unweeve?
Eternal form shall still divide
The eternal soul from all beside,
And I shall know him when we meet."

Thus the poet, in the poet's fashion discusses the common problems of immortality that press at times upon our souls. The central argument for immortality, with Tennyson, as with Browning, springs out of what is conceived of as a conviction not susceptible of absolute proof, that the heart of the universe if love and life. He holds that this is the revelation of the gospel record, and that it may also be reached as a conviction by the study of the phenomena of human nature.

The chairman last night was Rev. Dr. Crothers, and Miss Lillian Moore again delighted the large audience with a vocal solo. The chairman tonight will be Lieut.-Col. Rogers, and the subject of the First Cycle will be continued, together with the Second Cycle. Miss Helen Davies will, at the close of the lecture, sing Tennyson's exquisite song, "Crossing the Bar."

¶ That the "Semi-ready" system of tailoring must ultimately prevail, just as the manufacture of the finest boots have vanquished the old custom-made boot, is the universal belief of the many who have watched the splendid growth of the idea.

¶ The one difficulty which Semi-ready tailoring had to surmount was that of conveying in words the exact meaning of the many innovations and improvements introduced under the one name, "Semi-ready."

¶ This difficulty was offset by the enthusiasm of all who bought Semi-ready garments and told their friends about the Physique Type System, based on height and weight measurements, and meeting every variation caused by environments or physical temperament.

THE MINSTREL SHOW IN ABOUT A MONTH

Committee Met Last Night to Make Preliminary Arrangements—Music From Toronto to be Secured.

The minstrel show, which will be given in the Grand Opera House in about a month by local vocalists, in aid of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, is assuming definite shape. Last night a meeting of the general committee handling the enterprise was held, and considerable preliminary work was done. It is expected that about twenty-five of the young men of the city will comprise the chorus, which will be trained by Mr. John Crane, while Mr. W. McIlroy will have charge of the business end of the enterprise. It is understood that the score of the minstrel show given by the Toronto Elks in Massey Hall a short time ago will be secured and used here for the show, whilst will be given two nights. As a result of the effort, the funds of the lacrosse club will no doubt be considerably augmented.

The following committee is in charge of the affair: Messrs. Alex. Elliott, W. H. Denham, John Crane, W. Stocker, Fred. Clarke, W. McIlroy, Geo. Lynch, W. S. Davidson and Dr. Wightman.

The officers elected are as follows:

W. McIlroy, Manager.
W. S. Davidson, Secretary-Treasurer.
John Crane, Musical Director.

BELLEVILLE CHEESE MEN HAVE ALREADY SOLD

The Price Was 12c. Per Pound—Cheese Factories Here Open May 6th.

Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie returned last night from a trip through Eastern Ontario, in the Belleville district particularly, and states that the cheese factories there have already begun operations for the season. A sale was made last week off the board, and cheese brought 12 cents per pound.

The factories in this vicinity are making arrangements to begin on the first Monday in May, and the first sale will be held on the 15th. The price, it is believed, will be in the neighbourhood of 12 cents for the initial sale.

CASE AGAINST BAKER WAS DISMISSED

Accused of Being Vagrant But Attempted Robbery Implied.

"Hector Baker you are charged with being without any place of abode, any visible means of support, in short, you are a vagrant. What have you to say to this charge?"

"Not guilty," replied Mr. Goodwill, his counsel.

Police Officer Newhall testified that on April 4th about 10.25, he arrested him in a dark spot on Hunter street with both his hands in a drunken man's pockets. He said he was searching for "tin" The officer felt in the man's pockets and found a little round tin box.

On the way to the station Baker said—"I was looking for a flask of whiskey." Witness said that earlier in the evening he saw prisoner with the drunken man on Simcoe street near the alleyway close to the New Oxford.

To Mr. Goodwill Officer Newhall said he had kept an eye on the pair from the time he had seen them. The man with Baker was Edward McCarthy. Witness said he has often seen prisoner with drunken men, acting rather suspiciously.

Chief Rossel gave an account of Baker's police court career. He said that when prisoner gets drunk he is hardly accountable for his actions. On this evidence Magistrate Dumble discharged the prisoner.

SHIRT WAIST DANCE WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Delightful Affair Under the Auspices of Otherdom Club Last Night.

Delightfully, informally and thoroughly enjoyable was the shirt waist dance, given under the auspices of the Otherdom Club in the Foresters' Hall last night. The arrangements made were carefully carried out, and the affair was in every way a great success. The gentlemen all appeared in shirt waists, and the novelty was enjoyed. The Glionna Orchestra of Toronto rendered splendid music, and during the evening Messrs. George Chandler and W. Bress rendered songs which were much appreciated.

Are You In Favour Of "Pro." Hockey In Peterborough?

Examiner Will Ask Its Readers to Answer This Question---Vote Will Be Taken on the Subject---What the Project Will Mean to the Hockey-Loving Public.

The announcement in the Examiner last night to the effect that Peterborough is to have a professional hockey team caused considerable surprise, and has been the subject of considerable discussion on the part of the sporting fraternity. Many are favourable to the proposition, while others have expressed opposition to the scheme.

It is the intention of the Examiner to find out the mind of its readers upon this important question, and to do so will ask for a vote upon the subject. To-morrow, a ballot will be printed, and one will be found in the Examiner each day until the first of May, when the vote will be closed. The ballot will simply ask you to say whether or not you are in favour of a professional senior hockey team for Peterborough. Everyone who is interested in hockey is asked to send in a ballot, as the result will give the promoters of the scheme an opportunity to judge the feeling of the people of Peterborough on the matter.

In marking your ballot you should consider the question carefully from all its aspects. The project is a large one and will make a big change in hockey circles in the city. It will give the people of Peterborough the fastest hockey that they have ever seen, with the top-notch teams, upon which will appear men whose names are famous in the honour rolls of hockey. The hockey will be of the Stanley Cup variety, and of the kind that is most appreciated by the fans.

In your vote, it must not be lost sight of that the scheme will mean that the fans will have to pay more for the games. It is not possible to make professional hockey pay unless it is well supported, and, of course, the admission fee will have to be higher than the people of this city have been asked to pay in the past for their hockey games. It is not possible to finance a professional team when only 25 and 50 cents is charged for admission, and the public can quite easily understand that the prices that would be charged for the professional games would be in advance of these figures.

These things should all be taken into consideration when the ballots are being marked. Don't vote without giving the matter some thought, as it is a subject of the greatest importance in sporting circles.

It is too early to give much information about the proposed scheme. The matter is in the hands of men who have had plenty of experience in hockey and are well qualified in every way to deal with it. At the proper time the proposal will be explained to the fans; at the present, it is only desired to get the opinion of the sporting fraternity of the city upon the subject.

To-morrow night's Examiner will contain the first ballot, which will be found on the sporting page, where more information will be given as to the vote which it is proposed to take.

SKIN DISEASES

Salt Rheum, Pimples, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Shingles, Scald Head, Itching Sores.

All diseases of the skin are more or less directly caused by a bad state of the blood, which produces acrid humors and corrupts the secretions.

No one can expect to have a clear, bright skin when the blood is in a disordered condition, and the stomach, liver and bowels acting feebly in consequence.

All the above skin diseases, in fact, any disease arising from a bad condition of the blood, are curable by through its wonderful cleansing, purifying powers on the blood, and its renovating action on the system.

Mr. A. Squire, Dominion, N.S., tells how he was cured of Salt Rheum. He writes: "For years I suffered with Salt Rheum, and was unable to find a curable remedy out of all the medicines I took, and Physicians consulted. Finally I was urged by a friend to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after a very short space of time I was completely cured. I shall always recommend B.B.B. for such cases, as I consider it an indispensable remedy."

BANQUET TO THE PILL POUNDERS

Pleasant Evening Spent by the Young Druggists at Long' Palm Parlors—Witty Speeches Made.

BANQUET BY MR. J. NUGENT

Through the kindness of Mr. John Nugent, Hon. President of the Pill Pounders Club, the members of that organization were pleasantly banquetted last evening at Long's palm parlours. The Pill Pounders is a club well known to Peterborough people through the instrumentality of their hockey abilities, having played for two seasons with some of the fastest junior teams in the city, and have never yet lost a game.

Their supper last night was a delightful function and a fitting closing to a successful hockey and social season. The boys feel greatly indebted to Mr. Nugent for his consideration for them, as he has always taken a deep interest in their games and great pride in their victories, so that many and sincere were the words of appreciation for him at the banquet last night.

Having done justice to the tempting spread on the prettily decorated table, the toast list, conducted by Mr. Robert Davidson, the presiding Pill Pounder, was begun. The toast to the King was honoured in the usual manner. It was followed by the principal toast of the evening — "Our Host." This was proposed by Mr. Arthur Mann and responded to by Mr. Nugent, who referred to the successful season of the hockey team, and told some interesting and amusing stories.

The "Professions of the doctors and druggists," was next proposed by Mr. W. K. Hunton, and responded to by Dr. E. V. Frederick. Mr. Max Yelland gave some interesting reminiscences of the hockey team and recalled a number of their great battles on the ice. Mr. Norman Lawson followed with an address of eulogy for the Hon. President, and also contributed a number of whistling selections which greatly pleased the boys.

The cause of "The Ladies" was held by Mr. Ralph Quinn, and Mr. Gordon Fitzgerald proposed the toast to "The Press" which was responded to by the scribes present.

The delightful evening was then brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

The young man has made excellent progress in baseball lines, having played amateur ball since 1902 with the Hurons, of Buffalo, with splendid success. He has now accepted a position to play second base for the Syracuse ball team this year at $100 per month and transportation expenses.

LACROSSE CLUBS GIVEN GROUPINGS

Intermediates in District With Two Fast Toronto Teams.

At a meeting of the C. L. A. District Committee last night in Toronto, the intermediate and junior grouping for the year was arranged. The Peterborough senior club was grouped with the Young Torontos, and Jack Forsythe's North End A. A. team, two of the fastest intermediate teams in the C. L. A. With this arrangement the public should be given some great lacrosse this season.

The Peterborough Shamrocks are in a junior district with Oshawa, Port Hope, Lindsay, Markham, Cannington and Uxbridge, an arrangement that should make a very interesting competition for the district honours.

LAKEVIEW BASEBALL TO REORGANIZE AGAIN

The members of last year's Lakeview Ball Club are requested to turn out for practice at the Driving Park to-morrow afternoon. Ald. R. H. Leary, president of the Agricultural Society, has kindly given his consent to this team using the ground this year. On Monday night a meeting will be held in the National Hotel at eight o'clock, when the team will be re-organized and prospects for the summer discussed.

STRATHCONAS' BANQUET.

The representatives of the various city league teams, will meet this evening at Messrs. Lang & Maher's store at eight o'clock, for the purpose of making the final arrangements for the banquet to the Strathconas on Monday night. Each member of the committee is asked to be present. The banquet promises to be one of the best given in sporting circles for some time.

Do not forget the Skating Contest (Ladies and Gentlemen skating in couples) at the Roller Rink to-night.

CRICKET

There will be a meeting of the Cricket Club to-night, at eight o'clock at the Y.M.C.A., when some very important business will be taken up. It is important that every officer and player should be on hand for this meeting.

FOOTBALL

The football team will practice again this evening at 6.45 and again to-morrow at 2 o'clock at Central Park. About a dozen were out last night and a good snappy workout was held.

TEACH ART TO PUPILS IN THE SCHOOLS

So Rev. Dr. Symonds Advised the Ladies of the Women's Art Association in Address Yesterday.

EXCELLENT ADDRESS GIVEN

"Art, in fact, is the effort of men to express the ideas which Nature suggests to him, whether that power be within the recesses of his own being or in the Great First Cause, of which Nature, like himself, is but the effect."—Bulwer Lytton.

The "Democracy of Art" was the subject of an address delivered by Rev. Dr. Symonds, yesterday afternoon to the members of the local branch of the Woman's Art Association. The Sunday schoolroom of St. John's Church contained a large number of the members of the association, to whom the lecture was not only a literary treat, but was replete with novel and practical ideas. Mr. D. Hughes Charles, who acted as chairman, introduced Rev. Dr. Symonds in a few complimentary words.

The Address

The reverend speaker expressed his pleasure at being requested to address the ladies of the association on the very comprehensive subject of art. He disclaimed being an authority on the subject, and was only a worshipper at the shrine. He had spoken on a similar subject to the ladies' branch in Montreal, and was glad to make any suggestion which might be put into practical use in the promotion of a love for art.

Not every person claiming to be a devotee of art could pass reliable judgment upon the qualities of a picture, and give the reasons for her decision; nor could they point out definitely the special character of a well-furnished room, describing the appropriateness of the colouring, the pictures, drapery etc. This gift was not possessed by everyone, but there is in the human race an instinctive love for art, and it was the cultivation of this that the speaker wished to address the association upon. Rev. Dr. Symonds stated that most barbarous tribes possessed marked artistic traits. He said that there is more love for art among the Indians than among the civilized white people. He gave as example, stating that the Indian invariably decorates his spee, but that in the hovels of the slums of our cities nothing but bare walls and squalor exists. As one ascends the scale a little more adornment is found on the walls and in the general appearance, but even among the highest rank, pictures are found that possess but little merit from the standpoint of art. Thus, they may be expensive, but a price does not determine the true value.

Art is Universal

Like religion, the reverend speaker said, art is a universal feeling. Whether expressed in a love for music, sculpture or painting, it is a racial desire, and yet the great multitude has but little knowledge of it. Hence the Woman's Art Association should do all in their power to cultivate the public taste.

In the later centuries of the middle ages, the speaker said, there was a greater appreciation of art than there is to-day. This is an indication that we should not be too sure that we have advanced during these years. The reason for this condition was that religion and art were closely related. In the churches, the walls and ceilings were adorned with beautiful pictures suitable to the place, yet surpassing works in themselves. The churches of Florence and Rome contained many examples of the artists' best efforts. The common people attending were unconsciously educated by the best masters. Rev. Dr. Symonds thought that the ladies should strive to accomplish something in this direction. They would first have to overcome a Protestant prejudice and would meet with many obstacles. Every other public place is adorned in some manner, yet the churches remain bare. The people are not ready for such a movement, as also non-Christian people are not ready for missionaries. They do not appreciate it, and thus ladies, like the missionaries, should not aim at great things in the beginning.

Regarding the cultivating of an appreciation of art, the speaker said that a start should be made in the schools. It is melancholy, Rev. Dr. Symonds said, to see them without adornments. Anything suggestive of art is found wanting, and yet it is the school that should cultivate artistic tastes in connection with regular school work.

In conclusion, the reverend speaker said that this work required patience and perseverance, and that the members should be satisfied with results, however slight they may appear.

Mr. Hughes Charles, on behalf of the ladies, tendered Rev. Dr. Symonds a hearty vote of thanks. He was in sympathy with the work, and thought that the suggestion regarding the schools was a good one. The local schools, he said, were the plainest and ugliest of all he had ever seen. They were built from a utilitarian standpoint, and did not appeal to the highest, the artistic temperaments of the children.

MISS J. BERTRAM WAS PRESENTED WITH BOOK

By the Officers and Some of the Ladies of the Women's Art Association Before Departing From the City.

The ladies of the local branch of the Women's Art Association presented Miss J. Bertram with a volume on Old English China at the conclusion of Rev. Dr. Symonds' address in St. John's Sunday School room yesterday. Mr. D. Hughes Charles made the presentation on behalf of the ladies and addressed her a few words in appreciation of the assistance she had rendered the society when it was instituted, and was not as flourishing as it is to-day. That society has a great scope in which it can exert an influence and the speaker thought that they were beginning to accomplish things and hoped that they would strive for grander results.

Miss Bertram was the first President of the Association in this city and has been of great help during her term of office and afterwards. She thanked the donors of the remembrance she had received in an appropriate reply.

Miss Bertram is about to depart from Peterborough and will be missed by her many friends.

THE REASON WHY

We So Strongly Endorse and Recommend Vinol to the People of Peterborough.

Mr. McDermid of the firm of McDermid & Jury, our local druggists, says: "I do not believe there is a man, woman or child in Peterborough, whom our cod liver preparation, Vinol, will not benefit at this season of the year.

"I believe there is no need for so many people to drag around run-down, tired out and debilitated, or for old people to remain weak and infirm, when we guarantee Vinol will restore health and strength."

Continuing, Mr. McDermid said: "For centuries cod liver oil has been recognized as the greatest of all body building agents for wasted human strength and vitality, but on account of the nauseating and system-clogging oil which enveloped its curative properties few could take it with benefit.

"In Vinol you get in a concentrated form every one of the curative and strength-creating elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, the useless system-clogging oil eliminated, and tonic iron added.

"Vinol is guaranteed by over five thousands of the leading druggists of America to create strength for old people, for the run-down, tired and debilitated, weak, sickly, women and children, and after a severe sickness.

"We ask every such person in Peterborough to try Vinol. It costs nothing if it fails." McDermid & Jury, also at the Market Drug Store, the Ormond & Walsh old stand.

Rev. G. F. Davidson was inducted as rector of St. George's church, Guelph.

ONLY 2 DAYS MORE

SATURDAY, APRIL 13th

Will be the LAST DAY that You can buy a PIANO at Sacrifice Prices, and then you will have to pay from $75.00 to $100.00 more money for them.

Seldom have PIANOS been offered at less than Cost. These PIANOS are all New and High Grade, Fully Guaranteed.

You may never have a chance like this again in a Life Time.

People who never thought of buying before have bought and now have a beautiful Piano in their home; others who thought that there was plenty of time yet on account of their children being too young or some other paultry reason have seen it to their advantage to save dollars by buying now while this Bargain Sale is on. Dollars Saved are Dollars Earned. No home is complete unless there is a Piano installed.

You will live just as long and die just as rich by having a Piano as by doing without one; there is nothing that will bring into a home as much sunshine as music, and no accomplishment so refining.

Since this Bargain Sale has been advertised, many people have asked the reason who the J. M. Greene Music Co., can afford to offer to sell Pianos at such ridiculously low prices. They explain by way of illustration of a certain firm in New York City conceiving the idea that it was necessary to advertise their place of business, and in order to make known their particular address they advertised that American 2c. Post Stamps would sell for a certain number of hours on a certain date for 1c. each. Can you conceive a profit that would be made in this particular case, whereby they offered 2c. for 1c.; yet it did prove a financial success to the Company. This Firm became so well known through this method of advertising, that their business has grown from year to year until at the present time they are considered one of the shrewdest and wealthiest Firms in New York City. The moral in this particular reference is, that while the public who patronized this sale of Postage Stamps, they not only received Genuine Stamps, at half price, which enabled them to swell their own bank account through the enterprise, but through this small transaction a continuance of the patronage resulted in building up one the the largest merchantile concerns in the City of New York.

The J. M. Greene Music Co. are not offering Postage Stamps, but Genuine High Grade Pianos, at price, which have appealed to the thoughful, careful buyers of this district and many have already availed themselves of this opportunity.

The J. M. Greene Music Co. adopted this means of advertising themselves and place of business, and in so doing, hope that in the future instead of selling One Hundred Pianos a year, they may be able to sell Two Hundred per year.

We would again call your attention to the different makes of Pianoes we are selling, namely:—

"KARN" of Woodstock "DOMINION" of Bowmanville
"KOHLER & CAMPBELL" of New York "KRYDNER"
And the popular and much talked of "NEW SCALE WILLIAMS" of Oshawa, Canada

MINISTER LEAVES PULPIT TO BOOST MATRIMONIAL GAME

Pittsburg, April 10.—The Rev. H. L. Smith, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, the largest and handsomest edifice in Bellevue, Pa., has decided to become a match-maker. He has requested the girls of his congregation, and there are many to write him letters on "A Young Woman's Ideal Young Man."

More than one hundred wrote him. He has made the same request of the young men, and when he gets all the letters he is going to start a series of sermons telling what the young women want, and giving points on the young men. The minister says he will make many matches. The congregation thinks the Rev. Mr. Smith is a "darling." He says that mollycoddles matrimonially inclined, are not wanted. Brainstorms and blusters are also barred. The letters from the girls are funny. Here are a few extracts:

"I approve of a man who would not have brainstorm or bluster," says one letter, "but who had temper enough to keep his wife or any other woman, from dictating to him."

"My ideal man is neither a mollycoddle or a dude," says another letter.

"A good, strong, clever man, with some red corpuscles in his blood, and I'm willing to let the rest take care of itself," is another.

"Give me a young man who loves a great deal, and who can love a long time."

Twenty-five per cent of the girls want a handsome man, 40 per cent. desire a large man, and 35 per cent. want neatness.

Immigrant's Story Is Discounted By Facts

Statement by Englishman to the Effect That He Was Unfairly Treated, Takes on a Different Aspect.

HE RECEIVED FULL JUSTICE

There are always two sides to a story, and if may be taken as a fact that in nine cases out of ten, where immigrants complain of alleged unfair treatment, if the circumstances are investigated, it will be found that they have received pretty fair dealing. Canadian farmers are, as a rule, honourable, and willing to give a man what he is worth.

A case in point—a few days ago a man and his wife came to the County Police Magistrate with a story alleging that a South Monaghan farmer had not given him any wages, though he had worked for 31 days. An investigation was instituted by the Examiner, and it is found that the Englishman has no such claim as he represented, and that, instead of $18 a month, the arrangement was that he should receive $10, and the man for whom he worked stated that he was not worth even that, an instance being quoted to show this. He was left to hoe turnips, and in a whole forenoon he could less than one rwo 30 rods long.

The goods of the immigrants, which were at the station, were released by the gentleman for whom he worked, and the freight charges, amounting to half a month's wages, were also paid by him.

It was stated to the Examiner this Staff Captain Wiggins, of the Salvation Army, after hearing both sides of the story, decided that there was nothing in the claim of the newcomer.

WHARF AND STEAMER CARRIED OUT BY STORM INTO RICE LAKE

The storm of last Sunday did considerable damage at the foot of Rice Lake to property belonging to Mr. F. Burnett, carrying out into the lake, wharf, steamer Rainbow and a large quantity of oak logs. The Rainbow was brought back but some of the timber being very heavy is liable to sink before it is recovered.

STRONG DEMAND FOR FIRST-CLASS CARPENTERS

There is likely to be a big demand for carpenters in the city this year. The Examiner was informed yesterday that already the contractors on some of the big buildings which are under course of construction are experiencing some difficulty in securing enough men to carry on the work as rapidly as they would like. A representative of one of these contractors was on the streets yesterday afternoon trying to engage men to work, and secured some, but, it is understood that he did not get enough.

With the number of large buildings which will be erected during the year it is anticipated that there will be a good demand for building labour of all kinds.

Everybody Agrees

that COD LIVER OIL and IRON are beyond question the greatest medicines known. Then why does not everybody take Cod Liver Oil and Iron? Simply because most people cannot take the Oil and few can digest the Iron in any ordinary form. These difficulties have been entirely removed by the introduction of FERROL, in which the Iron is scientifically combined with the Oil, rendering the Oil palatable and the Iron digestible. While is manufactured from the best quality of Cod Liver Oil (the whole of the Oil) and is richer in oil than any other emulsion, and while it contains just the right quantity of the best form of Iron and Phosphorus, it is so scientifically prepared that not one person in a thousand finds any trouble in taking it, and infants digest it without difficulty. Moreover the well-established value of the Oil and Iron is immensely enhanced by the process of manufacture, and as the formula is freely exposed it is not to be wondered at that physicians everywhere have fully endorsed FERROL and used it largely in their practice. FERROL is invaluable for the treatment of any kind of Lung or Bronchial troubles, while for wasting diseases it has no equal, and

The Hound of the Baskervilles

Another Adventure of Sherlock Holmes.

BY A. CONAN DOYLE.

crear point which we now have to decide, Sir Henry, is whether it is or is not advisable for you to go to Baskerville Hall."

"Why should I not go?"

"There seems to be danger."

"Do you mean danger from this family fiend or do you mean danger from human beings?"

"Well, that is what we have to find out."

"Whichever it is, my answer is fixed. There is no devil in hell, Mr. Holmes, and there is no man upon earth who can prevent me from going to the home of my own people, and you may take that to be my final answer." His dark brows knitted and his face flushed to a dusky red as he spoke. It was evident that the fiery temper of the Baskervilles was not extinct in this their last representative. "Meanwhile," said he, "I have hardly had time to think over all that you have told me. It's a big thing for a man to have to understand and to decide at one sitting. I should like to have a quiet hour by myself to make up my mind. Now, look here, Mr. Holmes, it's half-past eleven now and I am going back right away to my hotel. Suppose you and your friend, Dr. Watson, come round and lunch with us at two? I'll be able to tell you more clearly then how this thing strikes me."

"Is that convenient to you, Watson?"

"Perfectly."

"Then you may expect us. Shall I have a cab called?"

"I'd prefer to walk, for this affair has flurried me rather."

"I'll join you in a walk, with pleasure," said his companion.

"Then we meet again at two o'clock. Au revoir, and good morning!"

We heard the steps of our visitors descend the stair and the bang of the front door. In an instant Holmes had changed from the languid dreamer to the man of action.

"Your hat and boots, Watson, quick! Not a moment to lose!" He rushed into his room in his dressing-gown and was back again in a few seconds in a frock-coat. We hurried together down the stairs and into the street. Dr. Mortimer and Baskerville were still visible about two hundred yards ahead of us in the direction of Oxford Street.

"Shall I run on and stop them?"

"Not for the world, my dear Watson. I am perfectly satisfied with your company if you will tolerate mine. Our friends are wise, for it is certainly a very fine morning for a walk."

He quickened his pace until we had decreased the distance which divided us by about half. Then, still keeping a hundred yards behind, we followed into Oxford Street and so down Regent Street. Once our friends stopped and stared into a shop window, upon which Holmes did the same. An instant afterwards he gave a little cry of satisfaction, and, following the direction of his eager eyes, I saw that a hansom cab with a man inside which had halted on the other side of the street was now walking slowly onwards again.

"There's our man, Watson! Come along! We'll have a good look at him, if we can do no more."

At that instant I was aware of a bushy black beard and a pair of piercing eyes turned upon us through the side window of the cab. Instantly the trap-door at the top flew up, something was screamed to the driver, and the cab flew madly off down Regent Street. Holmes looked eagerly round for another, but no empty one was in sight. Then he dashed in wild pursuit amid the stream of the traffic, but the start was too great, and already the cab was out of sight.

"There now!" said Holmes, bitterly, as he emerged panting and white with vexation from the tide of vehicles. "Was ever such bad luck and such bad management, too? Watson, Watson, if you are an honest man you will record this also and set it against my successes!"

"Who was the man?"

"I have not an idea."

"A spy?"

"Well, it was evident from what we have heard that Baskerville has been very closely shadowed by someone since he has been in town. How else could it be known so quickly that it was the Northumberland Hotel which he had chosen? If they had followed him the first day I argued that they would follow him also the second. You may have observed that I twice strolled over to the window while Dr. Mortimer was reading his legend."

"Yes, I remember."

"I was looking out for loiterers in the street, but I saw none. We are dealing with a clever man, Watson. This matter cuts very deep, and though I have not finally made up my mind whether it is a benevolent or a malevolent agency which is in touch with us, I am conscious always of power and design. When our friends left I at once followed them in the hopes of marking down their invisible attendant. So wily was he that he had not trusted himself upon foot, but he had availed himself of a cab, so that he could loiter behind or dash past them and so escape their notice. His method had the additional advantage that if they were to take a cab he was all ready to follow them. It has, however, one obvious disadvantage."

"It puts him in the power of the cabman."

"Exactly."

"What a pity we did not get the number!"

"My dear Watson, clumsy as I have been, you surely do not seriously imagine that I neglected to get the number? 2704 is our man. But that is no use to us for the moment."

"I fail to see how you could have done more."

"On observing the cab I should have instantly turned and walked in the other direction. I should then at my leisure have hired a second cab and followed the first at a respectful distance, or, better still, have driven to the Northumberland Hotel and waited there. When our unknown had followed Baskerville home we should have had the opportunity of playing his own game upon himself, and seeing where he made for. As it is, by an indiscreet eagerness, which was taken advantage of with extraordinary quickness and energy by our opponent we have betrayed ourselves and lost our man."

We had been sauntering slowly down Regent Street during this conversation, and Dr. Mortimer, with his companion, had long vanished in front of us.

"There is no object in our following them," said Holmes. "The shadow has departed and will not return. We must see what further cards we have in our hands, and play them with decision. Could you swear to that man's face within the cab?"

"I could swear only to the beard."

"And so could I—from which I gather that in all probability it was a false one. A clever man upon so delicate an errand has no use for a beard save to conceal his features. Come in here, Watson!"

He turned into one of the district messenger offices where he was warmly greeted by the manager.

"Ah, Wilson, I see you have not forgotten the little case in which I had the good fortune to help you?"

"No, sir, indeed I have not. You saved my good name, and perhaps my life."

"My dear fellow, you exaggerate. I have some recollection, Wilson, that you had among your boys a lad named Cartwright, who showed some ability during the investigation."

"Yes, sir, he is still with us."

"Could you ring him up?—thank you! And I should be glad to have change of this five-pound note."

A lad of fourteen, with a bright, keen face, had obeyed the summons of the manager. He stood now gazing with great reverence at the famous detective.

"Let me have the Hotel Directory," said Holmes. "Thank you! Now, Cartwright, there are the names of twenty-three hotels here, all in the immediate neighborhood of Charing Cross. Do you see?"

"Yes, sir."

"You will visit each of these in turn."

"Yes, sir."

"You will begin in each case by giving the outside porter one shilling. Here are twenty-three shillings."

"Yes, sir."

"You will tell him that you want to see the waste paper of yesterday. You will say that an important telegram has miscarried and that you are looking for it. You understand?"

"Yes, sir."

"But what you are really looking for is the centre page of the Times with some holes cut in it with scissors. Here is a copy of the Times. It is this page. You could easily recognize it, could you not?"

"Yes, sir."

"In each case the outside porter will send for the hall porter, to whom also you will give a shilling. Here are twenty-three shillings. You will then learn in possibly twenty cases out of the twenty-three that the waste of the day before has been burned or removed. In the three other cases you will be shown a heap of paper and you will look for this page of the Times among it. The odds are enormously against your finding it. There are ten shillings over in case of emergencies. Let me have a report by wire at Baker Street before evening. And now, Watson, it only remains for us to find out by wire the identity of the cabman, No. 2704, and then we will drop into one of the Bond Street picture galleries and fill in the time until we are due at the hotel."

CHAPTER V.

Sherlock Holmes had, in a very remarkable degree, the power of detaching his mind at will. For two hours the strange business in which we had been involved appeared to be forgotten, and he was entirely absorbed in the pictures of the modern Belgian masters. He would talk of nothing but art, of which he had the crudest ideas, from our leaving the gallery until we found ourselves at the Northumberland Hotel.

"Sir Henry Baskerville is upstairs expecting you," said the clerk. "He asked me to show you up at once when you came."

"Have you any objection to my looking at your register?" said Holmes.

"Not in the least."

The book showed that two names had been added after that of Baskerville. One was Theophilus Johnson and family, of Newcastle; the other Mrs. Oldmore and maid, of High Lodge, Alton.

"Surely that must be the same Johnson whom I used to know," said Holmes to the porter. "A lawyer, is he not, grey-headed, and walks with a limp?"

"No, sir, this is Mr. Johnson, the coal-owner, a very active gentleman, not older than yourself."

"Surely you are mistaken about his trade?"

"No, sir; he has used this hotel for many years, and he is very well known to us."

"Ah, that settles it. Mrs. Oldmore, too; I seem to remember the name. Excuse my curiosity, but often in calling upon one friend one finds another."

"She is an invalid lady, sir. Her husband was once Mayor of Gloucester. She always comes to us when she is in town."

"Thank you; I am afraid I cannot claim her acquaintance. We have established a most important fact by these questions, Watson," he continued, in a low voice, as we went upstairs together. "We know now that the people who are so interested in our friend have not settled down in his own hotel. That means that while they are, as we have seen, very anxious to watch him they are equally anxious that he should not see them. Now, this is a most suggestive fact."

"What does it suggest?"

"It suggests—halloa, my dear fellow, what on earth is the matter?"

As we came round the top of the stairs we had run up against Sir Henry Baskerville himself. His face was flushed with anger, and he held an old and dusty boot in one of his hands. So furious was he that he was hardly articulate, and when he did speak it was in a much broader and more Western dialect than any which we had heard from him in the morning.

"Seems to me they are playing me for a sucker in this hotel," he cried. "They'll find they've started in to monkey with the wrong man unless they are careful. By thunder, if that chap can't find my missing boot there will be trouble. I can take a joke with the best, Mr. Holmes, but they've got a bit over the mark this time."

"Still looking for your boot?"

"Yes, sir, and mean to find it."

"But, surely, you said that it was a new brown boot?"

"So it was, sir. And now it's an old black one."

"What! you don't mean to say——?"

"That's just what I do mean to say. I only had three pairs in the world—the new brown, the old black, and the patent leathers, which I am wearing. Last night they took one of my brown ones, and to-day they have sneaked one of the black. Well, have you got it? Speak out, man, and don't stand staring!"

An agitated German waiter had appeared upon the scene.

"No, sir; I have made inquiry all over the hotel, but I can hear no word of it."

"Well, either that boot comes back before sundown or I'll see the manager and tell him that I go right straight out of this hotel."

"It shall be found, sir—I promise you that if you will have a little patience it will be found."

"Mind it is, for it's the last thing of mine that I'll lose in this den of thieves. Well, well, Mr. Holmes, you'll excuse my troubling you about such a trifle——"

"I think it's well worth troubling about."

"Why, you look very serious over it."

"How do you explain it?"

"I just don't attempt to explain it. It seems the very maddest, queerest thing that ever happened to me."

"The queerest perhaps——" said Holmes, thoughtfully.

"What do you make of it yourself?"

"Well, I don't profess to understand it yet. This case of yours is very complex, Sir Henry. When taken in conjunction with your uncle's death I am not sure that of all the five hundred cases of capital importance which I have handled there is one which cuts so deep. But we hold several threads in our hands, and the odds are that one or other of them guides us to the truth. We may waste time in following the wrong one, but sooner or later we must come upon the right."

We had a pleasant luncheon in which little was said of the business which had brought us together. It was in the private sitting-room to which we afterwards repaired that Holmes asked Baskerville what were his intentions.

"To go to Baskerville Hall."

"And when?"

"At the end of the week."

"On the whole," said Holmes, "I think that your decision is a wise one. I have ample evidence that you are being dogged in London, and amid the millions of this great city it is difficult to discover who these people are or what their object can be. If their intentions are evil they might do you a mischief, and we should be powerless to prevent it. You did not know, Dr. Mortimer, that you were followed this morning from my house?"

Dr. Mortimer started violently.

"Followed! By whom?"

"That, unfortunately, is what I cannot tell you. Have you among your neighbors or acquaintances on Dartmoor any man with a black, full beard?"

"No—or, let me see—why, yes. Barrymore, Sir Charles's butler, is a man with a full, black beard."

"Ha! Where is Barrymore?"

"He is in charge of the Hall."

"We had best ascertain if he is really there, or if by any possibility he might be in London."

"How can you do that?"

"Give me a telegraph form. 'Is all ready for Sir Henry?' That will do. Address to Mr. Barrymore, Baskerville Hall. What is the nearest telegraph-office? Grimpen. Very good, we will send a second wire to the postmaster, Grimpen: 'Telegram to Mr. Barrymore, to be delivered into his own hand. If absent, please return wire to Sir Henry Baskerville, Northumberland Hotel.' That should let us know before evening whether Barrymore is at his post in Devonshire or not."

"That's so," said Baskerville. "By the way, Dr. Mortimer, who is this Barrymore, anyhow?"

"He is the son of the old caretaker, who is dead. They have looked after the Hall for four generations now. So far as I know, he and his wife are as respectable a couple as any in the country."

"At the same time," said Baskerville, "it's clear enough that so long as there are none of the family at the Hall these people have a mighty fine home and nothing to do."

"That is true."

"Did Barrymore profit at all by Sir Charles's will?" asked Holmes.

"He and his wife had five hundred pounds each."

"Ha! Did they know that they would receive this?"

"Yes; Sir Charles was very fond of talking about the provisions of his will."

"That is very interesting."

"I hope," said Dr. Mortimer, "that you do not look with suspicious eyes upon everyone who received a legacy from Sir Charles, for I also had a thousand pounds left to me."

"Indeed! And anyone else?"

"There were many insignificant sums to individuals, and a large number of public charities. The residue all went to Sir Henry."

"And how much was the residue?"

"Seven hundred and forty thousand pounds."

Holmes raised his eyebrows in surprise. "I had no idea that so gigantic a sum was involved," said he.

"Sir Charles had the reputation of being rich, but we did not know how very rich he was until we came to examine his securities. The total value of the estate was close on to a million."

"Dear me! It is a stake for which a man might well play a desperate game. And one more question, Dr. Mortimer. Supposing that anything happened to our young friend here—you will forgive the unpleasant hypothesis!—who would inherit the estate?"

"Since Rodger Baskerville, Sir Charles's younger brother, died unmarried, the estate would descend to the Desmonds, who are distant cousins. James Desmond is an elderly clergyman in Westmorland."

"Thank you. These details are all of great interest. Have you met Mr. James Desmond?"

"Yes; he once came down to visit

"His name," said the cabman, "was Mr. Sherlock Holmes."

Sir Charles. He is a man of venerable appearance and of saintly life. I remember that he refused to accept any settlement from Sir Charles though he pressed it upon him."

"And this man of simple tastes would be the heir to Sir Charles's thousands."

"He would be the heir to the estate, because that is entailed. He would also be the heir to the money unless it were willed otherwise by the present owner, who can, of course, do what he likes with it."

"And have you made your will, Sir Henry?"

"No, Mr. Holmes, I have not. I've had no time, for it was only yesterday that I learned how matters stood. But in any case I feel that the money should go with the title and estate. That was my poor uncle's idea. How is the owner going to restore the glories of the Baskervilles if he has not money enough to keep up the property? House, land, and dollars must go together."

"Quite so. Well, Sir Henry, I am of one mind with you as to the advisability of your going down to Devonshire without delay. There is only one provision which I must make. You certainly must not go alone."

"Dr. Mortimer returns with me."

"But Dr. Mortimer has his practice to attend to, and his house is miles away from yours. With all the good will in the world, he may be unable to help you. No, Sir Henry, you must take with you someone, a trusty man, who will be always by your side."

"Is it possible that you could come yourself, Mr. Holmes?"

"If matters came to a crisis I should endeavour to be present in person; but you can understand that, with my extensive consulting practice and with the constant appeals which reach me from many quarters, it is impossible for me to be absent from London for an indefinite time. At the present instant one of the most revered names in England is being besmirched by a blackmailer, and only I can stop a disastrous scandal. You will see how impossible it is for me to go to Dartmoor."

"Whom would you recommend, then?"

Holmes laid his hand upon my arm.

"If my friend would undertake it there is no man who is better worth having at your side when you are in

A Marvellous and Triumphant Record of Victory Over Disease.

No medicine has ever effected as large a number of wonderful and almost marvellous cures as Psychine. It has had one continuous record of victories over disease of the throat, chest, lungs and stomach. Where doctors have pronounced cases incurable from consumption and other wasting diseases Psychine steps in and rescues numberless people even from the very verge of the grave. Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Chills, Night Sweats, La Grippe, Pneumonia, and other like troubles, all of which are forerunners of Consumption, yield quickly to the curative powers of Psychine.

Mrs. Campbell, one of the many cured, makes the following statement:

I cannot refrain from telling all who suffer of my remarkable recovery with Psychine. In April, 1903, I caught a heavy cold which settled on my lungs and gradually led to consumption. I could not sleep, was subject to night sweats, my lungs were so diseased, my doctor considered me incurable. Rev. Mr. Mahaffy, Port Elgin Presbyterian Church, recommended Dr. Slocum's Psychine to me, when I was living in Ontario. After using Psychine for a short time I ate and slept well, the night sweats and cough ceased. Two years ago I stopped taking Psychine, as I was perfectly restored to health and to-day I never felt better in my life. Psychine has been a godsend to me. MRS. ANDREW CAMPBELL, Cottonwood, N.W.T.

AWFUL TRAIN WRECK NEAR CHAPLEAU

Passengers Pinned Under Cars Are Slowly Roasted to Death.

SCENES ARE HEARTRENDING

Broken Rail Throws Train Off Track —Fifteen Killed and Thirty Badly Injured — Immigrants From Old Country Chief Victims — Cars Went Down Embankment and Caught Fire — The Dead.

Port Arthur, April 12.—The most disastrous wreck the Canadian Pacific has experienced on the north shore section, so far as loss of life and injury to passengers is concerned, occurred Wednesday near Chapleau, when a broken rail caused the derailment of No. 1 express, with the loss of 15 lives and injury of 34 passengers on the train.

Within a few seconds after the accident the cars were in flames, and four were destroyed, together with 15 unfortunates, who were unable to escape.

Doctors Worked Nobly.

Noble work was done by doctors from Chapleau, aided by passengers who had escaped injury, in affording such relief as circumstances permitted.

By superhuman effort and undaunted heroism, they chopped and tore timbers apart, taking out men penned underneath timber, and others who had already felt tongues of fire on the bare flesh.

The accident occurred on a curve. Fortunately the train was running at slow speed. The locomotive and express car passed over the broken rail all right, but the baggage car and colonists following left the rails and plunged down a twenty-foot embankment to the lake below.

Plunged to Death.

One woman, who had been saved from the fiery furnace, found that her children had not been saved, and she plunged into the flames and was seen no more.

One young man, imprisoned in the wreckage, was almost rescued when a mass of burning timbers fell over him, and he thrust his rescuers away and fell back into a fiery tomb.

Women and children were burned to death in sight of strong men, powerless to prevent.

One man, journeying from England to make a home in the west, lost his wife, two children and a brother.

The mail car stuck to the engine, but the baggage car turned over and over down on to a frozen lake, pulling four other cars after it. It was just at noon, and the forward cars were packed with immigrants cooking their dinner.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH.

Found Standing In Middle of Room With Clothing Ablaze.

Stratford, April 12.—Mrs. Harriet Dewing was burned to death early yesterday morning. In the absence of his wife, she had been keeping house the past two weeks for Leopold F. H. Koeller, 106 Romeo street. Koeller, who slept downstairs, was aroused shortly after 3 o'clock, hearing Mrs. Dewing moaning, and, proceeding upstairs, found her standing in the middle of the floor all ablaze. He extinguished the flames and called for medical assistance, but the woman died shortly after the doctor arrived. The case is somewhat mysterious, as it is understood the woman was fully dressed with an unlighted lantern in the room, though a half-burned match was found, which may account for the fire. An inquest will be held.

Trains Tied Up by Snow.

Regina, Sask., April 12.—Traffic on the north line is tied up tighter than ever by the storm now in progress according to advices received here yesterday. All the big cuts have filled in again. It is not likely a wheel will move north from here this week.

The Canadian Northern will not sell tickets eastward from Edmonton to any points beyond Battleford. No passengers have gone east from Edmonton since April 6.

Freight Trains Collide.

Toronto, April 12.—A mix-up of two freight trains occurred on the Grand Trunk at the foot of Carlaw avenue shortly after six o'clock last night. One car was smashed to atoms and two others derailed.

Traffic was delayed for over an hour while the auxiliary from the Union Depot was clearing the tracks.

THAW COUNSEL CRITICIZED.

Oratory of Lawyers In Case Criticized In England.

London, April 12.—Commenting on the Thaw trial at New York, the Evening Standard yesterday ridiculed the oratory of Messrs. Delmas and Jerome, as being "flapdoodle," says it considers Mr. Delmas to be the worse sinner in this respect, and adds that it "seemed as if a minor poet had been let loose upon the court."

The paper enquires if it is possible that a jury of practical experienced men could be influenced by "such empty rhetoric," and says: "Oratory of such a kind is inconceivable in an English court. It would disgust the judge and jury alike, and provoke a bitter remonstrance even from the prisoner at the bar."

TWO YEARS IN PEN.

Mrs. Bates Sentenced for Attempting to Kill Her Children.

Woodstock, April 12.—At the Assize Court yesterday, Mrs. William Bates, an elderly woman employed as a laundress about the city, received her trial on the charge of assaulting, with intent to kill, her two children, Hattie, aged 25 years, and her son, under 20.

The evidence went to show that the woman rose in the night while the two children were sleeping and attacked them with a hatchet.

No defence was offered, and the woman was sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Douma Member Suspended.

St. Petersburg, April 12.—M. Purishkevich, monarchist, was suspended at yesterday's sitting of the Lower House of Parliament for insulting President Golovin.

The incident arose from M. Purishkevich suddenly calling on the members to hiss as a mark of respect for the persons murdered by revolutionists.

A SPRING TONIC.

Dr. Williams Pink Pills Make Rich, Red Health-giving Blood.

Cold winter months, enforcing close confinement in over-heated, badly ventilated rooms — in the home, in the shop and in the school—sap the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes clogged with impurities, the liver sluggish, the kidneys weakened, sleep is not restful—you awake just as tired as when you went to bed; you are low spirited, perhaps have a headache and blotchy skin—that is the condition of thousands of people every spring. It comes to all unless the blood is enriched by a good tonic—by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills not only banish this feeling, but they guard against the more serious ailments that usually follow—rheumatism, nervous debility, anaemia, indigestion and kidney trouble. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal spring medicine. Every dose makes new, rich, red blood. Every drop of new blood helps to strengthen the overworked nerves; overcomes weakness and drives the germs of disease from the body. A thorough treatment gives you vim and energy to resist the torrid heat of the coming summer. Mrs. Jas. McDonald, Sugar Camp, Ont., says: "I was badly run down, felt very weak and had no appetite. I could scarcely drag myself about and felt that my condition was growing worse. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and before I had used a dozen boxes I was as strong as ever. My appetite returned and I am now able to do my house work without feeling worn-out. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the best tonic there is."

It is a mistake to take purgatives in spring. Nature calls for a medicine to build up the wasted force — purgatives only weaken. It is a medicine to act on the blood, not one to act on the bowels, which is necessary. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blood medicine — they make pure, rich, red blood, and strengthen every organ of the body. See that the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is printed on the wrapper around each box. All other so-called pink pills are fraudulent imitations. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ontario.

The assassin was a discontented customer named Carroit.

STILL NO VERDICT IN THE THAW CASE

Jury In Thaw Case Unable to Reach An Agreement.

PRISONER IS DEPRESSED

Hopes of Acquittal Are Few—Majority Said to Favor Finding of Guilty —Unwritten Law Waved Aside— Careful Inspection of Exhibits —Evidence Again Rehearsed For Their Benefit.

New York, April 12.—Thirty hours of deliberation have brought the jury in the Thaw case to no conclusion, and at 11 o'clock they were locked up for the night.

Twice yesterday the twelve men who took their places in the jury box more than two months and a half ago, filed into the court-room and asked the assistance of the court in an endeavor to bring about an agreement.

They appeared wan and haggard after wrangling through all of Wednesday night in the stuffy little conference room at the criminal courts building, with only hard chairs and one long table provided for their comfort.

Went Over the Evidence.

The jurors wanted to hear again the evidence of numerous eye-witnesses to the tragedy; they wanted to hear again what Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton was allowed to testify as to Thaw's condition the night of the tragedy; they wanted to hear again what Evelyn Nesbit Thaw said as to her husband's conduct that evening; they wanted to hear again the conversations Thaw had with James Clinch Smith just before he committed the homicide; they wanted to hear against several portions of Justice Fitzgerald's charge, and finally they wanted permission to take all the writings of Thaw which were introduced into the trial as indicative of the defendant's state of mind when he heard the story of Evelyn Nesbit's alleged wrongs at the hands of White.

Judge Utters Warning.

All of these requests were gladly granted by the court, but when Foreman Doming B. Smith asked that certain portions of the summing up address by Delphin M. Delmas be read, Justice Fitzgerald called a halt. He admonished the jurors that they were to be guided only by the evidence, and were not privileged to hear again the closing speeches of the lawyers.

There were all sorts of rumors and guesses yesterday as to how the jury stood. None of the reports had any degrees of authenticity.

It seemed evident that the jury's deliberations were hinging upon the question of sanity or insanity of the defendant as shown by the defence.

From the manner in which the jurors wished to go over the evidence in all its details, it was surmised that a verdict, if reached at all, would be predicated entirely upon the evidence and not upon the unwritten law.

A LONG CHASE.

Irate Husband Follows His Eloping Spouse Across the Atlantic.

Halifax, April 12.—An eloping couple were captured on board the Allan liner Carthaganian, which arrived Wednesday afternoon from Liverpool. They are William H. Black, grocer, and Mrs. Frederick Anstey, who are now in the custody of the immigration authorities, and will be deported by the next steamer.

Frederick Anstey, the husband of the woman, was on the pier when the steamer tied up, waiting to confront her. He had come over on a faster steamer, the Virginian. She had her two little sons.

Expects to Reach Pole.

New York, April 12.—Walter Wellman bade his friends in America farewell yesterday morning when the steamer Touraine sailed, and said when he greets them again he hopes they will hail him as the discoverer of the North Pole.

He expects to leave for Tromsoe, Norway, about June 1, and before the middle of the month to be at his winter quarters in Spitsbergan.

It will not be possible, however, to begin the trials of his airship before the second week in July and it is likely to be the last of July or early in August before a start can be made for the Pole.

Extinguishers On Trains.

Ottawa, April 12.—The railway commission inspectors who investigated the railway wreck at Mountain have reported that Engineer Maynon and Conductor Scott were responsible for the collision and Fireman Remick and Brakeman O'Mara were responsible for not protecting the train. This was the crew of the first train.

The inspectors recommend that fire extinguishers be used on trains.

School Teacher Suicides.

Chicago, April 12.—Principal J. H. Brayton of the Raymond Public School, committed suicide yesterday by shooting. Ill-health caused it. He had been connected with the Chicago schools for 30 years. He was prominent in Masonic circles and was a member of the jury which convicted the Haymarket anarchists in 1887.

Banished to Siberia.

St. Petersburg, April 12.—A train bearing 340 political exiles left here Wednesday for Siberia.

This is the largest consignment of political prisoners sent to the far east for several months past, and is the result of efforts to clear the prisons in view of the expected raiding of martial law.

Hearst Escapes the Probe.

San Francisco, April 12.—The grand jury has decided to pay no attention to the unsupported statements alleged to have been made by "Eddie" Craney, blacksmith and prize fight referee, to the effect that money was improperly used by agents of Wm. R. Hearst at the primary election in 1904.

We are spending $5,000.00 this month to explain what the word "Constipation" means.

Constipation means NON-ACTION OF THE BOWELS.

If the liver is healthy, it pours enough bile into the intestines to make the bowels move. Then, too, the bowels discharge waste matter from the body by a peculiar snake-like movement. This requires strong muscles.

When the bowel muscles are weak—when there is not sufficient bile—the bowels do not move for two, three, sometimes four and five days.

This non-action of the bowels is Constipation. Waste matter, which should leave the body, is taken up by the blood, and carried to the kidneys and skin. These organs—in a vain endeavor to throw off the poisons—are overworked. The poisoned blood, in turn, irritates the nerves, causing Headaches—Backaches—Neuralgia.

The weakened kidneys cannot rid the system of urea, which changes into uric acid, causing Rheumatism, Sciatica and Lumbago.

It is useless to try to cure Constipation with calomel, cascara, senna, strong purgative pills and vile-tasting mineral waters. They simply force the bowels to act by irritating the delicate membranes. Their action weakens the muscles and really does more harm than good.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" ACT ON THE LIVER—stimulate the glands—and so regulate the action of the liver that it will excrete sufficient bile to move the bowels in the normal, natural way every day.

Nothing else in the world will so surely and permanently cure Constipation.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" are made of fruit juices, intensified, with the most valuable tonics and antiseptics added. Cure yourself of Constipation by taking these wonderful liver tablets. 50c. a box. Sent by mail if your druggist has none.

MASSON ACQUITTED.

Jury Acquit Hockey Player on Charge of Manslaughter.

Cornwall, April 12.—Chas. T. Masson of Ottawa, charged with manslaughter for the killing of Bud McCourt in a hockey match here on March 6, was acquitted yesterday, the jury bringing in a verdict of "not guilty."

The evidence for the defence included some ten witnesses, most of whom testified that Chamberlain struck McCourt at the south end of the rink previous to the mix-up, which was generally believed to have resulted in McCourt's death.

The jury was out only 45 minutes.

The general feeling in Cornwall last night is rather one of regret than elation. There was no venom in the prosecution, but the people think that something should be done to purge lacrosse and hockey of the man-killing element.

Duke of Marlborough Ill.

London, April 12.—Considerable alarm is felt over the condition of the Duke of Marlborough. He is under the watchful care of doctors, who are afraid that there is a recurrence of the heart trouble which so seriously affected him two or three years ago.

Ashore In a Fog.

London, April 12.—The Great Eastern Railway Co.'s steamer Brussels went ashore in a dense fog off Harwich Wednesday night while outward bound for Antwerp. She remained fast all night.

Veneer Factory Burned.

Sunbridge, April 12.—The veneer factory of Mulholland & Co., was totally destroyed by fire Wednesday night. The cause is unknown. The value of the plant was $16,000; insurance $4,000.

At the Complaint Desk.

—By KATE AUSTIN.

Copyright, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

For the third time Marian Macrea rose from the uncomfortable settee that faced the complaint desk and approached the young woman, seated behind the wide window, who was talking to the checker.

"Of course it gave her a good chance to let us all know what nice white arms she has, but my mother 'd see me in my grave before she'd let me go to a ball in any such costume as that."

"Will you kindly ascertain whether they have found my parcel yet?" interrupted Marian, tapping the desk lightly with the tips of her gloved fingers.

The young person flung her an impatient look.

"What parcel?"

"The one about which I inquired at intervals for the past half hour."

"What's your name and what's wrong with the bundle?" inquired the girl in bored tones.

"You took my name twice and telephoned the delivery department, and I am waiting for their report. Why do you not call them again and see whether the parcel has been located?"

"Say, do you think I want to get the delivery boys down on me? If they find it, they'll tell me quick enough"—

"If"— echoed Marian, her delicate face flushing under the girl's cool impertinence.

"Well, I'll take your name and address and drop you a postal when we find it."

"Indeed, you will not. I want it now," said Marian, and she walked away from the window, with head high and nostrils quivering.

"Wonder if she's going down into the subcellar to get it," giggled the young person to the checker. "It is funny how some swells think they can come in here and run this store. I guess she doesn't know we've got a system here."

Then while the girl continued her account of the fancy dress ball Marian crossed to the main aisle, found a floorwalker and asked to be directed to the superintendent of employees. Five minutes later she was ushered into the presence of a smooth faced, square shouldered chap who looked as if he had received his training on the football gridiron rather than as stock boy in a big department store.

Richard Burnside had risen from the lowest ranks in the store where he was now superintendent, studying practical business methods by day and physical culture and English branches at the Y. M. C. A. rooms by night.

Now he stood beside his desk, Marian Macrea's card bent between his fingers. He looked the slender, graceful figure over with the keen eye of a man accustomed to seeking good material for his staff and decided that she must be a reporter or magazine writer hunting information about the condition of the working girl. He had met many such since he had become superintendent.

"What can we do for you, Miss Macrae?" he inquired, offering her a seat.

"I merely called to ask you whether your complaint department had been organized for the convenience of your customers or to browbeat them so effectually that they will endure almost any inconvenience rather than make complaint?"

Richard Burnside sat down rather suddenly. This was not just what he had expected.

Very deliberately, but convincingly, Marian told her story, from the indifference of the clerk who had first waited on her to the impertinence of the young woman at the complaint desk. When she had finished, Burnside leaned forward, his hands clasped between his knees, his face boyish no longer, but seamed deeply with lines of anxiety.

"Miss Macrea," you have been treated outrageously, and so have many of our customers, and I, the superintendent of this store, cannot find a remedy, because I cannot handle women employees. I can handle the boys in this line, because I know boys, but the indifferent, the insolent woman employee is beyond me."

He glanced up to meet Marian's sympathetic glance. Impulsively he told her of his humble beginning, the pride with which he had accepted his new work and his many vexations and trials with incompetent help.

"I have had five girls at that complaint desk, each less satisfactory than the one before her. If I could just find a girl with judgment, discretion and good manners—but you can't expect to find such a girl for $12 a week, can you?"

His big gray eyes were lifted to Marian's brown ones.

She laughed, a queer, chuckling little laugh that seemed to fairly bubble up from her slender white throat.

"Do you think I would fill the bill? I would like to earn $12 a week."

"You?" gasped Burnside, his glance traveling from her neat boots to her trim tailored hat.

"Why, yes. When I came in here I never thought of such a thing, though I have been wanting a position of some sort. I believe I would know whether a woman had a just complaint or was trying to cheat the firm, and I have always been complimented on my tact. I know I have patience, because I have been—companion to an invalid for several years. If you would consider the proposition, I can furnish references."

"I don't give a fig for references. You're engaged. Can you begin Monday? I'll put that girl back where she belongs—in the mail order department."

And that was how Marian Macrea walked out of the Barnes Bros.' store with a job in her pocket and an odd little smile playing around her lips.

Three months passed. Burnside was no longer worried about the conduct of the complaint department. In fact, he argued that the reason he dropped in to talk complaints over with its presiding head was merely as a relief after other worries. It was a pleasure to see a department run so smoothly. And all over the big store the same atmosphere was beginning to assert itself. There were weekly talks to the women clerks, at which reports from floorwalkers and complaining customers were offered; little lectures on the smoothing out of tangles and the adjustment of differences were given. The sales girls took a new view of selling goods and handling customers, and none knew that these talks were all planned out in a charming little uptown apartment, where the superintendent and the head of the complaint department gravely discussed store problems while the invalid mother forgot her own pains in listening to the new interests of her daughter.

Then came the great day when James Barnes, Sr., returned from his trip around the world. Richard Burnside had no need to give account of his stewardship. Others had done so in letters that encircled the globe, and so one bright spring morning the head of the house sat in his superintendent's office saying the sort of things that warm an employee's heart when there came a tap at the door, and a girl with soft brown hair and eyes entered the office, her hands filled with report slips.

"Mr. Barnes, I want you to know Miss Macrea, the very capable"—

But Mr. Barnes, quite apoplectic, was sparring for wind.

"Marian, what in the world! If you wanted something to do, why didn't you go in for settlement work?"

Richard Burnside felt the little office spinning around as Marian crossed the room and patted the apoplectic forehead soothingly with her slender white hand.

"Dear Uncle Jimmy, do not have a stroke. With the head of the firm globe trotting and everything mother and I had in the world in this store, I felt I had a right to come in here and see that our small investment was safe. You couldn't expect Jimmy or Howard to do it when one has a new motor and the other a new yacht."

Ten minutes later Marian laid her reports on Burnside's desk and turned to leave. He held the door open for her, and as she flung him a cheery smile she stopped suddenly. His face looked old. His eyes were heavy, as if they had watched something very lovely and dear pass out of his life. She paused irresolutely and glanced over her shoulder. Mr. Barnes, Sr., was just passing through the opposite doorway into the mail order department.

"You will be up tonight, as usual? I want to talk over the question of a new rest room for the girls."

Richard Burnside's face went a shade paler, and he spoke in a voice he had never used to her before.

"Certainly, if you wish it."

"Of course I wish it." She tried to speak gayly, but her voice trembled. "Don't you understand? I want everything to go on just as it has before. Oh, why do you make it so hard for me?" His face was still stern, but she persisted. "I—I want you to tell me—what—what I would not let you say the other night—because now I know it was all for myself—don't you understand?"

She passed out like a flash and drew the door shut behind her. Richard Burnside leaned heavily against it, breathing hard, but the light of youth had come back to his eyes.

They Called Him Venus.

It is curious how inconsistent are the prejudices of people in regard to the use of heathen names. Mr. Payn, in his "Gleams of Memory," tells an amusing story of Dean Burgon, who objected to the name of the goddess of beauty, but found no fault with that of the god of the woods.

An infant was brought to the church for christening, and the name proposed for it was Vanus. "Vanus?" repeated the dean. "I suppose you mean Venus. Do you imagine I am going to call a Christian child by that name, and least of all a male child?"

The father of the infant urged that he only wished to name it after his grandfather. "Your grandfather!" cried the dean. "I don't believe it. Where is your grandfather?" He was produced—a poor old soul of eighty or so, bent double and certainly not looking in the least like the goddess in question. "Do you mean to tell me, sir, that any clergyman ever christened you 'Vanus,' as you call it?"

"Well, no, sir. I was christened Sylvanus, but they always calls me 'Vanus.'"

GAY FUNERAL RITES.

Curious Ceremonies That Accompany Cremation in Siam.

The funerals of young unmarried ladies in Brazil are grewsomely gay, so to speak. The color of the coffin is bright scarlet, and bright scarlet, too, are the hearse, the livery of the driver, the harness and the plumes that nod on the heads of the horses.

But for a gay funeral we must go to the cremation of the dead in Siam. When the body is that of a prince the proceedings are most elaborate. Gold carriages galore abound, and the pyre is ultimately lighted by the king himself with candles which have been ignited at the sacred lamps in the temples of his palace, which burn night and day. The lighting of the funeral pyre is followed up with sports and the lotus dance. The king promotes the mirth by tossing limes to the people, by whom they are eagerly fought for, as inserted in each are current coins of the realm. Darkness having at length fallen over the land, fireworks and gay illuminations conclude these curious funeral rites.

The Word Etiquette.

The very high sounding word etiquette had a very humble origin, for etiquette meant simply a label. It received its present signification from the fact that a Scotch gardener who laid out the grounds at Versailles for Louis XIV. was much annoyed at the courtiers walking over his newly made paths and at length had labels placed to indicate where they might pass. At first these labels were not attended to, but a hint from high quarters that in future the walks of the courtiers must be within the "etiquettes" or labels was promptly attended to. To keep within the etiquettes became the correct thing. The meaning of the phrase was afterward widened.

The Pygmy Cattle of Samoa.

The Samoan islands are the natural habitat of the most diminutive species of variety of the genus bos now known to the naturalist. The average weight of the males of these lilliputian cattle seldom exceeds 200 pounds, the average being not greater than 150 pounds. The females usually average about a hundred pounds larger and are very "stocky" built, seldom being taller than a Merino sheep. These dwarf cattle are nearly all of the same color—reddish mouse color, marked with white. They have very large heads as compared with their bodies, and their horns are of exceptional length.

The Sky and the Weather.

Whether clear or cloudy, a rosy sunset presages fine weather; a sickly looking, greenish hue, wind and rain; a dark, or Indian, red, rain; a red sky in the morning, bad weather or much wind, perhaps rain; a gray sky in the morning, fine weather; a high dawn, wind; a low dawn, fair weather. Remarkable clearness of atmosphere near the horizon, distant objects, such as hills, unusually visible or raised by refraction and what is called a good "hearing day," may be mentioned among signs of wet, if not wind.

Rather Negative.

Father—Well, Tommy, what did you learn at school today? Tommy—I learned that two negatives are equivalent to an affirmative. Father—And what's an affirmative? Tommy—I don't know. We haven't got that far along yet.

Special Rate.

The Preacher—Have you special rates for clergymen? The Hotel Clerk—Yes, sir; we charge them a dollar extra. The Preacher—Dollar extra! Why? The Hotel Clerk—They don't patronize the bar.

FOWLER MAKES SCENE IN THE HOUSE

Mr. Fowler Objects to Remark of Member For St. Mary's.

RESUME INSURANCE DEBATE

Ugly Incident Terminated by Chairman Rising—Mr. Lennox Criticizes Minister of Justice — Objects to Comparison With Ontario Bank —Amount to Be Paid Mr. Shepley—P. E. I. Tunnel.

Ottawa, April 12.—The debate on the Insurance Commission's report yesterday was marked by a scene which in some of its features eclipsed even the "wine, women and graft" incident a few weeks ago. As on that occasion, the party primarily responsible was Mr. George W. Fowler, who seized upon a sotto voce observation of the French member for St. Mary's, Montreal, as an excuse to run amuck. Thus aroused, members on both sides lost control of themselves, and it was only the arrival of the luncheon hour and the happy tact of the chairman, Mr. Marcil, that closed an ugly incident.

Mr. Paquet (L'Islet) protested against the remarks of Col. Hughes in the recent immigration debate, to the effect that the clerics were the curse of the country, and called upon him to withdraw it.

Mr. W. F. Maclean (York) inquired how the Government were meeting their obligations.

Mr. Fielding said that a loan for about $10,000,000 at 4 1-2 per cent. was maturing on May 1, and arrangements were being made to extend it for four years. There never was a more unfavorable period than the present for financial negotiations.

Insurance Debate.

On the House going into Committee of Supply the debate on the Insurance Commission was resumed. Mr. Lennox characterized the Minister of Justice's defence of the commission as lame. The Government were surprised because the member for North Toronto had been courteous towards the commission at the close of his examination, but that was only what could be expected of a party that went into jubilation when it was found that the Finance Minister was not so black as his associates. From first to last the commission was nothing more than an attempt to blacken Mr. Foster's character, and he thought that there would be no honest Liberal in the country who would not condemn the comparison drawn by the Minister of Justice between Mr. Foster and the late manager of the Ontario Bank, when he had been challenged by Mr. Foster to point out a single illegality. Not an investigation or a prosecution, but a persecution was the proper description of the commission.

Mr. Shepley's Fees.

As was indicated by the Minister of Finance, it had not been determined what Mr. Shepley would receive for his services. The fact was that the political effect of the commission had not yet been determined, and Mr. Shepley was to be paid according to political results. Mr. Fowler said the report of the commission contained the greatest falsehoods and misrepresentations for its bulk of any document or book he had ever seen in his life. The whole of the report, so far as it concerned him, was one tissue of falsehoods and misrepresentations. There was no transaction in which he was engaged so bad as the Robbins and other transactions that had been discussed in the House this session. A director of the C. P. R. was a member of the House, and nobody had challenged his right to vote.

P. E. I. Tunnel.

Mr. Fielding, replying to a question by Mr. Hughes (King's), said that efforts would be made to obtain all the necessary information as to the practicability, cost and maintenance of the tunnel between Prince Edward Island and the mainland.

The House adjourned at 1.35 p. m.

Lord Cromer Resigns.

London, April 12.—Foreign Secretary Grey announced in the House of Commons yesterday that Lord Cromer, the British agent and Consul-General in Egypt, has resigned his post for reasons of ill-health, and Sir Eldon Gorst had been appointed to succeed him.

In making the announcement of Lord Cromer's resignation the Foreign Secretary eulogised Lord Cromer's services, and said his policy would be continued.

Make Ministers Tremble.

Paris, April 12.—The national council of the Socialist party has issued a spirited address to the workmen of France protesting against the attitude of the Government in the matter of unions among employes of the state.

It tells them that they clearly must organize, and thus make the Ministers and deputies "tremble before the indignation of all toilers."

RANKS AS A MASTERPIECE

Facts are most palatable and convincing if stated by disinterested parties. The following letter from H. W. Hudgins, Musical Doctor (Princeton), Mus. Bach., (London) F.L.G.C.M., and teacher of piano, organ and vocal music at Toronto College of Music.

COUNTY ROAD SYSTEMS.

Registration of Voters—Lady Dentist May Practice.

Toronto, April 12.—The leader of the Opposition and his colleagues worked most effectively in the Legislature yesterday, and were responsible for some important changes in the legislation which the members of the Government were advancing through the committee stage. Last night when Hon. Mr. Foy's bill respecting the voters' lists was under consideration in committee the Opposition gained the point that the new system of getting the names of absent voters on the lists by means of affidavit in townships should apply also to towns and villages. This will safeguard the sailors and railwaymen in many centres of population.

Another Important Concession.

The Opposition secured another important concession during the discussion of the bill for the improvement of public highways. While providing for a county Council to establish a county system of roads, the bill also provided that when constructed the system could be turned over at once to the townships for maintenance. Mr. Graham and Mr. MacKay contended that the counties should be responsible for maintenance, which they held to be a vital consideration. The Premier and Hon. Dr. Reaume admitted the strength of the contention, and amended the bill to provide that the county must maintain the system for at least three years before turning any of the roads over to the townships, and then only on a vote of two-thirds of the ratepayers of the townships expressed by bylaw. At the morning sitting of the House, the first since the present session of the Legislature commenced, an unusual incident occurred on the motion for the third reading of the bill allowing Miss Sadie Holmes at Tillsonburg to practise dentistry. An amendment to give the bill the six months' hoist was defeated by a standing vote instead of the regular form of declaring the amendment lost on division or taking the yeas and nays to that end. No one in the House could recall a previous similar occurrence, which was repeated later in the day in regard to another bill, and some say that it was the first action of its kind in the Legislature of Ontario.

Government Control.

An amendment of some importance to the Government's new joint stock companies act was introduced by Hon. Mr. Hanna and accepted. It provides that when public utilities companies apply for increases of capital or extension of powers, the application shall be dealt with by the Lieut.-Governor in Council and not by the Provincial Secretary as now. This will make it quite certain that the Government has the discretionary power which it is said it does not now possess. The recent application of the Toronto Electric Light Company for permission to increase its capital emphasizes the importance of this clause.

The Premier just before adjournment at 11 o'clock said the Private Bills Committee would meet at 10.30 this morning to take up the city's bill for the expropriation of the Electric Light Company's plant. The House would meet as soon as the committee concluded. To Mr. Graham he stated he did not think the House could conclude its business this week.

HON. H. R. EMMERSON

Director of Record Foundry Co.

There are few men in the Maritime Provinces, or, for that matter, anywhere in Canada, better known to the public than the Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson is a son-in-law of the late Charles B. Record, who, some 73 years ago established the Record Foundry and Machine Co., at Moncton, N.B., and is a heavy stockholder and a director therein. He is responsible for much of the untiring energy which has advanced this concern to a front rank in Canadian industries. The Record Foundry and Machine Co. now have works at Montreal and Moncton, and have also sales branches in Moncton, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver.

ACTED INDISCREETLY.

Prince Victor Napoleon Not So Popular In France.

Paris, April 12.—The Figaro yesterday morning publishes a letter written by Mgr. Montagnini to Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state, informing him that Prince Victor Napoleon (the hope of the French Royalists) had lost many adherents in France by attending the christening of the Crown Prince of Italy, but that he was forced to do so by the threats of the Italian royal family.

Mgr. Montagnini wrote also that he had learned that English and American Protestants were collecting large sums of money for the purpose of buying or renting churches in France as soon as the Catholics were turned out of them.

Nobody Wants Him.

Windsor, April 12.—William Macdonald, 87 years old and claiming to have been a large slaveholder before the civil war, is being buffeted between Essex and Kent Counties by the authorities.

Macdonald spent the winter at Stoney Point, Essex County, but with the coming of spring the people there induced a car conductor to drop him off at Chatham. He was taken into custody and will be sent back to this county.

Strike Is Broken.

Lorain, Ohio, April 12.—There was almost a stampede among the strikers returning to work at the local yards of the American Shipbuilding Co. yesterday. The number of men who went back is estimated at between 700 and 800.

MAY BE PTOMAINE.

Mrs. Gregg of Saintfield Dies After Taking Beverage.

Saintfield, Ont., April 12.—The coroner's jury on the death of Mrs. Homer Gregg, an aged lady, who died on March 15 shortly after drinking a cupful of porter taken out of a gem jar, found that death was the result of arsenic in the beverage. By what means it came there is unknown.

The verdict was based on the evidence of Prof. Ellis of Toronto, the analyst, who declared that he found arsenic and copper in one of the jars of porter sent him, and that his conjecture as to the poison in the stomach was that it was Paris green.

Officials of the Cosgrave Brewery, Toronto, testified that it was impossible for arsenic to have got into the porter while being bottled.

Mrs. Cregg was over 80 years of age. She lived with her daughter and son-in-law, John T. Doble, a prominent citizen, about two miles from here.

The case is causing a lot of talk, and County Constable McCully is investigating.

GREAT LAKE BOUNDARIES.

Buoys Placed By Revenue Cutter to Keep Fishermen In Place.

Washington, April 12.—Reports from the revenue cutter officer, who last summer made a test of the system of marking the international boundary lines in the Great Lakes by buoys, indicate that the experiment has resulted successfully.

It will be continued during the coming season, and if it works as well in confining the fishermen of America and Canada to their own waters as it did last year much friction will be avoided.

Owing to the heavy ice formation during the winter, it was found impossible to maintain an ordinary buoy in position in the deep waters of the lakes. Methods are now being considered to relieve the authorities of the expense and trouble of taking up and replacing these buoys every season.

INQUISITIVE CURATE.

Minister's Visit to Tenderloin Ends in His Disposition.

New York, April 12.—Rev. W. Howard Mears, curate of St. Matthews' Episcopal Church, who was arrested by the police at a house in the tenderloin district March 13 last, where he had gone in company with a negro woman, was deposed from the ministry yesterday.

Rev. Mr. Mears asserted that he was not actuated by any wrong motive in visiting the "Tenderloin," and that his presence there was with a view of making sociological investigations.

The magistrate accepted this explanation; the ministry didn't.

Jury Disagreed.

Syracuse, N.Y., April 12.—The jury in the United States court in the case of the Government against the New York Central Railroad, charged with giving rebates to the General Electric Co. at Schnectady, reported yesterday afternoon that it could not agree and was discharged.

Drought In Cuba.

Cuba has not had a good rain since the October cyclone.

BIG BLAZE AT TORONTO.

$4,000 Damage by Fire at Big Piano Factory.

Toronto, April 12.—Two hundred and fifty men were put out of work yesterday morning by a fire, which did about $4,000 damage at the Gerhard Heintzman Piano Works on Sherbourne street. The cause of the fire is unknown. Insurance fully covers the loss.

The alarm was turned in at 5.20, and the fire then had great headway in the drying kiln, which is in a building to the rear of the factory proper. The smoke was very dense, and the firemen had a hard task for three hours. Valuable woods were destroyed.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE

The great popularity and general use of the Royal Baking Powder are strongest evidence of its superior quality.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

A BEAUTY HINT.

Oranges and Green Salads Will Clear the Complexion.

Two simple and inexpensive articles A diet that are excellent for the complexion and system generally are not eaten as much as they should be. They are green salads of any sort, with French dressing oil, pepper, salt and vinegar, and oranges. The latter cannot be too highly advocated. Occasionally there is a person with whom they disagree radically, but this is the exception, and individuals who cannot eat any other fruit will thrive upon oranges.

This particular form of fruit is nourishing, its action upon the digestion is peculiarly beneficial, and therefore it is clearing to the skin. A dozen a day is none too many to eat if a person wishes.

If, however, they have not been eating them, it would be well to begin gradually. Before breakfast take the juice of one strained. This is given to babies and is more easily digested than when the pulp remains in. If, however, the digestion is good, there is no objection to the pulp. It is better, however, always when possible to eject the fine inner skin, and under no circumstances should the tough white underskin be eaten, for it is one of the most indigestible vegetable forms grown.

Another orange may be eaten an hour after breakfast if wished, and a couple at luncheon is none too many. After that one or two at a time at intervals of two hours may be taken, with some just before going to bed. At this last time they will frequently induce sleep. It is not, of course, necessary to eat so many, but they will take the place of other food. Always buy a good quality and be sure they are not overripe.

For girls working in offices oranges are invaluable food if they did but know it. One after luncheon will place out that meal most satisfactorily, and many times it would be possible to have one of the fruit kept in a desk drawer to be eaten in the afternoon when one is tired, at the same time not stopping work. A little food is a great stimulant when body and mind are fatigued.

Mothers With a Purpose.

A brilliant young woman was recently talking of two of the older women of her relationship whom she greatly admired. They had both aimed at the education of their children and had succeeded in their aim, sending forth from their homes men and women of a high type. They had accomplished their end by much self denial and hardship. She said of these relatives: "They both had a purpose and never lost sight of it. They carried out their purpose. The trouble with me, I think, is that I have no purpose. They wanted the right things, and they went after them and got them. I do not want the right things, though I want to want them. I suppose I do not want to want them hard enough. Grandmother and aunt wanted the right things hard, and they got them. What most of us need is more purpose." She is a good woman as well as a bright one, is a fine mother and wife, and possibly her judgment of herself was a little harsh, says Calvin Dill Wilson in the Mother's Magazine. Surrounded by luxuries, she does not have the same incentive to effort in the same direction as her relatives, who had to make a struggle for the education of their children.

Her children will be educated without her self denial. Yet in her favorable conditions she recognized the superiority of the women with a purpose and felt that in her own life and in that of many of her acquaintances some great thing was lacking—a purpose. The mothers who are struggling may be encouraged by the thought that their sisters, who seem to have so much more than they and seem to be in enviable environments, really in their hearts look with admiration and awe upon those who are struggling toward a noble end. The mothers with a purpose, who "want the right things and want them hard and go after them," command the respect of all.

Improved His Opportunity.

Young Mrs. Gotrox (at her first breakfast with her elderly "catch")—You eat with your knife, don't you, John, dear? Old Mr. Gotrox (noticing his opportunity and with severity and dignity)—No, madam; I do not. I eat with my mouth. I frequently convey food from my plate to my facial aperture with my knife, but I do my own eating with my own exclusive mouth, and until further notice I will myself furnish all the instructions respecting the methods to be employed.

WILL REPRESENT CANADA.

Statesmen Who Will Speak For Dominion At Colonial Conference.

At the Colonial Conference, which takes place in London in April, Canada will be represented by the Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier; Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance; Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia and Defence; Hon. Louis P. Brodeur, Minister of Inland Revenue; and Hon. William Patterson, Minister of Customs. Only the Premiers of the various British colonies will have the power of voting. In speaking of the conference and the men selected to represent Canada at this important gathering, The News of St. John, N.B., says:

Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be our chief representative at the conference. Grace he will have, and dignity, suavity, and delicacy, which belong to his race. Anglo-Saxon ardor he may not, cannot have, in the full measure, though he has always thought highly of the Anglo-Saxon idea, as that is exemplified in the conquering instinct and political history. The Hon Mr. Fielding will be dapper and pleasant, and calculating, while Sir Frederick Borden will offer bluff, good nature and heartiness, and sociability.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Sir Frederick could tell a story. You would not expect him to formulate a constitution. The Hon. Mr. Brodeur will command respect for his serious attitude, his willingness to receive ideas, and for the sense of responsibility which he feels as a public man. The other colonies will send their best men, no doubt. Australia breeds the buoyant, the volatile, the brilliant mind, for it is elementary that large spaces, warmed by a constant sunshine should produce a creature full of courage and mental brilliancy. Dr. Fichett, the author of "Decisive British Battles," and the editor of the Australian Review of Reviews, while in this country, gathered the impression that our winter must make for temperamental depression, and somberness, but perhaps if he had remained with us during our summer and fall, he might have modified his views.

The effect of climate, however, is not to be doubted, and in Australia, which Lord Elgin wrongly said, the other day, was the eldest daughter of the Empire, you have a temperamental optimism which cannot be equalled in the world, coupled with a degree of intellectual brilliancy which, though possibly it may be short-lived, is unsurpassed by people of any other country.

A Dry Shampoo.

Orris root powder dusted over the hair is often a substitute for frequent shampooing. Sprinkle the powder into the hair and rub it well into the scalp; then brush it out. Orris is one of the few powders which may be used for this purpose, as it will not stop the pores. It is cleansing and will give a faint sweet odor to the hair.

Black kid gloves generally wear out at the finger tips and then assume a rusty brown tint, which is anything but pleasant, although the other part of the glove may be perfectly good. When this happens, take a little black ink, mix it with a small quantity of olive oil and apply it to the finger tips. Leave it until dry, and the gloves will be very much improved in appearance.

Photographs that have become soiled or that are mounted on cards the edges of which are broken may be soaked off by placing them in water. This cleans them, but does not injure them in the least, and after drying thoroughly between blotters they may be mounted again on new cards.

Kerosene rubbed into boots and shoes which have been hardened by water will soften them. Rubbing with a woolen rag saturated in kerosene will also brighten tin and granite ware.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MISS LOIS MAY ALDEN.

A Woman to Start Farm School For City Waifs.

To reclaim city waifs by transplanting them from the vitiating atmosphere of the city streets into a farm school is the attractive plan of a young New York woman, Miss Lois May Alden. If she is successful, hers will be the first farm home school in the country. In Warwick, England, such a home has been started, and it has succeeded remarkably well, drawing its pupils from the worst sections of London.

In order to become thoroughly conversant with farming in all its branches Miss Alden has enrolled herself as a member of the State Agricultural school at New Brunswick, N. J., where free courses in agriculture have been recently instituted. She is registered both for the animal husbandry and the market gardening and fruit growing courses and so far is the only woman in these classes. For some years there has been a government experiment station at this point, but not until now have the special courses for students been offered, and when several fine buildings now under process of construction are finished the plant will be quite complete.

Miss Alden has had this idea in her mind since she was a small child, and as she grew older it seemed to her the only practical solution of the problem of what to do with the children of the city's streets.

"I have always cherished a passion for farming and also for helping friendless and homeless children. To combine the two seems the most delightful thing I could do," she said in speaking of her plans. "Nature will do more in a minute for these children than stereotyped book instruction in a month. In learning to love nature they will learn to love one another. It is my plan to secure a plot of ground somewhere near a city where produce can be raised and disposed of easily. There farming and market gardening will be taught. This will not only give the children a home, but it will give them a vocation. There is money in wholesale gardening for those who prepare for the work scientifically.

"There will be, first of all, an attractive home life. Boys and girls will be equally divided in numbers. They may enter the home anywhere from twelve to fifteen years old. A regular schedule will be carried out. There will be studies in the morning and afternoon relating to the agricultural course, with practical demonstrations. They will make their own gardens and take care of the dairy, and there will be instruction in animal husbandry on the side. There will also be the household duties, each child doing his or her own share, in order to give them the idea of the domestic side of farm life."

Excited Nerves, Twitching Muscles

SYSTEM EXHAUSTED BY WORRY AND LOSS OF SLEEP—PERFECT HEALTH THE RESULT OF USING

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Such cases as this make it impossible to doubt the restorative influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. E. J. Vanderburgh, of Eastern Welland avenue, St. Catharines, Ont., states: "For twenty-one years I was badly afflicted with heart trouble, nervousness and cramps in the limbs, also twitching of the muscles, and nervous headaches. I became weak, debilitated and emaciated. My condition was distressing and I was made worse through worry and loss of sleep.

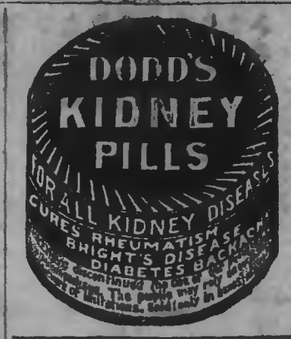
"I tried a hundred remedies in vain, and, reading about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I decided to try it. After having used half a dozen boxes of this preparation, my old trouble had entirely vanished and I was enjoying better health than I had since girlhood. I am now past middle life and am in perfect health. I would not take worlds to-day and go back to my former state."

There is more or less mystery and doubt as to the specific action of many drugs, but it is positively and definitely known that iron forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, or in other words, makes the blood rich and nourishing.

But iron alone cannot be taken into a delicate stomach. The great secret of the success of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the way iron is combined with certain other restoratives so as to make a preparation that can be used with the greatest benefit by even the most weak and delicate person.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is also slightly laxative as well as tonic in influence, and, while building up the system, insures the regular and healthful action of the digestive filtering and excretory systems.

If you would enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves and replace weakness and disease with health and vigour, use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.—2.



How to Treat Sunless Rooms.

No one wants a gloomy room, but what to do with such a room is a problem that has bothered more than one of us.

Many a woman has foregone inside curtains and even sash curtains to allow all the light possible to come into the room, but still it looks dreary. It is not as much the light that we need as the sunshine, and when this cannot be had we must make it, or, rather, get the effect of it.

A room with a northern aspect should not, of course, be papered in blue or some such cold color, but rather in rich, warm tones of olive, green, brown, red or yellow. If the room gets but little light and sunshine, yellow should be our choice. Not only should we have yellow on the walls, but also on the ceiling, for the sake of the reflection. A pretty treatment is to have a light pumpkin yellow on the walls as far as the picture molding and a lighter shade above this and on the ceiling. Then yellow silk sash curtains, pulled back, tend to make a room sunny.

Brass can make a wonderful difference to a dreary room. A large jardiniere with a plant in it placed in a dark corner will lighten up most marvelously. The andirons, too, will give a cheery reflection. Even candlesticks help and little trays and bowls, be they ever so small. The importance of brass in a sunless room cannot be too strongly emphasized. Mirrors brighten up, and so do some pictures, with well polished glasses and gilded frames, but these little points are too seldom taken into consideration.

The Secret of Good Coffee.

The real secret of having good coffee lies in two things—buy the best and make it carefully, and the best way to make it is the simplest. The following is perfectly simple and satisfactory: Get a pint measure or larger tin, heat it with boiling water, put in one large heaped up teaspoonful of ground coffee to each person. Nearly fill with boiling water, place the tin on the fire and stir slowly until a creamy froth comes to the top. Have a warmed jug or coffeepot ready, into which pour the coffee slowly through muslin, even straining through a thick sediment which remains with the grains. Your coffee is then ready for immediate use and may be boiled up repeatedly without being renewed. A very good tip when making a new brew is to pour on the grains the sediment and a little of the cold coffee usually kept in the coffeepot and thrown out by the maid. Even the grains should not be wasted, as they make excellent mold for delicate plants.

Macaroon Whip.

Macaroon whip is simply and easily made. Soak one-quarter of a package of gelatin in one-quarter of a cupful of cold water. Grate or crumble one-quarter of a pound of stale, dry macaroons. Cut very fine one dozen candied cherries. Stand the gelatin over hot water until dissolved, then add to it one cupful of very heavy cream with half a cupful of sifted powdered sugar, two tablespoonfuls of sherry and a few drops of almond extract.

Watch closely and as soon as it shows signs of thickening whip the whites of two eggs to a froth, add them to the cream and whip the mixture until it is a solid froth. Lightly mix in the macaroon crumbs and half of the cherries.

Turn into a serving dish and sprinkle the remainder of the cherries over the top. Keep very cold until served.

Do You Know—

That you can make a faded dress perfectly white by washing it in boiling water?

That salt, dissolved in alcohol, will often remove grease spots from clothing?

That two potatoes grated in a basin of water will give better results than soap in washing delicate flannel and woolen goods, ribbons, etc.?

That piano keys can be cleaned, as can any old ivory, by being rubbed with muslin dipped in alcohol?

That a little thin cold starch rubbed over windows and mirrors and then wiped off with a soft cloth is an easy way of producing most shining results?

That hot milk is even better than boiling water to take out fruit stains?

Hair Sachets.

Scent sachets for use in the hair may be easily made, and in this respect it should be borne in mind that in shape they should be very narow, not wider than a finger, to allow them to be pinned beneath the coils before the hair is dressed. They should be covered with lace net so that the hairpins may go through them. In the center of each place a tiny roll of cotton filled with the favorite sachet powder.

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

Information About the Countries That Have Adopted the Plan.

A good many politicians, says Tit-Bits, have explained why certain people should receive a pension after they reach old age, but no one has yet been able to solve the problem as to where the money is to come from to pay the pensions.

According to Mr. Asquith, the cost of a 5s. pension to all over 65 in this country would amount to £36,000,000 per annum. It would be impossible for the state to pay this huge amount of money from the national exchequer unless new taxes or compulsory provident insurance schemes were devised.

Many social reformers regard the latter as the only solution to the difficulty, and quote the cases of France, Germany, Austria, and Hungary, where compulsory insurance has been adopted to a certain extent, thereby bringing about a decrease of pauperism.

Germany and France.

In Germany, for instance, an act was carried in 1838, compelling insurance against old age. The obligation to insure rests on all who are in receipt of wages of not more than £2 per week. Half the premium, however, which varies according to the wages received, is paid by the masters. The pension begins at the age of 70, the amount varying by very complicated rules, but the state pays a fixed sum of £2 10s annually, in addition to the pension.

A special department of the Ministry of the Interior, designated Assistance Publique, has been established in France for the relief of the needy, and gives away over 12,000,000 francs and not more than 900 francs to poor people aged 70 and upwards. This contribution, however, must not exceed 50 francs per head, nor be given in more cases than 2 per 1,000 of the population.

Other Countries.

Belgium adopted an old age pension scheme in 1900, and in the same year Victoria passed an act granting 10s. per week to any old person who fulfilled certain conditions.

The sister colony, New Zealand, has also shown what can be done in the way of old-age pensions. In 1898 an act was passed providing pensions of 1s. a day for people over 65 years of age who had been resident in the country for 25 years and had not been convicted of offences against the law. Aliens, aborigines, Chinese, and Asiatics are excluded from this scheme.

LONDON'S SMART SET.

Father Vaughan Again Attacks Their Follies and Sins.

Before a great congregation which filled every part of his beautiful West London church, Father Bernard Vaughan commenced a course of Lenten sermons dealing further with the sins of smart society.

"We live in a time," he said, "when the world has discovered that there is no such thing as sin. In churches, in current literature, in drawing-room conversations, in clubs — everywhere we are reminded that we have passed from the shadows of dogma into the illumination of science.

"In some of the churches," the seathing voice from the pulpit continued, 'we are told that there was no Fall; that the Atonement is a fable. We like to hear these things. The world indulging its sins is like a naughty boy who hopes that there is no God.

"It would be an injustice, many people might think, to say that purchasing things for which they do not intend to pay is a sin, or ordering beautiful things and sending them back next day after having worn them the previous evening.

"Why," he cried, with a contemptuous ring in his voice, "there are West-end ladies who can give points to the West Ham guardians.

"But I am not concerned with this for the moment. I am concerned with graver evils. What of this vile competition with France for the lowest birthrate in Europe; this emulation of America to find excuses for throwing off marriages in order to enter better financial positions."

Concluding, Father Vaughan vehemently warned his hearers against "dancing down to hell." "I must tell you these things," he cried, his voice hoarse and tremulous with emotion: "I must have your attention. You must pause and pull up before you reach that spiral staircase."

What's the use of putting up a barn that will last only ten or twenty years, when, for the same money, or even less, you can build one that is good for a generation at least, and is lightning-proof, fire-proof and water-proof?

Use "Acorn Quality"

Corrugated Galvanized Sheets

and both price and quality will be right. They will cost no more than an all-wood building. The process of corrugating, renders the sheets so rigid that a lighter frame may be used, than with any other structure. Sheeting boards are quite unnecessary and only wood strips are required.

Then, the cost for labor in applying Corrugated Sheets, is, by actual test, less than half what it would be for wood shingles. The economy effected by labor, sheeting boards, and lighter frame-work, more than makes up the difference in cost between present day wooden shingles and our "Acorn Quality" Corrugated Galvanized Sheets.

Our lightning proof barns are in almost every locality in Canada. We will mail you, on request, a list of users in your own county. Get their opinion. 44

The Latest In Fashion's Realm; Items Of Interest To Ladies

SARTORIAL NEWS.

Colored Slips Under Lawn Dresses. Rickrack Again Used.

The custom of wearing a slip underneath thin dresses has made it possible to wear them winter and summer. And the new spring styles show these thin gowns over washable lawns in white, pink, buff and blue, and they also show them over taffeta foundations.

Odd effects in lawns and muslins are obtained by printed figures, which give the impression of eyelet embroidery designs, showing a contrasting color below the openwork.

It may be that the days of rickrack are returning, for one sees dresses trimmed with braid made into lace with such a fine design that very little of the actual braid is recognizable. For instance, there are braids that are twisted and turned and made up with thread and finer braid until the result is something very novel and decorative in the lace line.

Among the handmade trimmings is a trellis work of taffeta, the effect chiefly wrought through the medium of narrow strappings, filled in with a waved arrangement of the silk closely gathered at intervals.

In silk petticoats the newest colors are yellow, shading from canary to a golden brown hue, and shaded silks in three tones.

Fine straw hats with wings and rosettes of straw are among the novelties seen in the shops.

Morning gowns that are made with breakfast jackets and skirts to match are both dainty and comfortable. Here is one made of dotted challis and trimmed with lace. Dotted swiss carried out in the same design would be charming for a summer morning gown.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

BABY'S FRIEND.

"Before I got Baby's Own Tablets my baby was troubled with colic and vomiting and cried night and day, and I was almost worn out. But after giving him the Tablets for a few days the trouble disappeared and you would not know it is the same child he is so healthy and good natured now." This is the grateful tetimonial of Mr. George Howell, Sandy Beach, Que., and it tells other mothers who are worn out caring for cross sickly children how they can bring health to the little one and ease to themselves. Baby's Own Tablets promptly cure the minor ailments of little ones and there are no cross, sickly children in the homes where the Tablets are used. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box, from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Canada's Railway Progress.

Without taking electric railways into account, it is estimated that 3,314 miles of new line are under construction in Canada, to cost approximately £12,400,000. The Great Western Railway Co. of England holds the record for English railway mileage, and its total is only 2,728. Canada opens up in this one year more country than the Great Western has opened up since its initiation over 70 years ago.

When Tuckered Out.

A simple and homely cure after a day of excessive fatigue, especially when the business of shopping or sightseeing has brought on a nervous headache, in addition to a feeling of lassitude, is to hold the feet in mustard and water for the space of some ten or fifteen minutes, this having the effect of drawing the blood away from the brain and, in fact, resting the entire body. The "fresh air" method is likewise exceedingly popular.

MODISTIC WRINKLES.

Charming Conceits In Summer Fabrics—Hat Trimmings.

Crossbarred white dimities printed with dainty floral patterns have come in with the new cottons. Among the designs there is a tiny green shamrock that proclaims them Irish, and rose garlands, sprays and single flowers are all seen in the smart effects.

Pansies and clover are among the flowers used on spring hats, and apricot and bisque shades are to be fashionable in straw.

A most attractive corset cover is made of pale pink batiste, with the entire upper part of slightly fulled valenciennes lace. The upper edge of the lace has an open design through which a drawing ribbon is run. Broad ribbons cross over the shoulders and fasten with bows in front. The lower part of the waist is rather scant.

SQUARE NECK NIGHTDRESS—5594.

If you have an old lace scarf, hunt it up, for next summer you will find it extremely smart to throw about your shoulders or as a becoming protection for the head.

Linen and cloth suits this spring have nearly all narrow stitched belts of the material, but a few that have short jackets have wide embroidered or braided belts. Wide embroidered linen belts are worn with separate white linen and pique skirts.

A very elaborate nightdress is illustrated. It has a slightly square neck, from which point are groups of fine tucks and stoles of embroidery.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

High Collars In Vogue.

With her usual perversity, Fashion has decreed that collars increase in height and in comfort, too, strange as that may seem. It is, however, easily explained. Since those little "valeines," or featherbones, that give the necessary support have for some time reached fairly up to the ears, they could become no higher; but the change is in the transparent covering which is made of soft lace entirely or in combination with some filmy material. Instead of being rounded out, as it formerly was, the collar is now made straight; hence it must be a little looser, so that it shapes and gives properly with the neck—therein lies the comfort—while the top, which is unstiffened for about half an inch, turns over in a pretty careless line, thus adding to the soft becomingness.

Be careful not to let it be a degree looser than is absolutely necessary for shaping itself and attempt it in none but the softest, thinnest material or the result will be that most unbecoming of all things, a thick neck.

FASHION STRAWS.

Suspender and Bib Frocks In Coming Summer Styles.

Suspender bib and pinafore frocks will hold their own not only in simple, inexpensive materials, but for dress. Some of the little blouses to be worn with these costumes are simply exquisite by reason of their fineness and dainty hand work rather than by elaboration.

No woman who is not absolutely sure that she has a youthful face should wear the Dutch neck. It is trying to wrinkles and sallow skins. A plump, rosy face or a pale young countenance suits it best.

The new ribbons for hat trimmings are wonderfully soft and lustrous, and the droopy brimmed hats are arranged with stiff ruchings gathered as tightly as possible, of two colors, placed on a hat of a third color. For instance, a dark though glossy green ribbon and one of periwinkle blue might trim effectively a gray hat, the ruching set round the crown and finished under a stiff bow on the left side.

Paquin, the celebrated dressmaker of Paris, who feels it his duty to live up to his reputation for originality, has recently launched a new tight long sleeve which may or may not prove a hint of forthcoming modes.

Trimmings on skirts this season are either very high or very low, and the tuck is a favorite effect.

Bound edges are on many new Paris gowns. All over lace trimming has the raw edges bound with bias satin or velvet. Overlapping gores are bound with another material.

The morning gown illustrated is a dainty affair of percale made on the bias. It is trimmed with bias bands of the same material. It launders well and always looks smart and neat.

MAN NOT BORN TO READ.

That Is the Reason He Is Compelled to Wear Glasses.

Many of the commonest physical defects of civilized man are due to an imperfect adaptation of his body to new conditions of life. Nearsightedness is an example.

C. W. Saleeby, the English writer on scientific subjects, says that all the talk about the degeneration of the human eye is "undiluted nonsense." The truth is that "man was not born to read." An instrument made for seeing long distances is forced to accommodate itself to little marks and signs on a piece of paper. Says Dr. Saleeby, "The eye which we have inherited from our ancestors is one that is used without effort at long range, merely containing within it an apparatus enabling it at the cost of nervous and muscular effort to be used at short range."

The general need of glasses arises from the necessity in modern life of the use of the eyes at short distances. If the eye were naturally focused upon near objects the advantage, as Dr Saleeby admits, would be great. However, he continues, "If one started to make a list of the bodily characters of man which the amazing development of his intelligence has rendered more or less appropriate to his needs than originally one would require a volume."

MODISH CONCEITS.

Linen Gowns Smart For the Summer. Ribbon In New Millinery.

No woman next summer can afford to do without at least one linen gown of an elaborate character, or she will have occasion to feel very badly dressed. Worn with a pretty lingerie blouse, even the simpler suits give one quite a smart air, while those that are handsomely embroidered are extremely becoming.

Ribbon has a distinct place in the new millinery, which piece of news should delight the woman of light purse, for it is a fairly inexpensive garniture.

Everything that is stylish this spring seems to be in stripes. A two toned blue cloth with gray in it is vastly effective on the blue eyed woman. This combination is not inartistic when a deep sapphire blue stripe is combined with the grayer tones.

The flat shapes, with trimmings of many toned roses with or without foliage, that have been so well liked all winter will be repeated in the after Easter hats in fine straw and crin.

Crin, or horsehair, promises to be as popular as ever, which is not strange, for no hat is at once so elegant and generally becoming as one built of this dainty material.

A cute little frock for the small girl is pictured. It is made of pin spotted Irish dimity. A ruffle edged with embroidery trims the yoke and bottom of the skirt.

Thaw To Face New Trial

Jury Report to Judge Fitzgerald Their Inability to Agree

AN EARLIER MONDAY MORNING BOAT FROM THE KAWARTHA LAKES

This Alteration Has Been Decided Upon—The Passengers Will be Brought to Peterboro' in Time for 8.25 Train Leaving for Toronto—Of Great Benefit to Local People.

C. P. R. CHANGES PROPOSED

From present indications, the summer population of Stony Lake will witness a great many changes in the transportation system there, which appear to be of a popular character. It was learned last night, that, through the instrumentality of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association, there would be an early Monday morning steamer come down from the lakes about two hours earlier than in the past. This boat will leave Stony Lake at such a time as to enable the passengers for Toronto to catch the 8.25 train in Peterborough.

This change has chiefly been brought about by Mr. G. W. Rice, of Toronto, chairman of the transportation system of the association, who has been negotiating with the upper navigation companies for some time.

Besides being of importance to Toronto and other western tourists, this early Monday morning steamer will be popular among a great many Peterborough people, who have to be in their offices before 9 or 10 o'clock. It will undoubtedly insure a great deal larger Sunday population at the lakes for that reason.

Some C. P. R. Changes

The Cottagers' Association also announce that a very important proposition is being considered by the C.P.R. which, if carried out, will give tourists an opportunity to travel from Western Ontario and points in the United States by that railway, and be able to make good connections with the Lakefield trains. They propose to place an extra train on the Peterborough section which will leave Toronto about 8 o'clock and arrive here in time to have their baggage transferred to the G. T. R. station to leave at noon for Lakefield. If this is decided upon, the Stony Lake tourists will be able to travel by C.P.R., and reach their destinations by the afternoon steamboat.

The C.P.R. also contemplate placing an extra train on this section going west. If so, it will leave Peterborough about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and arrive in Toronto by 3 o'clock or later, in time to connect with the westbound trains leaving there at 4.15 for points in Western Ontario and in the United States. This train, besides catering to tourists travelling by C.P.R., might also be a business man's train, and no doubt would be appreciated by the business and commercial men.

Popularize the Lakes

The object of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association is not so much to obtain conveniences for themselves, but to popularize the Kawartha chain, or, in other words, to "boom the lakes." To this end they are striving to obtain the best transportation system possible, and the first-mentioned alteration from the past appears to be a move in the right direction. They are striving, too, to get the navigation companies to work in harmony with them where at all possible, as they believe it to be in the best interests of the steamboat men that the lakes become popular and easily accessible.

The association are arranging to hold a meeting in Peterborough before the summer resort season opens to give the local members, who were not able to attend the banquet in Toronto, opportunities to express their ideas.

No Change at Lakefield

It will be remembered that the association requested the G.T.R. to construct a siding to the Lakefield wharf from the main line, so that passengers could step off the train and into the steamers without having the lengthy walk from the station, so often accompanied by soiled footwear and dry goods. It is learned, however, that this change will not be made, but that the pond holes that intervene in wet weather will be removed, which will, at least, partially protect the dainty footwear of the picnickers and cottagers.

It will thus be seen that the Cottagers' Association, as well as the navigation companies, are labouring in what they consider the best interests of Peterborough's prominent summer resorts, so that it may be expected that the season of 1907 in beautiful Kawarthadom will eclipse any of the past.

PROGRESSIVE MANAGER OF MOST SUBSTANTIAL FINANCIAL INSTITUTION

MR. VINCENT EASTWOOD,
Manager of the Peterborough Branch Royal Bank of Canada.

WANT TO START A VAUDEVILLE SHOW

Two London, Ont., Young Men are Looking for Suitable Premises.

The fact that this city is looked upon as a good field for amusement enterprises is shown by the presence in Peterborough of two young men who are seeking an opportunity to establish a vaudeville show here. They are Messrs. Haskins and Fox, of London, and propose if possible to secure premises on George street in which to carry on their enterprise. They have been looking over the ground and have found it extremely difficult to lease a store on George street, having tried several places without success. It is almost impossible to secure a store in the business section of the city at present as there is a great demand for business places.

THE BACKWARD SPRING IS HARD ON THE LOCAL FLORISTS' BUSINESS

One would not think that our florists were so wealthy as to have money to burn. One florist told the Examiner that he has burned $500 in the fire of coal since last winter. He has had his furnaces going since October, six months, and six of them are going to-day. The season is very backward, and the work of the florists will come on with a rush. Everybody will want plants at once. None are wanted or even ready now. The weather is too cold to make it safe to remove plant boxes from the hothouse to the cool green-house, where they are seasoned, ready for transplanting in the open. Yet the weather will come out all right. We were promised seed time and harvest, and we will get it at the proper time—according to Nature's plans.

Bridgenorth's Premier Industry's Good Prospects

During Coming Season W. B. Kelly Lumber Company's Mills Will Have Output of 90,000 Pieces.

THE LAKE OPENING IS LATE

Examiner Special.

Bridgenorth, April 13. — This coming season will seen Bridgenorth a busy village. The W. B. Kelly Lumber Company, the principal industrial concern in the village, will operate their mills this year to their full capacity, the output for the season totalling about 90,000 pieces of timber.

During the winter the mills of the company have been thoroughly over-hauled and operations will be carried on on a more elaborate scale than ever before. A new, forth mill has been added during the winter season and it has been running for the past two weeks on custom work.

A gang of men has left for Squaw River where they will drive 60,000 pieces to Rail Lake. At the latter place they will be taken in charge by the company's tug and towed to the mill at Bridgenorth.

The mills will not be able to commence work quite so early this season on the first cut of logs as they were able to do in 1906, because of the fact that the lake will not be open so early. At the present time there is a foot of ice over the lake, whereas last year on April 14th the last was cut out.

The Kelly Company's planing mill is very busy and at the present time a large order for Mr. W. E. Brooks of Young's Point, is being gotten out. It is understood to be Mr. Brook's intention to greatly enlarge his hotel at South Beach this summer.

This year the mills will be in charge of Mr. John Bellegham of Peterborough, who, with his family, will remove to the village.

The residents of Bridgenorth are confident that the coming season will be a prosperous one for this increasingly important industry.

KENTUCKY COW MAKES A REMARKABLE RECORD

Examiner Special.

Lexington, Ky., April 12.—A cow belonging to John McClintock gave birth to five perfectly-formed calves this morning. Four of them were born alive, but the fifth was dead.

This remarkable cow has the startling record of having given birth to sixteen calves in six years, having triplets twice, twins twice, and a single calf. All these she has raised to maturity, some of them now being the most valuable cows in Mr. McClintock's herd.

MORE BONES

Workmen Find Them In Central Park

ARE THEY INDIANS?

May Have Been Once a Great Battle Ground of the Iropuois And Chippewas.

More bones have been discovered to-day in the excavation for the Collegiate Institute, the ploughs constantly turning up some relic of the departed who were interred there. The finds attract many citizens to the spot and there has been much argument as to whether the bones found are those of people who were buried in the old cemetery, or whether they were laid away there at an earlier date.

One gentleman who has made a study of such things has come to the conclusion that the bones are those of Indians, and not of white people, which opens an interesting discussion as to how they came there. The theory is advanced that the ground might long ago have been the scene of a bloody battle between two hostile tribes. No traces have been discovered of coffins thus far.

Mr. Benj. Cooney yesterday made an interesting discovery in the excavation, when he picked up the steel blade of a knife, about eight inches long, upon which was marked, "Providence Cutlery Co."

IMPROVEMENTS TO THE G. T. R. WHARF

Contemplated Work on Wharf at Lakefield—Engineer Makes Plans Now.

The G.T.R. wharf at Lakefield is to be thoroughly repaired and put in condition for heavy service. Such is the report that has been circulated in the northern village and in this city. Yesterday one of the G.T.R. men from Lindsay went to Lakefield to inspect the present wharf and obtain a general idea of what is required to be done. It is about 250 feet in length and will be re-timbered in its entirety, and it is contemplated that the work will be commenced before long.

The G.T.R. has many uses for this wharf as their line runs alongside it and shipping facilities are exceedingly good. All their freight from the lakes passes over it and especially, in summer there are generally a number of piles of ties on it for use on the different railway lines. Thus it is important that it should be in good condition and the company intends to maintain it so.

Cold Weather Has Saved Maple Syrup Situation

Mr. Ed. Hamlin Drove 20 Miles This Morning From Dummer With Forty Gallons of the Liquid

CITY PEOPLE FORTUNATE

With forty gallons of the genuine home made and unadulterated maple syrup, Mr. Ed. Hamlin, who lives six miles north of Warsaw arrived in the city this morning shortly after some of the later rising citizens were out of bed. He found a ready sale for his product of the forest too, and inside of a few hours he had exchanged the sweet liquid for cold cash.

The last week has been a fairly good one for sap running, and it has saved the situation. At one time, during the latter part of March when the warm weather was on and no frost at night, it looked as if there was to be no maple syrup this year at all, but April's advent changed all that and the cold nights which followed All Fools' day has made a great change in the sap situation.

Peterborough people are fortunate in that those who have it to sell do not charge two prices for it. While in Toronto the dealers charge on dollar a quart, all Dummer farmers tax the consumers is $1.40 a gallon, and at that price they do a land-office business.

Peterborough Sodalite Mine Owners Have Big Fortunes In Sight

Much local interest centres in the despatch from London, England, to-day, to the effect that the Princess of Wales had created a sensation by adopting blue marble for interior decorations.

With the fashion set by the Princess, there is no doubt that it will be followed by others in England, and it is probable that a big trade will be built up in the beautiful sodalite, which singularly enough is found on the borders of Peterborough county, in Hastings, and several rich deposits of sodalite are at the present time owned by local capitalists.

The despatch referred to says:

London, April 12. — The Princess of Wales has to her credit one of the greatest sensations in building material in many years, nothing less than the re-introduction of "blue marble" for interior decorations.

Credit for the re-discovery of this marble belongs entirely to the Princess of Wales, whose attention was drawn to some fragments of the blue stone presented to her at the time of her voyage with the Prince to Canada.

When Marlborough House was undergoing overhauling and improving, the Princess showed her specimens to Mr. Allom, expressing great enthusiasm as to their beauty of colour, and her desire to have the quarry found and the beautiful blue sodalite made use of. Mr. Allom set out to prospect for the blue marble and with the able help of the Geological Survey Department of Canada discovered the mine in Hastings county, in the centre of Ontario.

With a few friends Mr. Allom promptly bought the mine outright, and the blue stone now beautifies many of the Princess of Wales' rooms. The peculiar hardness of the mineral renders the work of cutting most difficult and much time and ingenuity both here and on the continent have been expended, but at last the difficult process of cutting and moulding appears to have been solved.

Chemong Lady Was A Passenger On The Ill-Fated C.P.R. Train

Mrs. P. Westlake Passed Through Never-to-be-Forgotten Experiences in the Horrible Brunel Wreck.

A VERY FORTUNATE ESCAPE

Awful Scenes Vividly Described—Engaged Couple Were Killed Together—Proceeding on Her Journey.

Mrs. P. Westlake of Chemong, was one of the passengers on the C. P. R. train, which met with the terrible accident at Brunel, and yesterday Mr. Westlake received a telegram from her informing him that although she was on the fateful train, fortunately she escaped without injury.

Mrs. Westlake was on her way to Elgin, Manitoba, where she was going to visit her daughter. She left here on Tuesday morning, her husband going as far as Toronto, with her. She left that city on the 1.45 G.T.R. train, connecting with the C. P. R. Limited at North Bay. She was travelling by parlour car, and the coach she was in did not leave the track.

The telegram did not give any particulars, simply stating that the train had been wrecked but that Mrs. Westlake was safe. A letter, however, came later and in it Mrs. Westlake gave some further particulars of the horrible accident, one of the worst in the history of Canadian railways.

Mrs. Westlake said that she was going to continue her journey, the C.P.R. making up another train as quickly as possible and sending those passengers who were able to continue their journey, forward.

A despatch from Fort William gives some of the harrowing details of the tragedy. It says, in part:

The train bearing passengers who were on the train wrecked near Chapleau, came in here at noon yesterday and the story as told by those on board, disclose scenes such as are seldom witnessed. Every passenger car was crowded, and when the shock came the people were all thrown into a confused mass on the floor.

A Wild Scramble

Then in an instant the embers from the stoves in the tourist cars set fire to the coaches, and from this on the most harrowing scenes imaginable took place. It was one wild scramble for the doors and

A STUDY OF HARRY K. THAW

Peterborough Public Houses Pleased The Commissioners

Paid Their Annual Visit of Inspection Yesterday—Some of the Hotels Compare Favourably With Those of Larger Ontario Cities

THE CONDITIONS PREVAILING

The License Commissioners of West Peterborough made their annual tour of inspection through the 19 hotels of the city to determine in just what condition the public houses were in. The chairman, Dr. Morrison, stated to-day that they were greatly delighted to see that most of the improvements recommended last year had been made and that the hotels generally were in good condition. The commissioners came to the conclusion when their visit was over that Peterborough has a number of hotels which compare most favourably with the best public houses in many larger Ontario cities. They found the local hotelmen vieing with one another to have the best possible conditions existing.

In two or three instances they still found a lack of lavatory accommodations which they propose to remedy. The hotels, however, were generally speaking, kept in a clean, sanitary condition. Bed rooms, which on their previous visit were dark and poorly ventilated were very much improved.

The commissioners gave special attention to the fire escapes and found that the inspector had been around three or four months ago so that proper accommodation in this respect will be obtained. They were especially delighted with the manner in which the kitchens and dining rooms, where foods are prepared, were kept, reflecting credit upon the waves and servants.

Many of the yards have already been cleaned and a number of others were under way. The stables were all in fairly good state of repair, but in a couple of cases the proprietors were asked to enlarge or make improvements. The sheds were found to be well roofed and capable of protecting the horses in inclement weather.

In a number of cases house-cleaning operations were in progress, including papering, painting and various other improvements.

A Dog Helps In A Warm Cobourg Family Scrap

Tears a Piece Out of the Man's Trousers While the Woman Uses a Stick on the Man's Head.

HE WAS NOT HER HUSBAND

Cobourg children have recently precipitated a quarrel between two families which may lead to serious results. One of the first is that a woman has been charged with assaulting a man, by hitting him on the head with a stick and pounding him into a dazed condition. A despatch from Cobourg tells the story:

Mr. Waghorn was down town on Good Friday, and he was going home about tea time, when Florence Randall, a girl of about 15 years, blocked his way on the sidewalk. He put her aside, and then the fun commenced. The boys took up the trouble and this brought Mrs. Randall out, together with the dog. They set the dog on him, and a big piece was torn from the leg of his trousers. Shortly afterwards, Mr. Waghorn claims that Mr. Randall came out and picked up a stick, which he handed to his wife, and she struck him (Waghorn) over the head and on the arm. This dazed him and he held on to the fence and was afterwards taken home. He showed a cut on his head, and the trousers with a large piece out of them was also shown.

RELEASE?

Thaw's Counsel Will Apply For Bail

ATTY. JEROME IS OPPOSED

White's Brother-in-Law's Story Said to Have Had Strong Effect On The Jury.

Examiner Special

New York, April 13.—A demand for the release of Harry K. Thaw upon bail, pending a re-trial on the charge of killing Stanford White, will be made, probably, on Monday.

District Attorney Jerome will vigorously oppose the release of Thaw, and it is believed that any Justice will decline to accept bail. The indications are that Thaw will have to stay in the Tombs until the case is finally disposed of.

Jerome is determined, in view of the standing of the jury, seven for conviction to five for acquittal, to prosecute Thaw again.

That the story told on the witness stand by James Clinch Smith, brother-in-law of Stanford White, had a great deal to do with causing a majority of the jurors to vote for the conviction of Harry Thaw was revealed by Juror Brearly.

WEDDING BELLS

HOWSON-VANCE

Many persons in Peterborough will be interested in the following report of a wedding which took place in Cavan township on Wednesday of last week: The marriage of Miss Adah Marjory Vance, daughter of Mr. Robt. Vance, of "Pine Grove," Cavan, to Christopher Howson, M.D., C.M., of Stettler, Alta., was solemnized on Wednesday, April 3, in St. John's Church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Vance, B.A., brother of the bride, assisted by Rev. W. C. Allen, M.A., rector of Cavan.

Prompt at 2.30 o'clock the bride entered the church to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. (Rev.) W. C. Allen. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a smart Eton suit of cream Panama, the coat opening over a cream lace blouse, with a flower hat, and carried a shower bouquet of brides' roses and maidenhair fern. Miss Margaret Vance, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, was gowned in cream sun's cloth, with white chip hat, and carried bridesmaids' roses. Dr. W. A. Lewis, Barrie, was best man.

Only the immediate relatives were present at the reception, which was held at "Pine Grove."

After the ceremony, Dr. and Mrs. Howson left at 5 o'clock for Toronto, Minneapolis and Winnipeg, en route for their future home, the bride wearing a green Venetian broadcloth suit, with Tuscan hat, trimmed with roses in the pastel shades.

TAKE A PETERBOROUGH MAN

Among the many changes which the opponents of the Whitney Government bring against it, will not be found that of neglect to provide openings for the appointment of additional provincial officials. Two recent instances have a bearing, or should be made to have a bearing, upon Peterborough and rouse the activity of our local representative. Provision was made a day or two ago in the provincial supplementary estimates for the salaries of three additional factory inspectors, to be men. Here is an opportunity for the local dispenser of—not the local dispenser with—patronage to recognize the suitability of one or two of the capable candidates among the working men of Peterborough. The Examiner could name one at least that would be in every way qualified for the work even in the Conservative sense, a qualification which does not seem at present to debar any one. Another chance for placing some Peterborough man is in connection with the two new mining divisions which the Provincial Government proposes to establish in the Lurder Lake District, with two new mining recording offices, which will necessitate the appointment of two new recorders. It is a matter of indifference to the Examiner who fills these offices except that it might be stipulated that some Peterborough man should be chosen for one of them. Necessarily a Conservative will be chosen, for these offices, but one of them should be a Peterborough man.

PROVINCIAL EXPENDITURES

When the Conservative party was in opposition in Ontario its favourite ground of complaint and criticism was the increase of expenditure and the good old days of Sandfield McDonald were quoted as models. But now that that party has the responsibility of administration it departs from its doctrine of economy and increases the public expenditure "hand over fist." A statement of the public expenditures given for the sake of brevity in ten year periods will be interesting. In 1867 the provincial expenditure was $56,699.97. Of course that was not normal for necessarily the next year the expenditure increased with the completer organization of the departments of administration to $1,179,269.17. In 1877 the expenditure had grown to $3,119,117.73. In the next ten years period there was a decrease of expenditure for the first six years. In 1884 a gradual increase was to be noted and in 1887, the figures were $3,454,372.43. In 1897, they were $3,767,675.70. The next ten year period shows at the end a tremendous jump, though up to 1901 the increase was not as marked. When the Ross Government went out of power the actual expenditure for the last year for which they were responsible, was $5,267,453. In 1907, under the Whitney Government the expenditure is $7,003,332, an increase in two years of $1,767,879. Under the Sanfield McDonald regime the increase of expenditure was at the rate of 5.1 per cent. per year. Under the Liberal regime of 32 years the increase was 6.7 per cent. per year, but in the short three-year period of the Whitney Government the increase has been 35 per cent., or 17.5 per year. Of course there are increased services justifying an increase of expenditure, but such a tremendous jump as has taken place under the Whitney Government seems very like extravagance.

The Ontario Association of Architects make out a good case against the competition of United States architects, which they properly claim are no better than Canadian. Are they as good? It is universally admitted that the general standard of attainment and educational equipment of Canadian professional men—doctors and lawyers—is higher in Ontario than the United States. Then why not architects? An American doctor or lawyer is not allowed to practice in Canada. Why should the privilege be allowed to an architect? Canada for the Canadians is a good motto.

A WEAK DEFENCE

The Mail and Empire says that "the hint or suggestion that Hon. Geo. E. Foster used trust funds to make profit for himself is without foundation in fact. The Trust funds were used for the Trust Company which made profit by their employment." That line of defence, it may be said, is not happily chosen. What happened in the now famous land deal, the Montreal Herald explains, was that Messrs. Foster, McGillivray and Wilson took over from Messrs. Fowler, Pope, Bennett and Lafurgey the option on 200,000 acres of C.P.R. lands. They took it over at an advance of a dollar an acre. But they didn't pay the original $3.50 an acre out of their own money, or the dollar an acre of profit out of their own money. They paid it all out of money borrowed from themselves in their capacity as directors of the Trust Company. Then they added to this price another trifle of $100,000, out of which their own profit was to be taken. All the profit over that, the Trust Company could have, and the Mail seems to think it quite a triumph for Mr. Foster that the company did make a profit. All things considered, it certainly is a good thing for Mr. Foster that there did turn out to be such a profit, but friends of Mr. Foster who are less complacent in their admiration for him than the Mail seems to be must entertain the hope that Mr. Borden's desk-mate will have a better defence to make than the Mail's plea that "The trust funds were issued for the Trust Company which made profit by their employment." If that is all that can be said for him, the Mail will find that a lot of Conservatives will be disposed to get quit of a dead weight.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Nineteen women have been elected to the Diet of Finland. Diet is where a woman should shine it anywhere.

In spite of vigorous opposition the bill to license Miss Sadie Holmes to practice dentistry was passed in the Legislature. Miss Holmes seems to have a political as well as professional pull.

The Senate has discovered that there is a combine in building paper. Peterborough people know that there is a combine of some conditions to make building as expensive as spring lamb at Easter.

Russia is in a state of double starvation; they are starving for liberty and bread. A London despatch states that twenty millions — three times the population of Canada—in Southeastern Russia, cannot live to see another harvest without aid in the shape of food.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster declares that the Royal Insurance Commission was devised and conducted solely as a political engine to discredit him. Is his modest claim to such distinction justified? It would appear that the Insurance Commission hit Senator Cox and some other men almost as prominent and important as Mr. Foster.

Belleville's tax rate this year will be 26.8 mills. That is high, but, remarks the Hamilton Times, how burdensome can be told only when we know something about its assessment. In Hamilton the assessment is so low that a 20-mill rate thereon really means only about 10 to 15 mills on "actual value," the assessment for which the statute provides. Some houses that have been sold for about $4,000, and will rent for $25 to $35 a month, are assessed at $2,000 and thereabouts.

Hon. Mr. Borden in his half hour speech, following Hon. Mr. Foster's ineffectual attempt at exculpation in regard to the finding of the Insurance Commission, abused the Commission for bringing in his name. He, however, never spoke one word in defence of the actions of the Fowler-Pope-Lafurgey-McGillivray-Rubin-Rogers-Montague combination in any phase of their operations. Mr. Borden merely disinfected himself in the matter. This is extremely significant.

In a recent beauty contest, by newspaper vote, the most beautiful English woman was declared to be an Irishwoman, Lady Pole-Carew. Lady Carew in her maiden days — she is a daughter of the Marquis of Ormonde, County Tipperary, Ireland —was said by the King to be the "most beautiful girl in Ireland." The prettiest girls, the greenest grass, the wettest water, and the most spirited spirits, seem to be indigenous products of the Emerald Isle.

If the Government decides to remove the Central Prison, to a farm plot of 200 acres in the eastern part of Toronto, it will be possible to give effect to the idea of employing the convicts in tilling the soil. A new building will have to be erected. It is pretty certain that a Yankee architect will be employed to prepare the plans. Hon. Mr. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, employed a Yankee book-keeper to do the Central Prison accounts, and, to be consistent, he should employ a Yankee architect to make the plans for the new Central Prison buildings.

AWFUL SCENE AT THE WRECK

Described By South African Veteran as Worse Than Battlefield.

FLAMES DEFIED RESCUE

Heroic Conduct of Those Who Escaped — Harrowing Incidents — Many Were Literally Roasted Alive— Screams Were Dreadful—Father Loses Whole Family—Coach Rolled Over Three Times.

Fort William, April 13.—According to the opinion of passengers who were in the wreck near Chapleau, if the overturned car had not caught fire probably no life would have been lost.

The breaking of the gas pipes in the train caused the fire to spread with such amazing rapidity that in 5 minutes the coach was destroyed. One survivor declares that the car was ablaze before it reached the bottom of the embankment. It rolled over three times in the descent.

Inside of half an hour the flames had died away, and the work of finding the bodies was at once begun. All the bodies were charred by the flames almost beyond recognition, and the work of identification was proceeding with the greatest of difficulty. They were all pinned beneath the seats and wreckage of cars, which accounted for the fact that they were not able to make any determined effort for themselves.

Harrowing Incidents.

The stories of some of the incidents are harrowing. One man, a veteran of the South African War, said:

"I saw hundreds of dead and dying, and the scenes have faded from my memory, but the screams of those poor, helpless children and women caught in the merciless grip of the flames will follow me to the grave. I aged in a few seconds, and then forgot everything.

"I pulled a man from the window. I knew it was a man because he struggled, but all I saw was a mass of flame after we got the fire out. They took the poor fellow away and laid him on some clothing, and he was taken to the hospital at Chapleau."

V. A. Dumfries, with a party consisting of William Hamilton, Joseph Townsend and Thomas Roan, were also in one of the cars in which there was loss of life. In the seat next to them were a woman and two children and a young man about 21 years of age. All four perished, being caught in the seats and held there until the flames reached them and roasted them alive. Another man was pinned by his feet between two cars and remained conscious until death relieved his sufferings amid the cruel flames.

Had Narrow Escape.

Other men show the evidences of their narrow escape from death, by displaying badly burned clothing. One said:

"I saw a woman and a child caught in the coach, but could not lend any assistance, as I was on fire myself. I also noticed a woman and a child pinned in the wreckage, and the fire was swiftly making towards them. The flames followed me out," he concluded, at the same time opening his overcoat and showing that the back of his under coat was totally burned from his back.

James Gibson, an ex-member of the 12th Lancers, with a wet handkerchief over his face, plunged into the burning ruins, and with the utmost difficulty, rescued one of the lady passengers. The poor woman had, however, only reached safety when she discovered that her child was back in the ruins. With one agonising cry she plunged into the burning mass, and was never seen again.

Made Desperate Efforts.

H. M. Beach of Ottawa tells of one poor fellow who was pinned by the legs under a tourist car. Three of his friends made desperate efforts to save him. The flames swept around him and scorched the faces and hands of the men and caught their clothing.

"For God's sake, boys, don't leave me!" he cried. "One more try to save me!" but nothing could be done.

Mrs. Augusta R. Jakland and two children, who were among the victims, were going west from Worcester, Mass., to join her husband, who had just settled in Western Canada. The husbands of both Mrs. Champion and Mrs. Davidson, who were lost in the wreck, were on board, and these two men are prostrate with grief.

William Day and Winifred Horton, who were both killed, were to have been married as soon as Day had located a home for her in the great Northwest. She had intended to work as a domestic in Winnipeg until the little home was prepared.

SAW FOUR ICEBERGS.

Steamship Vaderland Encountered Rough Weather On Voyage.

New York, April 13.—Four huge icebergs, one of which resembled a church in general appearance, with a lofty steeple-like pinnacle towering 300 feet above the surface of the sea, were sighted by the steamer Vaderland off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. The Vaderland arrived here yesterday from Antwerp and Dover after a rough passage. High seas and stormy weather prevailed throughout the voyage until Thursday.

Shoots Brother-In-Law.

Windsor, April 13.—Jockey Pierce was the victim of a murderous assault committed yesterday by his brother-in-law, Arthur Wrightman. The latter fired at Pierce, the bullet taking effect in the right side, but Pierce succeeded in climbing over the back fence before he fell exhausted. He lies in a precarious condition.

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

New Yorker Meets Untimely Death Near Stratford.

Stratford, April 13.—Daniel Henderson of New York City was killed by a train on the Grand Trunk, near God's Hill, five miles from here. The body was badly mangled.

It is not known how he met death, unless it was by falling from the train.

He had a good appearance, was well dressed and carried valuable papers and deeds of property.

GRABBED HIS WATCH.

Agent For "the Squaw Man" Victim of Bold Robbery.

Kingston, April 13.—Frank Young, advance agent for "The Squaw Man," was queerly done out of a watch at the G. T. R. station.

He was about to board a train when a supposed official asked to see his ticket. It was being scrutinized when the official turned to a man and said, 'We ought to put those cars on, but I do not know if we will have time to do it." The other was heard to say, "Oh, I guess we will have time, all right."

Turning to Young the last speaker enquired of him what the time was by his watch. Young pulled the watch out of his vest pocket, and one of the men grabbed it and ran.

Outburst In Douma.

St. Petersburg, April 13.—A demand for the exclusion from Parliament of three Socialist deputies, pending their trial for political offences, submitted to the Lower House of Parliament by the Minister of Justice, M. Chtcheglesiteff, at yesterday's session, caused an outburst of indignation.

Dishonorably Discharged.

Found Guilty.

Woodstock, April 13.—Curry and O'Brien, who have been in jail for several months awaiting trial for rape, were yesterday found guilty. Curry turned King's evidence. O'Brien is well connected in the city. Curry's people live in East Oxford.

THE RAILROADS UNPREPARED

There are bitter complaints of the inability of the American railroads to handle the freight that is pressed upon them. Railroad men have many explanations. Some of them say the engine and car works are unable to fill the orders for rolling stock that have been given them. Others talk of the need of more trackage and better terminal facilities.

It is interesting to observe that the conditions complained of by American shippers exist in other countries. They are found in England. A correspondent of the London Times says: "So inadequate are the resources of some of the English railway companies that many collieries are losing time, and steel works are being shut down in the Midlands, notwithstanding heavy order books, because the railway companies are unable to move the output from the pits or to supply the furnaces with fuel." Matters are not quite so bad as that in the United States. The officers of the overworked English roads say that locomotive plants cannot provide the additional engines that are needed.

Only a short time ago there was serious traffic congestion on the Italian roads. These roads are mostly operated by the government, which helps to explain their inability to handle freight satisfactorily; but the French lines, which are operated by private companies, were also unable to meet the demands of the shippers.

In view of all the facts it must be admitted that the men who manage the American roads are not the only sinners. They seem to have been to a certain extent the victim of conditions which obtain in both Europe and the United States. There as well as here there has been a rapid expansion of manufacturing energy which has suddenly outrun the carrying capacity of the railroads. That there has been a great expansion in this country is proved by the increased imports of materials for use in manufacturing and by the increase in the exports of finished goods.

In a measure the American railroad men are to blame for not foreseeing the growth of manufacturing, which makes freight, and not making arrangements to take care of that freight. They ought to have seen that the productive industry of the country was under a full head of steam. But the men who control the railroad systems of England, France and Italy were blind to what the manufacturers of those countries were doing, and were taken unawares like their American brethren. Perhaps they will be more foresight hereafter on both sides of the Atlantic.—Chicago Tribune, April, 1, 1907. 3d35

BRONCHITIS CAN BE CURED

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Will Do It.

Bronchitis is generally the result of a cold caused by inclement weather or exposure to wet, and is a very dangerous inflamatory affection of the bronchial tubes.

The symptoms are tightness across the chest, sharp pains and difficulty in breathing, and a secretion of thick phlegm, at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color.

Neglected Bronchitis is one of the most general causes of consumption, so cure it at once by the use of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Mrs. S. Fidler, Linton's, N.B., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know of my experience with Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. My little girl was very low with Bronchitis and our doctor did all in his power for her, but could only give her relief for a short time. My husband saw your medicine advertised, and immediately procured three bottles. I never saw anything give so much relief in so short a time. It stopped the annoying cough at night and she is now perfectly cured. I am so glad I can hardly express my gratitude for what Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has done for us."

the windows. Axes and other wrecking material were forgotten in the struggle. Strong men plunged through the windows. Weak women in a desperate effort to save their little children fought madly for the doors, and in the midst of all the pleading of those who were pinned underneath the wreckage rose on, the air in a pitiful wail.

Solid Mass of Flames

The flames spread with terrific speed. The cars were one mass of flames. The passengers on the remainder of the coaches and those who had been fortunate enough to get out of the burning cars, had by this time, although it had only been a few minutes, managed to gather their wits, and heroic attempts to rescue the imprisoned passengers were started. In a few short momements deeds of the greatest gallantry that rival even those performed on the battlefield, and for which the Victoria Cross is the reward, were performed, and it seems fitting that a soldier who had served his country in many hard fought battles proved the greatest hero of the wreck.

Women Pinned Down With Babes

Of the killed Mrs. R. B. Champion and Mrs. R. Davidson, together with their babies, were travelling in company with their husbands at the time of the wreck. They were all sitting together but with the jar and in the confusion they became separated, and the men managed to get out safely, but both women were pinned under the seats, and perished in the flames together with their babies. One of the little tots was found dead in its mother's arms, which were wound around the little mite as if to protect it.

The husbands of these two women when they discovered that their wives were not among the saved, were with the greatest difficulty prevented from dashing back into the burning ruins.

Engaged Couple Perished

William Day, another of the victims, was about 25 years of age. He was en route from England to the Northwest where he was to settle. He was engaged to be married to Winnifred Horton, who was also one of the victims claimed by the wreck. The young couple were to be married in the near future, Miss Horton intending to work in the West until Day had a home prepared for her.

LOVE IS THE CENTRE OF ALL THINGS

Rev. Dr. Symonds in Fifth Lecture Tells of the Revelation of His Truth to Tennyson.

LAST LECTURE TO-NIGHT

Another large attendance was present at the Y. M. C. A. hall last night, when the fifth of Rev. Dr. Symonds' lectures was given. The chairman last night was Lieut.-Col. Rogers, and during the evening Miss Helen Davies sang Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." The lecture dealt with the latter part of the first cycle of the poem and the opening of the second cycle.

It is in the latter part of the first cycle that Tennyson deals with some of those difficulties to faith that spring out of advancing knowledge. Our best instincts tell us of a God of Love. But Nature seems to tell us of a God who is indifferent to pain and sorrow. The poet therefore cries:

"Are God and Nature then at strife
That Nature lends such evil dreams,
So careful of the type she seems,
So careless of the single life."

But no, Nature does not care even for the type. Geology tells a different story;

"So careful of the type?" But no.
From scarped cliff and quarried stone
She cries, 'A thousand types are gone;
I care for nothing, all shall go.'"

If this treating of the indifference of God to suffering be the truth, if Nature is indeed a blind fate, then what a horrible delusion the history of man has been. Shall man, cries the poet, Nature's last work

"Who seemed so fair,
Such splendid purpose in his eyes,
Who rolled the Psalm to wintry skies,
Who built him fanes of fruitless prayer,

"Who trusted God was love indeed,
And love creation's final law,
Tho' Nature, red in tooth and claw,
With ravine, shrieked against his creed.

"Who loved, who suffered countless ills,
Who battled for the true, the just,
Be blown about the desert dust,
Or sealed within the iron hills?"

If this be the ultimate destiny of man, what a mass of delusions is his life. Such thoughts prove almost overwhelming. Considering these things his faith wavers.

"I falter where I firmly trod,
And falling with my weight of cares
Upon the great world's altar stairs
That slope through darkness up to God.

"I stretch lame hands of faith and grope,
And gather dust and chaff and call,
To what I feel is Lord of all,
And faintly trust the larger hope."

Tennyson does not rest in this condition of a semi-paralyzed faith. His convictions that in spite of all appearances Love is at the centre of all things steadily grows, and at last he finds "a stronger faith his own." Dr. Symonds dealt at some length with the problem of suffering in the animal world, which, he said, had in the past been greatly exaggerated.

The second cycle or "The Cycle of the Present," is less interesting than either the First or the Third Cycles. It is, however, in this cycle that the poet expresses his determination to pick up anew the threads of his broken life, and to convert his loss into gain. He forms a new friendship and begins to find peace.

"My pulses stronger beat again
For love of friends has come I meet,
And sweet to me I hope to greet
The mistress of the heart of men.

"I woo your love; I count it crime
To mourn for any over much;
I, the divided half of such
A friendship as had mastered time,

Which masters time indeed, and is Eternal, separate from fears—"

The chair to-night will be occupied by Sheriff Hall, and Miss Davies will again sing, her number to-night being "Ring Out Wild Bells."

The Chest Pains Of Bronchitis

If the cough is dry and hard, if there is pain, soreness and tightness in the chest, if you have difficulty in getting your breath, you have reason to suppose that you have bronchitis. Just it would become chronic and lead to serious lung trouble do not delay the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, the most certain cure for bronchitis.

TIRED ALL DAY, EVERY DAY.

Thousands of Women Write Dr. Hartman to Complain That They Never Feel Wholly Rested, That They Are Always Tired.

MRS. T. TRENER, Albion Place, Notch Road, Paterson, N. J., writes:

"I suffered five years with my spine and pains in my back.

"I consulted you, fortunately, and in fourteen weeks was cured by the use of Peruna and following your advice.

"I can now do my own work. I cannot thank you enough. I cannot tell you how happy I am. No family should be without Peruna."

Suffered Years With Pain.

Mrs. Ida Germain, 531 Manhattan Ave., New York City, writes:

"For many years I suffered with pains in the pelvic organs. I was unable to find relief, as no doctor could help me.

"I read of your wonderful Peruna and decided to give it a trial. I took it for some time and obtained much relief.

Strong Again.

"Now I am strong again and have a good appetite. Peruna has relieved me of a chronic ailment, and I therefore recommend it to all women."

Always Tired and Weak.

Mrs. E. A. Connolly, 3227 Garner St., Kansas City, Mo., writes:

"I have suffered for years with stomach trouble, so that I could eat hardly anything. I was tired and weak all the time.

PELVIC CATARRH CAUSES MANY AILMENTS.

There are so many women who are tired all the time. They get up in the morning tired and drag themselves around wearily all day.

They have pain in the back and dragging sensations which seem to weigh them down as though carrying a burden.

Many women are undoubtedly suffering with systemic catarrh. The proper remedy for them to take is Peruna.

The catarrh has invaded the whole abdominal and pelvic organs. Through mucous discharges they are losing vitality every moment.

The food they eat and the sleep they get is hardly sufficient to keep up with the incessant drain on their vitality.

The only hope for betterment in their cases is the complete removal of the catarrh.

For this Peruna is recommended by Dr. Hartman. It relieves catarrh wherever located in the human body—in the thorax, abdomen or pelvis.

"This was caused by indigestion and female trouble. I suffered agonies and was afraid to be left alone.

Completely Exhausted.

"At times I was afraid to stand on my feet and to attempt to do any housework was out of the question.

"One day I read an advertisement of Peruna and its wonderful cures and I decided to try it.

New Life and Vigor.

"My husband brought home one bottle and before that bottle was half gone I felt new life and new vigor.

"That tired, hopeless feeling left me, I began to eat and my food nourished me. I could walk and do my work without fainting.

Peruna's Wonderful Work.

"I took several bottles during the summer and fall and cannot praise it enough for the wonderful work it did for me.

"When I feel tired or nervous from any cause, a few doses of Peruna cure me.

"I hope every maid and woman who suffers will give Peruna a trial and be as grateful as my husband and myself."

Doctored 6 Year.

"Miss Anna McGinn, 161 Plain St., Providence, R. I., writes:

"I wish to let you know of the good your medicine has done for me. I had what the doctors called heart trouble. I had been doctoring for a year before I tried your Peruna. I suffered the most with pain in my head.

A Friend Advised Peruna.

"One day a friend of mine told me of your Peruna, so I got a bottle. After a week's use of it I began to feel better.

"At first I could not eat, sleep or work, but I have at last found that the medicine that would cure me was your Peruna.

A New Woman.

"My face has a good color now. I am a new woman. I thank you very much."

Followed Dr. Hartman's Advice.

Mrs. Viola Marshall, 420 West Mason street, Springfield, Ill., writes:

"Two months ago when I sought your advice, I had gotten so weak that I had to lie down most of the time.

Praising Peruna.

"I began taking your Peruna and now I feel like a new woman.

"I shall never cease praising Peruna, nor thanking Dr. Hartman for his kind advice."

Your Exact Measurements

That's the essential difference between Custom-made and Ready-made Clothing.

When you order a Suit or Overcoat made to your own exact measurements, in proper form, you get your own personality, figure, dimensions, peculiarities, posture, and all the rest that you instruct your merchant tailor.

When you buy a Suit or Overcoat out of a pile of Ready-mades, it makes little difference whether the pile is stacked up on a dusty table or on a wax figure—the "brand" differs only in the factory label it bears.

BIRTHDAY PARTY WAS SUCCESS

Delightful Affair Under the Auspices of St. John's A. Y. P. A. Last Night.

PROGRAMME WAS ENJOYED

The birthday party given under the auspices of the Anglican Young People's Association of St. John's Church in the Sunday school room last night, was a novel and interesting entertainment and was greatly enjoyed by the large audience present. The affair was, financially and otherwise, a great success, and must have been extremely gratifying to the young people who had the affair in charge. In its general features, the programme was a change from the ordinary concert and its original nature was appreciated.

The twelve months of the year were strikingly represented by the young people, who were attired in costumes that suggested the month which they personated. Following are the ladies and gentlemen who took part in this part of the programme, and who helped the receive the guests; January, Mr. Loucks; February, Miss Pratt and Mr. Geo. Chandler; March, Mr. Hazlitt; April Miss Alice Wilson and Mr. G. McBrien; May, Miss Dawson and Mr. Greenhalgh; June, Miss Horsfield and Mr. Downes; July, Mrs. Devey and Mr. Neil Lee; August, Miss Lily Wesley and Mr. Trudel; September, Miss Wesley and Mr. Cromey; October, Miss Morris and Mr. Northcott; November, Miss Martin and Mr. Drysdale; December, Miss Young and Mr. Northcott. The costumes worn were pretty and appropriate.

A reception committee, composed of Miss Layfield, Miss Shirley Wesley and Miss Mary Head, were untiring in their efforts to make everyone feel at home.

An interesting feature was the autograph collecting competition. Each one present was given a tablet and pencil, and was supposed to get as many names as possible within a stated time. The prize winners of the competition were Mrs. Devey, Miss Birdie Dawson, Miss Huffman and Mr. Greenhalgh.

The programme was heartily enjoyed and encores were frequent. Each number on the programme was well received, the "Tickling Trio" and the musical sketch being worthy of special mention. Each of the three gentlemen taking part in the trio was presented with a magnificent bouquet. Mr. Jos. Bell acted as chairman, and the programme was as follows:

Pianoforte Duet — "Peet and Peasant"—Miss Mabel Gilbert and Mr. R. J. Devey.

Tickling Trio — Messrs. Devey, Chandler and Greenhalgh.

Solo—Miss Ruth Dawson.

Sketch—"A Country Courtship" — Mr. and Mrs. Devey.

Musical Sketch—Mrs. R. J. Devey, Mrs. Greenslade and Messrs. Chandler and Greenhalgh.

Duet—Messrs. Paddock and Greenslade.

Pianoforte Selection — Mrs. Greenslade.

At the conclusion of the programme, an auction sale of the candy that had been left over in the booth which was so successfully operated during the evening by Misses Roberts, Horsfield and Whitcroft, was held, Mr. Greenhalgh showing that he had all the qualifications of a good auctioneer by disposing of all his stock at prices as lofty as the quality.

The entertainment was one of the most enjoyable of its kind given for some time, and the young people of St. John's Church should feel highly gratified at the success which attended their efforts in the closing social entertainment of the season.

WHAT TO WEAR.

ROYAL BANK'S NEW OFFICES A CREDIT TO THE CITY

Elegant and Substantial Bank Premises for One of the City's New Financial Establishments.

A PROGRESSIVE MANAGER

Handsome Interior Fittings in Keeping With Dignified Character of the Institution—A Brief Description.

Few, if any Canadian cities, of a corresponding size to Peterborough, can boast of bank buildings equal to those in this city. Within a few weeks three practically new bank offices are opening in Peterborough, and all three are a credit not only to the particular bank to which they belong, but to the city as a whole. Within the last few days the new offices of the Royal Bank of Canada have been completed and opened and a visit to the handsome premises of this strong financial institution on Hunter street, is a pleasure to those who are lovers of the beautiful in architecture.

Mr. V. Eastwood is to be congratulated upon the well appointed and elegantly furnished offices fitted out by the bank of which he is the local manager. The bank premises include two stores, formerly occupied by R. J. Soden and Mitchell's barber shop, but it is hard to recognize in the substantial looking brown stone fronted building the location where the stores referred to were situated. About $8,000 has been spent on the building and furnishings, and at the present time the Royal Bank's offices in Peterborough, will compare favorably with those of any bank in any branch.

The building, which measures 40 by 75 feet, is devoted entirely, on the first floor, to the bank's offices which, in addition to being elegantly fitted out and furnished, are commodious.

The interior of the bank is fitted in weathered oak and antique brass, the style being one adopted universally by the bank and used in practically all of the newer offices of this institution. To the left of the entrance there are the offices of the manager, an outer office, where he will be found during a greater portion of the banking day, and, opening off it, the private office. To the rear of the office of the manager are the general offices, the accountant's desk being the first, and after it in succession, the teller's cage, ledger-keeper's desk, and the savings department, while across the end are the collection and discount desks. The floor of the main office is laid in tile and the square pillars that indicate the diversions of the business screen into different departments, are surmounted by ornamental electric globes in harmony with the style of the other interior fittings.

At the rear of the general office and directly facing the door, is the vault, fitted with burglar proof safe. It is in plain view from both the front and rear entrances of the bank. The floor of the office behind the railing, is laid in cork matting, and there is ample room for the clerks to do their work. A stationery room is located at the rear of the offices. The walls are dadoed, dark green burlap, to a height of six feet six inches, encircling them, and surmounted by a chair rail of weathered oak, the walls above being finished in a lighter shade of green.

For the convenience of customers, desks are placed against the west wall.

Since the branch of the bank was opened by Mr. J. W. Fulton, business has increased satisfactorily, the present manager, Mr. V. Eastwood, stating that each day was showing a good increase in the amount of business done by the branch here. The management made no mistake in selecting Mr. Eastwood as the man to take charge of their business here, and the progress made since he assumed the reins of office is ample evidence of this fact. During the two months that Mr. Fulton was here opening the branch, he placed it on a sound basis, and his thorough preliminary work made Mr. Eastwood's task much easier. Mr. Fulton is a banker of many years' experience, and knows the banking business as few men in Ontario do. He is destined to occupy a very prominent place in the banking business of Canada. Mr. Eastwood, referring to the policy of the Royal Bank, stated that he did not intend to confine himself strictly to stereotyped methods. He would use his best judgment in the interests of his clients and of the bank, and did not feel at all dubious as to the result.

The Royal Bank of Canada has at the present time 86 branches in Canada and in Cuba, and during the last few months a number of new branches have been opened in Ontario, where a splendid connection has been secured. The capital stock of the bank is $3,900,000, with a rest account amounting to $4,390,000, while the total assets of the institution amount to over $45,0000,000.

In fitting up the premises here, wherever possible, local firms have been patronized, but in the case of the tiled floor and weathered oak furnishings, they were installed by outside firms, the former by the Mosiac Tiling Co., of Buffalo, and the latter by the Canadian Office and School Furniture Co., of Preston, Ont.

With such an energetic and progressive manager as Mr. Eastwood, there can be no question as to the future success of the Royal Bank, in Peterborough.

The head office, formerly at Halifax, where some of its leading directorate reside, has since January last been removed to Montreal. The president is Mr. T. E. Kenny, one of the leading capitalists of Halifax. Mr. H. S. Holt, one of the first citizens of Montreal, is vice-president. Mr. Edson L. Pease is general manager, and has demonstrated his strong character in the striking increase of

FUNERAL OF MRS. LAMB TO BE HELD ON MONDAY

Remains Arrived Here Last Night and Will be Taken to Kingston For Burial.

The remains of the late Mrs. Walter Lamb, who died in Lethbridge, Alta., on Monday last, arrived in the city last night and were conveyed to the residence of her mother, Mrs. Roddy, at 329 Sherbrooke street. On Monday morning they will be taken to Kingston, where the funeral will take place. The death of Mrs. Lamb is a particularly sad one. She was only 33 years of age, and the mother of three young children, who survive her. On the very day she became ill she had intended to leave Lethbridge on a visit to her old home in Peterborough, but the pleasure of this was cut short by the unrelenting hand of death. In a family of ten children, she was the first to be stricken, and her demise is, therefore, the more keenly felt.

Besides her children, her husband, parents, four sisters and five brothers survive. The sisters are Mrs. McGill and Mrs. Turnbull, Peterborough; Mrs. Westlake, Portsmouth, and Mrs. Cochrane, Sydenham, and the brothers are, John, Kingston; Frank, of Cartwright; Harry, Fort William, and Edward and Frederick, Peterborough.

GOVERNMENT TUG TO BE LAUNCHED ON TUESDAY

It is Now Nearing Completion—Stoutly Built Craft With Plenty of Speed.

The new Government tug, which is being built at the McDonald lumber yards, is nearing completion and will be launched into little Lake on Tuesday afternoon next. The tug is a stout little craft, built of the best of timber, and with all the latest improvements in boat-building.

The hull is painted a bright red up to the water line, and above that it is a dark green, and when on the water will present a very pretty appearance. The engine has been installed, but the boiler has not arrived yet. The steamer will be utilized to assist one of the Government dredges in the dredging operations.

The building of the tug was done under the direction of Mr. George Hickey, Peterborough's well-known boat-builder.

PLENTY OF MAPLE SYRUP IN THE CITY THIS MORNING

Price Fell to Thirty-Five Cents. The Market Was Large and Prices Good.

Maple syrup was the important article for sale on the market to-day. The past week has been ideal weather for the sugar industry and as a result there was plenty of it for those who wanted to buy. The early arrivals with usual present day business methods demanded 40 cents a quart for the Canadian dainty, but the supply was gradually increased and like the stock boats they pushed down the prices to the citizens' satisfaction. Potatoes were about the same. Some of the sellers, however, demanded 95 cents. Eggs sold at 15 cents and butter at 27 cents. The market may be called a good one, it was well attended and the prices were favorable to the citizens.

HOME CIRCLE'S CONCERT WAS MUCH ENJOYED

A Good Programme Was Given But Attendance Was Not Large.

A concert was held last evening in the Foresters' Hall, George street, under the auspices of Peterborough Circle No. 193, Order of Canadian Home Circles. Owing to the fact that the night was such a disagreeable one and that there were many counter attractions, the attendance was not so large as at the entertainments which have previously been held under similar auspices. Those present enjoyed a splendid programme and were more than repaid for braving the elements. The programme was supplied by Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Kyle, the well-known local entertainers, and they more than excelled themselves last night. No matter in what line they appeared, they were simply splendid, and were greeted by rounds of applause. It is regrettable that there was not a larger number present to enjoy the excellent entertainment. During the evening, refreshments, consisting of coffee, cake and sandwiches, were served by the ladies, and, altogether, the concert was a most delightful affair.

Improvements To Be Made To The Municipal Offices

Ground Floor of the Old Fire Hall Will be Used for This Purpose---Property Committee Took Up the Matter Yesterday---Second Floor Will be Rented.

The Property Committee of the City Council decided upon some extensive improvements in connection with the offices of the city officials, at the meeting held yesterday afternoon. It was decided that the ground floor of the old firehall should be used for municipal purposes, and the second floor will be let, either for offices or as a lodge room. The feeling of the meeting seemed to be that, even if it meant the loss of a little money by not renting the downstairs portion, the advantage gained by the convenient situation of the offices of the various officials would more than counterbalance this.

There were present, Ald. McIntyre, chairman; the Mayor, Ald. Stevenson, and Elliott, City Engineer Hay and Sanitary Inspector Ball.

Moving the Offices

The first question taken up was the advisability of moving the offices of the City Engineer, Tax Collector, and other officials, to the ground floor of the old firehall. The committee seemed to be unanimous that this was the best thing that could be done. The City Engineer submitted a plan of the ground floor, showing the offices as he proposed they should be situated. The plan provided for offices for the Tax Collector and the Engineer, and a joint office for the Plumbing and Sanitary Inspector. The Mayor was of the opinion that a revision of the plan might give more room, and that an office might be given to the assessors.

The chairman stated that Mr. Fred Dorey wished to secure the ground floor for the purpose of an automobile showroom, but the committee refused to entertain the proposition. After the meeting they inspected the old firehall, and decided to have the City Engineer revise his plan, which will be submitted at the next meeting of the committee.

The improvements that will be made include the tearing down of the hose tower and stable at the rear of the hall. It is likely that if it can be arranged that the room now used as a meeting room for the different committees, will be enlarged by the removing of the washroom, which is at present situated to the right of the committee room.

Another question taken up was that of building permits. A draft application form was presented and looked over by the committee. It was moved by the Mayor, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the City Clerk and Ald. McIntyre be instructed to get out application forms for building permits, and also the permits.

Bandstand to be Painted

A letter was read from the City Engineer calling the attention of the committee to the fact that the bandstands in Victoria and Central Parks were badly in need of painting. It was decided to have the bandstand in Victoria Park painted, and the chairman was instructed to have the work done. Nothing will be done to the stand in Central Park.

J. H. Howson, Inspector of Weights and Measures, called attention to the fact that the market scales building was very much in need of repairs. The roof, he said, should be extended eight or ten feet each way, and other alterations made.

At the conclusion of the meeting the committee visited the scales, and it was decided to have the Engineer make an estimate of the cost of the work.

Notices Printed

The Sanitary Inspector asked to have notices printed and posted up, informing the people of the city that their premises must be cleaned up by May 15. On motion of the Mayor, seconded by Ald. Elliott, the Inspector was given authority to have 100 notices printed, and posted up.

The garbage bylaw was discussed, but it was thought that more information should be gained before any steps should be taken. On motion, the City Clerk was instructed to write to Toronto, Hamilton and other places to get as much information as possible about the system used by them.

STRUCK BY EXPRESS BUT STILL LIVES

A Narrow Escape of a Brighton Man 80 Years of Age—Was Thrown to Side of Track.

A Port Hope despatch says:—An old man, eighty years of age had a miraculous escape from death on Wednesday. He was walking along the track near Brighton when he was struck by the train due here at 12.55 p.m. He was thrown to the side of the track, and beyond a slight scratch on the side of his head, he escaped injury. MUSIC AND DRAMA

"KERRY GOW"

The return engagement of the Kerry Gow, Joe Murphy's famous play, was greeted with a full house last night. There was scarcely a vacant seat in the whole building, and the play well deserved the patronage it received. Many who did not attend on Good Friday were pleased that Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons afforded them this opportunity.

The Kerry Gow is a sparkling Irish play that does not fail to please. It is replete with repartee and humour, and also the deeper emotion of life, love, self-sacrifice and hate. It is a clean production, and of the highest type of Irish dramas.

The company is a strong one, and is well balanced. The manner in which it presented the play was generally appreciated. Allen Doone, as the hero, the Kerry Gow, is a finished actor. Like the rest of the company he is very realistic in his efforts and this feature enhanced the charm of the production. As an ordinary man he was fine, as a prisoner he was pathetic, and as a lover he was the very beau ideal. Miss Edna Keely as Nora Drew, his sweetheart, was very winsome and graceful, and acted her part in a charming manner. Further detail is unnecessary as they all did well.

The orchestra of the house was a little more liberal with their music than usual, and deserve mention for their efficient work, with which the patrons were highly gratified.

A NEW METHOD USED TO COLLAR THE TRADE

Mr. Robt. Fair Receives Novel Advertisement From a Collar Dealer In Montreal.

Mr. Robert Fair this morning received what is possibly the most novel advertisement ever sent out by a business house. It is in the form of a genuine linen collar, doubled up and sent through the mail, with a two cent stamp. The sender was John Allen, who does business in Montreal, deals extensively in men's collars, and on the inside of that sent through His Majesty's mail are printed some arguments in favour of Mr. Allen's particular line of collars. Mr. Allen is well known to many Peterborough people. He is an enthusiastic curler, a prominent Mason, and a good business man.

CITY MINISTERS—WILL PREACH ON LORD'S DAY

Its Observance Will be Discussed To-morrow in Number of the City Churches.

In several of the city churches to-morrow special sermons will be preached on the observance of the Sabbath, at the request of the Lord's Day Alliance. It is understood that some little time ago the Alliance sent out a request to all the ministers asking them to devote at least one sermon to-morrow to a discussion on the Lord's Day, and a number of those in Peterborough have acceded to the request.

THEY WOULD LAUGH

And the Tone of the Laugh Would Not Be Pleasant.

"I have never appealed to sentiment, and I never will," said the President of the Slater Shoe Company. "As a business product I contend that the Slater shoe at $5 is better value than any imported shoe selling in Canada for $6."

The extra dollar is the customs impost, and this the consumer must pay. Not only does he pay, but he gets a shoe which is not made to withstand the more rigorous climatic conditions of Canada.

That this contention for the Slater shoe is upheld is proven by its wonderful sales in other countries besides Canada. Residents of foreign countries who buy the Slater shoe would laugh at the folks who are cajoled into paying more money for a shoe when they could buy the real Slater shoe. R. Neil, agent, Peterborough.

BOOMING LOCAL JUNK BUSINESS

Jews Are Searching the Vicinity for Anything and Everthing in the Form of Junk.

Fifteen Jews are now living in the old offices of the People's Coal Co. on Charlotte street and in the rear thirteen nondescript horses are stalled and all are united for the purpose of gathering junk. Some time ago Messrs. Low and Eisenberg sold these premises to Mandall Bros. and Hermel, and the new firm have busied matters so that to-day they have the largest separate gang of junkmen in the city. The immigrants from the old country for the most part settle in the west, but the Hebrews are apparently making livelihoods in our cities. Yesterday a small contingent of four or five arrived in the city from Toronto, thus swelling the number with Mandall & Hermel to fifteen.

The colony has an air of industry that pervades the proverbial beehive nameless vehicles bring in their loads of unassorted junk. The Jews who live and sleep in these large offices are under the watchful eye of the sanitary inspector. Their work is carefully organized, the city and country is divided and allotted to certain outfits and if there is any old junk to [illegible] in the neighbourhood they will certainly get it. They are an industrious class and interfere with no one except in their business.

A GREAT NECESSITY FOR CHEAPER HOUSES

Messrs. A. Brown & Co. Address Letter to the Public—Well Prepared for This Year's Business.

Messrs. A. Brown & Co., the oldest real estate dealers in Peterborough, at the beginning of what promises to be their banner year in business, have addressed the following letter to their customers, and to the public generally:

We take this opportunity of thanking the people of Peterborough, and the surrounding country, for the very liberal patronage they have accorded us during the seven years that we have been in the real estate business in this city. We have honestly tried to conduct our business on fair and honourable principles, and that the people have appreciated this is shown by the fact that our business has increased from year to year.

We wish to say that in the coming season we intend by our strict attention to business to give our clients the benefit of our seven years' experience. We have a large variety of all classes of property on our lists, and we will be glad to give information concerning the same.

If you have a piece of property of any kind for sale, we will be glad to give it our best attention, and make your interests our first consideration.

We beg to say further that there seems to be a great need in this city for a cheaper class of house for the workingmen. We fear the workingman does not get as high wages as he should, as it takes about one fourth of his earnings to pay his rent, and at present other necessary expenses are very high. We mention this in the hope that something may be done to relieve this most undesirable condition of affairs, and relief cannot come too soon.

Soliciting a continuation of your patronage, we remain,

Faithfully yours,
A. BROWN & CO.

WILL PREACH ON THE LORD'S DAY OBSERVANCE

Special Sermon Will be Preached To-morrow in Park Street Baptist Church by Rev. A. H. Brace.

At the Park Street Baptist Church Lord's Day Week will be duly observed to-morrow, with a special sermon by Rev. A. H. Brace, entitled "The Trades Unions and the Lord's Day Act." This is in compliance with the Lord's Day Alliance, which has set apart this week throughout the Dominion to create a more exclusive interest in the Lord's Day—its defence and due observance. The response is very general, and its reflex will be a power.

VACCINATION AND DANDRUFF

There Is As Sure Prevention Of Baldness As There Is Of Smallpox.

It is now accepted that vaccination renders the vaccinated person exempt from smallpox; or, at worse, he never has anything but the lightest kind of a case. Now, as sure a preventive and cure for dandruff, which causes falling hair and baldness, has been discovered—Neworo's Herpicide. It kills the dandruff germ. C. H. Reed, Victor, Idaho, says: "Myself and wife have been troubled with dandruff and falling hair for years. We tried remedies without effect until we used Newbro's Herpicide, two bottles of which cured us." Hundreds of similar testimonies. Sold by leading druggists. AN EXPLANATION OF EYE TESNING MATTER

Mr. G. N. Babcock Writes Letter Explaining His Position on the Board of Education Matter.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In your issue of 5th you have an article "Local Opticians' Grievance Against Board of Education" in which yoyu say: "Some weeks ago Mr. G. N. Babcock, of the Tate Optical Company wrote the Board, asking for the privilege of visiting the schools and examine the eyes of the pupils free of charge, etc., and at last night's meeting a letter was read protesting against Board granting to any one individual this privilege." The letter was signed by Wm. Madill, W. A. Sanderson & Co., and two others, also a letter along the same lines from Dr. T. P. McCullough. Now, in order to show that the Board's action was right and to explain our position to the public, also to soothe the nerves of the protesting gentlemen who have worked themselves up to such a state of excitement as to publicly protest against what they call special privilege and not in the public interest, etc. In the first place we did not ask for the privilege of visiting the schools, in fact, we have not time for such visits. But if any of the protesting gentlemen have the time, by all means let the Board divide the schools between them, reserving those requiring medical treatment for the oculist protesting, and we can assure them we will enter no protest against giving them the privilege. What we did ask for and the proposition we made to the Board will be found in our letter of May 12, 1906, and was published in the Examiner and Review of May 16th, 1906. Our proposition was, in brief: "We will furnish free of charge for the different departments or rooms of all the public schools in the city, two test cards with instructions to the teacher for a preliminary examination of pupils who show symptoms of eye strain; accompanying the test cards will be blank forms on which the name of the pupil may be written, together with the suspected trouble. These cards can either be sent to the parents or returned to us and we will set aside one hour a day two days a week for the free examination of such pupils. The card will then be sent to the parents and they can take whatever action they think proper." Our offer was made without any conditions or restrictions whatever. The examination was free and the parents could go where they pleased and get glasses if they wanted them. Now, that was what we asked for and if there is anything wrong or anything that savors of graft or not in the public interest by all means turn it down and give the protesting gentlemen what they so much desire.

Matters of public interest such as this should be above business and professional jealousy. The idea of giving the cards was suggested to us by reading a report of Teachers' Convention held in Toronto last April, at which this matter was discussed and a plan suggested similar to our proposition. Our offer was made in good faith and if accepted and carried out as we suggested, would place Peterborough schools in the foremost of all others in the province in this particular.

Mr. Dumble who is an active and energetic member of the Board and quick to grasp and advocate matters of public interest, recognizing the importance of the subject urged that our plan be adopted and the Board kindly consented.

Thanking you for allowing us to explain.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Heritage optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

BURRIDGE TO MEET KID DONN

A Big Wrestling Bout Arranged for Athletic Evening on April 22.

Manager "Billy" Breen has succeeded in arranging one of the most important matches ever seen in Peterborough, and on April 22 Harry Burridge will meet J. R. (Kid) Dunn, of Toronto, for the welterweight championship of Canada. Mr. Breen has spent a lot of time in arranging this bout, which will be a treat for the sport-loving people of the city. Dunn is wrestling all comers at a Toronto theatre this week and will be in great shape.

There will be several other first-class boxing and wrestling bouts. Tommy Daly, of Toronto, and Lex Burns, of Peterborough, will meet again. The two put up a great bout the last time they came together. Another good bout will be that between "Scotty" McEwan, champion of Canada, at 115 pounds, and Jerry Carroll, of Ottawa, for six rounds. Several local boys will also take part.

BANQUET WILL BE A GREAT SUCCESS

Will Be A Representative Gathering at Monday Night's Affair.

The sale of tickets for the complimentary banquet to the Stratheonas on Monday night would indicate that the attendance will be large and representative. The affair promises to be a great success from every point of view. During the evening the Examiner cup will be presented to the winners by Hon. J. R. Stratton. An enjoyable musical programme will be interspersed with the toast list and an evening of thorough enjoyment is anticipated. The affair will take place at McCallum's.

MANY MOTOR BOATS FOR STONY LAKE

Will Be Introduced There This Season —Some Coming From Toronto.

Stony Lake this year will be introduced to a large number of motor boats, a style of craft rather foreign to those waters. Last year, the cottagers will remember, a motor boat called the "Rochester Jr." made its sudden appearance at the lake and was greatly admired for its speed. A number of Toronto boys have since purchased motor boats, which they have been operating on Toronto bay and intend to bring them up to the lake. Mr. C. S. Acton, of Toronto, who has been in this city this week, stated to the Examiner yesterday that he intends to make a voyage from Toronto, by way of Lake Ontario and the Trent Valley Canal, to Stony Lake in a motor boat this summer. The prospects are that these boats will be introduced in large numbers to the upper lakes in a few years.

MUNICIPAL NOTES OF INTEREST

Council Will Meet on Monday to Consider Sign and Box By-law.

SIDEWALK BUILT TO SCHOOL

There will be a meeting of the City Council on Monday night when a deputation from the merchants will wait upon the aldermen and urge moderation in the sign and box by-laws. Outside of the routine business this is the principal thing that will be taken up.

The Water Commissioners held a meeting yesterday afternoon when routine business was disposed of. All the commissioners were present.

Work has been started upon a sidewalk on the south side of Romaine street from Lock to Park street, in order to give access to the King Edward School. This is a much needed improvement that will be appreciated by the ratepayers in that section.

The fences along the right of way the city has acquired to the lift lock have been removed and the way is now clear. No steps will be taken immediately to improve the roadway.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, April 13.—There was more liquidation this morning than for any day recently and the drift of prices toward lower levels was very disconcerting to the bulls. Losses of from two to four points were common among the active stocks, the Harriman & Hill issues and Erie being especially weak among the rails while Steel common and smelters among the industrials.

N. Y. C. is one of the companies which must shortly be raising money. The quarterly report made for the period commencing Dec. 31st, last, was not particularly gratifying. There is considerable shortage in this stock and looks as though the prices may be depressed to a 115 level. The London market for American securities showed little change from parity. The Paris Bourse was favourably inclined in regard to the Copper situation and that had some effect in steadying the London market. Foreign houses had a few selling orders in this market to-day but nothing of much consequence.

The bank statement was not as good as expected, and the market closed weak, C.P.R. alone holding up.

OLD G. T. R. ENGINEER HAS STARTED ON LAST RUN

Mr. Edwin Taylor, of Belleville, Passed Away at His Home Last Evening After Lengthy Illness.

News was received in the city today of the death of Edwin Taylor, at his home in Belleville at 6 o'clock last night. The deceased was one of the most respected citizens of that place and was also well-known in Peterborough, particularly among the railway fraternity. The late Mr. Taylor had been ill since last autumn and, although the best medical aid in Montreal was provided for him, a complication set in, which finally proved fatal. A daughter was called home from Calgary, and a son, Mr. Geo. Taylor, of South Carolina, was also at the bedside. The daughter arrived just before his death. Another daughter and son live at home.

The late Mr. Taylor was for the last forty years in the employ of the G.T.R. as engineer. Montreal and the main line was his first home and route, but during the past thirteen years his run had been between Peterborough and Belleville. His record in the service was a clean one, and not one complaint was known to have been lodged against his work. His sad death will be regretted by his many friends in the city, among whom he had long been a favourite.

OBSERVANCE OF THE LORD'S DAY DISCUSSED

Rev. A. H. Brace Preaches Sermon on Proper Observance of the Day of Rest.

The Lord's Day Week, by special request of the Lord's Day Alliance, was duly observed at the Park Street Baptist Church yesterday by a special sermon in the morning by Rev. A. H. Brace, from the text, Isaiah 58, 13,—"Turn thy foot away from the Sabbath from doing thy pleasure upon My holy day, and call the Sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord." The Lord's Day Act and its bearing upon the Dominion and the individual, and the church's action in relation to it, were dealt with. Very representative congregations gathered, and separated under the influence of the beautiful stanza:

"This is the day the Lord hath made,
He calls the hours His own:
Let heaven rejoice, let earth be glad,
And praise surround the throne."

CHARLOTTE STREET SUNDAY SCHOOL GIVES $80.00 TO FAMINE VICTIMS

Enterprises undertaken by the Charlotte street Methodist Church Sunday School are usually carried through to a successful issue. The movement to raise a fund for the relief of the sufferers from the famine in China was no exception to this rule which has come to be an established one, so far as this school is concerned. Yesterday an offering was taken and the magnificent sum of $80.00 was realized, an average of about twenty cents from every attendant at the school yesterday, including those in the primary classes, so that it will be seen that this achievement is a remarkable one.

Giving, so far as this school is concerned, has been developed into a pleasure. At Christmas, instead of giving the children presents as is the universal custom in Sunday schools, the members of this school make a donation of toys and money to provide them and they are used to brighten the lives of less fortunately situated children in the city. This progressive Sunday school is under the superintendency of Mr. R. J. Kidd, and he has an exceedingly able staff of officers and teachers.

During the past year this Sunday school has contributed to charitable purposes a sum totalling about $160.

Romantic Story Of The Search For A Youth

Mr. George Cochrane, Agent for Children's Aid Society, Meets With Unique Reception—Alleged Assault Before the Eyes of a Police Officer.

TWO DOGS LENT ASSISTANCE

Few men of the city have passed through such an ordeal as fell to the lot of Mr. George Cochrane, on Saturday evening, while in the discharge of his duties as agent of the Children's Aid Society, and there are probably fewer who could pass through a similar experience, and be able to relate it to-day.

Mr. Cochrane, while attempting to secure the son of William Duncan of Sherbrooke street, for the Shelter was, it appears, viciously attacked by three members of the household, and two dogs, yet he escaped with a very slight injury.

In company with Mr. William Henry, superintendent of the Shelter, Mr. Cochrane went to the above mentioned house and requested Mr. Dunca, to hand over the boy, who is a ward of the Society, and who was only recently returned to his father. Mr. Cochrane, considered that the lad, who is only about ten years of age, should be attending school, instead of gathering rags and junk about the country. The request of the officer was blankly refused, necessitating the introduction of a policeman on the scene, and Mr. Henry left to secure one.

The Assault Began

The Superintendent had scarcely left the house when, it is alleged, Duncan suddenly, in a lightning-like movement opened the door and made an attempt to eject the officer. Mr. Cochrane was taken by surprise, but was more than a match for his assailant. Without striking him, he was able to protect himself by holding his belligerent opponent by the throat until he gasped for breath.

Repeated Attacks

After he had rested a few minutes to regain his breath he again attacked the officer, and was assisted by the dogs, which by this time had awakenned to the meaning of the struggle. For three successive times Mr. Cochrane was able to successfully defend himself. He felt one of the dogs tugging at the leg of his trousers but its teeth sank no deeper.

Towards the conclusion of the third act the house became a sort of bedlam. The Agent found himself surrounded on all sides. He states that the mistress of the house, the two men, (a man named Kelly was staying at the house) and the dogs were into the the melee doing their utmost to land the knock out blow, but again the attempt was unsuccessful.

Mr. Henry Arrives

With one hand he tightly grasped by the throat, and with the other he shoved the assistant masculine assailant against the wall. Strange to relate he felt not the blows of the woman, who appeared to be doing her best to compel him to give up his hold on her spouse.

The uproar had barely subsided, when the door opened and Mr. Henry appeared on the stage to participate in the next scene. He had scarcely crossed the threshold, when Mr. Cochrane's assalant maide a dash for him, but from the fatigue of his past exertions he was rapidly overpowered.

Boy Had Escaped

The Agent then asked for the boy, but he was informed that he was out on the street. On leaving they met P. C. Meharry, and a return visit in search of the boy was made.

While explanations were being made, Duncan again attacked Mr. Cochrane in the presence of the police officer, striking him in the mouth with the clenched fist, and slightly cutting his lip.

Duncan Arrested

P. C. Meharry next took a hand in the scene and arrested the man, who struggled hard to escape. The officer was forced to use his baton a couple of times, but Duncan was finally placed behind the bars at the police station.

This morning he appeared before Magistrate Dumble charged with attacking an officer in the discharge of his duties. He was remanded until Wednesday morning, when the evidence will be heard. Mr. R. F. McWilliams appeared in the prisoner's behalf.

C. P. R. ESTABLISHED CAR REPAIRER HERE

Will be in Charge of all Work of the Nature of Repairing Cars.

The C.P.R. have established a car-repairer here to meet the increasing demand for such a person. Mr. John Lynch, of Havelock, is in charge of the work, and will confine his duties to all cases of repair that may be necessary. One reason for instituting this work is the fact that many cars are exchanged from the G.T.R. line to the C.P.R., and it is necessary that someone should have charge of examining them before they are accepted or returned.

In a short time, a shop will be built for Mr. Lynch, in which to store his tools and do certain work. It is another sign of the growth of the city as a railway centre of importance.

Worst Fire in the History of That Town Occurred This Morning—Loss of $75,000 is Reported.

BUSINESS PORTION IS GONE

Fire Originated in Rear of the Coughlin House—Raged Fiercely For Three Hours and a Half.

Examiner Special

Hastings, April, 15.—The worst fire in the history of Hastings occurred here shortly after midnight this morning, and for three hours and a half burned fiercely, at the end of that time, when the fire was gotten under control, $75,000 damage had been done and every business place on Front street, west of Bridge street had been destroyed. It is estimated that insurance to the extent of about $40,000 was carried on the burned buildings.

By a miracle all the persons living in the burned area escaped with their lives, though some of the guests and staff of the Coughlin House, at the rear of which the fire started, only escaped from the burning building in their night robes.

There is no very clear information as to the origin of the fire, but it is believed that it started from some hot ashes at the rear of the Coughlin House. This building was the first to fall a prey to the devouring element, and it was here that the inmates had the closest call, many of them being rescued only in the nick of time.

After destroying the hotel the flames jumped across the street, atstreet, attacking Buck & Buck's general store and quickly spread to the adjoining buildings, among those destroyed being Thos. Howard's harness store and C.P.R. ticket office; P. M. Howard's general store; Jas. O'Reilly's general store; H. A. Wildon's tailor shop; John Tracey's confectionery store; Dr. Wilson's dental offices. The Catholic Order of Foresters' Hall, as well as that of the Canadian Order of Foresters and several residences over the stores were included in those burned.

All the destroyed buildings were of brick, but this fact did not appear to have much effect in checking the progress of the fire, the whole area being burned over in the short space of three hours and a half.

The fire-fighting apparatus in Hastings is of antiquated description, and, though, herculean efforts were put forth by the volunteer brigade who operated the hand engine, and organised a bucket brigade of the citizens to stay the progress of the flames.

A request was sent for the Peterborough fire brigade and the steam engine, but it was found shortly afterwards that the fury of the flames was abating, and in view of this fact word was sent to Peterborough that the services of the city brigade would not be required.

The fire has been a heavy blow to the commercial interests of the town, a blow which it will take some time to recover from, but it is expected that the majority of the buildings destroyed will be rebuilt as rapidly as possible.

A GREAT SPRING MEDICINE

Every Housekeeper cleans and brightens up the house in Spring-time. The house has been closed up all Winter and when Spring comes it is time to open the doors and clean the house.

The same with the human system. During the winter heavy foods are eaten, the rooms of the home are kept warm and when Spring comes the system is in a condition where a good Spring Medicine for cleaning out, toning up and renewing the system, is demanded.

Our Stomach and Liver Tonic is just the right Spring Medicine. It is one of those good old-fashioned remedies which cannot harm anyone, but which greatly benefits those who take it.

Take our advice and give this medicine a good, thorough trial, especially if you are inclined to be weak and suffering from loss of strength.

STRAINING AT A GNAT

Our evening contemporary is becoming illuminating; it indirectly informs us that it is not public opinion. It is now balloting with the object of justifying its attacks upon the school board for conducting its business in a business-like way. The Review is trying to find out by a ballot, whether the public favours open meetings of the school board. Such a ballot is unnecessary and impertinent to the point at issue. Nobody objects to these committee meetings being open to reporters; everybody desires to see them fully reported, except when premature disclosure of information would prejudice the public interests. There are times when it would be to the last degree imprudent and unwise to have details of matters discussed by committees reported and published — where everything turns on negotiations being kept secret till such time as it is prudent to announce them. The reporters of the press have never been denied any information that it was good business, or in the interest of the public, to have made known. It is the business of the newspapers to get news; it is the duty of the board to give whatever news it may have when it is prudent and wise to do so. The Review is trying to make a little capital by somewhat demagogic means. It insists on the school board indiscriminately bleating out all its business negotiations to the public, no matter how greatly public interests may be prejudiced by revealing the details of such negotiations, which every business instinct says should not be revealed till the proper time; yet it wants to make its ballot secret. The names of those who vote for open meetings will be withheld from the newspapers, in connection with a matter, which, according to the Review, is of the most momentous importance. Under this arrangement, one man, if he chooses, can mark a dozen ballots. The Examiner is in favour of open meetings of the school board committees, but is willing to trust the discretion of the school board in holding close committee meetings, when such meetings may be necessary in the public interests. If the board could trust all the newspapers not to use confidential information — information that should not prematurely be made public, reporters might have access to all meetings, confidential, or otherwise.

SUFFERED EIGHT YEARS FROM KIDNEYS

Doctor's said Female Trouble.

Mrs. Charles Lewis, Collingwood, Ont., writes: "For eight years I suffered from Kidney Complaint, and until twelve months ago doctors said I was suffering from 'Female Trouble.' Last November (1905), I was seriously ill, resulting I believe from kidney trouble. Finding doctor's medicine doing me no good, I persuaded my husband to purchase me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, after having read of a case somewhat resembling mine. I commenced taking them according to directions (not taking the doctor's medicine), and on second day a swelling commenced in my feet, legs and body. The following day I was so changed and swollen my husband, in alarm, hastened to Mr. Johnson's drug store, who told him to tell me he thought the pills were drawing something out of the blood, and to keep on taking them. I did so and after taking them a week, the swelling disappeared leaving me with a complexion free from pimples, tired, weary feeling gone, constipation, from which I suffered for years, gone, pain in the back, gone, and a general feeling of joy and light heartedness, I have not felt since a child, took place in me.

My sister-in-law (Mrs. Bryan), seeing the action of Doan's Kidney Pills, and the change for good they accomplished in me, sent for a box and they completely cured her. When there is an opportunity of telling people what Doan's Kidney Pills did for us, we always take advantage of it, and tell them to give them a fair trial."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, for sale at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

One Section—640 Acres Land for Sale in Alberta

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Rumfrerly on the Canadian Northern Railway.—The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no Galicians or Doukhobers in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The farmer owning the place adjoining this section threshed about 9,000 bushels of wheat last year. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $3,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6%. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. Further particulars may be had at the EXAMINER OFFICE, where full information may be had.

GROWING EXPENDITURES

In respect of the Provincial expenditure, that in the matter of education, public institutions, agriculture, etc., is practically uncontrollable; that is, a certain expenditure must be made, and it is bound to increase with the increase of the Province in material progress. With such an increase, no fault is to be found, so long as reasonably satisfactory returns and results flow from the money spent. But in the matter of civil government and legislation, there is a controlling influence applicable, and the excuse for increase of administrative expenditure is not so easily framed. In 1867 (a half year) the expense of civil government was $18,219.47, and of legislation, $14,938.95, making, for the two, a little over $33,000 per year. It will be interesting to compare the total expenditure for both of these services with the expenditures of to-day. The total expenditure for civil service and legislation was $33,000 in 1867. To-day, the salaries of the Ministers of the Cabinet total $66,000 per year; so that in this progressive age we pay just twice as much per year for the salaries of Ministers alone as we did forty years ago for the salaries of Ministers, the salaries of all the civil servants and entire cost of legislation. Of course, the first year of Provincial expenditure was not high, but the cost of civil government advanced from eighteen thousand odd in 1867 to $142,218.85 in 1877. When Sanfield Macdonald left office in 1872, the cost of legislation had advanced from fourteen thousand odd to $99,559.42. Five years later—1877—civil government cost $159,996.43, while the cost of legislation showed a total of $122,321.21. Another ten years still added a little to the totals, which were, in 1887,—for civil government, $189,269.57, and for legislation, $122,002.46. In 1897, the cost of civil government had advanced to $250,945.32, and of legislation, $159,392.57. In 1906, under Conservative rule, the cost of civil government had advanced to $428,128.46, which is $84,271 od to $428,128.46, which is $84,271.00 greater than in the last year of the Ross Government, or an increase of nearly 25 per cent.—24.5—in two years under Conservative rule. The expenditures, on account of civil government, increased under the Sanfield Macdonald administration, in five years, 15.3 per cent., or 5.1 per cent. per year. Under the Liberal Governments for thirty-two years the increase was 227 per cent., or 6.7 per year, while under Conservative rule the increase in two short years was, as stated, 24.5 per cent., or 12.2 per year. If the expenditures under the head of civil government increases for the next ten years at the rate it has done under the Whitney Government, it will, within ten years, be over a million dollars a year, four times what it was ten years ago. The figures for 1907 are not included, since, in making the comparisons since Confederation, the fiscal year is broken; instead of beginning on January 1, 1867, it did not begin till July 1 of that year. It is a great deal of credit to the Ross Government that, with the large increase of expenditure the Conservative Government is making, there is still a credit balance at the end of the year. Our revenue is buoyant and stands a deal of extravagance, thanks to the wisdom and foresight of the Liberal Governments of the past, who have provided fruitful sources of revenue. And it must be remembered that this revenue was arranged for, in large part, in opposition to the Conservatives, who are now having "the fun" of expending it.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

We shall gladly welcome even the spring poet, if the weather clerk will hand him out some spring weather to rhyme about.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and party, have arrived safely at Liverpool, and the Prime Minister has been warmly welcomed by representative citizens of the greatest commercial city of the world. Sir Wilfrid, of course, has been assailed by the newspapers, and he had nothing but politeness for them — he will say what he has to say at the Colonial Conference.

The "Good Roads" legislation has received some important amendments during the present session of the Legislative Assembly. It is no longer necessary for the County Council to submit the question of adopting a county system to the township councils, or even to the people, and provision is made for compensation to any township which may not be in a position to receive a fair share of benefit. Plans of road improvement include the purchase of toll roads or grants to incorporated villages and towns, and it is further provided that after three years' trial of a county system, on the vote of two-thirds of the townships interested, the maintenance of the roads may revert to the townships. In the course of the discussion it was urged that the government should increase the gov- for good rodas, but this was not agreed to.

MR. FOSTER'S APOLOGIA

Mr. Foster's main attitude towards the Insurance Commission is that its members and its counsel pried into matters that had no relation to life insurance, that in inquiring into his relations with the funds of the Foresters it was inquiring into private business, and in doing so was actuated by political rancor. Let us see how this is.

Among all the institutions which the Commission investigated there is no one in which the Government's duty to insist on safety is more plain than in the case of an institution like the Foresters. Hundreds of thousands of families are vitally interested that its funds should be well managed and secured, as far as humanly may be, from loss. The Commission found that in connection with this great fraternal association, with some three hundred millions of insurance, a subsidiary company had been formed million dollars, was supplied by the Independent Order of Foresters, and whose investment funds came from whose capital, to the extent of two the same source. Of this company Mr. Foster was the Manager.

He now claims that he in no sense occupied a position of trust with regard to the funds of the Foresters. He was not, he says, even a Forester. His argument is that the Supreme Court of the Foresters is the trustee of those funds. When it handed them over to him as Manager of the Union Trust Company he assumed no share of the trust responsibility that inhered in the Supreme Court. That is to say, the Supreme Court of the Foresters, which is forbidden by law to invest the surplus funds in speculative enterprises, can form the Union Trust Company, turn over enormous sums of the funds of the association to it, and its Manager is then entitled to invest them in speculative enterprises to which, while the funds remained in the possession of the Supreme Court, it would have been illegal to resort. This may be legal, but the very purpose of appointing an Insurance Commission was to uncover such subterfuges, to show their dangers, and to provide against them for the future, should it be thought necessary. What Mr. Foster declares to be an implacable hunt after his political scalp was in fact an effort to unravel a most tortuous series of transactions, the whole purpose being to show that funds of the Foresters, in which the savings of hundreds of thousands of families are invested, were being jeopardized under the guise of a separate but really connected organization.

The Commission would have been false to the duty with which it was charged if it had not exposed the fact that under the false face of the Union Trust Company the funds of the Foresters were imperilled; that when Mr. Foster and his associates pocketed five thousand dollars on the transaction with what is known as the Montague syndicate they pocketed in reality the money of the Independent Order of Foresters, and when Mr. Foster himself made a profit of twenty-five cents an acre on a subsequent transaction he was again pocketing the money of the Foresters through his position as Manager of the Union Trust Company. The distinction he draws, his refinements of reasoning, do not alter these facts, and they were matters that the Commission was bound to inquire into.

Mr. Foster's defence, that no money was actually lost, is wholly beside the matter. Several of the transactions were highly speculative, and were such as are prohibited by law in the investment of trust funds. Mr. Foster during his speech made an appeal to the feelings of his hearers in the character of a man who had held high office and had in no way profitted by his opportunities. There need be no disposition to deny this picture which Mr. Foster gives us of himself. It may be admitted that his official record is good. Former character is not without its weight in considering such a case. It is necessary, however, to say that the Commission was considering actual happenings that came within the scope of its inquiry, and in relation to these happenings Mr. Foster's former reputation for probity has been very largely prejudiced and affected for the worse.—Globe.

Health And Vitality For Old People

As old age creeps on vitality is lowered, the heart beats more slowly, the blood becomes more thin and watery, and the power of resistance is lowered. It is the old people above all others who require the new life and energy which come with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Thousands of old people depend on this treatment, because it calms and quiets the nerves, gradually and certainly enriches the blood, builds up the system and instils new life and vigour into their shrivelled arteries.

Women in Our Hospitals

Appalling Increase in the Number of Operations Performed Each year—How women May Avoid them.

Going through the hospitals in our large cities one is surprised to find such a large proportion of the patients lying on those snow-white beds women and girls, either awaiting or recovering from serious operations.

Why should this be the case? Simply because they have neglected themselves. Female troubles are certainly on the increase among the women of this country — they creep upon them unawares, but every one of those patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, dizziness, flatulency, displacements of the organs or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation —but remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from surgical operations.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy.

Mrs. Fred. Seydel, 412 N. 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was in a very serious condition when I wrote to you for advice. I had a serious female trouble and I could not carry a child to maturity, and was advised that an operation was my only hope of recovery. I could not bear to think of going to the hospital, so wrote you for advice. I did as you instructed me and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and I am not only a well woman to-day, but have a beautiful baby girl six months old. I advise all sick and suffering women to write you for advice, as you have done so much for me."

Miss Lilian Martin, Graduate of Training School for Nurses, Brantfo Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"While we are taught in the training schools through the country to look down upon patent medicines, and while the doctors in the hospitals speak slightingly of them to patients, I have found that they really know different. I have frequently known Physicians to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to women suffering with the most serious complications of female troubles displacement of organs, and other disorders. They would, as a rule, put it in regular medicine bottles and label it "tonic" or other names, but I knew it was your Compound and have seen them fill it in prescription bottles. Inflammation and ulceration have been relieved and cured in a few weeks by its use, and I feel it but due to you to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proper credit."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

StopsHeadache

Zutoo, the Japanese headache cure, is a friend in need.

Don't without a trial, condemn it as something that will hurt you.

Taken when you suspect a headache, it will ward it off. Taken later it will cure the headache in twenty minutes. In every case it will leave you feeling good. It is harmless as the soda which is one of its ingredients.

If it does not do all that is claimed for it, then discard it. But don't confound it with the drug cures and condemn it without a trial. That isn't fair to

Radical Change In Nervous System
STRENGTH OF NERVES AND VIGOR AND HEALTH OF BODY FULLY RESTORED

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The process of revitalizing a nervous system which is on the verge of collapse, must of necessity be slow, but the results are certain and highly satisfactory when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used.

It took 24 boxes to cure Mr. Branton, but the cure is in many respects a most extraordinary one, as you will realize by the following description:

Mr. William Branton, Victoria street, Strathroy, Ont., writes: "Before using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, my nervous system seemed all unstrung. I could not sleep, had no appetite, hands and feet cold, my digestion was poor, and I had jerking of the limbs. The first box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me and I continued until I had taken 24 boxes. This treatment has made a radical change in my condition, building up the system and strengthening the nerves. I would strongly recommend it to all suffering from nervousness."

Paralysis in some form is the natural result of neglected diseases of the nerves, but paralysis, instead of coming on suddenly, as is generally supposed is almost invariably preceded by months or years of warning symptoms.

Sleeplessness, headache, failing memory, loss of vigour and energy, stomach troubles, weakness in the mornings, dizziness, weak heart action and despondency are some of the indications of exhausted nerves, which gradually and certainly yield to the restructive influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, or, if neglected, end in paralysis, locomotor ataxia or insanity.

New nerve force must be added to the body and this can best be accomplished by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which is sold at 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 5

Father McCoil and Rev. Father O'Leary. The young ladies occupied the front part of the body of the church and attended in excellent order.

Your Exact Measurements

That's the essential difference between Custom-made and Ready-made Clothing.

When you order a Suit or Overcoat made to your own exact measurements, in proper form, you get your own personality, figure, dimensions, peculiarities, posture, and all the rest that you instruct your merchant tailor.

When you buy a Suit or Overcoat out of a pile of Ready-mades, it makes little difference whether the pile is stacked up on a dusty table or on a wax figure—the "brand" differs only in the factory label it bears.

A REPORT OF THE MILK TEST

Will be Published—Board of Health Decides on This Step—The Isolation Hospital.

COUNCIL ASKED TO ACT

The Council will once again be brought face to face with the fact that there is an Isolation Hospital to be built. The Board of Health decided, this morning, to call the attention of the city fathers to the fact that the plans, etc., were submitted to them some time ago, and that immediate action is necessary.

"We might have an epidemic at any time," said one of the Board to-day, "and the sooner the hospital is built, the better."

There were present at this morning's meeting, Messrs. Wm. Eyres, chairman; A. Parker, R. Neill, Dr. Burnham, Dr. Bingham, M.H.O., and Sanitary Inspector Ball.

The Milk Test

The Medical Health Officer read a report from Dr. Amyot, in respect to milk sent to him to be examined. There was no sign of adulteration in the last thirteen samples sent. The percentage of butter fat ranged from 5.50 to 3.

Asked as to what percentage would indicate watered milk, the Medical Health Officer replied that anything below 3 per cent. would be regarded as suspicious.

There was a discussion over whether the report should be published or not. Dr. Burnham strongly advocated that it should be.

On motion, it was decided to publish the report of the milk test after May 1, together with the names of the vendors.

Isolation Hospital

An old-time friend came up when the Isolation Hospital question was introduced. The Board were of the opinion that the Council should be asked to take definite action in the matter. It will be remembered that the plans, etc., had been submitted to the Council last year, and since then there has been nothing done.

The following resolution was passed unanimously:

"That the attention of the City Council be again called to the necessity for an Isolation Hospital, and to the fact that some time ago the Board sent plans for such an hospital to the Council, and that the Council be requested to take definite action in the matter without delay."

REV. A. BRIGHT GIVEN A HANDSOME CLOCK

Presentation Made by Members of Young Men's Bible Class.

The Bible class of St. Paul's church, presented Rev. A. Bright, the assistant pastor of the church, with a beautiful clock yesterday at the conclusion of the Sunday school. About thirty of the members of the Young Men's Bible Class were present when Mr. D. Downie, on their behalf, in a neat speech, referred to the departure of Rev. A. Bright, with whom their associations had always been of the most pleasant character. He also spoke of the regretted departure of Mr. Bright from the city, but was pleased to know that he as well as the previous assistant pastor, had obtained good churches. The presentation was made by Mr. R. Kingsbury.

Rev. Mr. Bright made a suitable reply, thanking the young men, and also regretting his departure. He will leave the city on Wednesday morning, and on Wednesday evening will preach preparatory services in his new charge.

Splendid Position Of The Canadian Banks

Remarkable Increase in Capital and Total Assets During the Last Ten Years—Banks Are Prosperous.

INDIVIDUAL INCREASES

A valuable publication has recently been issued by Messrs. A. E. Ames & Co., of Toronto. It is entitled Canadian Bank Shares as Investments, and in it some interesting and valuable information concerning the various banks in Canada is given, as well as some facts about the banking business in Canada in general.

At the close of 1897 there were 38 chartered banks doing business in Canada. Since then four failed, with total liabilities under $25,000,000, seven were absorbed by other institutions, and eight began business. The only failures since 1899 were the Bank of Yarmouth in 1905, its liabilities having been only $302,021, and in October, 1906, the Ontario Bank, with a paid up capital of $1,500,000, reserve fund of $700,000, and upwards of $15,000,000 of liabilities, so at the close of 1906 the number was 35. Of these, one has a paid up capital of $14,400,000, one of $10,000,000, one of $6,000,000, eleven of $3,000,000 to $5,000,000, four of $2,000,000 to $3,000,000, five of $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, and twelve of under $1,000,000. Of the latter five are new banks, which have not rounded off their organization. These 35 institutions do business at over 1,700 branches scattered throughout the Dominion, each branch being under the direction of the head office.

Increase of Capital

Tables are given showing the position of the banks at the end of 1906 and the growth of business during the past ten years. The banks have steadily provided additional capital to meet the demands for accommodation. These increases have been made in great part by pro rata issues to old shareholders on new stock at a premium over the par value, this premium being the percentage the reserve fund bore to the paid up capital at the time of issue, which is the maximum rate of issue permitted by the Bank Act. The proportion of reserve fund to paid up capital has steadily increased. In 1897 it stood at 44.17 per cent. By 1906 paid up capital had increased 88.33 per cent. and reserves to 72.51 per cent. of the increased capital.

The growth in banking and in the general business of the country is illustrated by the totals of bank figures at the beginning and at the end of the ten-year period, as follows:

	1897	1906
Capital ... .$	62,289,326	$ 95,509,015
Rest	27,515,999	69,258,007
Circulation... ...	37,995,123	78,416,780
Deposits...	229,389,055	669,517,537
Assets...	360,133,088	954,192,546

The Traders Leads

An analysis of the position of the individual banks is given and in it are given the standing of all the banks in the Dominion so far as Capital, Rest, Profit and Loss balance, Circulation, Total deposits, Total liabilities to the public and Total Assets, from 1897 to 1906, and the percentage of increase or decrease as the case may be, for the different items.

The position of one bank, as shown by this analysis is so unique that reference may be made to it. The Traders' Bank during the ten years shows an increase of capital of 517 per cent.; the reserve increased 4650 per cent.; circulation increased 332 per cent.; deposits 460 per cent and total assets 460 per cent.; in each case the increases being greater than those of any other Canadian bank. All the banks, however, are showing remarkable increases in the various particulars and, judging by the statements in this publication, the Canadian Banks are in a sound financial position.

Rev. A. Bright Preached His Farewell Sermon

His Last Address to Members of St. Paul's Church Prior to His Departure for Ingersoll.

WAS A POPULAR PREACHER

There was a large congregation in St. Paul's Church Sunday evening, when Rev. Alfred Bright, who has for the past year been assistant pastor, delivered his farewell address, previous to leaving on Thursday for Ingersoll, where he will enter upon the pastorate of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in that thriving town.

Mr. Bright has been an active, earnest and faithful worker, and his discourses have been marked by originality, force, and sound counsel. He carries with him to his new field in the West the heartiest good wishes of all members of the church.

At the close of the service last evening, the choir sang very sweetly, "God be with you till we meet again," and many in the congregation remained to shake hands with the departing clergyman. He preached an effective and thoughtful sermon on the topic, "Christ's Law of Forgiveness," basing his remarks on St. Matthew, 18th chapter, and 35th verse,—"So, likewise, shall my Heavenly Father do also unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not everyone his brothers their trespasses."

The preacher drew many useful and timely lessons from the parable of the unforgiving debtor, and pointed out that Christ could not forgive us unless we extended forgiveness to our fellow men.

In a few farewell remarks he said that he had laboured in Peterborough for the past year, and his work here had been of the pleasantest character. During the first nine months his time had been spent largely in connection with Knox Church in the south end of the city. Since the separation of that church from St. Paul's at the end of 1906, he had felt it utterly impossible to visit all the four hundred families in St. Paul's Church within the three months at his disposal. He said that although he felt that there had been very little that was definite or tangible from his labours, he had never worked among people so friendly, agreeable and kind as those in Peterborough. He had received many attentions for which he was deeply grateful, and regretted that it was impossible to accept all the hospitality extended. If any members of St. Paul's or Knox Churches were ever in Ingersoll or the neighbourhood they he cordially invited them to call and see him. He would never forget the pleasant time and pleasant relations of his ministry in this city.

FIRE HALL FOREMAN COMMENCED DUTIES

Mr. Walter Fakenham, the recently appointed foreman of the firehall and wiring inspector, entered upon his duties this morning, at the firehall. The new rules and regulations laid down by the Fire, Water and Light Committee, also came into effect to-day, so that one or two changes were necessary.

NEW ORGANIZATION FOLLOWS REVIVAL

The aftermath of the Park street revival is seen in the formation of a Junior League, to be known as the Busy Workers, to meet every Friday under the direction of the pastor and a set of officers from among themselves, as follows:

Hon. Pres.—Rev. A. H. Bruce.
President—Beasie Mowry.
Vice-Pres.—Ada Barrie.
Sec.-Treas.—Lottie Davis.
Organist—Edna Davis.
Committee—Marion Sloan, Edna Davis, Hazel Gillespie, Ida Eazleson and Mina Throop.
Birthday Committee — Christina Sherwood, Vera Kennedy, and Pearl Pogue.
Flower Committee—Lillie Booth, Florence Sherwood, Gertie Killingback.

Two meetings have been held, and the children enter very heartily into the exercises, and much enthusiasm prevails.

TO CURE THAT COLD.

Local Druggist's Suggestion.

Said Mr. McDermid of McDermid & Jury, our local druggists, "This is the season for coughs and colds, and for the benefit of Peterborough people we want to tell them the best means for a cure.

"Don't dose the stomach with cough syrups. It's no use; they only soothe a little—upset the stomach and do not heal.

"The best cure we know is Vinol, which contains in a highly concentrated form all of the healing, curative elements taken from genuine fresh cods' livers, without a drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work. It contains no sickening drugs whatever. Vinol heals, cures and strengthens the sore lungs and bronchial tubes. It makes rich, red blood, builds up the appetite and creates strength; in fact it is the best remedy we have ever sold in our store for chronic coughs, colds bronchitis, and all lung affections.

"We ask every person in Peterborough who has a chronic cough or hard cold to try Vinol on our guarantee to return their money if they are not satisfied."

Dairy Butter, 27c. a lb.

LOCAL BRIGADE WAS WANTED AT HASTINGS

Request Was Cancelled Later—Many Admired the Reflections of the Blaze.

Between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock last night a telephone message arrived at the firehall requesting the brigade to go to Hastings to assist in extinguishing a big fire, which caused such ruin there to-day. The members of the brigade quickly obtained permission from the Mayor, and were preparing to go to the train when the order was cancelled, as the flames had been over-powered.

Many persons here, who had not retired at the time, admired the beautiful reflection in the south-eastern sky, which was plainly visible.

WIFE THREW A SHOWER OF MISSILES

A Tale Told at the Police Court of Marital Troubles.

Day after day without any dinner prepared for him when he arrived home, and compelled to cook it himself the same as his other meals, fusiladed with stove fixtures and kitchen utensils and his wife frequently away from home, such was the story Mr. Samuel Kennedy told in the witness box at the police court this morning.

He was charged with having assaulted his wife, Julia Kennedy, on April 8th. Through his counsel, Mr. McWilliams, he pleaded not guilty. Mrs. Kennedy stated that he came home at noon last Monday in an intoxicated condition, and struck her on the breast with his fist. Witness stated that she is compelled to provide for herself and does not want him disturbing her peace. She said she pays the rent and the grocery bills.

To Mr. McWilliams witness said she has been away at nights, also that his meals are always ready. She admitted that she has $210.00 in the bank the most of it earned by her husband. On Monday the 8th her husband came home to dinner and demanded witness where she she had been on Saturday night. She replied that she was in better company than his. He became angry and struck her. She then picked up a poker and several tins off the stove to throw at him, but her husband ran upstairs. She met him with a fusilade of kitchen utensils as he came downstairs. A neighbour came in to pacify matters and the husband left the house.

Magistrate Dumble said it was a disgraceful condition, although he could do nothing in the matter of separation.

Mr. Kennedy gave his version of the matter stating that his wife was the aggressor, also that there was no dinner ready for him. Witness said that he had to prepare his own meals and when he asked to have his dinner sent him he never got it. On Saturday the 6th, his wife was not at home, and did not return until Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m.

His Worship advised them to come to peaceful terms as he could do nothing further with the case in question.

This is the season for Veal—We have a full supply of the choicest quality—Kennedy's

SOCIETY RECEIVES GRANT

$200 Given by Government to Assist Neglected Children in This District.

ARRIVED OPPORTUNE TIME

Mr. E. L. Goodwill, secretary of the Children's Aid Society, to put it mildly, was greatly pleased this morning to receive a cheque for $200 from the Provincial Treasurer's Department. The explanation of the grant was given in a letter from Mr. J. J. Kelso, Superintendent of Neglected Children, a few days ago.

The allowance came at a most opportune time and will be gladly received by the society, whose funds are at a low ebb, so low, indeed, that, while the $200 granted by the Government will help to a considerable extent, the generosity of the public will have to be relied upon to finance the society.

Mr. Kelso's letter is as follows:—"As a help and encouragement in the work which the Children's Aid Society is doing for the young people of Peterborough County and district, the Provincial Secretary has approved of the payment of $200 as a special allowance. This amount will probably be sent to you in the near future by the Treasury Department, and may be used in whatever way the society feels will best advance the cause of neglected and dependent children.

"Yours sincerely,
"J. J. KELSO."

THE HONOURARIUM TO BE CONSIDERED

Important Meetings to be Held in St. Paul's Church During This Week And That Following.

There will be an important meeting on Thursday night at St. Paul's church, when the office bearers and other members of the church who comprised the deputation to the recent meeting of Presbytery will meet to consider the question of the honourarium to Rev. Dr. Torrance. Following this meeting there will be a meeting of the congregation on Tuesday night April 23rd, when the report of the office bearers on this matter will be presented and a decision arrived at.

CLOSED SERIES OF LECTURES

Rev. Dr. Symonds Gave Last of Six Lectures on Tennyson's "In Memoriam," on Saturday Night.

On Saturday evening, Dr. Symonds brought to a close his exceedingly interesting and instructive series of lectures on "In Memoriam," the main object of which, he said, had not been literary, nor even philosophic, but practical and religious. "In Memoriam" is a poem, but it contains much practical religious thought. It presents a conception of God, and Christ, and men, and of the Spiritual order. He endeavours to show, through the medium of his own spiritual and mental experiences, how the anguish of wounded love may pass into the triumph of love over sorrow, time and death. This is one of the great objects in life, to use our experiences that they shall become the means of building up our character—like Wordsworth's "Happy Warrior"—

Who doomed to go in company with Pain,
And fear and bloodshed, miserable train,
Turns his necessity to a glorious gain.
In face of these doth exercise a power
Which is our human nature's highest dower,
Transforms, transmutes them, and bereaves
Of their bad influence and their good receives.

We have seen how the poem, in its introductory stage, gives expression to a mood of almost unrelieved sorrow. This is followed by the First Cycle, in which the thought of immortality emerges, and is held fast. A more cheerful mood prevails, and leads on to the Second Cycle, in which the prevailing tone is that of a "quiet and not unhappy retrospection," and a foretaste of a new and even enjoyable life is experienced.

The importance and the splendor of the Third Cycle are not often recognized. It is certainly the most difficult to understand; it makes large demands upon the imagination. But, if we grasp firmly the poet's object, we shall be struck with the grandeur of his conception. It is the Cycle of the future, in which there is presented the poet's idea of the Humanity which may hereafter be realized, and of which Arthur Hallam is taken as the type. By presenting a glorious ideal, he seeks to stimulate his generation to higher aspirations and more strenuous efforts.

In studying, then, the Cycle of the future, we are to feel ourselves, as it were, in a new world. Old things have passed away, all things have become new. This is the spirit of the third Christmas poem, in which the poet will observe none of the old Christmas customs:

"To-night, ungathered, let us leave
This laurel, let this holly stand:
We live within the stranger's land,
And strangely falls our Christmas eve."

The third line refers to the fact that Tennyson, at this time, moved his residence from Tomersby to the Epping Forest. Now, at last, he declares that

"No more shall wayward grief abuse
The genial hour with mask and mime."

He has done with that morbid grief "which saps the mind." He will cherish the memory of his friend, but with a cheerful attitude towards all the world.

The Christmas poems are swiftly followed by a New Year's poem. This, as we should expect, gives splendid expression to the aspirations of the poet for the new age. It is indeed a noble song, one which everyone should frequently call to mind. He hears the merry bells ringing in the New Year, and thus apostrophizes the New Year, and thus apostrophizes them:

Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky,
The flying cloud, the frosty light;
The year is dying in the night,
Ring out, wild bells, and let him die.
Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring happy bells across the snow,
The year is going, let him go,
Ring out the false, ring in the true.
Ring out the grief that saps the mind,
For those that here we see no more,
Ring out the feud of rich and poor,
Ring in redress to all mankind.
Ring out a slowly dying cause,
And ancient forms of party strife
Ring in the nobler modes of life
With sweeter manner, purer law.
Ring out the want, the care, the sin,
The faithless coldness of the times
Ring out, ring out my mournful rhymes,
But ring the fuller minstrel in.
Ring out false pride in place and blood;
The civic slander and the spite;
Ring in the love of truth and right.
Ring in the common love of good.
Ring out old shapes of foul disease;
Ring out the narrowing lust of gold,
Ring out the thousand wars of old,
Ring in the thousand years of peace.
Ring in the valiant man and free
The larger heart, the kindlier hand;
Ring out the darkness of the land;
Ring in the Christ that is to be."

The remainder of the lecture was of the nature of comment upon this song. Dr. Symonds pointed out what a tremendous material development had taken place. But had our moral and spiritual development been correspondingly great. He thought not. Here, however, is the ideal which we can all lay up within our hearts and faithfully strive to realize with unwavering faith in God.

What now does Tennyson mean by "Ring in the Christ that is to be!" It is quite certain he did not mean that he looked forward to a time when some new Spiritual Leader should come. Were this the case he would not have written these lines of Christ:

"Thou seem'st both human and Divine,
The highest, holiest manhood Thou;
Our wills are ours we know not how,
Our wills are ours to make them Thine."

On the other hand there are many indications in Tennyson's poetry that he regarded all past interpretations of Christ and His teaching as imperfect. Tennyson's son in his memoir of his father writes on this point: "My father expressed his conviction that the forms of the Christian religion would alter, but that the Spirit of Christ would still grow from more to more in the roll of the ages, and he added, 'This is one of my meanings of,

'Ring in the Christ that is to be.'"

"The Christ that is to be" then means the same Christ of whom we read that He went about doing good, and that never man spoke as He spoke, but that we shall have a truer perception of what He really was and what He really taught. Some things which we now put in the first place will then be put in the second place. Orthodoxy will be less than high ideal and noble living. To be willing to sacrifice self, to hunger and thirst after righteousness, to be elevated in thought, to be strenuous but simple, the meek and lowly spirit, the love of peace, the struggle after purity, these are the prime things in Christianity.

It is ours to strive to make this vision of humanity real. All great prophets have seen it and it has been "the master light of all their seeing." Isaiah saw it, the Psalmist saw it, St. John saw it as the holy city coming down out of Heaven, and St. Paul saw it, and most supremely of all described the conquering work of Christ as it goes down the centuries and through the world, "until we all come in the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, (i.e., a perfect human race,) unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ."

Sheriff Hall occupied the chair at the lecture on Saturday night, which was one of the most largely attended of the series, a remarkable feature which had been the increasing attendance each night. The chairman, on Saturday night thanked those who had during the week contributed to the musical portion of the programme, Miss Davies, Miss Lillian Moore, Miss Gladys Crane and Miss Mattie Robertson. He also expressed the pleasure it had given the public to have the privilege of listning to Rev. Dr. Symonds in this delightful series of lectures. He expressed, on behalf of Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, who was unfortunately unable to be present on account of illness, his thanks to those who had helped to make Dr. Symonds' stay in Peterborough so pleasant.

Mayor McWilliams, who was present, followed with a few words, and expressed, on behalf of the citizens the pleasure they had derived from the visit of Rev. Dr. Symonds.

During the evening Miss Davies sang, Tennyson's "Ring out, Wild Bells."

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS.—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result: my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

SIR WILFRID LAURIER IN ENGLAND

Sir Wilfrid Given a Hearty Reception At Liverpool.

STOOD THE VOYAGE WELL

Prominent Canadians Welcome Premier—Refused to Be Interviewed—Passage Over None Too Pleasant—Eager for the Fray — Royal Blue Carriages Meet Party—May Go to the Continent.

Liverpool, April 15.—(C. A. P.)—Before 9 a.m. on Saturday a number of Canadians from Liverpool and London were present at the landing stage, expecting the Empress of Britain to land her passengers, but it was two hours or more after the Lucania passengers landed that the Empress passengers disembarked. Among the Canadians at the landing stage were W. L. Griffiths, representing Lord Strathcona; Ald Jury, Clifford Sifton and Captain Kingsmill.

Mr. Barker, secretary of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, was present for the purpose of renewing an invitation to Sir Wilfrid Laurier to visit Liverpool. The Lord Mayor of Liverpool welcomed Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Declined Interviews.

Also, some score of press representatives attempted to interview Sir Wilfrid, who, while exceedingly cordial, declined to say anything only that what he had to say would be said at the conference.

The voyage, said Sir Wilfrid, speaking to the Canadian Associated Press, was not what could be called a pleasant one, but still he stood it fairly well, as did also Lady Laurier. Sir Frederick Borden enjoyed the voyage capitally. All are in good spirits, and eager for the fray.

Three royal blue carriages were supplied by the railway for the Laurier party, and Lady Grey's party.

It is said Sir Wilfrid will visit Paris, but many engagements have yet to be decided upon.

Premier Laurier and his party arrived in London Saturday evening and were met at the railroad station by the Earl of Elgin, Secretary for the Colonies; Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian high commissioner, and other officials.

Canadian Products.

The Liverpool Daily Post understands Laurier and his colleagues will enquire into the effectiveness of the organization established in Britain for placing Canadian products on the British markets.

CROWDS CHEER BOTHA.

Ex-Chief of Boer Army Officially Welcomed at Southampton.

London, April 15.—(C. A. P.)—Gen. Botha, ex-commander-in-chief of the Boer army, and now first Premier of the Transvaal colony under British rule, arrived here Saturday to attend the conference of colonial Premiers. The reception accorded the general at Southampton and in London was remarkably hearty. Great crowds cheered him wherever he appeared. At Southampton he was officially welcomed by the mayor and corporation of that city, and in reply to the address Gen. Botha humorously referred to the previous occasion when, on the battlefield, he had been surrounded by Englishmen against his will. The general added that he was thankful now that he was in a position to allow himself to be surrounded by any number of Englishmen without fear of the consequences.

JONES GETS HEAVY SENTENCE.

Man Who Tried to Blow Up Hamilton Steel Co. Goes to Pen.

Hamilton, April 15.—Sidney Jones, the Englishman arrested at the Polson Iron Works, Toronto, for attempting to blow up the boilers at the Queen street plant of the Hamilton Steel and Iron Company, appeared before the police magistrate on Saturday morning and was sentenced to two years and six months in Kingston penitentiary.

$30,000 Fire.

Dalhousie, N. B., April 15.—The Restigouche Wood-Working Co.'s factory caught fire late Saturday evening and was burned to the ground.

A very large quantity of manufactured lumber stored in the building was destroyed. The loss is about $30,000; insurance about $40,000.

Men and a fire engine were sent from Campbellton

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

CAYUGA POISONING CASE.

Trial of Mattie Perkins For Murder Begins This Week.

Cayuga, April 15.—Great interest is manifested here in the trial of Mrs. Mattie Perkins for the murder of her husband about Christmas time by means of strychnine poison.

It is said that some surprises will develop as the case expands.

The crown's present plans are to give the case to the grand jury on Tuesday. It is expected an indictment for murder will be returned that afternoon or on Wednesday. The trial starts immediately.

Line of Defence.

Medical evidence will be a feature of the proceedings, and it is learned that the defence will not put in much testimony to combat the crown's contention that poison produced death, but will almost admit this, centreing the legal battle on quite another feature of the case, which, it is inexpedient to the interests of both to make public now.

For one thing the crown will contend that the accused purchased poison in Detroit, and it is believed the defence will try to show Mrs. Perkins never visited that city.

An Array of Experts.

An array of medical experts, Dr. Bruce Smith, Prof. Ellis, and Arthur Jukes Johnson, has been retained for the crown. The defence also will have experts.

Crown Attorney Murphy will be assisted by Frank Arnoldi, K. C.

E. F. B. Johnston and his partner, Robert Grant, will defend the accused. The Assizes open here Tuesday.

Justice Mabee will preside at the Assizes.

A Short Case.

Frank Arnoldi, K. C., said Saturday night the case might not last more than two or three days. He described it as a difficult one to handle; for both sides. Mr. Arnoldi goes to Welland to-day to look over the evidence.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Evidence Discovered Which Makes Case Look Black for Koeller.

Stratford, April 15.—The case in which Leopold Koeller is charged with murder has taken a serious aspect. It is announced that a hatchet with blood-stains and flesh clinging to the blade has been found in an adjoining room to the apartment where the Dewing woman met her death.

The hatchet was found buried under a pile of clothing and along with other suspicious circumstances points strongly towards foul play having been committed.

The post-mortem examination was completed on Saturday afternoon, but the doctors, coroner and crown attorney refuse to divulge the result of the examination. It is alleged that an article which might have been used for an improper purpose was found on the floor of the deceased's room, but as it is in the possession of the foreman of the jury, nothing will likely be divulged in this connection until the evidence is taken at the adjourned inquest.

Koeller, who is under arrest, claims that he has nothing to fear, but the discrepancies in his story points to something more sensational than has as yet developed. The hypothesis is that the Dewing woman was dead before her body was burnt. But as the evidence thus far is merely circumstantial, the case is still shrouded in mystery.

TURKISH TROOPS ON MARCH.

War With Bulgaria May Break Out At Any Moment.

Paris, April 15.—The Memorial Diplomatique says it has learned that the illness of the Sultan of Turkey is rapidly becoming worse and that he is most anxious concerning the revolutionary movement in Asia Minor.

His advisers see only one hope, and that is to provide an exterior diversion in the form of a war with Bulgaria.

Trouble with this country would be already broken out, but for the Sultan's fear that the Bulgarians who are rapid mobilizers would win the first success and that this would be followed by an insurrection throughout the whole of Asia Minor.

In the meanwhile the paper asserts the Turkish reserves are being called out and troops are being hastened to the frontier.

Shot by Strikebreaker.

Boston, April 15.—Several disorders, the result of clashes between sympathizers with the teamsters' strike and strikebreakers were reported to the police yesterday.

John J. Gaffney of New York was arrested at the strikebreakers' headquarters, charged with shooting Spiros Prisnos, who was standing in a doorway across the street from the headquarters watching a crowd, some of whom were hurling sticks and other missiles at the windows. Three or four shots were fired from the building, it is said, and one hit Prisnos in the mouth.

Couple End Their Lives.

New York, April 15.—The dead bodies of John Perrault and his wife were found on Saturday in their bed in a room of an apartment at Madison avenue and 116th street. From an open jet gas was pouring into the room. Beside the bed, on a table, was a chloroform bottle, but the contents had evaporated.

There were rumors of murder, following drugging and robbery, but the police expressed the belief that the case was one of suicide.

CANADA HAS RIVAL IN THE EMPIRE

Australia Desires to Assume Leadership of the Colonies.

EMPIRE LOOKS TO LAURIER

Morning Post Says Sir Wilfrid Must Re-Assert Canada's Claim Among Younger Nations—Premier to Visit Continent in Interests of Trade—Must Reconstruct Imperial Machinery—Brodeur's Trip.

London, April 15.—(C. A. P.)—Yesterday morning Sir Wilfrid Laurier attended services at Westminster (R. C.) Cathedral, and afterwards motored around London for an hour or so, accompanied by Premiers Deakin, Ward and Lyne.

The Morning Post says that on the present occasion the Empire looks to Sir Wilfrid Laurier to reassert Canada's claim to the imperial hegemony among the younger nations in a positive, rather than a negative, directions, and adds that since 1902 a rival claimant to leadership has emerged from the southern seas.

It is stated that after the conference Sir Wilfrid goes to Paris and Rome, and expects to be away from Canada for three months.

The Premier expects, while in Europe, to make trade arrangements with several of the continental nations.

It is stated that Brodeur is going to Russia after the conference to study the Makharoff icebreakers.

Regarding imperial preference, The Standard hopes and believes a modus vivendi may be arrievd at. Premier Laurier will give away Elizabeth Maud, daughter of Governor Dunsmuir of British Columbia, who will be married on Monday to John Hope, son of the registrar of the Privy Council, at St. Mark's, North Audley street.

The Times' Views.

The Times, referring to the conspicuously important conference, says the issue lies between the severance of partnership.

"At the present rate, of colonial development, the colonies must leave us unless we reconstruct the imperial machinery," it says. The Times looks for the most fruitful progress in the present conference on the question of regularizing it as a nucleus for full imperial consultation.

The conference opens at 11.30 today, when Premier Campbell-Bannerman will give an address of welcome.

Japan Quits Manchuria.

Tokio, April 15.—China has transmitted a note to Japan, expressing hearty appreciation of the complete withdrawal of Japanese troops from Manchuria.

It is expected that Japan will reduce the railroad guards in Manchuria to less than half the stipulated number.

"Pro." Hockey Heads The Polls On Ballots Received So Far

One Fan Supports the Scheme Because it Would Mean Separation From the O. H. A.---Supporters of Amateur Hockey Should Wake Up.

The ballots that have reached this office in the vote that is being taken to find out the feeling of the public on professional hockey, have so far all been in favour of the scheme. The vote will remain open until May 1st, when the ballots will be counted and the result announced. You will find a ballot on this page every day and will notice that there is a space reserved thereon for the name of the person voting. It is desirable that this should be known as the vote loses much of its force when the identity of the voters is unknown. It would seem that amateur hockey has no friends in this city, as so far not a vote has been received against a professional team.

His Reason Why

One of those who voted for professional hockey sends with his ballot the following letter:—

Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I notice that in asking for a vote on whether or not Peterborough should have a professional hockey team, you give your readers a chance to explain their vote. I think that a "pro." team is just what is wanted in Peterborough. We have had enough of the O.H.A. which is governed by Toronto, the hog-town burg, that never came near winning a championship last season. Let us get into the game properly and have no more dealings with a league that sidetracks a team by an unfair schedule arrangement, promises to rectify the matter and finally forgets all about it. Professional hockey would mean an escape from the O. H. A. and therefore I am heartily in favour of the proposal."

GYMNASIUM CLASS CLOSING EXERCISES

Good Programme Will be Presented at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday Night Next.

On Friday night of this week, the closing exercises of the Y.M.C.A. gym. will be put on by the junior and senior gym. classes. The evening will be a very interesting one. The junior school boys' class will put on a musical dumb bell drill, followed by junior gymnastic work, and a few gymnasium games. An obstacle race, and an Indian club race will be put on. The final bout in the senior boys' fencing tournament for a trophy donated by the fencing master, Sergt. Major Brittain, will be put on. This will be a very interesting and closely contested bout as the boys have practiced faithfully all winter in the fencing class. The latter part of the evening will be taken up with a senior basket ball match when the Harriers, last season's champions, will play a picked team. The Harriers have yet to be beaten and the game should be an interesting one.

No admission will be charged, and the public is cordially invited to be present to witness the exercises. The programme begins at 8 o'clock.

BASEBALL

The I.C.B.U., of Toronto, the fast Irish nine, are very anxious to play a game with the locals here on May 24th. A letter from their secretary states that if the game is arranged they will run an excursion here. They have a membership of 400.

• • • •

A meeting of the Lakeview Baseball Club will be held in the National Hotel this evening at 8 o'clock. All those gentlemen and players in the south end interested are invited to attend.

LACROSSE

Membership tickets for the Peterborough Lacrosse Club are now out and may be secured from Secretary Regan. It is hoped that the public will readily respond when asked to purchase tickets. Lacrosse will boom this year, but in order to accomplish this result it is necessary to have financial support.

FOOTBALL

A large number of football enthusiasts turned out to practise on Saturday afternoon and had a good workout. Another practice will be held on Central Park this evening.

• • • •

Mr. Fred Doherty, of Norwood, was in the city on Saturday and states that Norwood will again have a football team this year in the Midland League if there is any possibility whatever, Norwood would certainly be a strange place without a football team.

• • • •

The annual meeting of the Midland League, for the purpose of drawing up the schedule will be held on Saturday next at 1 o'clock.

• • • •

Mr. R. J. Brown, a representative of the Omemee football team, was in the city to-day and states that Omemee will enter a team again in the Midland League this year. There was considerable talk of Ida entering a team, but Mr. Brown states that the proposition is not now entertained. There will at any rate be a team from the Omemee district in the League.

LEAGUE BANQUET WILL BE SUCCESS

The City League banquet to-night in honour of the champion Strathconas promises to be the most successful affair of its kind of the season. The Examiner Cup will be presented to the winners by Hon. J. R. Stratton. Among those who will take part in the musical portion of the programme are Messrs. W. McIlroy, Jas. Browne, L. Mendel and Geo. Lynch, Mine Host McCallum has made great preparations for the event. The guests are asked to be hand at 8 o'clock sharp.

NELLIE KESWICK HAS BEEN ADDED TO THE BARN

An important addition has recently been made to Dr. T. Johnston's training stable, in Nellie Keswick, a young mare owned by Mr. Nixon, of Enniskmore. It was sired by Keswick, and is a half sister to the famous Maud Keswick, time 2.03 3-4, owned by Willoughby and Sheppard, of Toronto. Maud Keswick has often performed on the local track at different meets, and was first owned and trained by Dr. Johnston. Nellie Keswick is a promising mare, and Dr. Johnston and his assistants expect to get good results from her. Her first appearance will be made on May 24, when she will be entered in the proposed races of the Turf Club.

"Queen's Baron," time 2.18 1-4, is also in Dr. Johnston's stables. This fast pacing stallion is the property of Mr. Martin Connors and Dr. Johnston. It is expected that he will be entered in the autumn events.

OBITUARY

GABRIEL LARMOUTH

A man who is not only well known, but, during his life time, has been universally esteemed has passed away in the person of Mr. Gabriel Learmouth, whose death occurred this morning at his home, Stewart street, following a stroke which he had on Friday last. About three years ago the deceased had a paralytic stroke, and, although he has been able to be out, he has never been as well, and since the second attack, which came on Friday, he sank rapidly until the end.

The late Mr. Learmouth was a native of Otonabee, where he was born on October 4th, 71 years ago, and where he lived, a successful and respected farmer, until 19 years ago, when he removed to Peterborough, and has made his home here ever since. Eighteen years ago he was married to Miss McNaughton, a sister of Dr. McNaughton, of the Mimico asylum, and she survives him. He also leaves one brother, Thomas Learmouth, reeve of Hastings. Two nephews, Messrs W. G. Patterson and W. Fife, of Detroit, Mich., also survive. Mrs. Learmouth has three brothers and two sisters: Dr. McNaughton, Mimico, Donald and John, of Norwood; and Mrs. Thos. Robson of Norwood, and Mrs. Robert Robson of Norwood. A niece, Miss Robson, of Norwood, has been with Mrs. Learmouth, during the illness of her husband.

During the nineteen years that the deceased has lived in Peterborough, he has been a most faithful member of St. Andrew's church. He possessed a strong Christian character and lived a consistent life; he was a man whom all who knew respected, and whose death will be universally regretted.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday, service being held at the house at 10.30, and the remains will be taken by the 11.38 C. P. R. train to Norwood, where interment will take place.

ALICE LUCAS

On Saturday last the death occurred of Alice Lucas, relict of the late Jas. Hair, of Otonabee at the age of 73 years. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Jno. Knox, lot 25, concession 8, of Otonabee, and interment will take place in the Little Lake Cemetery.

REV. J. H. KEITH GAVE FIRST ADDRESS

New Pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church Preached Initial Sermon Yesterday To His Congregation.

AN IMPRESSIVE SERMON

"Behold I stand at the door, and knock," Revelation iii, 20, was the text of the sermon delivered by Rev. H. J. Keith, M. A., B. D., at the evening service at Knox church, yesterday. Rev. Mr. Keith is the first pastor of this church, and the congregation is justly proud of him. His induction was solemnized during the past week, and on Sunday he appeared in his initial duties.

Rev. Mr. Keith introduced his remarks by calling attention to the numerous instances in which important passages in Scripture are introduced by the word, "Behold," citing several from Isaiah and the New Testament. He called up the imagination of his hearers to form some idea of Christ's knocking at the door of our hearts to seek an entrance, in the endeavour to obtain complete possession. The speaker then described the famous picture, which was inspired by the words of the text. This picture is known as "The Light of the World" and shows Christ standing before an ivy-covered door, robed in priestly garments, holding a lantern in His left hand, and knocking with His right on the heavy door, which bore evidence of being long closed. The wistful expression of His face denotes that he is desirous of obtaining entrance, and yet He realizes that He may be refused.

"Do we realize the power that is being exerted upon us by Jesus?" asked Rev. Mr. Keith. His words have spread during the past centuries so that to-day they are followed by multitudes. His teachings have centred in the hearts of men, and the true God is revealed to mankind as our Father and Redeemer. As He once spoke of Himself, so He is to-day, the Way, the Truth and the Life, and it is this wonderful Being who seeks approach to our lives, that He may uplift us and reclaim us as His own.

The speaker then gave reasons for Christ's knocking. Men, like the black sheep, have strayed away from the fold to the wilderness of sin, and He wishes to bring them back. Also, like the lost coin, they are of no value, while they do not shine in God's use. They do not realize the value of themselves, nor the comfort and happiness within the heritage of God's love. Their return would be like that of the prodigal son, who learned from experience, what he was sacrificing for pleasure.

Christ seeks the fallen in a quiet, almost unnoticed way. His approach is not always spectacular. Our daily existence is full of reminders of His plea. Every experience that causes us to think of eternal things is a divine hint. The loss of a loved one is always a vivid reminder, for our thoughts always revert to Him in times of affliction. Christ also reminds man, not by knocking, but by speaking to us through the works of nature, and by our conscience. These are always directing us to Jesus.

The Gospel of Christ, concluded Rev. Mr. Keith, is all powerful; it can break the bondage which binds the greatest sinner; it can reach the heart of the pagan natives. It has reached all parts of the habited globe, and has raised the human race to a common level in the sight of God. He will guide us in the pathway of life, carefully guarding us against all dangers and temptations, if we open the door in answer to His knocking. The question of importance to each individual which was asked by Elijah —"Choose ye this day whom ye will serve."

The music by the choir was well rendered. After the sermon, Mr Duncan Campbell sang in good voice "Jesus is knocking."

EXAMINE YOUNG MEN FOR MINISTRY

Eleven are Candidates for the Ministry of the Methodist Church From Bay of Quinte Conference This Year.

Commencing on Wednesday, the examination of candidates for the Methodist ministry, for the Bay of Quinte Conference, will be held in this city, the sessions of the Board of Examiners being held in the Charlotte street church. There are in this conference this year eleven young men offering themselves as candidates for the work of the ministry and the examination of these young men will be held this week, from Wednesday to Friday.

On Wednesday evening a public meeting will be held in the Charlotte street church, when addresses will be given by the two outside clergymen mentioned.

VERY SUCCESSFUL DANCE WAS HELD

In Foresters' Hall on Friday Night—About Forty Couples Were Present.

A very enjoyable dance was held by about forty young couples in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, on Friday night. The floor was in good shape and the affair was a great success, reflecting creditably upon Messrs. A. Gibbs and A. Drury, who were chiefly instrumental in making the arrangements. Excellent music was supplied by Wilson's orchestra, while Mr. Archie Moore was master of ceremonies, in his usual efficient manner. A most sumptuous supper was provided by Mr. W. Wheeler, who was the caterer for the occasion, and the repast was the subject of many complimentary remarks.

YESTERDAY'S MUSIC AT CHARLOTTE STREET

At the Charlotte street church yesterday the following musical programme formed that portion of the services:—

Morning,—
Anthem, "Praise My Soul," Hall.
Solo, "Lead Kindly Light," Hawley—Miss Belleghem.
Evening.—
Anthem, "God is Love," Hanscom, with soprano solo.
Solo, "Moment by Moment"—Miss Belleghem.

$100 Reward $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional remedy. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundations of the disease and give the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Another Peterborough Man Escapes From The Wreck

Mr. Duncan Anderson, Who Has Many Relatives Here, Writes to Tell of His Escape From Brunel Disaster.

WAS AN ILL-FATED TRAIN

Friends and relatives in this city of Mr. Duncan Anderson were greatly relieved on Saturday to receive a card from him from Charleau, stating that he had escaped the terrible Brunel wreck. Mr. Anderson was on the train, which was wrecked, but fortunately the coach he was in did not upset, though he was badly shaken up. His daughter, Miss Maggie Anderson, who is staying with her cousin, Mrs. George Armstrong, received the first word from her father, telling her that he was safe. He has two sisters living in Peterborough, too, Mrs. D. Hamilton, Wescott street, and Mrs. Wm. Moffatt, East City. Mr. Anderson's home was in Bancroft, but he was well known in Peterborough, where he frequently visited. He left here last Tuesday morning on the C.P.R. local and his destination was Olds, Alberta.

Bank Asks For Winding Up Order For Brewing Company

The Toronto Sunday World, of yesterday had the following item of local interest:—

The Ontario Bank and John Crane, of Peterborough, have filed a petition at Osgoode Hall, asking for the winding up of the Port Hope Brewing and Malting Company.

The company was incorporated in June, 1889, under the name of the Ambrose Winslow Brewing and Malting Co., of Port Hope, with a capital of $100,000.

In September, 1897, the name was changed to the Port Hope Brewing and Malting Co., Limited, and in March, 1904, the capital stock was increased to $150,000.

It is alleged that the liabilities are $74,042, of which $62,142 is due the Ontario Bank. The assets are estimated at $59,056.

The application will be brought before the court on Friday next.

THE LAUNCHING ABOUT MAY 15

New Steamer Otonabee Will Take the Water in About One Month—Excursions Booked Already.

It is anticipated that the new twin screw steamer Otonabee will be launched on or about the 15th of next month. Among other excursions already booked for the Otonabee during the coming season are those held under the auspices of the Murray Street Baptist Church for the 4th of July, Charlotte Street Church on July 19, and the printers in August. Several other of the local societies and churches are now in communication with the Otonabee Navigation Company's directorate regarding dates for their respective annual outings on the new steamer.

It is understood that the launching of the Otonabee will be attended with quite elaborate ceremonies.

IMPORTANT SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY

A Clinical Preparation That Positively Kills The Dandruff Germ

A most important discovery has been made after a year's patient laboratory work aimed in a certain direction—it is Newbro's Herpicide, a preparation that prevents falling hair, and speedily and permanently eradicates dandruff. These evils are caused by a germ or parasite, that burrows into the scalp, throwing up dandruff, as it seeks to sap the life of the hair at the root. There's no baldness without falling or thin hair, no thin hair without dandruff, and no dandruff if the germ is destroyed. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that will do the work. "Destroy the cause, you will remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50 cents and $1. The Market Drug Store.

A number of initiations will also take place on the same occasion.

Women's Auxiliary Will Gather at St. Luke's on Wednesday Night—Address by Mr. Baldwin.

The members of the three Anglican Auxiliaries are invited to attend this meeting, which will be addressed by Rev. J. M. Baldwin, of Japan. POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilious personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Your article calling attention to the dog nuisance was timely. My wife has had her flower beds injured, or practically ruined, too often not to feel very sore about it. What is the use of making dog owners buy a tag unless dogs are compelled to wear it? I see scores of dogs every day without a tag; they may or may no have had a tag bought for them, but I believe that not one-half of the dogs in the city pay taxes. To get at the delinquents, let every dog without a tag be impounded. If a tag has been stolen the owner of the dog can prove by the books that his dog has paid taxes and his life is saved. Let every other dog be put out of the way. I like a good dog as well as the next one, but a dog that doesn't pay taxes and ruins my wife's flower beds should not be tolerated.

Yours, etc.,
"Consistency."

PROTECTION FOR THE BARBERS SUGGESTED

A Writer Wants to Know Why Alderman Morgan Does Not Propose a Tax On Whiskers.

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Ald. Morgan proposes to give the men who work on the city's sewers protection. Why not give some protection to the barbers? I have a suggestion which might meet with that enterprising alderman's approval. I notice that a proposal has been made to tax whiskers in England, and that looks pretty good to me as a further means of increasing the revenue of the city, and at the same time give protection to the barbers.

I feel sure that this suggestion will not fall on barren ground. Ald. Morgan will take the matter up at once, I hope.

"Protection."

MR. G. L. MAIN'S TRANSFER TO MONTREAL OFFICE

Accountant-Teller Fenelon Falls Office, Formerly of Local Branch, Goes to Head Office.

The Fenelon Falls Star, this week, referring to a young man well known in Peterborough, where for some time he was a member of the staff of the Bank of Montreal, says:

"Mr. G. L. Main, teller in the Bank of Montreal here, has received notice of his transfer to Montreal. Mr. D. F. McLean of Montreal, will take Mr. Main's place here. Mr. Main will be much missed in the social and sporting circles in Fenelon Falls, this may be judged from the fact that he advertises a 'gramophone, camera, gasoline launch and a cat, for sale cheap.'"

INCORPORATION OF NEW COAL COMPANY

Ontario Coal Company With Capital Stock of $40,000 Will Shortly Open for Business.

The proprietors of the new company are Messrs. A. J. McClellan and G. Rackham. It is understood that they will be ready for business in the course of a few days.

I am anxious that you should know the relief and benefit I have derived from taking Bu-Ju. The effect has been marvellous. I had suffered severely for years with pain in the back, especially on rising in the morning, and I am pleased to say that the pain has completely disappeared. Before using Bu-Ju, I had tried every remedy I heard of for Kidney Trouble, without even receiving relief. I would strongly advise anyone suffering from Kidney Trouble to take Bu-Ju without delay. CHAS. E. LUFFY.

It costs only 3c. a day to take Bu-Ju, and your money refunded if they fail to cure. 50c. a large box. At druggists, or sent on receipt of price.

MAPLE SUGAR AND HARD TACK BISCUIT OVER QUARTER CENTURY OLD

The Campbellford Despatch says: Mr. Walter Fraser called at the Despatch office on Monday morning and showed us a cake of maple sugar which he had made 34 years ago. It was well preserved but, as it had been kept in a trunk with moth balls, we could scarcely say that it had retained its flavour. He also showed us a hard-tack biscuit which he had served to him by Major Bonnycastle in 1855 when, as a member of B company of the Midland Batallion, he was starting on the march from Battleford to White Lake. The biscuit looks as fresh as if made yesterday but we venture to say that even Major Bonnycastle could not make an indention in it, therefore its flavour remains a secret.

5000 Chinese Starving To Death Daily Is The Report

Horrible Conditions Reported From China—Cannibalism is Reported From Some Districts Now.

GIVEN CHILDREN TO EAT

10,000,000 Persons are Suffering and the Harvest is More Than Two Months Off—Help is Needed Badly.

Examiner Special

Shanghai, April 12.—Telegrams received here from twenty points in the famine district report that the conditions are growing worse. The Chinese government and people up to date have contributed over $4,000,000 for famine relief, and the sums received from foreign sources total half a million dollars, including the supplies on their way here from America.

Twenty thousand famine sufferers are employed in building dams and canals to prevent a recurrence of the floods.

The relief committee here is promptly sending supplies to the front, but the funds are nearing exhaustion. All the relief measures up to date are inadequate. Ten million persons are suffering from inadequate supplies of food and three millions are nearing starvation.

The member of the committee at the front report that they find the bodies of the sufferers bloated and that their faces turn green or black as the result of starvation. The people are pulling up the growing crops for food. Whole families have been found dead in their houses and corpses are seen lying by the roadside. Probably 5,000 persons are dying daily from starvation. A few cases of rioting for food have occurred and cannibalism is beginning to be reported. Newly-made graves have been rifled of the bodies and parents are exchanging their children to be eaten.

Port Hope Now Expects Big Things From Canadian Pacific

Chief Engineer of That Railway Visits the Town and Spirits of Its Inhabitants Are Correspondingly Elated.

TO BE A DIVISIONAL POINT

Examiner Special

Port Hope, April 13.—Mr. A. L. Hertzberg, Chief Engineer of the entire Canadian Pacific Railway system, spent two days in Port Hope last week on official business.

He drove over the town and made a thorough examination of the proposed routes that have been surveyed by the C. P. R. through the town. The route which he favoured is that which enters the town north of Cobourg Road, goes near the Blue Stone residence and crosses the town by means of a viaduct which passes near the town hall, the line going westward north of the present G. T. R. tracks and south of the golf grounds.

In order to reach the harbour a spur line will cross the G. T. R. tracks about opposite Mr. Helm's house and run to the harbour south of the G. T. R. main line.

Mr. Hertzberg was much impressed with the harbour. It is understood that the C. P. R. intends to make Port Hope its chief point between Toronto and Montreal and that its plans include making use of the harbour to a great extent. If these plans are carried out, an immense impulse will be given to the prosperity of Port Hope. The visit of Mr. Hertzberg is of great significance.

Lakefield Barbers Have Raised Schedule Of Prices

Peterborough Prices Will Prevail There in Future—Banquet to Popular Young Men Before Leaving for the West.

HICKS & CO'S SHIPMENTS

Examiner Special.

Lakefield, April 11.—One of Lakefield's popular young men in the person of Mr. D. W. Edwards left the village on Monday for Battleford, Sask., where he will make his home in future. Previous to his departure his friends entertained him at a banquet in the Lakefield House, which was attended by about fifty guests. During the evening, Mr. Edwards was presented with an address, accompanied by a handsome gold ring and locket. His many friends all wish him success in his new position in his distant home.

At the last meeting of the Smith Township Council a resolution was passed, asking that body not to grant a license to the Windsor House, Buckhorn, in Harvey, as it would not be to the best interests of this township to grant the same, as the Government intends to proceed with large public works, and it deems it would be better to not have liquor near the work.

The barbers of Lakefield have raised their prices as follows: Haircut, 20c; beard trim, 10c; head rub, 10c; shave, 10c; shaving neck, 5c; singing hair, 10c; shampoo, 25c; massage, 15c.

The teachers in the Lakefield Public Schools will be paid their salaries monthly, instead of quarterly, as formerly.

The village Council have very generously granted the band the sum of $100, on condition that they build a bandstand, for which the Council offer to supply the light necessary.

Lakefield boys and some grown-up men seem to be guilty of creating considerable annoyance at public entertainments, and the News gives them a good talking to about their conduct. The News says: "When grown men, whose experience in life should teach them to be guides and examples to youth, make themselves prominent in the tumult, and even girls forget themselves so far as to giggle and talk through a whole act, it is time for a public protest. Matters have grown so bad in this respect at entertainments in this village that many ladies will not attend or take part in any public performance."

Messrs. R. Hicks & Co., of Peterborough, have had a gang of men at work here for several days unloading a number of crafts of hardwood, about 75 cords, logs and poles. Considerable difficulty was experienced in accomplishing this work, until the arrival of the company's energetic young yardman, who succeeded in saving all the wood and logs and piling them up on the wharf near the railway, ready for shipment to Peterborough. Those who know something of the difficulties connected with such a job give considerable credit to Mr. Menzies for the way he handled it.

Assistance For Fruit Growers Of Province

Provincial Fruit Growers' Association Good Work—Department of Agriculture of Ontario Takes Matter Up.

GIVEN A GRANT OF $50.00

The Minister of Agriculture for Ontario has for the past two years had under consideration plans for further assisting the fruit-growers of the Province. Spraying has now become, in producing a superior grade of fruit, the most important operation of the year, and, while widely practised in certain sections, has not yet been given the attention that it requires in the apple sections. The advent of the power sprayer is of such recent date that the advantages it gives, especially in the spraying of apple orchards, is not yet appreciated.

For many years the Department of Agriculture has been advocating more and better spraying. Demonstrations in the use of hand and power outfits, and the preparation and application of the most effective mixtures, have been given throughout the Province with satisfactory results. It is now felt that such information has been sufficiently diffused, and another step forward is proposed.

The Provincial Fruit Growers' Association has within the past three years assisted in organizing a large number of fruit-growing associations. One of the aims of these associations has been the co-operative spraying of orchards of their members, and it is now proposed to assist these and kindred organizations in such spraying work. With this aim in view, the Minister of Agriculture has asked the Legislature for a grant of $6,000, to be devoted to the assistance of fruit growers in the purchase and operation of power spraying outfits. Many associations already own and are operating such machines, and these will receive the same aid, as those organizing during 1907. The conditions under which the grants are available have been made as simple as possible with the hope that a decided stimulus will be given to the proper spraying of orchards during this and coming seasons. Following are the regulations covering the payment of the grants:

A grant of $50 will be made to any five or more farmers who unite to form a fruit growers' association for the purchase and operation of a power spraying outfit during the season of 1907. These associations need not be incorporated to qualify for this grant, though incorporation of co-operative associations should be obtained if the full benefits of co-operation are desired.

Co-operative fruit growing associations owning and operating two or more power sprayers will be eligible to draw a grant for each machine operated.

The number of such associations receiving assistance during the present year shall not exceed 100.

At least 25 acres of fruit trees must be thoroughly sprayed during the proper season with each outfit.

A reasonable portion of such spraying must be done on the farms or orchards of each of the parties forming the association.

Such associations, before receiving any portion of the grant, shall satisfy an inspector of the Department of Agriculture that the above conditions have been complied with and shall make such reports as shall satisfy the Minister of Agriculture.

Associations desirous of participating in this grant must apply to the Department not later than the first day of May.

HAVELOCK RAILWAY MEN AGAIN RESTED ON SUNDAY

Havelock, April 12. — Sunday was again a "rest day" in Havelock. Of the numerous staff of the C. P. R. here none of the men were working except those whose presence at the roundhouse was absolutely necessary. No freight trains were despatched during the day from this point, and the yard engine was still. The company seems to be making an honest effort here to observe the new Lord's Day Act.

REDUCTION IN POST RATES.

British Newspapers to Have Preference Over Those of States.

Ottawa, April 16.—After an announcement by Mr. Lemieux, Postmaster-General, regarding postal rates on British newspapers and magazines, Col. Sam Hughes brought a hornet's nest about his ears by endeavoring to explain away a remark he had made in the course of the debate on immigration on Tuesday last. When Mr. Armand Lavergne was expressing the hope on that occasion that some of the clergy who had been expelled from France would find their way to Canada, Col. Hughes interjected the observation: "A curse to the country." Yesterday Mr. Bourassa seized the opportunity to administer a severe castigation to the member for Victoria and Haliburton, and Mr. Lemieux, Mr. Talbot and Mr. C. Devlin joined in a vigorous protest against the expression which had been used. To complete the Colonel's discomfiture, the leader of the Opposition chided him in no gentle fashion for his impetuosity, emphatically repudiated his view, and suggested that the objectionable words should be withdrawn. Col. Hughes, however, did not withdraw. He explained that he was not referring to the clergymen in their individual capacity, but maintained that men who had refused to obey the laws of France would not make desirable citizens of Canada. The incident then closed, and the House went into supply, the immigration estimates being discussed.

Preferential Tariff Frauds.

Mr. Armstrong again called attention to the manner in which foreign goods were being brought to Canada through English middlemen under the British preference, and urged Mr. Fielding when he went to England to make a thorough investigation of the matter. He read a letter from Leeds, England, which showed, he maintained, that so far as goods coming to Canada under the British preference were concerned it was a false impression that any benefit was being conferred on the British people. He complained that practically Canada had been closed to German immigrants, the best class outside of the British. Given a fair show, he believed that Canada could drive the American trade in agricultural products out of the German market.

Postal Reductions.

The following was the announcement made by the Postmaster-General in regard to the new postal rates for newspapers etc. These are to come into force on 1st May.

"The postage from the United Kingdom to Canada on registered newspapers and on bona-fide magazines and trade journals (published at regular intervals of not more than once a month) is to be reduced to a rate of a penny per pound on each packet, the charges on packets not exceeding two ounces remaining at a half penny. The present limit of weight of five pounds for a packet will be maintained, and certain administrative regulations will be laid down by the British Postoffice.

"This special reduction will place Great Britain in the future in at least as favorable a postal position towards Canada in regard to the articles in question as that occupied by any other country. The reduction is based on a consideration of the very special and peculiar position, geographically and otherwise, occupied by Canada, and is granted also in consideration of the fact that the Dominion Postmaster-General undertakes to carry free of ocean transit charges all British newspapers, magazines and trade journals sent from the United Kingdom to Canada by vessels under contract with the Canadian Government thus relieving the British Postoffice of the cost of such transit charges on the articles in question (approximately 4 1-3 cents a pound).

"The agreement will remain in force for a period of four years, unless previously modified or concluded by mutual agreement."

No one was hurt, but the cars sustained much damage.

The loss will be very heavy.

Calling a water

does not certify it safe for you to drink. Water can be pure and yet be harmful. Boiled water is pure, in one sense, because heat destroyed the bacteria it contained, but heat does not remove harmful salts from water, nor the organic matter. ¶ Distilled water, used so much on shipboard, is chemically pure; but seafaring men will warn you against drinking too much "condenser" (distilled) water. It brings on bowel trouble, because the salts it should contain have been distilled out of it. ¶ Some spring water is fairly pure; but even the purest spring water contains dissolved mineral matter—sulphate of lime, carbonate of lime, magnesia, common salt, potash, iron. ¶ Even pure water, if it contains too much of some of these salts, does you harm. ¶ So what are you to do? You shouldn't drink boiled water because the salts are not boiled out of it. You musn't drink distilled water because the salts are boiled out of it. Most spring waters have too much of the wrong kind of salts. What are you to drink? ¶ Why not drink a water that is not only ideally pure, but in which are naturally present exactly the salts that are good for anybody, in exactly the proportion that is right for everybody? ¶ Why not drink a water that is zestful, sparkling, limpid, with no excess of mineral, no trace of harmful salts? KING EDWARD SENDS BEST WISHES

His Majesty Sends Message of Welcome to Premiers.

AT THE OPENING MEETING

Colonial Conference Began Its Sessions in London Yesterday—British Prime Minister Speaks for Government—Press Not to be Admitted — Important Subjects for Discussion—Last a Month.

Londong, April 16.—At the opening of the Colonial Conference Lord Elgin read a telegram from King Edward welcoming the Premiers and expressing a wish for the success of the Conference. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman followed, welcoming officially on behalf of the Government the Premiers, and the King's telegram was answered in turn by each of them. After the official welcome the British Cabinet Ministers withdrew, and the conference proceeded to discuss the future course of business. It was decided that Ministers other than Prime Ministers and their secretaries should be admitted to the conference; it was also decided that in future meetings of the conference the press would not be admitted. The Canadian Associated Press understands that no decision has been arrived at as to how far future proceedings will be made public, when the conference adjourned.

Reporters Excluded.

London, April 16.—The fourth conference between the Premiers of Great Britain's self-governing colonies and the British Colonial Secretary was opened yesterday at the Colonial Office under the presidency of the Earl of Elgin, Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Reporters are not admitted to the conference, so the public will have to be contented with strictly censored official summaries of each day's proceedings until a blue book on the conference is issued, months after its final adjournment.

The Premiers present included Dr. Jameson, of Cape Colony; General Louis Botha, Premier of the Transvaal; Alfred Deakin, the Australian Premier; Sir Joseph O. Ward, Premier of New Zealand; Frederick R. Moor, Premier of Natal, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada. Premier Sir Robert Bond, of Newfoundland, will arrive in the middle of the week. The Premiers were accompanied by their advisers. A number of British Cabinet Ministers attended the morning session.

Premier Campbell-Bannerman opened the proceedings with a speech of welcome in which he outlined the subjects for discussion, such as preferential trade between the colonies and Great Britain and among the colonies themselves, a project providing for a permanent council. Imperial defence schemes and immigration, with minor questions, like penny postage, naturalization laws. The Premier earnestly expressed the hope that the deliberations would have useful results. Each of the colonial Premiers made a brief reply, after which the conference discussed the procedure and adjourned. Meetings will be held three times a week and they are expected to last at least a month.

Laurier Opposed Publicity.

Premier Campbell-Bannerman's speech yesterday was largely composed of generalities. He only touched lightly on the subject of tariff preferences which to the colonial representatives is the most important matter to come before the conference and one on which they hope an agreement will be reached satisfactory to all parties concerned.

In regard to the decision not to admit reporters to the daily sessions, it is stated that the colonial representatives were as a rule in favor of publicity, but the Home Government was opposed to it, and it is understood that Premier Laurier supported the home officials in this matter.

KOELLER KNEW VICTIM.

Witness Who May Give Damaging Evidence In Stratford Case.

Stratford, April 16.—The cause of the death of Marriett Dewing still remains unsolved. The statement was made yesterday on good authority that Mrs. Dewing was dead before her body was burned.

It has been stated further that Koeller was intimate with Mrs. Dewing many months before the time he stated that he first met her, namely, two weeks before her death. A witness may be produced to show that he had been in her company some weeks previous to the tragedy.

The hatchet which had flesh clinging to it was used for cutting pork. There was no injury to skull or brain revealed at the post-mortem. Nevertheless, it is understood that the crown is in the possession of some important facts for the inquest tonight.

R. T. Harding, who has been retained to defend Koeller, says he would not have taken the case if he believed Koeller guilty.

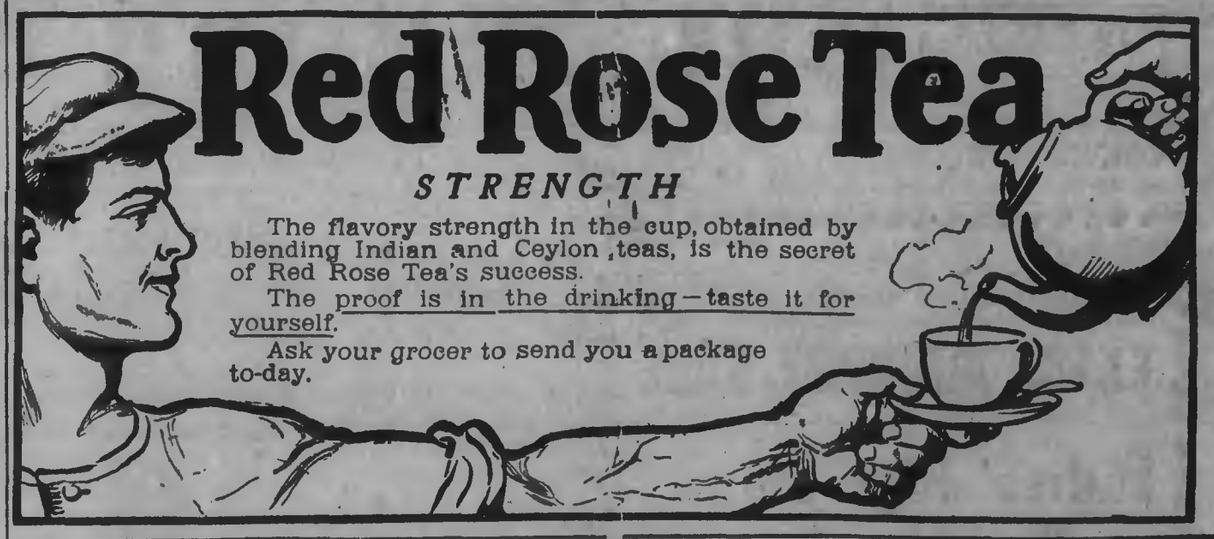
POSTAL RATES REDUCED.

Two Cents a Pound Instead of Eight For Newspapers.

London, April 16.—The postage on newspapers, magazines, and trade journals between Great Britain and Canada will be reduced to two cents per pound May 1, instead of the present charge of eight cents, thus putting Great Britain in a more favorable postal position towards Canada in respect to these classes of publications than any other country.

In making the announcement in the House of Commons yesterday, Postmaster-General Buxton said the concession must not be regarded as a precedent for a reduction in other classes. It was based on the special and peculiar position offered by Canada, geographical and otherwise, by which British newspapers, etc., were unable to obtain a footing in Canada.

The arrangement, Mr. Buxton added, was experimental, and was limited at present to four years.



THAW AND HIS COUNSEL.

Delmas No Longer Retained — New Defence To Be Insanity.

New York, April 16.—Interest in the case of Harry K. Thaw now centres about the probable changes he will make in his staff of lawyers. While no official announcement has been made in this regard, intimations have come from the lawyers themselves that changes have been made, and that others will follow. Delphin M. Delmas, who led the fight at the recent trial, has, it is stated, severed his connection with the case. In this connection a story of the remarkable proceeding of Thaw, at a critical period of his trial, were published here yesterday.

The story recites that when the trial was resumed after the report of the lunacy commission, Mr. Delmas called Dr. Hamilton to the stand to have him testify as to Thaw's mental condition when the murder was committed. He was just about to question when he received a note from Thaw, which read: "You are no longer in charge of my case."

Thaw Fired Him.

Delmas, surprised, secured the court's permission to confer with his client, the story states, and when he asked Thaw what the note meant, Thaw is said to have replied: "It means just what it says. You are not going to make those men testify that I am insane. I am sane, and you know it. You are no longer in charge of my case."

Mr. Delmas then asked Thaw for permission to withdraw, but his request was refused. Delmas, under the law, could not voluntarily retire from the case, and Thaw, having told him that he (Thaw) was the leading counsel in his own case, Mr. Delmas asked him what he wished done.

"I want you to take Dr. Hamilton off the stand and begin to sum up for the jury," was the reply.

Delmas thereupon announced that the defendant rested his case, and Dr. Hamilton was excused without testifying.

Daniel O'Reilly makes the announcement that he is now counsel of record for Thaw, and will be in active charge hereafter. He was appointed to that position a couple of weeks ago, he says, succeeding Clifford W. Hartridge. Thaw appointed O'Reilly the day Mr. Hartridge started to cross-examine Dr. Mabon, Mr. O'Reilly says, and tried to frame a hypothetical question which the judge ruled out.

New Defence—Insanity.

Mr. O'Reilly is authority for the statement that he is the only one of the five lawyers re-engaged, but he says that Thaw is fond of Lawyer Peabody, and that he will be retained.

After a consultation with Thaw, Mr. O'Reilly said that at the second trial the defence will be practically the same as that at the first trial—insanity of the defendant at the time he shot White.

A Peripatetic Wooing.

By RITA KELLEY.

Copyright, 1907, by Homer Sprague.

Eloise was having thoughts. That they were not pleasant thoughts was proved by the hurry with which she donned her tan ulster and close brown walking hat and slipped out of the house. She hurried down brilliantly lighted Broadway, hoping that the new experience of being alone, unchaperoned, unprotected, amid the rush of life on all sides, might divert her mind. She was halted at last by a man with a megaphone. He was shouting: "All aboard for Chinatown! Right this way. Tickets two dollars. All aboard for Chinatown!"

She looked up at the huge, ugly "rubberneck wagon," now fairly transformed into a bower of beauty of red, white and blue electric lights and Chinese lanterns bobbing in the chill breeze. It seemed to offer surcease from the insistent, uncomfortable thoughts at the back of her brain. The old wagon in its brave array held some of the allurements of fairyland and its happy irresponsibility, and on the spur of the moment she whipped out her purse from her ulster pocket, bought her ticket and climbed in among the lanterns well toward the front.

"WHAT ARE YOU DOING HERE?" HE DEMANDED.

George had dared to insinuate that she could not get along without him He had acted as if he were as much a part of her life as her daily ride in the park, her nights at the opera, her cotillon favors. Worse still, there had been, too, the suggestion that he was so much a part of her existence that she could not get along without him. Other girls were wooed and hard won. She was taken for granted. And she wanted romance—"heart interest" she had heard it called when the drama was under consideration. All her life had the conventional been wrapped around her like a dun colored cloak. She would have freedom from conventionality—and George.

A thrill of anticipation ran through her as the big, clumsy vehicle wheeled cautiously and threaded its way down the crowded streets. Through the Tenderloin, the Ghetto, the Bowery—all those localities of which she had heard, but never seen—it went. When it halted at last she was in the front of the party, still determinedly eager to get outside of herself. The conductor had taken her under his wing, and she felt very safe and sure.

They had climbed up and up and up many winding, creaking, unsafe stairs to the joss house, a heathenish, garish place filled with a mixture of rare carvings, embroideries, ivories and apparently worthless junk. The conductor of the party waited to give his explanation until the loiterers had gone.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "wait a few minutes, and I will explain this interesting place. There are some people present who did not come with the party and who are waiting in the hope that they will get the benefit of what I am about to tell you."

A little woman in a blue tailored suit edged her way with asperity into the crowd.

"Do you mean me?" she demanded. "I guess we have as good a right to be here as any one. And we'll stay here till we are ready to go."

The conductor turned to Eloise for approbation.

"The members of this party have each paid $2 for this valuable information, and it is not fair to them to allow you to hear this for nothing. I know your kind. You have been following us around just to get this information free. Not a night passes but I have trouble of this kind, and it's got to stop."

The little woman fought off her friends who strove to lead her away.

"And who are you that you should talk to me that way?" she cried. "Do you know who I am? I'll have you arrested for insulting a lady. My brother is down now looking for a policeman. Do you hear?" she shrieked, maddened by her inability to impress the cool conductor.

There was a commotion in the doorway, and two men pushed through and thrust their fists under the conductor's nose.

"I'll report you," they yelled, "for insulting a lady."

Eloise turned sick. She pushed out of the excited crowd, past the two emaciated, imperturbable old Chinamen behind their little trinket counter and fled to the balcony overlooking the main street of the Chinese quarter.

It was horribly low. She shuddered at the thought of where she was and under what protection as she gazed down from the lantern hung balcony into the street crowded with Chinese in their native dress—their pig faces, long cues and long nailed fingers holding paper bags filled with vegetables.

"Eloise!"

She jumped at the sound of her name and a man's step on the balcony and pressed back against the wall of the house, staring with wild eyes at the man before her.

"What are you doing here?" he demanded. "Why, you have never been out like this! What does it mean?"

She gathered her forces suddenly for retaliation.

"What if I haven't?" she said, somewhat breathlessly. "I am old enough to do as I choose—and—it is not in the least your affair what I do!"

She pushed past him into the incense laden interior to have the conductor present her with a package of joss sticks and a slip of paper covered with Chinese characters.

"A fortune," he said gallantly. "Ask your Chinese laundryman to read it for you."

"I haven't a Chinese laundryman," she exclaimed passionately, "and I never will have one!"

She ran almost blindly down the stairs and into the street, trusting to her instinct for locality to guide her to the nearest subway station. The orientals fell back in wild astonishment at sight of her fleeing figure, and a few fat old fellows said unintelligible things to her which caused a roar of laughter.

Her cheeks were burning, her breath was coming in gasps, as she came into the little square marking the one time wickedest place in New York. All at once she felt that she was being followed. Quick, light footfalls were coming behind her, were keeping pace with hers, and terror clutched her heart. A few drunken men sprawled on the park benches. To return was impossible. She could never find the "rubberneck" party. There was nothing to do but keep on as best she could.

She emerged from the park ready to drop with exhaustion and was obliged to slow down to get her breath. To her relief she found the steps had stopped, and no one was in sight. She went on and on through the better streets of the wholesale district and at last saw the twinkling lights of surface cars ahead. She reached for her purse. It was gone.

She stopped stock still on a corner, frozen with horror. Alone at 11 o'clock at night on a deserted street, with no money and home miles away! The ills of her guarded, pampered life showed uppermost in this dilemma. A less favored girl would have known what to do. She stood there dazed, helpless, till the sound of rapidly approaching footsteps startled her into action. She sprang forward.

"Eloise!" A man's voice echoed her name commandingly among the skyscrapers.

She collapsed all in a heap on the curbstone.

"You—you—lovable girl," he said, looking down at her limp person struggling for breath.

"Oh, George," she panted, "I didn't know it was you!"

He sat down on the curb beside her.

"I thought you did," he said.

"And there wasn't any real danger?" she asked, wide eyed. "Oh, what a simpleton!"

"None at all except from the ogre me," he laughed shortly.

"Oh, George, you are simply fine!"

"You didn't think so last week this time," he said relentlessly.

"But you didn't insist," she pouted. "A girl likes to be convinced."

"Oh, you—you—I will say it—foolish girl!" he said, with adoring eyes.

Had a Nasty Bronchial Cough

AS AN AFTER EFFECT ON PNEUMONIA—NOTHING PROVED EFFECTIVE UNTIL WE USED

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Many a mother can say, as does Mrs. Harker, in the following letter, that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, has proved a friend to her in time of colds, with the little ones.

Mrs. Walter Harker, Sydenham, Frontenac county, Ont., writes:

"Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, has proved a friend to me in times of colds with my little ones. I have tried many others, but have found none just as good. My little boy, about a year old, had pneumonia and was left with a nasty bronchial cough, but Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is helping him wonderfully and I am sure it will cure him.

"We have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with splendid results and have great faith in all of Dr. Chase's medicines."

It may not have occurred to you that both bronchitis and asthma are diseases of the nerves of the bronchial tubes and lungs and that is why severe attacks of coughing are brought on whenever these nerves are irritated by changing temperature, the breathing of dust or emotional excitement.

It is by its remarkable facility for soothing the nerves and sheathing the delicate membranous linings with a protective coating that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has proven so thoroughly effective as a cure for bronchitis and asthma. Its power in these disease is unquestionable.

Relief from coughing comes almost immediately and by persistent use a cure is gradually and certainly brought about.

When the system is greatly run down it is advisable to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in order to assist in restoring vigour to the wasted nerves.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle; family size, 60 cents; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

The Word "Explode."

"Explosive" was first used in its modern sense in the first quarter of the nineteenth century. "Explode" in the sense of "blow up" or "go off" is scarcely a century older. Before that people talked of a ball being "exploded" from a gun, the clouds "exploding" lightning or a volcano "exploding" lava, but that was very much nearer the word's original sense of driving away with scorn. "Explode," in fact, is literally to clap away and was a technical word for driving an actor off the stage by contemptuous handclapping. That is the real meaning of an "exploded idea."

Her Glance Backward.

In a Broadway car long past midnight a robust, motherly woman sat with a well grown boy of about fifteen beside her. The boy had fallen asleep, and his head rested heavily against her shoulder.

A man entering the car was cordially greeted by the woman and was about to slap the boy on the knee when the mother interposed.

"Don't wake him," she pleaded. "He's so big now that he is ashamed of doing childish things. This is the first time in a year that he has been my baby boy again. Let me enjoy it."—New York Globe.

HON. C. W. ROBINSON

Director of Record Foundry Co.

Hon. C. W. Robinson, until recently Speaker of the New Brunswick Legislature, and who, a few weeks ago, was sworn in as a member of Premier Pugsley's Cabinet, is, outside of his political interests, associated with some of the largest manufacturing concerns in his Province.

Among the principal interests with which Hon. Mr. Robinson is connected is the Record Foundry and Machine Co., of Moncton, N.B., and Montreal, P.Q., manufacturers of the celebrated "Penn Esther" ranges and "Admiral" and "Calorific" furnaces. In this company, Hon. Mr. Robinson is a large stockholder and a director.

How to Properly Boil Water.

When water is put into a kettle over the fire, bubbles rise to the surface. These are expanded air, and this is why the kettle "boils over" if filled to the brim when the water is cold. As the water grows hotter it changes to steam at the bottom of the kettle, where the heat is most intense, and bubbles of steam take the place of air bubbles. At 185 degrees the steam bubbles rise and drop back and the water is said to simmer. If the water rises yet higher in temperature, the bubbles escape, and at 212 degrees the water boils and steam escapes. Now, a thermometer will show that no matter how much the heat is increased under the kettle the water will become no hotter than 212 degrees, but it will be turned into steam faster, and in that way it is said to "boil away." Therefore unless food is to be cooked in steam it is a waste of fuel to boil water so fast that it disappears rapidly in steam. The violent agitation will also break into pieces whatever is being cooked.

Keeping Shoes Dry.

An old fashioned method of keeping the shoes impervious to water in rainy weather was to rub the welt stitches with a piece of beef tallow. But this is objectionable, as traces of the grease can be seen in the white particles of the fat left.

Castor oil applied with a small brush is very much better. Only a little should be used, and the brush should preferably have stiff bristles. The kind that comes with a bottle of glue will answer.

An Irish beggar woman following a gentleman who had had the misfortune to lose his nose kept exclaiming:

"Heaven preserve your honor's eyesight."

The gentleman was at last annoyed at her importunity and said:

"Why do you wish my eyesight to be preserved? Nothing ails my eyesight nor is likely to."

"No, your honor," said the Irishwoman, "but it will be a sad thing if it does, for you will have nothing to rest your spectacles upon."

THE RULING PASSION.

Kodak Fiends Pointed Lenses at the Burning Wreck.

Toronto, April 15.—A commercial traveler, E. M. Kane, of this city, was a passenger for Winnipeg when the C. P. R. train was wrecked near Chapleau. Beyond the loss of his baggage, which was burnt, he does not appear to have suffered, but the gruesome sights he witnessed in the death agonies of those who perished in and under the burning cars will never be effaced from his memory.

He said: "The doors had become jammed with the shock and in any event were harder to get at than the windows, which we promptly smashed and climbed out by means of the seats. It was only about two minutes until I was out of the car, and the first thing I saw was the fire, which even then had entirely enveloped the colonist car. In fact, in less than ten minutes the whole car was practically consumed.

"The most marvelous escape was that of the baggageman on the burnt baggage car. This car rolled over twice, and the baggage with which it was filled was smashed all around him, and yet he escaped with a crushed hand.

"An action which was commented upon as being most heartless was that of a couple of kodak fiends from the Pullman car, who took photographs of the fire while it was going on, and the spectacle of these cold-blooded artists focussing their instruments on the parts of the wreck under which the poor victims were pinned were most revolting."

New York, April 15.—George Schambacher, a wealthy real estate dealer, 56 years of age, was shot and fatally wounded in the dining room of his home in East 44th street early yesterday. His family believe that a burglar surprised by Schambacher shot him.

In reply to questions the dying man said only: "I've been shot," and pointed to an open window.

Kills Himself At 83.

Toronto, April 15.—John Bailey, an army veteran, 83 years of age, committed suicide on Sunday afternoon.

Shortly after 3 o'clock he went out into a shed in rear of the house and shot himself, placing the revolver in his mouth.

He had been sick all last week and was very despondent.

Shot Himself In Theatre.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 15.—Robert M. Crow, a nephew of H. C. McKibowny, president of the Union Trust company of this city, who shot himself in the abdomen while in a box watching a performance at a local theatre last Wednesday, died in a hospital yesterday. Crow was 23 years of age.

Train Wreck at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, April 15.—The Great Northern Express, which left here last evening at 5.20, was wrecked at a switch near the west yards of the C. N. R., inside the city limits.

Four cars and the locomotive were badly damaged, but no one was hurt.

CITIES DESTROYED BY EARTHQUAKES

Shaken to Pieces By Earthquake In Mexico.

SHOCKS STILL CONTINUE

Eleven Known to Be Dead and 27 Injured—No Authentic Details—People Panic-Stricken—Two Volcanoes In Disturbed Region—Inhabitants Flocing to Open Country—Fears for Others.

Chilpancingo, Mex., April 16.—This city has been completely destroyed by one of the most serious earthquakes that has ever visited this section.

Up to last night the known dead number eleven, and the badly injured twenty-seven.

A panic prevails everywhere, and people are flocing to the open country. The earth continues to rock at half-hour intervals, and many minor shocks are completing the work of destruction of the first earthquake.

All telegraph communication with the outside world ceased shortly after 11.50 o'clock Sunday night, when the first shock was felt. The telegraph officers have installed temporary quarters in an open square.

Word has reached here that the Town of Chilapa, forty-two kilometers to the northeastward, has also been destroyed. As yet no details have been received as to the number of dead and wounded, but it is feared the number will be large.

This city is the capital of the State of Guerrero, and four years ago was visited by an earthquake which killed and wounded many of its inhabitants and destroyed a large part of the town. The population of the town is 7,496, and until the panic into which the citizens have been thrown abates it will be impossible to state accurately to what an extent this earthquake has decreased it.

The population of the City of Chilapa is 15,000.

Third City May Be Gone.

Midway between the cities of Chilpancingo and Chilapa is the City of Tixtla. This is a prosperous and progressive community, and as no word has been received from there it is feared that it also has been destroyed.

Judging from the movements of the earthquake, Tixtla would be directly in its line, and if the city has escaped it has been only a miracle.

The nearest big town, Aculpe, is 131 kilometers to the southwest of this place, and has not been heard from.

Both the volcanoes of Colima and Jerullo are in this region, and the people fear that the seismic disturbances may cause these mountains to become more active.

The inhabitants hereabouts are known as "Pintos," because of the spots on their faces. They are noted for their hardy, warlike spirit, and for their stoicism and fanaticism, but the recent catastrophe seems to have completely unnerved them.

Americans In Danger.

The city is located 97 kilometres from the nearest railroad line, and it will be impossible for the people to flee, except on foot or on horseback.

This fact caused a considerable amount of anxiety, because the state is inhabited by a large number of Americans, who are engaged in prospecting for mines.

Seven New Cardinals.

Rome, April 16.—Pope Pius X. held a secret consistory yesterday in the Vatican and created seven new cardinals as follows:

Mgr. Cavillari, Patriarch of Venice.
Mgr. Rinaldini, Papal Nuncio to Spain.
Mgr. Lorenzelli, ex-Papal Nuncio at Paris.
Mgr. Lualdi, Archbishop of Palermo.
Mgr. Mercier, Archbishop of Malines.
Mgr. Maffi, Archbishop of Pisa.
Mgr. Aguirrey Garcia, Bishop of Burgos, Spain.

Electrocuted at 'Phone.

Marlboro, Mass., April 15.—While sitting at a telephone in her home here Saturday night, Miss Anna Greenwood, aged 29 years, fell dead.

It is thought that as she took the telephone receiver from its hook she turned the button of an electric lamp, which was above the instrument, and that her body thus formed a connection between the light and telephone circuit.

Blizzard Stops Shipping.

Escanaba, Mich., April 15.—As a result of a steady blizzard for two days, all ore-shipping operations at the Escanaba docks are suspended. Ore in the dock pockets is frozen solid. Notwithstanding the docks are filled with boats, not a pound of ore has been run in two days. The temperature is close to zero.

Sick all the Time with Kidney Trouble

4 BOXES CURED HIM

Mr. Whellam was a mighty ill man this spring. He had been ailing for almost a year. Sharp pains in the back and through the hips. Dull headaches and dizzy spells. Appetite poor—nothing seemed to taste right.

Finally, an old friend told him about a friend who was in just that condition and who was cured by GIN PILLS.

Mr. Whellam tried them. And you would not know him for the same man now. That worried, strained look about the face is gone. His eyes are bright—his complexion rosy. He enjoys what he eats—has gained in weight—and sleeps like a top.

He had kidney trouble. GIN PILLS practically gave new kidneys—healed and strengthened these vital organs—soothed the bladder—and freed the system of uric acid that was poisoning him.

Broad Cove, C.B., July 6 1906.

I received a sample of your Gin Pills last fall. They did me a great deal of good. In fact, they are the best kidney medicine I know of. A neighbor of mine has tried them and they did him more good than all the Doctors' Medicine he took in three months. I will not forget during my lifetime the benefit your Gin Pills have been to me. JOHN WHELLAM.

Are your kidneys sick? Do you feel just as Mr. Whellam did? Then take GIN PILLS on our positive guarantee that they will cure you. To have you give them a fair trial, we send a free sample if you mention this paper. Write to-day to Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg. 84

GIN PILLS are sold by dealers everywhere at 50c a box—or 6 boxes for $2.50.

IS WHITNEY RIGHT IN THIS CHARGE?

Premier Makes Serious Charge Against Minister of Defence.

HE ALLEGES CONFISCATION

Big Tract of Ontario Land Suddenly Appropriated — Licencees Will Be Deprived of Property—Mr. Beck's New Electric Power Bill—Gas and Oil Wells—Smoke Clause —River Drainage Schemes.

Toronto, April 16.—Charges that the Dominion Government have, without notice to the Province, practically confiscated 55,000 acres of land belonging to the Province, and the rights vested in Ontario in respect to timber thereon, were made by Premier Whitney just before the adjournment of the Legislature yesterday evening. The area is a portion of the new Petewawa military camp. It was under timber license, and negotiations had been in progress between the two Governments with a view to settling with the licensees so that the Dominion authorities might add it to the acreage previously acquired for the camp as a result of agreements with settlers and others.

At Foot of the Throne.

The Provincial Government had offered the 55,000 acres mentioned for lease for a long period at a nominal rental. The Premier's statement was received with attentive silence, broken only when he declared in closing that if necessary in order to assert its rights the case of the Provnce would be taken to the foot of the throne. He exonerated Sir Wilfrid Laurier and "the principal members" of the Dominion Government from knowledge of the action taken, placing the blame wholly upon Sir Frederick Borden. The Premier also expressed the view that the contention of the Minister of Militia that the action is justifiable under section 117 of the British North America act giving the Dominion the right to expropriate lands required for fortification or the defence of the country, did not apply in this case. In asking the attention of the House Premier Whitney referred to the matter as one of the "utmost seriousness."

Overrides Conmee Clause.

Hon. Mr. Beck introduced a bill to provide for the transmission of electrical power for the municipalities. It defines more clearly the power of municipalities, which have contracted with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, as to buildings, plant, etc., and as to their powers in adjoining municipalities. The bill also makes it clear that the Conmee clause cannot be applied to a municipality entering into a contract with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, and that "line loss" is to be made part of the cost of operation and apportioned among the municipalities.

Hon. Mr. Hanna introduced a bill respecting the plugging of natural gas and oil wells. It is practically a re-writing of the existing act, with the addition of suggestions of an expert character which will bring the measure up to date.

Hepworth Incorporated.

The following bills were given a third reading:

To incorporate the village of Hepworth—Mr. MacKay.

For the improvement of public highways—Hon. Dr. Beaume.

Respecting the mortgage of real estate—Mr. Eilber.

To amend the municipal waterworks act—Mr. Torrance.

To amend the act respecting investments by trustees—Mr. McNaught.

To amend and consolidate the law respecting the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway—Hon. Dr. Beaume.

To amend the act respecting joint stock companies for supplying cities, towns and villages with gas and water—Mr. Cameron.

Pulled Teeth of Smoke Clause.

The House went into committee on Hon. Mr. Hanna's bill, entitled "The Municipal amendment act, 1907." Mr. Hanna again brought up the "smoke clause," which had previously been struck out of the bill. He desired that the clause should be reinstated, providing, however, that 90 days should elapse after notice is given until prosecution is commenced against the person maintaining the objectionable chimney. The clause was further modified to exclude locomotives and steamboats. With its teeth drawn to this extent the clause was reinstated in the bill.

Fat Stock Building for Guelph.

The Premier said that for some time the Government had under discussion the idea of aiding the Winter Fair at Guelph to the extent of giving assistance that would be used for the show. The Government were greatly impressed with the fair and the excellent work it was accomplishing. They were also impressed with the necessity for new buildings if the fair was to continue to enjoy the expansion it had earned. Between now and next session, therefore, the whole question would be thoroughly looked into with the view of enabling the Government to know definitely just what aid should be given, and they would then ask the House to make an appropriation accordingly.

Nation River Drainage.

Messrs. Labrosse and Racine expressed regret that there was no vote for drainage schemes in Prescott and for drainage schemes in Prescott and Russell counties in connection with the Nation River. They thought that at least $7,000, should have been given to supplement the sum of $25,000, which, it was understood, was to be given by the Dominion Government.

The Premier, while sympathizing with the views expressed, stated that hundreds of thousands of dollars had been poured into Nation River drainage schemes with very little result of a beneficial nature. He thought the schemes had better be left alone for a while. The Premier also said there was an undercurrent of opinion in other counties, where there was no necessity for such drainage, against continuing to make such heavy grants.

PRISONERS MUTINY.

Seven Inmates Killed and Many Injured by Troops.

Riga, Russia, April 15.—There was a serious mutiny in the local prison on Saturday. Thirty-three inmates attacked and overcame the superintendent and wardens of the establishment.

Troops were then summoned, and the conditions were such that they had to fire.

Seven of the mutineers were killed and 12 injured. Nine soldiers sustained wounds during the affray, which lasted an hour. The superintendent of the prison was badly beaten.

Attacked by Laborers.

Rochester, N. Y., April 15.—Fifteen Italian laborers employed on the New York Central Railroad refused to obey orders of Foreman Frank Adams Saturday and attacked him with picks and shovels. The men were working near Geneva. Adams escaped to the commissary house, where he secured a revolver and opened fire. Joe Lombard was shot in the breast bone and fell, his companions fleeing. He will probably die. Adams was struck over the head and severely cut.

"UNFAIR, UNJUST AND AN IMPOSITION," SAY THE CITY MERCHANTS

The Sign By-law Recommended by the Committee of the Whole Last Night Strongly Condemned by Merchants.

SENSELESS DESTRUCTION

The action of the Committee of the Whole Council in turning down the request of the merchants and professional men, who want to retain the projecting signs, was strongly criticized this morning by a number of those interested, in speaking to an Examiner representative.

One merchant characterized their action as "unfair, unjust and an imposition" on those doing business in the city. He stated that when the petition to ask the council to amend the bylaw was circulated, 75 per cent. of the business and professional men had signed it, showing conclusively that the bylaw was obnoxious to a section of the city which paid 65 per cent. of the taxes. He could scarcely realize the unfairness of the council, he said, in not giving more consideration to the question, and in not giving a favourable decision.

He was greatly surprised, he said, when he learned of the action of the Mayor in voting against the motion allowing signs to project a certain distance when six aldermen had decided in favour of it, and only five against it. It might be legal, he stated, but it was most unfair. He could not see what harm a small projecting sign could do and from his view point those against it were simply "too stubborn to comply with the request."

Mr. D. Minnicolo was interviewed in connection with the refusal of the committee to allow small display stands to remain a few inches over the sidewalk. It meant a great loss to the fruit and flower dealers, he said. There were a number of fruits which, if left inside the store, would spoil in a few hours. By allowing the fruit to remain outside the windows the air got an opportunity to keep it from drying.

Some of the aldermen, he said, were speaking about the dust gathering on fruit outside for display, claimed however that when the fruit is dry the dust is quite easily wiped of. It necessarily must gather on the perishable goods left in the doorways and inside the stores, and when it does there is a greater possibility of it becoming spoiled and unfit to eat.

Mr. Minnicolo, together with Messrs. G. O'Brien and Walter Oke, were strongly against the committee's action in this matter and stated that they would again visit that body and try to get redress.

A number of other merchants, and business and professional men, were interviewed and all referred to the action of the aldermen as unjust.

AYLMER STREET DOG ATE A $5.00 BILL

One Dog in Which There at Last is Money.

At the present time a great deal is heard and said about the value of dogs which are allowed to run about the streets. But Mr. Frank Turner, of Aylmer street, has a spaniel which he considers is worth a considerable sum living and is worth at least a $5 bill when dead. At any rate there is money in a dog like Mr. Turner's.

The other evening Mr. Turner was leaving his home to come up street to make some purchases. He took a five dollar bill from his pocket and while he held it between his fingers a moment, his dog grabbed it and swallowed it immediately.

His wife refuses to allow the dog to be killed so that it holds the distinction of being the only representative of the canine family in the city in which their is actual money.

A REVIVAL

In Methodist Class Meetings Now.

A CONFERENCE TO-NIGHT

Important Gathering of the Class Leaders Will be Held in George Street Church To-night.

The revival of a function of the Methodist church, which in the past has, to a certain extent, fallen into disuse, will be the object of a meeting of class leaders of the class leaders of the Methodist churches in the city, to be held to-night in the George street Methodist church.

The class meeting is a distinctive feature of the Methist church, and in the earlier days of Methodism it occupied a much more prominent place in church life than it does at the present time.

There is a belief among the leaders in the church that if the class meeting were revived, the result would be a deepening of the spirituality of the members, and with the idea of inaugurating a forward movement along this line the conference of the class leaders of the three local Methodist churches is being called for to-night.

CEREAL COMPANY IS PROSPEROUS

At Annual Shareholders' Meeting Peterborough Cereal Compauy Report Having Had a Successful Year

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

A most satisfactory year's business was reported at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Cereal Company, held yesterday afternoon, in the offices of Messrs. Hall, Medd & Davidson, when the report of the directors for the past year was presented, and gave the information that, after paying dividends, there was a substantial balance carried forward to the credit of profit and loss account. It was decided in future to hold the annual meeting in September, the change being made in order to make it possible to take stock during a period of the year when business is slack. The next annual meeting consequently will be held on the second Tuesday in September.

The shareholders re-elected the Board of Directors for another year, and at a meeting of the directors, held subsequently to the shareholders' meeting, the following officers were elected:

President—W. G. Ferguson.

Vice-Presidents—R. R. Hall and Adam Hall.

Secretary-Treasurer — W. H. Collier.

Managing Director — W. H. Meldrum.

The mills are running night and day and the prospects for the future of the company are very bright indeed. The products of the company have taken a firm hold upon the Canadian public and the trade, as a result, is growing rapidly.

GIRLS' GUILD PLACES PORTRAIT ON WALLS

Late Miss McCollum Kindly Remembered by Members of St. John's Girls' Guild

The Girls' Guild of St. John's church has given a graceful and well-deserved recognition of the late Alma Frances McCollum, who, during her residence in Peterborough, took a very prominent and faithful part in promoting the interests of the church, through her associations with several of the church organizations. The Guild has placed, in the Guild Room, a handsome picture of the handsome and spiritual face of Miss McCollum, which will often recall its cheerful presence in life among the festivities as well as more serious work of St. John's.

DOGS STEALING HUMAN BONES FROM EXCAVATIONS FOR COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

The Examiner was informed last night that the human remains which are being unearthed in the excavations for the new Collegiate Institute building on Central Park are not always very respectfully disposed of. The Examiner's informant stated that yesterday a large thigh bone was taken out of the ground and left lying where it was thrown, and was finally seen being carried away by a large collie dog.

He was of the impression that proper steps were not being taken by the authorities to re-inter these human remains, as should be done, and remarked on the incongruity of the sight of a collie dog carrying a human thigh bone around in his mouth.

Dropped Dead At His Work In C. G. Co. Shops

Heart Failure Cause of the Sudden Death of Andrew Hammond Yesterday Afternoon---Had Been in City Ten Months.

HAD NO RELATIVES HERE

Yesterday afternoon about four o'clock Andrew Hammond, a machine fitter employed by the Canadian General Electric Company dropped dead at his work in the machine shop. Deceased had been complaining all day of not feeling well, but was able to continue his work as usual until within a minute or two of the time of his death, which occurred in full view of the other employees of that department. The Works ambulance corps was on hand promptly, and used every means in their power to restore him, but without avail.

The late Mr. Hammond was 47 years of age, and had been employed with the Canadian General Electric Company about ten months, and was looked upon as a good workman, and a man who was quiet and inoffensive. He was a native of England and was unmarried. So far as is known he had no relatives in this country. He was a member of the T.A.S., Catholic Order of Foresters and of the C.G.E. Co's Employees' Mutual Benefit Society.

The Company physician was called to the Works at once following his collapse, but by the time he arrived the man was quite dead, and nothing could be done. Dr. Gray, the Coroner was notified, and, upon learning the circumstances decided that an inquest was unnecessary and he ordered the body removed to McFadden's undertaking rooms to await arrangements for burial. Rev. Father McColl was advised of the death and, in view of the fact that the deceased was a member of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral he took charge of the arrangements, and will, if possible, place himself in touch with the relatives of the deceased.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at nine o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral and the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

REMARKABLE ENERGY IS DISPLAYED BY DR. SYMONDS

After Delivering Six Lectures Here Preached Remarkable Sermon and Travelled 300 Miles Sunday Morning.

THE CHURCH OF THE FUTURE

Energy, enterprise and tireless activity in widely-varying fields of effort, enjoined with large ability and acquirement, are characteristics of Rev. Dr. Symonds, which largely account for the influence he wields and the prominent position he occupies in the world of intellect and altruistic endeavour. In Peterborough last week he delivered a series of six exceedingly clever, interesting and illuminating lectures on Tennyson's "In Memoriam." The closing lecture, the longest of the series, and the most important, as being a summing up of the series, was delivered on Saturday night, and concluded at a late hour. In spite of this, in spite of the fact that every night of the week had had its share of strenuous work, Rev. Dr. Symonds took the midnight train for Montreal, where he would arrive at seven o'clock Sunday morning. The average man would doubtless regard such a week's work, ending with a 300-mile night journey a warrant for making Sunday a day of rest. Yet Dr. Symonds rested not. He took his usual Sunday duties and in the evening gave the last of the season's sermons to students in Christ Church Cathedral on the subject of "The Church of the Future," preaching so strong a sermon that the newspapers made it an occasion of especial and favourable comment, for Dr. Symonds thoughtful treatment and breadth of view of a subject which he has made his own in a very capable and special sense.

FLOWERS AND CREASES CREATE BRAINSTORMS

Pittsburg, Pa., April 15.—"Everyone has brainstorms, but few like the vagabond millionaire who lies languishing in a New York prison."

In this manner, Homer K. Underwood, principal of the Sewickley High School, referred to Harry K. Thaw.

Mr. Underwood's remarks were generally humorous, as he classed among the victims of brainstorms young men who spend $10 for flowers for their girls, and are unhappy unless their trousers are creased every day.

FELL AND BROKE HER LEFT THIGH ON DOORSTEP

Mrs. Wm. Dobbin Met With Serious Accident in a Fall Yesterday.

Mrs. Wm. Dobbin had the misfortune to fall yesterday morning as she was entering the back door of her home at 178 Edinburgh street, and broke her left hip. In some manner she tripped and fell, with the above-mentioned result. She is an elderly woman, being 84 years of age. Dr. Frederick and Dr. Scott were called, and she was removed to the Nicholls Hospital in the Dan Spence Ambulance. The injury is a serious one for a woman of her years.

WILL PETERBOROUGH LOSE GIRLS' BARNARDO HOME? BUILDING IS TOO SMALL

Report That Decision to Remove Has Been Reached, However, it Premature---Miss Pierce's Statement.

NOT ANXIOUS TO LEAVE

If Present Building is Enlarged the Home Will be Maintained Here as at Present---The Work Growing.

A statement was made in the Toronto Star last night to the effect that the Barnardo Home, for girls, was to be removed from Peterborough to that city, and that for that purpose, a building on Peter street had been purchased. The article referred to is as follows:

"No. 50 and 52 Peter street, has been purchased by the Barnardo Home and the present tenants must leave on May 1st. The building consists of two large semi-detached solid brick dwellings. They will be thoroughly renovated and adapted to a home for girls. The present girls' home is in Peterborough, and as soon as the necessary changes are made, they will be moved to Toronto and occupy the property."

This morning the Examiner called upon Miss Pierce, the superintendent of Hazel Brae, in reference to the truth of the report, and obtained from her the assurance that it was entirely premature to state that the decision had been reached to remove the home for girls from this city. As yet no such decision had been reached, and the hope of the officials of the Home was that it would not be necessary to do so.

She stated however that the present premises were too small to accommodate the increasing number of girls, who find a temporary home here, and in addition to that, the sanitary conditions were not entirely satisfactory to the large number of girls who frequently stay there. The situation had been represented to Senator Cox, and he had been asked to give his assistance towards the enlargement of the building and the installation of a satisfactory sanitary system. His reply had not yet been received, but hopes were entertained that in a short time the improvements necessary to warrant the Home being retained in Peterborough would be made and in that event no thought of leaving would be entertained.

Miss Pierce said that they were thoroughly satisfied with Peterborough and would leave it with the deepest regret if they left it at all.

Mr. Owens is at the present time in England, so that any statement to the effect that the Home was to be taken from Peterborough was unofficial.

Enlargements Made To The South Beach Hotel

Mr. W. E. Brooks, the proprietor of the South Beach Hotel, at Young's Point, was in the city yesterday and informed the Examiner that when the tourist season opens this year the South Beach Hotel will have been enlarged consniderably. He had let the contract for additions to both the north and south of the present building, 28x32 feet. Work on these additions will be commenced almost at once, and will be rushed as quickly as possible.

Judging by the number of inquiries for accommodation already received the coming season at the South Beach Hotel will be a very prosperous one. For several weeks now letters have been received from persons asking for rooms at this popular resort, and it was this promise of increased business which influenced Mr. Brooks in deciding to erect the additions to the building, which will considerably increase the accommodation.

AN ADDITION TO THE CITY'S PARKS

Little Unoccupied Spot at Corner of Charlotte and Park Streets, to be Made a Pleasure Ground

CITY WILL SPEND $50

Peterborough is soon to have another park added to the list of pleasure spots in the city. Last night a deputation, consisting of residents residing in the vicinity of the corner of Charlotte and Park streets, waited on the Committee of the Whole to request the city to take charge of the little plot of ground at the above-mentioned corner, and to convert it into a pleasure park. The deputation was most favourably received, as shown by the action subsequently taken by the committee. They appointed a committee to see that the park is looked after, giving them power to act, and allowing them $50 for this year's work.

A petition had been sent into the Council and was on the file, requesting that action be taken to provide for a park at that corner. Mr. R. F. Layfield, in support of it, stated that Mr. Hughes, who lived near, had been trying to get those residing in the neighbourhood interested in it. Everybody in the vicinity, he said, had done their duty so far as the improvement of that part of the city was concerned, except the Council. He asked that the city assist in beautifying this little corner, in levelling it and in taking care of it. In a few years when the trees are grown, seats might be put up, and a little breathing spot at this junction of the railway would be obtained.

He advised that the Council appoint a person to take care of the park and also other boulevards belonging to the city, and he was certain that the citizens would endorse their decision to beautify the city as much as possible.

Mr. J. L. Hughes added to the contention of Mr. Layfield for the improvement of that spot. He believed that it could be made a pretty corner with very little expense.

The other members of the deputation were Messrs. Ed. Manning, Brown and Stacey.

Ald. Morrow pointed out that there were several similar spots around the city which should also be looked after, and he believed that a general resolution should cover them all. But, as the above deputation had made the first request, it was decided to attend to it first.

Moved by Ald. Johnston and McIntyre, that the matter be left in the hands of a committee composed of Ald. Tovey, Phelan and Leary, and allowing them a sum not exceeding $50 to begin the improvements.—Carried.

NEW MONEY-SAVING PROPOSITION

The Royal Bank of Canada Issues Home Savings Bank From the Local Branch

ENTERPRISING MANAGER

That it is much easier to make money than to save it is a fact universally accepted, and, in order to make it easier to save the Royal Bank of Canada has issued Home Savings Banks, which are designed to increase the savings and to make it harder to spend loose money one may happen to have in one's pocket. These home banks are nicely made in nickel, and are made in three sizes, in large, medium or pocket size. Slots in the bank admit cents, five cent, ten cent pieces, quarters and half dollars and bills, and the key to the bank remains with the teller at the Bank, who, upon application will open the savings bank and the amount may be deposited. Boxes will be issued on payment of one dollar which amount will be refunded if the box is returned to the bank in good condition.

The Royal Bank is the first in Peterborough to establish this form of banking practice, and that it will prove popular there seems no reason to doubt. The deposits as they are entered will be placed to the credit of the depositor and interest at current rates will be added four times a year.

ROBBERY COMMITTED IN MEAT MARKET

Doors of Mr. Mervin's Store Broken Open and Money and Meat are Gone

A bold robbery was perpetrated some time during last night at the corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets, when Mr. J. Mervin's butcher shop was broken into and robbed of a quantity of its contents. The front doors of the meat market were shoved open from the bottom, and in this manner the thief entered.

This morning, when the clerk arrived to open the store, the doors were open, the 83 cents left in the till were taken, a piece of ham and some beef was gone, the safe had been opened and the books turned upside down, with a number of them torn.

So far there is no idea as to who the guilty party is, and the robbery yet remains a mystery.

BAD FALL

Willie Taylor Meets New Trouble.

BREAKS STUMP OF LEG

Boy Who Lost Both Legs Falls Off Cart and Breaks His Right Leg---Goes to Hospital.

The truth of the statement that one trouble never comes alone is frequently emphasized. The accident which befel Willie Taylor, when he fell from a train of cars on his way to work and lost both legs is still fresh in the memory of the citizens of Peterborough. Willie was just getting around again, and able to earn some money selling papers, when another trouble comes upon him.

Yesterday afternoon he was coming up Stewart street on his push cart, another boy shoving him along by the shoulders, when the wheels of the cart caught in a crack between two planks in a crossing and young Taylor was thrown off with such force that the stump of his right leg was broken and he had again to be taken to the hospital, where it was set, and while no doubt he will suffer considerable pain, he will be around again in the course of several weeks.

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Ranfferly on the Canadian Northern Railway. The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no Galicians or Doukhobors in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $3,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. BRITAIN IN EGYPT

The retirement of Lord Cromer, who has been for so many years the viceroy of Egypt has done such splendid work in that capacity as to be regarded as the re-creator of the country, is a very significant event. In this connection it may be pointed out that few persons grasp the magnitude of the work that Great Britain, under his direction and inspiration, has accomplished in Egypt and the Soudan. The work of bringing order out of chaos, and making fertile the desert places, has cost blood and money, but the mother of civilization gives no hint that she regrets the outlay. Lord Cromer's report, recently issued, shows that the record of progress in the Soudan is almost equal to that which has been made in Egypt in spite of the difficulty caused by teh size of the country, and the lack of means of communication. The distance from Wady Halfa to Kondokoru, is 1200 miles as the crow flies, and from the borders of Darfur to the Abyssinian frontier, is a distance of nearly 1000 miles. The Province of Dordofan alone, governed by some thirty British and Egyptian officials, covers an area greater than the whole of France, and yet the only present danger to travellers in any part of the country comes from wild beasts, so effective has been British efforts to restore order and safety.

The growth of revenue has exceeded all expectations. From $255,000 in the year that followed Omdurman it had risen to $2,800,000 fro 1904—exceeding all estimates. The deficit shrank that year to $265,000. This result is all the more gratifying in view of the adopted policy of low taxation. Equally satisfactory is the increase of child population and the almost suppression of the slave trade. The system of loans undertaken is working well. Requests for advances with which to buy cattle or to construct water wheels are frequent, and last year the area of land under cultivation increased by 102,378 acres, of which 54,555 are artificially irrigated. Schools are being established, and in increasing numbers the local authorities are expressing a willingness to pay rates for educational purposes. There is, wisely, no compulsion; it is the British plan to train the people to see the benefit of such expenditure, and thus gain their support and confidence. From a land of poverty the Soudan is growing into a country of great and increasing productiveness, and the peace and security of person and property guaranteed by British rule make the people glad that the day of the Madhis is past. In other words the British flag flies over a free people and the rights of the humblest are protected. That is why British occupation is popular in the Soudan.

THOUGHT COLD WOULD TURN TO CONSUMPTION

READ HOW DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP CURED

Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 28th, 1906.

The T. Milburn Co., Limited,
Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs: As I am one of the thousands that have been benefited by your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I thought it my duty to give you a description of my case. I am 19 years of age and was always in the best of health until last spring when I caught a severe cold by going about with wet feet. It settled in my chest and all the remedies I tried would not stir it. My friends began to fear it had turned to consumption and were advising me to go east and see a specialist. One day my father brought home a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I laughed at the idea of it being any good and refused to take it, and only as a last resource would I. When I had finished one bottle I had only a slight cold left and before I had taken a quarter of the next I was as well as ever I was, if not better, so you can see what a God-send this medicine was to me. I never fail to recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to my friends and they all use it. To show my full appreciation of this remedy I will gladly answer any letters in reference to it. Believe me. Sincerely yours,

Miss Winnifred D. Smith.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If the reader who has not read, or not recently read, the speech of Sergeant Buzfuz, in the breach of promise suit, "Bardell vs. Pickwick," will turn it up and read it over, he will see how admirably it forms the model of the bombastic speech of Delmas in the Thaw case.

The Dominion act respecting juvenile delinquents, providing for juvenile courts, probation officers, etc., may be put into operation by provincial Act, or by proclamation of any city or town, despite the fact that no such Act has been passed. One of the sections reads as follows;

No child pending a hearing under the provisions of this Act shall be held in confinement in any county or other jail or other place in which adults are or may be imprisoned, but shall be detained at a detention home or shelter used exclusively for children or under other charge approved of by the judge, or, in his absence, by the sheriff, or in the absence of both the judge and the sheriff, the mayor or other chief magistrate of the city, town, county or place.

This is another altruistic advance in the direction of more rational and humane dealing with juvenile criminality. It is a work complementary to that of the children's Aid Society, whose operations tends to be a more effective prevention of vice than all the penalt aws on the statute book.

BOX BY-LAW CHANGED BUT PROJECTING SIGNS DOOMED

member of any damage being done by a falling sign.

If a merchant wished to put up an illuminated sign for advertising purposes, then, he believed, he should be assessed.

Would pay a License

Mr. R. M. Roy considered that the bylaw would be all right if the word "illuminated" were omitted. He had been asked to take down his sign, which was about 4 foot long, and he had done so. He was allowed to put it up again, and again he was called upon to take it down. He thought that there should be no discrimination between projecting and illuminated signs and he would be willing to pay a license for the former as well as the latter.

To Display Goods

Mr. Frank Mason considered it an imposition to ask a merchant to take down such a sign as the "Golden Lion," which was a credit to Peterborough, and also small projecting signs. He thought that certain goods which could only be disposed of when exposed on the outside of the windows, should be allowed to be left on a small extension over the street.

Among the others who spoke were Messrs. C. McClelland, Water street; H. LeBrun, J. H. Connell, E. F. Mason, T. Minnicolo, W. Oke and G. O'Brien.

The Decision Reached

When the deputation had left a lengthy discussion followed on the above questions.

Ald. Elliott moved that the bylaw regarding the clearing of the sidewalks be amended so as to grant the request of the merchants that everything be removed from the sidewalks, within two hours after arrival, and that the streets be cleared before 3 o'clock on week days and 10 o'clock on Saturdays.

Ald. Johnston considered that the bylaw was a fair one, and was opposed to giving the merchants such a scope.

Ald. Bradburn and Phelan believed that the requests of the merchants were reasonable, and as they had to pay a good share of of the taxes, they should be given some consideration. Ald. Morrow endorsed this, and believed that the time limit should be 3 o'clock.

The Mayor endorsed the 10 o'clock proposition on Saturday, but believed that 3 o'clock was more time than was absolutely necessary for other days. Ald. Stevenson was of the same opinion.

Ald. Leary was agreeable to all the clauses of the motion excepting the one referring to the three p.m. proposition.

Ald. Duncan and Wilson moved in amendment that the time be extended until 2 o'clock.

Ald. Elliott's motion in regard to that point was carried. His motion covering the whole of the request of the merchants was also carried.

Signs Must Go

In connection with the Projecting Sign Bylaw, Ald. Elliott moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the bylaw be amended allowing the business and professional men to erect projecting signs if they wished, not extending more than 18 inches over the sidewalks, so long as they did not cause any inconvenience to pedestrians.

The Mayor stated that he himself was very strongly opposed to the changing of the bylaw and would like to see all projecting signs in the city taken down. Ald. Johnston was also opposed to any change.

After a discussion extending over about half an hour a vote was taken, with 6 in favour and 6 against, and the motion was lost. The bylaw governing the projecting signs will therefore remain in force, and the overhanging signs, illuminated excepted, must come down.

Those who voted for the motion were: Ald. Elliott, McIntyre, Leary, Morrow, Phelan and Bradburn; those against it being Ald. Johnston, Wilson, Duncan, Stevenson and Tovey. The Mayor cast his vote with the minority, making the vote a tie, so that its passing was blocked.

Ald. Elliott moved that the bylaw be amended allowing the fruit dealers to erect stands at least 12 inches from the ground, and to extend not more than 18 inches from the building. This motion was not seconded, so that no change will be made in this regard.

MALTOSE AND HEALTH.

Physicians Say Its Use in The Human System Is of Great Value.

The great value of Maltose as a nutritive substance can not be exaggerated. In the living organism it is transformed into assimilable sugar more rapidly than saccharose or cane sugar. It is very easy to digest and having not so sweet a taste as cane sugar, it can be taken in much greater quantities than the latter.

"Malta-Vita" is no meaningless coined word; it stands for its literal translation from the Latin and means exactly what it says—"Malt Life." The original phrase, "For the blood is the life," is the starting point and final winning post of Malta-Vita, which contains a considerable percentage of maltose, a natural sweetening agent, easily digestible and readily assimilated by the human economy, forming rich healthy blood.

Now for many years the medical profession have prescribed semi-solid malt extracts which contain a large percentage of maltose but which cost from fifty cents to seventy-five cents per pound. Malta-Vita contains from eight to ten per cent of this wonderful blood-maker and costs but ten cents per package.

Malta-Vita is scientifically prepared to meet the requirements of old and young, weak and strong. To every man, woman and child it gives blood, bone, muscle and brain vigor and a buoyancy of life that cannot come from other food. And it is good to eat! All grocers sell Malta-Vita.

ACCEPT RESRONSIBILITY FOR CHURCH-GIVING

Men of St. Luke's Church Consider This Important Part of Church Work

The young men of St. Luke's Church will bear their full share of the financial responsibility of the church. At the meeting of the Men's Guild, held last night, the question of extending the envelope system of giving was discussed, and it was decided to do all in their power to extend its use among the members of the congregation.

The meeting last night was the regular business meeting, and general matters of business were considered.

INSTITUTE REPORTS BEING SENT OUT TO-DAY

To-day the first reports issued under the resolution recently passed by the Board of Education in reference to the Collegiate Institute pupils are being sent out, and cover the work of the pupils during the first three months of this year. It will be remembered that the matter was brought up at a meeting of the Board not long ago, and it was decided that the parents should be kept informed of the way in which their children were progressing by having the teacher issue four reports each year.

Semi-ready Wardrobe
SPRING STYLES

The Semi-Ready this Spring have surpassed their heretofore best efforts in giving us the New Styles that fashion has brought forth.

Coats this season are about 31 inches in length for the average type, with three seams at the back, without a vent, but slightly defining at the waist. The lapels are bolder, and the breast pocket is no longer in vogue.

Regarding Color:—Grey is the favorite color for this and the coming season, and will be worn by all careful dressers.

It seems hardly necessary to take up valuable space in telling the old story of how we can fit any type, from the slightly built to the stout man, but old stories are often worth repeating; better still, come in and see for yourself how nicely your type can be suited. For example: you may be a man with a 37 in. breast measure and from 5 ft. 3½ in. to 5 ft. 9½ in. in height; in this size alone there are twelve variations in the Semi-ready Wardrobe, from which to choose your exact type---finished to your order in a few hours.

Prices Range $15.00, $20.00, $25.00

SAID FAREWELL TO REV. MR. BRIGHT

Knox Church Congregation Made a Presentation to Him Last Night—An Eulogistic Address Read

AFFAIR WAS ENJOYABLE

About forty members of the congregation of Knox Church, and other citizens of Peterborough, gathered at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, corner of Wolfe and Stewart streets, last night, to say farewell to Rev. A. Bright, who, until the present, has been in charge of the church, and who leaves to-morrow for Ingersoll. Rev. Mr. Bright during the time that he has been connected with Knox Church has made many warm friends who exceedingly regret his departure from this city.

A feature of the gathering last night was a presentation to Rev. Mr. Bright of a very handsomely bound set of seventeen volumes of Dickens' works. The presentation was made by Mrs. Cox, who, at 91 years of age, is undoubtedly the oldest member of the congregation, while Sheriff Hall read the following address:

Rev. A. Bright, B.A.,
Peterborough.

Dear Mr. Bright,—We, the members and adherents of Knox Church, knowing that you are about to leave us, desire to express our regret at the circumstances which deprive this church and congregation of a pastor who has proved himself an ideal leader in every way. Yet, at the same time, we rejoice with you over your success in your call to the pastorate of one of the most prosperous churches in Western Ontario, and in this recognition of your ability we feel sure that you will do yourself credit in your new field of work.

We therefore, on this, the eve of your departure, desire you to accept this edition of Dickens' Works as a slight token of our universal esteem in which you are held, not only by the congregation of Knox Church, but by the citizens of Peterborough as well.

We shall always pray that God's blessing will be your rich reward, and shall follow you through each perplexing path of life, and, as we read from time to time of your great achievements, we will be proud to say, "He was one of our boys."

Signed on behalf of the members and adherents of Knox Presbyterian Church, Peterborough.

WINNIFRED ANDERSON.
D. CAMPBELL.

Rev. Mr. Bright, after thanking the gathering for their kind words and handsome gift, referred to the many kindnesses that had been shown him during his residence in Peterborough, not only by the congregation of Knox Church, but by the citizens generally. He expressed regret that his connection with the city was about to be severed. A very enjoyable time was spent, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and Miss Maud Campbell proving splendid entertainers. A short but enjoyable musical programme was presented, consisting of solos by Mr. Duncan Campbell, Mr. W. C. M. Bennett and Miss Winnie Anderson, and instrumental selections by Miss Helen Hall and Miss Anderson. The numbers were all excellently rendered and warmly applauded. The gathering also sang some old favourite choruses. Mr. Campbell was presented with a bouquet of flowers. Delightful refreshments were served during the evening, and a pleasant social time spent, the event being brought to a close with the singing of "God be with you till we meet again."

TORONTO'S HOPE FULFILLED

A Permanent Organization at Last.

Musical Toronto has long felt the need of a permanent orchestra, and every citizen who was fortunate enough to be present at Massey Hall Thursday evening at the first concert of the Conservatory Symphony Orchestra feels that the city is to be congratulated upon the founding of a permanent orchestra under such favourable auspices. The enthusiasm of every one present was reflected by the favourable press comments, and it is a subject of general remark that the one instrument usually unnoticed in criticism of orchestral work—the piano—stood out in magnificent proportions and added wonderfully to the complete ensemble of this excellent organization.

Toronto's virtuoso, Mr. J. D. A. Tripp, was the pianist of the evening and under such fingers was demonstrated what an important factor a really fine piano is in interpreting the great orchestral works. It is due the manufacturers of such an excellent instrument to state that the piano, which so fully met every demand, was a Gerhard Heintzman.

The Toronto Conservatory Symphony Orchestra has started out well under the baton of Mr. Frank S. Welsman, who already has a reputation as a violinist and is a performer of no mean order on several orchestral instruments, but of recent years has been noted as a pianist of the first rank, so that great things should be expected of this new and long-looked-for organization.—Globe of April 15th.

MANY MERCHANTS DECIVING THEIR LADY CUSTOMERS

From time to time the Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, manufacturers of the popular DIAMOND DYES, receive letters from people residing in the various provinces of Canada, telling of the attempts of retail merchants to induce the ladies to buy weak, adulterated and worthless packages of dyes when the reliable DIAMOND DYES are asked for.

These efforts of retail merchants to substitute worthless dyes should be resented by every woman and girl who has a desire to do successful home colouring.

The merchants who try to substitute and deceive the public, do so for the sake of the big profits they receive. Such merchants care little for the comfort and success of their customers.

Successful home dyeing can only be done by the use of DIAMOND DYES, which are all guaranteed to give perfect results in beautiful, bright and never-fading colours.

This month The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, P. Q., will send free to any address new Diamond Dye Booklet and pretty Souvenir Card for baby. You should have them.

Regina City Property Popular With Investors

Flood Land Company Opens Selling Campaign in Peterborough—Some Remarkable Evidences of Regina's Rapid Growth.

A DESIRABLE PROPERTY

Regina city property has created a sensation in the real estate markets of Eastern Canada, and some remarkable stories are being told of advances in price of what seems to be a most desirable property.

The Flood Land Company, of Regina, controlling a desirable block of land in the the city limits of Regina, has been conducting a selling campaign in Ontario during the last few months, and Mr. A. J. Carnegie, who is representing the company in the East, is in Peterborough, and will remain here for a few days to give information concerning what he believes to be the best bargains in Regina city property ever offered in Eastern Canada. The property sold by this company is within three-quarters of a mile of the centre of the business portion of the city, and at the present rate at which the population of the city is increasing, it will only be a matter of a short time before it will be included in the business section. What this means, from a monetary standpoint, may be imagined when it is stated that land in the business section of the city sells for from $5,000 to $15,000 a lot.

In five years the population of Regina has increased from 2645 to 12,000, and the prospects are that this year will be a record. The reason for this rapid increase is plain, when it is remembered that Regina is the commercial and distributing centre for a territory of 275,000 square miles, and draws trade from that area. It is, and always will be, the railway centre of the Province, and the construction of an immense union station is under contemplation.

The fact that Regina has been selected as the permanent capital of the Province is a guarantee of its future prosperity and progress. At the present time Regina is the wealthiest municipal corporation in Canada, owning city property worth $2,500,000, and has a civic surplus of over $1,000,000. It is the only city in the Province with permanent sidewalks and paved streets, and it has all the appearance of a large Eastern city, so far as the possession of city conveniences is concerned.

The West is a proverbially healthy place to live in, but Regina is particularly so. One of the reasons for this is the fact that it has an absolutely pure water supply, coming from a lake eight miles from the city in conduits, by a natural fall of 92 feet. The city also has a good sewage system and is purified by the bacterial system of sewerage purification.

The coming year will see an immense amount of building carried on in the city, the following being an estimate of the number and quality of buildings to be erected during 1907, the total of which will amount to about $2,500,000:

Postoffice	$225,000
City Hall	190,000
Firehall	50,000
Montreal Bank	75,000
Northern Bank	175,000
Saskatchewan Hotel	75,000
Canada Permanent Bldg.	75,000
McKenzie & Brown	40,000
Haslam Block	175,000
Anderson Block	25,000
30 dwelling houses	10,000
100 dwelling houses	4,000
100 dwelling houses	3,000
75 dwelling houses	2,000
50 dwelling houses	1,000

Mr. Carnegie, of the Flood Land Company, for the next few days will be found in the offices of Wilson & Gibson, Market Building, first door south of the arcade, and he will be glad to give anyone interested in the West any information in his possession in reference to the investment of capital in Regina.

THROWN FROM RIG OVER THE HORSE TO STREET

Two Italians in a Lively Runaway This Afternoon.

Two Italians under the influence of liquor were participants in a fast runaway at 1.30 this afternoon. They were young men living on Charlotte street and had hired a rig to drive to Lakefield. They also had a few drinks before hand and bought some liquor to take along with them. They started out at a fast clip but the horse became fractious and ran away up Water street. The men apparently did not realize that it had got away from them. In the neighbourhood of Barnardo avenue the animal swerved to the sidewalk and ran into a tree throwing the two men clear from their seats out over the horse. The rig was also badly damaged and the harness torn apart, letting the horse get free. It ran further, but was finally stopped and tied to a tree. The men lay on the grass for a while and Dr. Morgan was called but found them uninjured.

At Adjourned Vestry Meeting of St. John's Church Last Night Officers Were Elected and Reports Received.

A MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR

At the adjourned vestry meeting of St. John's, held in the school house last night, the Wardens' financial statement, duly certified by the auditors, was presented and adopted showing gross receipts from offertory, special collections and Synod collections of $5,012.61. The expenditures amounted to $4,312.90, leaving a credit balance of $699.71.

The election of church officials was as follows:—

Ushers.—Messrs. H Rush, Jr., W Horace Walkey, Frank Merritt, Jos. Bell, Jas. R Bell, C G Graham, R E Walker, Geo. Buchanann, John Hogan, S W Caniff, Geo. Armstrong, W Miles, R Davison, S Jay, F J Linton, John Comstock, Neal Lea, W Hooper, N A Howard-Moore.

Representative of St. John's on Nicholls Hospital Board.—Mr. H. Rush, Sr.

The Vestry Extension Committee of last year was continued with the addition of Mr. H W Morphett, and Mr. P Campbell taking the place of Mr. Eardley-Wilmot, removed. The Committe is constituted as follows:—Dr. Halliday, Messrs. D Wallace, H W Morphett, P Campbell and the Wardens. Mr. Mitchell verbally reported, stating that material for the extension to the value of $500 was on the ground, and it was hoped the work would go forward promptly.

Reports

The reports of the several auxiliary church organizations were made.

Mr. R J Davey read the report of the senior Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, and Mr. Jos. Bell that of the junior Chapter, both showing an energetic and successful year's work.

The report of the King's Dauthers was read by Miss Ruby Burnham and Miss Hugel, the treasurer's report of the same organization, showing the receipts to have been $205 and the disbursement—on charity—$201.27.

Mrs. J. C. Davidson presented the report of the Woman's Auxiliary, and Mrs. W. R. Morris, that of the junior auxiliary, both showing very good results.

Miss Madelon Wilson read the report of the Girls' Auxiliary.

Miss L. Pratt presented the report of the Girls' Guild, which among other things stated that a portrait of the late Miss Alma Frances McCollum had been placed by the Guild in the Guild room. The rector in receiving the report said this act of recognition on the part of the Guild was most appropriate as the late Miss McCollum had been a faithful worker in the intrests of St. John's annd a great assistance to many of the auxiliary organizations.

That's the essential difference between Custom-made and Ready-made Clothing.

When you order a Suit or Overcoat made to your own exact measurements, in proper form, you get your own personality, figure, dimensions, peculiarities, posture, and all the rest that you instruct your merchant tailor.

When you buy a Suit or Overcoat out of a pile of Ready-mades, it makes little difference whether the pile is stacked up on a dusty table or on a wax figure—the "brand" differs only in the factory label it bears.

Box By-law Changed But The Projecting Signs Are Doomed

Part of Merchants Requests Was Granted But Others Turned Down by Committee of the Whole.

THEY TALK TO THE COUNCIL

The non-illuminated projecting signs must come down.

The merchants will be allowed to unpack goods until 3 o'clock on regular week days, and until 10 o'clock on Saturdays.

Dealers in perishable goods will not be allowed any space over the sidewalks upon which to display their goods.

Such were the decisions arrived at by the Committee of the Whole Council last night, whose chief occupation was the hearing of deputations. They decided to grant the request of the Retail Merchants' Association regarding the amendment of the Box Bylaw. They refused to allow projecting signs to extend from any building, not even if a license is paid to have them so, yet illuminated signs may be erected, so long as the owners pay an annual license. The petition of the fruit dealers to be permitted to erect a stand outside their windows, projecting 12 inches from the wall, upon which to display fruit for sale and to keep it from rapid decay, had only one follower.

The Merchants' Association sent the chief deputation to wait upon the committee, and they spent two hours placing their grievances before the aldermen, only to have all turned down except one—but the exception was, some think, the most important of the three.

The bylaw regarding the leaving of goods on the street will, therefore, be amended, allowing the merchants a little more time to unpack their goods, but it will also contain a clause stating that two hours only will be given after receiving goods until they are cleared from the sidewalks.

The members of the Council present were Mayor McWilliams, Ald. McIntyre, Wilson, Elliott, Duncan, Bradburn, Stevenson, Tovey, Leary, Phelan, Monrow and Johnston.

The deputation from the Merchants' Association with respect to the two bylaws consisted of Messrs. R. Fair, president; H. LeBrun, Walter Oke, E. F. Mason, Minicoio, R. M. Roy, R. Denne, McClennan, Jas. H. Conal, A. W. Cressman, J. Lang, G. O'Brien.

The Box Bylaw was the first discussed. The Mayor explained that this bylaw had been passed two years ago, but that it had only recently been enforced.

Robert Fair

Mr. Fair was the first speaker and asked that the bylaw be changed so as to allow the merchants to leave their freight on the sidewalk until 3 o'clock in the afternoon and week days and until 10 o'clock on Saturdays. He explained that often freight comes in about 11 o'clock in the morning, and it is simply impossible for some to get away their goods before 12 o'clock. The way-freights, he explained, arrived at all times during the day, and the present bylaw was very hard on merchants, especially the fruit dealers. Many of the business men have no back yards or alleyways in which to unload their freights. He also thought it would be a good idea to make a time limit—about two hours, was suggested—in which to allow merchants to get their goods off the street after they arrived. He also explained that a representative meeting of the Merchants' Association had been held last week, and that the merchants considered the above-mentioned change a reasonable one.

The Carting

Mr. Bullen, president of the Fuel and Cartage Company, was also present, and stated that it was impossible for the merchants to comply with the terms of the bylaw. Even if the morning trains were on time, arriving at 10.30 o'clock, the carters could not possibly get all the freight up before 12 o'clock.

Mr. E. F. Mason stated that the merchants were ratepayers to the extent of 65 per cent. of the taxes of the city; they paid high rents, and had a great many other expenses to which others are not subjected, and he therefore hoped that the Council would not place heavy expenses upon them so that they would have to get out of business.

He explained that the noon goods coming in could not possibly be delivered before 12 o'clock. In concluding, Mr. Mason stated that he had opposed the Box Bylaw at the time it had been brought up two years ago. Last year the Chief of Police had acted reasonably and had given the merchants reasonable time to get their goods off the street, but the present bylaw he believed to be far from reasonable.

Mr. Walter Oke stated that the Box Bylaw was a great detriment to his business. It was impossible to take care of the noon freight before 12 o'clock, as the goods from the various shippers had to be assorted after arriving.

The Sign Bylaw

In conenction with the Projecting Sign Bylaw, Mr. Fair was again the first speaker. This bylaw had also been considered by the merchants at their last meeting. They had thought that the old sign bylaw was reasonable, which allowed signs to project from 18 to 20 inches. The present bylaw would him, he said, to take down a sign which had been up for 25 or 30 years. The majority of the merchants had erected these signs, not for advertisements, but for an indication of who is doing business in a particular store or office. He did not believe that these signs were doing any harm, and, in fact he could not find a single person in Peterborough who could re-

One of the finest scientific papers in the world (Science Siftings,) says of Bileans in this connection: "They cure constipation without causing griping, and do not cause after-constipation, as other purgatives do."

THE SIZE OF BAKERS' LOAVES CHANGED

By-law to be Drafted Amending Present One Allowing Bakers to Make 1-2 and 3 Lb. Loaves

One of the deputations that waited on the Committee of the Whole last night requested that a change be made in the size of the loaves of bread that are to be delivered to the public of Peterborough. The Bakers' Union asked that a bylaw be prepared fixing the sizes of the loaves at a pound and a half and three pounds instead of two and four pounds as formerly.

The deputation was introduced by Mr. N. Lush. About three years ago the question of settling the size of the loaves had been considered but nothing had been done. Bread has been brought from Toronto weighing 1 1-2 lbs. and 3 lbs. per loaf, while in Peterborough the loaves had to weigh two and four pounds, respectively. Since that time the Legislature passed an act allowing bakers to make whatever size of loaf they wished so long as they placed a ticket upon them. A couple of the local dealers had made the change in order to compete with the Toronto bakers who send bread here and Mr. Lush's request was that the size be changed to 1 1-2 and 3 lbs. respectively, without having to label them. For the 4 lb. loaf 12c. was charged and for the 3 lb. loaf 9c, was the price. All the bakers, he said, were unanimous in requesting the change in the bylaw.

Ald. Phelan and Wilson moved that the solicitor be instructed to prepare a bylaw fixing the size of the loaves of bread as requested by the Master Bakers' Union.—Carried.

A Number of Improvements at the Packing House—A New Smoke House Erected

A number of improvements have recently been made at the George Matthews Co.'s pork-packing establishment. H. Shurter, cement contractor, has just completed a three months' job installing cement vats in which to put the meats, to replace the wooden tubs, which have formerly been used. He has also built a new smoke house, chiefly of cement, in which the hams and bacons will be smoked. This addition will be fitted up with modern machinery for the work of smoking the meats. Besides the above changes, several improvements are being made throughout the big establishment.

LOON LAKE WILL BE POPULAR THIS YEAR

This Ideal Fishing Ground Will be Again Ready for Tourists, Who Are After Good Sport

With the return of spring, thoughts of where one will spend one's vacation, once again takes prominence, and in view of this fact a pretty little booklet issued for the purpose of giving some information concerning Loon Lake, the new Kawartha, will be read with interest. Loon Lake, the booklet says, is one of the beatiful inland Kawartha Lakes, and is yet comparatively unknown to the tourist and sportsman. It is celebrated for its bass fishing, being conceded by those who have fished there to be unsurpassed in Canada. "The Lodge," which is situated on the shore of Loon Lake, is for sportsmen who want good board and lodging without the formalities of a more fashionable hotel.

The booklet gives some information about the best means of reaching this ideal spot for a summer vacation, and contains some interesting half-tone engravings of scenes in the vicinity of Loon Lake.

A most fitting culmination to a successful season was the complimentary banquet tendered by the City Hockey League to the Strathconas, the champions of the league, at McCallum's Restaurant last night. The strenuous, if friendly rivalry of the playing season was forgotten while the teams fraternized around the festive board on terms of good fellowship. The best of good feeling was in evidence among the players of the different teams present, and the winners received unstinted congratulations from their unsuccessful rivals. The banquet was in every sense a great success, reflecting much credit upon those who had the affair in hand. The arrangements made were perfectly carried out, with the result that the evening was one of thorough enjoyment. During the evening the champions were presented with the Examiner Cup by the donor, Hon. J. R. Stratton. The toast list was not lengthy, and the speeches were bright and to the point. Interspersed with the oratorical efforts were a number of most enjoyable musical selections by Messrs. Mellroy, Geo. Lynch and J. J. Turner, Jr., who very kindly were present and took part in the programme.

MR. W. J. METHERAL,
Manager of the Strathconas, whose energetic efforts had considerable to do with success of the champions.

MR. FRED. A. CLARKE,
President of the City League and Toastmaster Last Night,

The tables were arranged in a "U" shape, with the champions occupying a prominent position. The majority of the team were present, although illness prevented several of them from attending. The same cause kept the Vice-President, Jos. M. Maher, from being on hand, and his absence was regretted on all sides.

Those Present

Those present were Mr. Fred. A. Clarke, President of the League; Hon. J. R. Stratton, Messrs. W. J. Metheral, A R Mann, C Curtis, H McMillan, L J Dineen, H F White, W E Meagher, Clarence Wilson, R Kendry, W J Weatherstone, of the Strathconas; W K Huston, N E McWilliams, H Sowers, B A Rose, W G Ferguson jr, S W Rose, J J Turner, Jr.; Howard Clegg, Jos Depr, W J Green, John Nugent, W Mellroy, Ed Dillon, Geo Lynch, C G Graham, C R Banks, W H Stroud, W E Wasson, J D Clarke, Chas A Barber, F L Roy, A McWilliams, E T Carr, W Galbraith, W R Grose, B C Dusty, W Miller, I D Moore, G Crowe.

The Attractive Menu

Mine Host McCallum excelled himself in the excellence of the repast which he had prepared and to which ample justice was done. The tables were, indeed, fair to look upon, and the viands were fully in keeping with the attractive appearance of the tables. The banquet room was tastefully adorned with flags and bunting, the champions' colours, red and white, being prominently used in the decorating scheme. The menu was as follows:

Clear Soup.
Fish.
Steak Salmon Trout Saratogas

Domestic Goose, Apple Sauce

Lea & Perrin's Sauce

The Toast List

Mr. Fred A Clarke, president of the league, made a very efficient toast-master, discharging the duties of his position in a graceful manner.

The first toast, that to "The King," was heartily honoured by the gathering, who sang the National Anthem with the vim of loyal Canadians.

Mr. W. Mellroy rendered a solo, "The Irishman's Toast," in excellent voice, and was warmly applauded.

Presentation Of Cup

The toast to the "Strathconas, the Champions of the League," and the presentation to the victorious team of the Examiner Cup followed, the Hon. J. R. Stratton, the donor of the cup, proposing the toast.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, on being called upon to present the Cup to the winners, thanked the City League for the opportunity of being present, as the City League had done a great ideal to encourage clean hockey in the city and develop players to fill the ranks of the senior club when required. The Strathconas had a very creditable season to their record, and, in winning out in the final game, had defeated the Charlotte street team by a very narrow margin. Charlotte street had been accustomed to victory. It had won the baseball championship last year and it was interesting to note that almost the same players comprised the two hockey teams which met in the finals against each other and last fall for the baseball championship. This time the tables were, however, turned, and the Strathconas had won,—and, from what he could gather, honourably. The games were all stubbornly contested, and it was a pleasure to note that, after the play was over, there was always the best of good feeling.

To Encourage Sport

Mr. Stratton stated that the object he had in view in donating the Cup was the encouragement of pure, legitimate sport in the belief that, if conducted in that spirit, it would be conducive to the building of a strong mentality as well as a good physique. While not prepared to make athletics the chief objects in life, he felt disposed to accord to them reasonable encouragement. There was, in every community, a certain class who decry athletic practices as being degenerating, but he was convinced that it was the abuse, not the use of athletics, that kills men. Anything in the way of sport or games can be abused, but when engaged in in a manly way it tends to the elevation of character.

The prize was not the only thing, but it gave a little encouragement, and he had great pleasure in not only presenting the victors with the cup, which they had won in a gentlemanly manner, but in proposing the health and continued prosperity of the winning team. He hoped the best team would always win.

The toast was drunk with the greatest enthusiasm, the gathering singing "They are Jolly Good Fellows," and ending with three rousing cheers for the champions.

The Manager

Mr. W. J. Metheral, the manager of the Strathconas, was received with loud applause when he arose to his feet to reply to the toast. In beginning he thanked those present for the hearty way in which the health of his team had been honoured. The speaker, on behalf of himself, and the members of his team, thanked the donor of the cup for his kindness and the nice things he had said about the winners. He stated that if more people took an interest in sport, and encouraged it when possible, it would be of great benefit.

Referring to the Strathconas, the speaker said that they had come from the position of cellar champions to the leadership of the league. Difficulties had been met early in the season, owing to the fact that some of the players of the year before had left the city, and others were out of the game through injury, but these obstacles had been overcome and they had captured the league championship, not without a struggle however, as the teams were very evenly matched.

Mr. George Lynch at this stage, gave a recitation, "Mary's Dog," in his own inimitable manner, and was forced to respond to an encore, telling some witty stories in a way that caused the greatest amusement.

Sister Sports

Mr. John Nugent proposed the next toast to Sister Sports. In beginning he congratulated the Strathconas and said that he did not need to commiserate with the losers very much as the games were keenly contested. Hockey, he said, had a tendency to bring out the manly qualities of young men. Peterborough had as many young men who distinguish themselves in the field of sport, as any other place of its size in Canada.

Messrs. Chris. Graham, on behalf of the Peterborough Hockey Team, Mr. Charles Barber, on behalf of lacrosse, Mr. Jas. D. Clarke, on behalf of rugby, and Mr. N. E McWilliams, for the baseball team, replied to the toast, congratulating the Strathconas on their victory, and speaking in terms of praise of the City League, which, they stated, had been instrumental in developing young players.

Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., rendered a song that was greatly enjoyed, and warmly applauded.

The Referees

Mr. Ira Moore of the Charlotte street team, proposed the toast to the Referees, referring to the excellent service given by the officials in the league last season, stating that it was due to their work that the quality of hockey was so uniformly good.

Mr. W. Stroud made a suitable reply on behalf of the referees.

Mr. Mellroy was heard to great advantage in the drinking song from Zephra, which he rendered splendidly.

The toast to the Ladies was proposed by Mr. W. Galbraith in a bright speech, in the course of which he referred to the encouragement given athletes by the fair sex and referred to the fact that most of the Strathconas were "ladies' men."

Messrs. H. Sawers and E. T. Carr replied, ably championing the cause of the ladies in neat speeches.

Mr. Lynch by request, gave "Kelly's Dream," a favourite that was most cleverly recited, and was received with much applause.

Mr. O. G. Graham proposed the toast to the Press, which was responded to by the representatives present.

The City League

The toast to the City League and its officers was proposed and heartily honoured, President Clarke being greeted with "He's a Daisy," when he rose to reply. Mr. Clarke congratulated the Strathconas on having won the championship and paid a tribute to Manager Metheral, whose efforts had had, he said, a great deal to do with their victory. The president referred to the season just passed as a most successful one, and outlined its progress during the past year. In conclusion he expressed his pleasure that Hon. Mr. Stratton had honoured the banquet with his presence.

Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., said that he wished to say a few words as a citizen of Peterborough, and after congratulating the Strathconas and the City League, referred to the agitation about professional hockey, speaking strongly against the scheme. He would rather, he said, give $50 a year to support an amateur team that failed to win a game than to pay $1, a year to a professional team.

The successful banquet was then brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem and three hearty cheers for the Strathconas and Hon. Mr. Stratton.

The Officers

Following are the officers and the executive of the City Hockey League who are to be congratulated upon the success achieved during the season just passed and for the splendid banquet which they arranged last night.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS,—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result, my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fitz. Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,
(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

DRUGGISTS MUST BE CHARY

They Sell All Kinds Of Hair Preparations And Fear to Discriminate.

Druggists sell all kinds of hair preparations, and as a rule, they are wisely chary of giving preference to any particular one, but many of them have come out plainly for Newbro's Herpicide, the new treatment that absolutely kills the dandruff germ. H. Swannell & Son, Champaign, Ill., say: "One customer of ours who did not have a hair on top of his head when he began to use Herpicide, now has a fair start towards a good head of hair. We believe Herpicide to be by far the best preparation of its kind on the market." Hundreds of similar testimonials from everywhere.

THE PORT HOPE 10,000 CLUB DEAD

Propositions to Assist the Organization Have Not Been Attended.

Port Hope's 10,000 Club has evidently fallen by the wayside. The Guide says: It is high time that some person made a move with this 10,000 Club. The local talent have offered to give a concert, the proceeds to be turned over to this club, and Miss Sheppard, of Toronto, formerly of Port Hope, has made a proposition to bring a number of her pupils and a comic singer here for a concert, if only travelling expenses are paid. Nothing has been done with either of these kind offers, and the 10,000 Club at the present time is dead.

A few, it is said, are of the opinion that this club was organized to take the place of the Board of Trade, and this is the chief reason for the inactivity. This idea is, of course, absurd. The club only deals with matters that are not taken up by the Board of Trade or Merchants' Association, and the principal object is to advertise the beauties, advantages, etc., of Port Hope.

The president of the club should call a meeting at once, and if it be decided that an organization of this kind is not needed, then disband and not have us living under the delusion that we have a wideawake 10,000 Club.

FAVOUR A RETURN TO BLEEDING

An English Physician Writing in Medical Brief Advocates its Use in Certain Cases.

IS GOOD FOR PNEUMONIA

Bleeding, once the first, as well as the last, resort, of the doctors seems to be coming into more or less favour again.

"The custom of blood letting," writes an English physician in the Medical Brief, "is passing into a stage of rational and moderate use. Venesection, properly employed, is a most valuable therapeutic agent."

Dr. Perry, who contributed the paper, says that he has tried bleeding most often in cases of acute pneumonia because he looks upon it as a disease in which life may be saved and distress much relieved by a timely blood letting. Acute pneumonia is one of the few diseases in which venesection may be used as a curative agent; that is, as an agent that may directly aid in the restoration or normal health to a patient—and not merely as a palliative, as in chronic cardiac disease.

"When the cardiac muscle is degenerated or diseased," says Dr. Perry, "venesection can only be of value as a temporary remedy. The true value of venesection is here absent. I refer to the tidings of an organically healthy heart over an acute emergency for in such a case lies the real value of blood letting.

"We have all seen a venesection save life for the time being, where a sudden emergency, such as an unusual strain, has caused failure of degenerate heart muscle, but this blood letting can do no permanent good. It might, however, and often would relieve us from the gravity of a sudden and distressing death."

Other diseases in the treatment of which Dr. Perry has experimented with blood letting, are cerebral hemorrhage, heat stroke and nephritis.

REV. A. BRIGHT GIVEN PURSE OF $70

Young Men's Guild Were the Last to Honour the Departing Minister.

Rev. A. Bright, who bid good-by to Peterborough to-day, has received many marks of esteem from the friends in St. Paul's and Knox Presbyterian Churches, and as he has left the city confident that the pastorate of just one year has been appreciated by a large number. Yesterday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, a presentation was made to him by the Young Men's Guild of St. Paul's Church and a number of his friends in the congregation of a purse containing $70.

The presentation was made by Mr. E. S. Clarry, president of the Guild, in his office, when a number of impromptu addresses were made. Mr. Clarry referred to the esteem in which Rev. Mr. Bright had been held while the assistant pastor of St. Paul's, and hoped that he would meet with every success in his new field of labour. Mr. Bright's departure from Peterborough, he said, was regretted by the Young Men's Guild, to which organization he had always been a sincere friend.

Impromptu remarks were added by Messrs. Adam Hall, G. B. VanBlaricom, G. M. Roger, Dickson Davidson, A. P. McLean and Graham Ferguson, who expressed their regrets at Mr. Bright's departure, but were pleased to know that he was going to have charge over such an excellent parish as Ingersoll.

Rev. Mr. Bright was taken completely by surprise by the gathering. He thanked the Guild and his other friends who had assisted in the presentation, which was more than he had expected. He briefly referred to his pleasant associations with the congregations of the two churches while here, and hoped for their prosperity in the future. He concluded by bidding good-bye to the members of the Guild present, as he left the city to-day for Montreal. In a couple of weeks he will go to Ingersoll, when he will be inducted into the first church of his ministerial career.

A GREAT SPRING MEDICINE

Every Housekeeper cleans and brightens up the house in Spring-time. The house has been closed up all Winter and when Spring comes it is time to open the doors and clean the house.

The same with the human system. During the winter heavy foods are eaten, the rooms of the home are kept warm and when Spring comes the system is in a condition where a good Spring Medicine for cleaning out, toning up and renewing the system, is demanded.

Our Stomach and Liver Tonic is just the right Spring Medicine. It is one of those good old-fashioned remedies which cannot harm anyone, but which greatly benefits those who take it.

Take our advice and give this medicine a good, thorough trial, especially if you are inclined to be weak and suffering from loss of strength.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Increasing Among Women, But Sufferers Need Not Despair

THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase among women.

Unless early and correct treatment is applied the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. We believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for chronic kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, frequent, painful or scalding urination, swelling of limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys or notices a sediment in the urine, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it may be the means of saving her life.

For proof, read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs Sawyer.

"I cannot express the terrible suffering I had to endure. A derangement of the female organs developed nervous prostration and a serious kidney trouble. The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse, until I was unable to do anything, and I made up my mind I could not live. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and I am to-day a well woman. I cannot praise it too highly, and I tell every suffering woman about my case." Mrs. Emma Sawyer, Conyers, Ga.

MRS. ISAAC L. RICE.

Leader of the Antinoise Crusade in New York.

Mrs. Isaac L. Rice of New York is a woman who is endeavoring to bring about a reform that should appeal to the residents of all large towns and cities, that of eliminating from daily life all the senseless and uncalled for noises that wreck nerves and make existence almost unbearable, especially for the invalid.

Mrs. Rice, who lives in a mansion on Riverride drive, one of the fashionable avenues of New York, has established herself as the leader of the crusade against unnecessary noises which jar the nerves of metropolitan residents and has been so far successful as to have many of them suppressed, notably the steamboat whistles on the Hudson which have screeched undaunted and disturbed the repose of the residents of the shores. She has associated with her such representative citizens as Andrew Carnegie, Mark Twain and William Dean Howells, and for the edification of the powers which control the city Mrs. Rice had reproduced by phonograph all the various noises that make day and night hideous in New York. Her eventual success in suppressing these sounds is prayed for by all quiet loving citizens.—Exchange.

MRS. ISAAC L. RICE.

Mothers and Daughters.

There is a certain type of mother who seems to think that a daughter is always a child. Poor, crushed creatures these young women are. They are not allowed to choose their friends—the mothers see to that—and the consequence is the girls are probably made to consort with companions with whom they have no taste in common, and the unhappy girls are deprived of one of girlhood's greatest charms—congenial companionship.

Such girls are taught to regard all members of the opposite sex with suspicion. The consequence is that as the years go by they find themselves being "left on the shelf" on account of the fact that prospective husbands have been frightened away. A mother often hedges her daughter round with so many home rules and regulations that to many men it seems as though they were all suspected of some dishonorable motives in seeking to make the acquaintanceship of the girl.

And if the latter has any ambitions she dare not gratify them if her mother be opposed. Of course this attitude on the part of mothers is usually the outcome of stories which one reads from time to time of the alleged dangers to which present day girls, who enjoy freedom and privileges never allowed their grandmothers, are exposed.

But there is a great deal of difference between safeguarding a daughter in a proper manner and absolutely refusing her pleasures of her own choosing. To deny a girl the right to select a friend or mix with members of the opposite sex, for instance, is extremely foolish. How can any girl develop mentally if she is not allowed to act a little for herself?

A mother's duty is so to train a girl that she will turn out a useful member of society—one ready to take up the duty of wife and mother. If, however, mothers persist in crushing daughters and treating them constantly as children, the women become failures in life and through no fault of their own.

The Girl in Business.

The girl in business who is addicted to trifling inaccuracies or who has a way of forgetting little things may be a very nice, well meaning girl, but she will never be a success in business unless she conquer her failings. She may be an exceptionally rapid stenographer, but if she is not careful to take her notes with exactness and transcribe them with accuracy and neatness her speed will avail her nothing. A business man wants, above and beyond everything else, employees whom he can trust and who can be depended upon to do their work as thoroughly without his oversight as with it.

The labor market is overcrowded with bookkeepers whose "little mistakes" it takes half a day to detect and straighten out, with stenographers whose letters need editing and frequently rewriting and even then are not unlikely to be sent out minus postage, with clerks who are invariably a few minutes late, and with all the rest of the careless and incompetent ones that form part of every busy man's burden.

In matters of dress and personal appearance the trifles are of supreme importance. The untidy hair, the soiled collar, the rumpled shirt waist, the badly adjusted belt, the skirt frayed at the hem or gaping at the placket, the gloves in need of mending, the shoes dusty or down at heel—these things, all and sundry, are among the most palpable of the unconsidered trifles which interfere so sadly with a girl's success. Any one of them, taken by itself, is sufficient to create an unfavorable impression; taken altogether, they infallibly stamp any woman as hopelessly careless and slovenly, says an exchange. And the woman who is careless and slovenly in personal matters is morally certain to display similar characteristics in all the affairs of life.

Which brings us back to the original proposition—that it is the "unconsidered trifles" that count.

Cleaning Thread Lace.

"Spots, or Two Hundred and Two Cleansers," gives the following good idea for cleaning: For thread lace sew new white muslin around a bottle and then roll the lace smoothly and securely, tacking the ends. Touch the lace lightly with sweet oil while winding. Fill the bottle with cold water to keep it from bursting, and set it upright in a strong suds of cold water and castile soap. Tie a string around the neck of the bottle and secure it to the kettle and boil half an hour or more or until the lace is clean. Rinse with hot water and set the bottle in the sun. When quite dry, remove the lace and lay in long folds between sheets of white paper and press for a day or two.

How to Wear Colors.

Nothing is prettier and more becoming to a fair, slight woman with a pretty complexion than white, but white gowns must be carefully avoided by her sister of too ample charms. Black is the color for the stout woman, especially if she be of the black eyed and black haired type. A black gown will make her look slighter than anything else, while pale blue, light gray and nearly every shade of red will make her "too, too solid flesh" most undesirably self assertive. A subdued shade of blue, heliotrope and olive green, with black, may be advantageously worn by the stout woman.

Red Carpet Fashionable.

"Red carpet for royalty" is as well established a custom here as abroad, and now in this country the hostess who entertains at all extensively has her own roll of crimson carpet, preferably velvet, to spread over the steps and pavement in front of her house on the occasion of any entertainment. An awning may be omitted if the weather is fine, but the red carpet is obligatory when the guests number more than twelve or even eight, that being the limit in number of an informal entertainment of any kind.—Dress.

When Machine Stitching.

"One of the most annoying things in running a sewing machine is to find that the lower thread has run out just when in the middle of the seam," says a writer in Good Housekeeping. "Now, I run my seam and wind the next bobbin at the same time. I put a spool of cotton in the little top drawer of the machine, leaving the drawer a little open to allow the thread to pass more easily, then use the winder as usual and never have to wait for a fresh shuttle."

In the Bathroom.

In the bathroom there should always be a bottle of household ammonia at hand, one of a 40 per cent solution of formaldehyde or other good disinfectant, a couple of cloths, a long handled brush and a scrubbing brush. It is also well to have a can of concentrated lye or one of the preparations like it, which will cut accumulations in the waste pipes.

Fitting a Gown.

A well known French dressmaker always asks his patron to stand with hands lightly clasped behind when he is fitting a skirt in order to secure the figure as it is when the woman walks. He also has her sit down for at least one fitting of the bodice in order to be perfectly sure of the neck, armholes and back.

ENLISTS IN THE RANKS.

English Army Officer's Mysterious Disappearance Accounted For.

Debonair Lieutenant Tryon, who mysteriously disappeared from the Hotel Metropole on the early morning of January 31, has for three weeks past been the darling recruit of the Seaforth Highlanders in Edinburgh Castle. Now, to the great regret of his comrades, he is guarded as a prisoner in the castle.

It was at the beginning of the frenzied search for him by private detectives and Scotland Yard that on Thursday, February 7, a tall, clean-shaven young fellow walked up to a recruiting sergeant in Stirling, and after an introductory word remarked: "I would like to enlist in the Seaforth Highlanders." The recruiting officer, with a keen eye for a fine man, regarded the young six-footer as a "find." He asked him particulars as to himself.

"My name is John Fraser," said the young man, "and for eighteen months I have been at a place near Stirling." There was more conversation, the upshot of which was that the stranger was given a railway warrant for Edinburgh, and on February 9 found himself with the Seaforth Highlanders at Edinburgh Castle, an accepted recruit. He entered himself as having been born in the parish of Waterloo, London, and his trade or profession as that of a laborer.

John Fraser soon proved himself no ordinary laborer. A giant in physique, he had the upright carriage and the lithe movements of the athlete. Critical drill sergeants turned an approving eye on him. He was really a wonderful recruit. Within a week John Fraser had been tentatively selected to beat the big drum, though it was fated that he should never reach that honor.

Scrubbing the Floors.

His comrades liked him very much because, speaking and behaving as a cultured man, he yet showed nothing in the shape of "swagger." In athletics he excelled, and he carried out his new duties as though to the manner born. On getting up in the morning he would quickly make his bed, and after recruits' drill would take his turn at the ordinary duties of the newly joined soldier, helping to carry in the food of his colleagues, sweeping the floors and scrubbing them. The men were instinctively impressed with John Fraser, and in the course of a week or two he became a favorite. He put on no airs, visited the canteen with the others, but nevertheless gave little or no information about himself.

It was in the canteen on Monday evening last that there arose a dramatic scene. A lance-corporal was reading a paper which contained a portrait of the missing Lieutenant Tyron, and suddenly looking up at Private John Fraser near him, called his attention to the picture and the strong resemblance.

The new recruit turned not a hair. Smilingly he admitted that he and Lieutenant Tryon were one. The men were staggered into silence. But then came the surprising thing. These stalwart Scotsmen, having found a good man, had no idea of telling tales about him. The news spread like wildfire among the Highlanders, but although many scores knew of the identity of John Fraser, all kept the news religiously from the authorities. How it eventually crept out is not known, but two days later, on the Wednesday night, John Fraser was placed under arrest. Under the name of Lieutenant Tryon he still remains under arrest.

Colonel's Statement.

The following statement was issued the other morning by Colonel Macintosh commanding the regiment: "Private Fraser, who enlisted three weeks ago into the Seaforth Highlanders, quartered at Edinburgh Castle, has been identified as Lieutenant Tryon, who absented himself without leave from his unit at Gosport. He is at present detained at Edinburgh Castle."

Speaking the other day, Colonel Macintosh remarked: "I do not think there is anything else to say. A large number of the men knew of his identity, but they kept it to themselves. Now, all I have to do is detain him. What action the authorities will take I cannot say. As to any explanation of the lieutenant's action, I have heard nothing."

Break, the sergeant major of the Seaforths, a splendid specimen of the muscular Scotsman, was a little dejected the other day. "You ought to have seen him (Lieutenant Tryon) walking at the end of that detachment of recruits on parade. He was 'great.' There was only one other man in the regiment to equal him in physique," said the sergeant major sadly.

A fellow-private with Lieutenant Tryon remarked on the ease with which he did his military tasks. "You ought to have seen him, sewing the buttons on his clothes. He did it perfectly." Another private remarked: "One of the smartest chaps we ever had. A splendid fellow," and a sergeant added: "He was just the man for our big drum, and we shan't get another like him." Altogether, an air of melancholy lies over Edinburgh Castle.

Some Peeresses' Jewels.

Many society women are the owners of jewels worth the proverbial king's ransom. Perhaps the largest collections belong to the Duchess of Portland and the Duchess of Marlborough, but Viscountess Iveagh is the possessor of one of the most valuable necklaces in England. Her pearls are worth over £70,000, and took Lord Iveagh a long time to collect. Lady Rothschild, the Countess of Dudley, the Countess of Annesley, and Lady Denman all own most beautiful pearls. The Duchess of Roxburghe and the Marchioness of Dufferin both have a large number of turquoises.

The Dressing Table.

Simple little covers for the dressing table are made of the mercerized chambray that comes in such pretty shades of pink and blue, and they make an agreeable change from the white ones in such constant use.

The cover is made just the size required, with the addition of four inches all round, which is turned up on the right side and hemmed down by the means of further stitching done in heavy white mercerised cotton. The corners are mitered carefully so as to be quite flat and are blind stitched down.

THE BANSHEE.

Announces the Death of Lord D. Beresford.

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford arrived at New York last week en route to Mexico, on matters connected with the death of his brother, Lord Delaval Beresford. He mentioned that the death of his brother was announced by the wailing of a banshee at the family home at Curraghmore. Its last previous appearance was reported on the eve of the death of the late Marquis of Waterford.

The banshee is locally believed to wail at the death of any member of the Beresford family, and the story was revived at the death of the Marquis of Waterford by his own hand in 1895.

Curraghmore also has a ghost story, which is implicitly believed in Ireland, though the late Right Hon. William Beresford, M. P., did his best to demolish it in an article in the Genealogical Magazine in 1897.

The Withered Hand.

The story is that in October, 1803, the ghost of Lord Tyrone appeared to Lady Beresford, the wife of Sir Tristram Beresford, and announced: (1) That Lord Tyrone (of whose death she had not heard) had died some days previously; (2) That she would be blessed with a long-wished-for heir; (3) That she would survive her husband, and marry a second time; and (4) That she would die at 47.

All these things came to pass, and the last in a tragic manner. Lady Beresford was congratulating herself that she had passed her 47th birthday, and was approaching her 48th, when she met the clergyman who christened her. He, not knowing of the prediction, informed her that she was really only 47.

"You have signed my death-warrant," she cried. "Leave me, I pray, for I have not much longer to live."

That same afternoon, after telling her story to Sir Marcus Beresford, her son, and Lady Riverstone, her daughter, she died. And the proof of it all was that her wrist was withered where the ghost had touched her.

A WOMAN'S BACK WAS NOT MADE TO ACHE

Thousands of Women suffer Untold Misery Every Day with Aching Backs That Really have no Business to Ache.

Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Backache is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from Kidney trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills

will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others.

Mrs. Thos. Craig, Almonte, Ont., writes: "I was doctoring for six months for kidney trouble and my back was so lame I had to lie in bed. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so and in one week I was able to walk with very little pain, and in five months my back was as strong as ever.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' FORECAST OF FASHION.

Elbow Sleeves on Blouses—A Touch of Color in Accessories.

Elbow sleeves are upon nine-tenths of the dressy blouses, but they usually come below the elbow, ending in a close fitting band or little frills, and if they end above this point of the elbow deeper frills cover the elbow.

"We are trimming less than ever," said a modiste, "for the reason that the fabrics do not require much decoration. The plaits are trimming in themselves, and the rough silks need nothing more than a piping, a flat band of taffeta or velvet or some delicate braid. Soutache in a fine design trims some of the handsomest spring silk gowns.

Gray mousseline lined with pink mousseline, having an underdress of pink taffeta, is a favorite combination for an evening dance dress.

Wearing black velvet ribbon around the neck is very fashionable at the present moment, worn with ball costumes. The velvet is as wide as it can be worn and is fastened with a jeweled pin at the back. In front is a diamond pin or slide.

GIRL'S LINEN GOWN—5603.

Sometimes a gown otherwise not showing a touch of color anywhere else will have a bright gilut given by the belt or, if an evening gown, an empire girdle or a sash reaching to the bottom of the skirt.

Tailor made gowns are the fashion, but there is a wide line of demarcation drawn between the severe tailor made morning dress and the elaborate tailor made reception gown enlivened by much embroidery and lace.

Very attractive are the new checked linens, and they make practical as well as charming dresses for the younger girls. The illustration shows such a frock worn over a dotted swiss guimpe. The model is very serviceable, as it can be used for almost every material. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Figured Fabrics—Dyed Laces on Smart Lawn Gowns.

This promises to be a figured season, and thus far plaids and barred designs and coin spots lead. Sometimes both plaid and spots are found in the same design, and again one or the other is seen against a plain background. Plain tones, however, always have a certain popularity.

Directoire coats are very much to the fore. An original juxtaposition was achieved in a model of striped gray cloth, the lines of the jacket being placed perpendicularly and those of the skirt diagonally.

Back So Lame Could Not Walk

DOCTOR'S EFFORTS WERE IN VAIN BUT CURE CAME WITH THE USE OF

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

It is not always the doctor's fault when he tries to give temporary relief instead of lasting cure. Sometimes patients demand it.

The thorough, far-reaching and lasting effects of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are well illustrated in this case, in contrast with the doctor's failure to even bring relief:

Mr. Geo. Tryon, Westport, Leeds Co., Ont., writes:—"For two years I was completely laid up with lame back, and could neither walk nor ride. I tried many treatments and the doctor put on a fly blister, which only increased the suffering and did not do me the slightest good.

"A friend told me about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I had not finished the first box before I was completely cured. I have never had a lame back or kidney trouble since, and it has been the means of selling dozens of boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. We are never without them in the house and think there is no medicine like them."

The urea, uric acid and other poisonous waste substances which are left in the blood after the process of digestion has taken place are eliminated from the system by the action of the kidneys. Failure of the kidneys to perform this important work of filtration means a poisoning of the whole system and consequently the most painful of diseases, such as Bright's disease, lumbago, backache and rheumatism.

The cause of such ailments are most promptly removed by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This great family medicine has a combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels which is not possessed by any similar preparation. The whole system is quickly and thoroughly cleansed and the vital organs invigorated by this treatment. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

Dyed valenciennes lace on white and pale tinted lawn dresses is one of the novelties of the season. These pastel laces are often used with black velvet ribbon or black lace.

STRIPED VOILE GOWN—5600, 5353.

A new color which has come very strongly into vogue is called "vieux apprecot." Just why the French have applied such a name is undecided, as an old apricot is hardly a thing of beauty as to coloring. The color itself is rich and beautiful, and shown in ostrich tips, paradise plumes, velvets and ribbons it is delightful.

The voile gown in the cut is of dove gray in a fascinating shadow stripe and is trimmed with bands of the material cut bias. The sleeves are distinctly novel and can be made either in three-quarter or full length.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHAT TO WEAR.

Natty Chiffon Shoulder Capes—Lace Coats Smart.

There are a number of styles in small shoulder capes to wear with thin waists this spring of chiffon ruffles over a foundation of silk. There is no collar, thus giving an opportunity to display the handsome collar of the gown.

Lace coats will be just as popular next summer as they were last season. They are of three-quarter length, tight fitting and are not becoming unless one is slender. The sleeves are short. Then there are lots of bolero jackets in all the fashionable laces.

The imitations of linens used for tailored frocks are numerous and to be distinguished from pure linen only by the difference of shading in the more difficult tones, such as flamingo, apricot, etc. The manufacturers have "handed" us some delicious shades of lemon, though, and a semitailored frock in an imitation linen has a smart plaited skirt inset with medallions of machine embroidery further embellished with tiny buttons and wash braid. Accompanying the skirt is a little square Eton jacket plaited and lace trimmed, worn over a blouse of lawn.

The curved yoke is seen on the new spring suits. There is still the widened shoulder effect with sleeves of the kimono shape, wide and loose like the sleeves of the orient.

Narrow swiss embroidery makes a pretty collar. Two pieces may be joined with insertion at the edges. Velvet bands trimmed with lace medallions also make good collars. The neckpiece that comes with the average ready made waist is seldom dainty enough to be worn, so a more elaborate arrangement is substituted.

Here is one of the new plain shirt waists. It is made perfectly plain and depends upon the little Marie Antoinette frills for chicness. It is hardly necessary to add that only rather heavy materials make up well in this design. JUDIC CHOLLET.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Frocks For Summer Days — Covert Coats in Favor.

Linen coat and skirt costumes are every bit as smart and necessary for a complete outfit as they were last season. There should be one or two white suits in a wardrobe and as many colored ones, but white looks coolest. All white has been so popular that a colored linen suit in a delicate shade is a relief.

Black frocks are to be much in evidence in the summer, of course in soft, silk fabrics. One unusually effective pattern in swiss has a black ground striped with closely set hair lines of white and is sprinkled with tiny sprays of lilacs. It is charming for a second mourning costume or makes up effectively with bits of blue satin.

A spring frock designed by Paquin is of light brown shelma cloth, with trimmings of cream colored braid and wood brown velvet. The poneto coat, a combination of pony coat and Eton jacket, fits exquisitely around the hips and shows a long shoulder line. The braid is used to pipe the straps and facings of the coat, but the skirt plaited in graceful folds is left unadorned. With the costume is worn a hat of cream colored crin trimmed on the rather broad brim with brown velvet matching that used for the coat collar.

The covert coat has had its admirers these many seasons. True, its popularity has experienced fluctuations, but it seems there is no keeping it out of the limelight of fashion for long, and this spring it bobs up serenely, more fascinatingly smart than ever.

The blue and white dotted foulard frock illustrated is especially to be commended. Ribbon velvet trims the flounces and cut out neck. The chemisette is of all over cream colored lace.

BLUE FOULARD DRESS—5602, 4989.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Blacksnakes.

I have never seen blacksnakes over seven feet long, and I much doubt if they grow to a greater length. They are not hard to catch, though in an open field they can run about as fast as a man can. When caught they struggle desperately until they find there is no opportunity to escape, when they will give up fighting and may be handled with impunity. I have never found these snakes to be vicious. They can be handled easily, and their bite is harmless. They can squeeze pretty hard if they get a turn around your waist, but not hard enough to break a bone.—Forest and Stream.

A Sardinian Titbit.

The inhabitants of the mountainous districts of Sardinia eat large quantities of a fermented milk, resembling koumiss or kephir. It is prepared by allowing the milk of the cow, sheep or goat to ferment at a moderately high temperature, either spontaneously or after the addition of baker's yeast, until it thickens into a more or less consistent homogeneous mass, at which stage the fermentation is stopped by plunging the vessel into cold water. This product, which has a sharp acid flavor, is eaten either by itself or is spread as a butter upon bread.

HERE AND THERE.

More Glory For the Jumper Frock. Shepherd Plaid Suits.

The jumper frock has in a measure taken unto itself the glory that was formerly bestowed upon the shirt waist suit and abounds in a variety of styles. Some very pretty frocks of this description are made up in plain colored linens trimmed with cluny and torchon lace, the little lingerie blouse being adorned with the same pattern.

Many of the spring tailor made gowns are of a large shepherd's plaid cloth, the skirt arranged in six wide plaits from the hips and the hem finished with a bias strapping of the cloth.

The panamas are here again, but a great many fabrics adopt the name. The old time bunting is seen, too, but under newer titles.

Striped materials will vie with checked fabrics for the first position, but for morning costumes plain satin finished mohairs as well as plain cloths still remain in favor.

The big French dressmakers have been buying up quantities of mohairs for use in tailor made dresses for spring and summer traveling gowns. So say people deep in the secrets of the dry goods trade who have recently come from Paris.

For summer dresses marquisettes, nuns, grenadines and chiffon voiles, both plain and in self colored checks and other fancy effects, will be popular.

The chemise illustrated is of linen nainsook and is a charming material for summer wear, being fine and soft without any bulkiness. The neck in the design is cut square and trimmed with beading and German valenciennes lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

For Dull Scissors.

Have you ever been annoyed to find that just as you had made up your mind to do some special piece of work your scissors seemed suddenly to have grown dull? This is often the case and is something that no one can satisfactorily explain. Anyway, the immediate remedy is very simple and is always at hand. Open the scissors around the neck of a small bottle and work them vigorously for a few seconds, say half a dozen times. The scissors will then be found to cut very well. The glass acts as a sharpening stone, and, while the edge given is what is known as a "wire edge" and will not hold for any large amount of work, it certainly is a great convenience and will last for two or three days sometimes.

HINTS ON HOME BUILDING.

The man who is thinking of building a home (and who is not, in these prosperous times) must have prominently in mind, economy, durability and appearance.

The wise builder will select materials that are good and inexpensive, as well as handsome in appearance. Take the roof, for instance. It should be proof against lightning, fire and water, and should also possess a handsome appearance.

Wood shingles have had their day. As now manufactured, they soon rot and crack, thus making it necessary to reshingle.

"Safe Lock" Galvanized Steel Shingles solve the problem in every way. They lock at the top, bottom and both sides, so that they are absolutely proof against every element. Being heavily galvanized, they cannot rust and are practically indestructible. Moreover, the smooth surface of the shingle will not permit dust or dirt to lodge on the roof, and defile the rain water.

The Metal Shingle & Siding Co., Limited, of Preston, Ont., offer to send you, free, their literature containing names of those who have used "Safe Lock" Shingles in your own locality. 47

HYMAN'S RESIGNATION IS RECEIVED

Mr. Fielding Announces Telegram in House of Commons.

CORRUPTION AT ELECTIONS

Mr. Borden In Favor of Strengthening the Law—Minister of Finance Reminds Him of Conservative Party's Corrupt Record—Ontario Land Question—Full Information to Be Given.

Ottawa, April 17.—Col. Sam Hughes brought up the question of the Petawawa site in the House of Commons yesterday, and received the promise of the Minister of Finance that all available information should be put at the disposal of the House. The gallant Colonel then took objection to a morning paper characterizing his remarks with regard to the immigrant French priests as "an onslaught on the clergy," and protested that he "had only cited a few facts."

Strengthen Election Law.

Practically the rest of the day was occupied by a debate on an amendment to a motion to go into supply, proposed by the leader of the Opposition, in favor of strengthening the election law by providing for more severe punishment for election offences, the prevention of contractors, promoters and corporations contributing to campaign funds, and expressing regret that the Government had not brought down legislation for the prevention of corruption in elections, foreshadowed in the speech from the throne.

Mr. Hyman Resigns.

Mr. Borden was proceeding to comment on the position of Mr. Hyman when he was interrupted by the Minister of Finance, who stated that he had received a telegram from the Minister of Public Works, intimating that he had forwarded his resignation as a member of the House to Mr. Speaker. Mr. Borden then at great length indicted the Government for having engaged in corrupt practices, and especially attacked them for maintaining in office a Mr. Dexter in Nova Scotia, who had unduly interfered in politics, a statement which drew from Mr. Fielding the request that the critic should be sure of his facts, Mr. Dexter being no longer in the service of the Government.

Corrupt Practices.

While not offering it in extenuation, Mr. Fielding pointed out that more than the skirts of the Conservative party were soiled by corrupt practices, although the leader of the Opposition had endeavored to establish that the fault lay only with supporters of the Government. It was his desire and the desire of the Government that elections should be clean, but the partisan manner in which Mr. Borden had introduced his amendment rendered it necessary that it should be opposed.

Replying to Mr. Boyce, the Minister of Finance said that there still remained one vacancy on the Bench of Nova Scotia to be filled.

The Minister of Justice informed Mr. Foster that it was not the intention of the Government to bring down legislation to provide for an appropriation for an additional Judge of the Supreme Court in New Brunswick.

The House went into committee on the Saskatchewan and Alberta readjustment of representation bill. The bill was reported and passed.

Caught In Shafting.

Brockville, April 17.—Whirled around a shaft was the experience yesterday by a man named Goodison at Bowie & Co.'s brewery. His coat became entangled in a belt.

Besides being injured internally, his head, arms and various parts of the body were bruised. His clothing was torn to shreds.

Doctors have hopes of his recovery.

Foul Play Disproved.

Stratford, April 17.—The coroner's jury, enquiring into the death of Mrs. Dewing, last night decided that she had died from shock on account of burning. Koeller, who had been arrested on suspicion that foul play had been done, was thereupon discharged from custody. The verdict was in accordance with the medical testimony.

Pleads Guilty to Bigamy.

London, April 17.—James Belbeck, a London Township farm laborer, appeared before Judge MacBeth yesterday morning on a charge of bigamy and pleaded guilty.

On request of the prisoner's counsel sentence was deferred until Saturday.

STOMACH TROUBLES

To wrong action of the stomach and impaired digestion a host of diseases owe their origin.

When the food is imperfectly digested the full benefit is not derived from it by the body, and then stomach troubles start to appear.

Thus you become thin, weak, nervous and debilitated, energy is lacking, brightness, snap and vigor are lost and in their place come dullness, dizziness, loss of appetite, depression and langour. The great point is to get the stomach back into good shape again so it can properly digest the food, and the easiest, quickest and best way to do it is by the use of

Miss Lizzie Furlotte, Jacquet River, N.B., writes: "I was very much troubled with my stomach and did not know what to do. I consulted several doctors, got medicine from them, but all to no purpose, and was constantly growing worse. One day I had the good luck to meet with a friend who had been troubled in the same way as myself. My friend told me of the wonderful cure Burdock Blood Bitters had made with her and advised me to try a bottle. I did so, and what a happy change the first bottle made. I took two more and am completely cured, and I shall ever sing the praises of B.B.B."

Price $1.00 per bottle or 6 bottles for $5.00.

SALARY INCREASES TO MINISTERS

Opposition Leader Clearly Defines His Position.

CHEAP ELECTRIC POWER

Positions Are Worth Salaries Now Proposed for Them — Teachers in Catholic Schools—Evasions of Liquor Law—Employment of Children in Hotels—Mr. Beck's Power Bill Discussed.

Toronto, April 17.—Prorogation was in sight when the Legislature adjourned at 12 o'clock last night, but it is not likely that the closing ceremonies will take place before the beginning of next week. The House resumes at 11 o'clock this morning.

Discussing the Premier's bill for the increase of the salaries of Cabinet Ministers, Mr. Graham said The London Free Press, a strong Conservative organ, had recently take the attitude that if the Ministers were not worth the salaries, at least the positions were. That, in his opinion, and he was speaking for himself, expressed the thing properly. When a few years ago the members on both sides of the House agreed that their indemnities should be raised from $600 to $1,000, it was not claimed that all were worth the increase—some members did much more work than others—but it was generally conceded that the positions were worth it.

Qualifications of Teachers.

Hon. Dr. Pyne's bill respecting the qualifications of certain teachers was read a third time without amendments. This has been previously explained at length, and is rendered necessary by the recent judgment of the Privy Council declaring that the Province had the right to require of members of religious orders engaged in the teaching profession that they must comply with the regulations of the Department of Education.

May Not Lease Bars.

Hon. Mr. Hanna's bill to amend the liquor license act was moved to its second reading. It provides that in local option municipalities the bar cannot be leased and re-leased to other parties by the proprietor to prevent the courts from getting past a first conviction, for which imprisonment is the penalty.

Children In the Hotels.

Mr. Preston (Brant) suggested that the employment of children in hotels should be considered. The Child Labor Committee thought children under 16 years should be prohibited from such employment. He also asked if the question of infractions of the law by bartenders should not count against the hotelkeeper. For his part he thought the hotelkeeper should have a considerable share of responsibility. Mr. MacKay said that all the municipalities in the riding which he represented, except one, were under local option. Some people there held the view that in the case of a person being found the worse for liquor in a local option municipality that person should be made to tell where he got the liquor. For his own part he thought such legislation would be dangerous. The bill was given its third reading.

For Cheap Electrical Energy.

In committee Hon. Mr. Beck outlined the new clauses in the act providing for the transmission of electrical power to municipalities.

Mr. Preston (Brant) expressed pleasure at the decision of the Government to make it clear that the Conmee act would not apply to municipalities dealing with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission for power. While he personally approved the principle behind the Conmee clauses, he realised that it would be impossible to have them work out in conjunction with the power question as dealt with under the cheap power bill. He suggested that there should be a provision for definite statements as to maximum amounts which municipalities entering into contracts with the commission would pay.

Hon. Mr. Beck said that the act provided for the cost being furnished to municipalities wanting to enter into contracts. This was being done, but, of course, absolutely specific figures would depend upon the number of municipalities going into any one system of supply, such as was possible in the Niagara district.

The Franchise for Women.

Mr. Smith (Peel), in moving the second reading of his annual bill to amend the election act by extending the franchise to women who had the right to vote in municipal elections, said he supposed the bill would be again defeated, but he hoped to see the day when it would be law, as it was in two of the most progressive British colonies—New Zealand and Australia.

The Premier took the ground that when the majority of this Province wanted the franchise they would get it. The reason they did not enjoy it now was because they did not want it. He was of opinion that the Legislative Chamber could not be filled with earnest-minded women who desired the franchise. The motion for the second reading of the bill was declared lost on division.

SNOW IN MICHIGAN.

Upper Peninsula Covered — All Records Broken.

Detroit, April 17.—The entire upper peninsula and especially in the vicinity of the Soos, is snowbound. The storm started early Monday and had not abated yesterday morning. Operations on buildings and log-driving is at a standstill. It is estimated that lumbermen will suffer many thousand dollars' loss. There is sleighing and snow plows are running to keep the walks clear. All records have been broken for this time of the year.

Big Steamer Ashore.

Detroit, Mich., April 17.—The new steel steamer Ogdensburg, of the Rutland Line, stranded on Pointe Aux Barques Monday night. The steamer is leaking some forward, and the cargo is being thrown overboard. The cargo included 50,000 bushels of corn, a big consignment of flour and general merchandise.

FIRE FIEND AT M'GILL UNIVERSITY

Medical Building and Museum Prey to Flames.

THE LOSS IS IRREPARABLE

Montreal's Great University Again Suffers Terribly By Fire—Second Blaze In Two Weeks—Believed Both Were Incendiary—Result of 75 Years Work Entirely Destroyed—Loss Half a Million.

Montreal, April 17.—The second disastrous fire within two weeks visited McGill University at an early hour yesterday morning and practically destroyed the Medical building, one of the oldest and most valuable of the splendid collection on the college grounds. The results of the fire were most disastrous, as, in addition to the usual equipment of the college Medical building, the museum, one of the best on the continent, was destroyed. The loss in this cannot be considered by a money standard, as the museum has been collecting for nearly three-quarters of a century, and contained many absolutely priceless specimens. The actual loss will exceed half a million dollars, but the greatest loss is not in what dollars and cents can replace, but in the museum, library and expensive laboratory equipment.

Origin of the Fire a Mystery.

The fire alarm was turned in at 1.15 yesterday morning, followed shortly by a second and then a general alarm. How the fire originated is not known. It started in the centre of the building on the second floor, where the lecture rooms are situated, but nothing had been going on there to start a fire. The fire burnt with great force, and was almost beyond control before the firemen reached the scene, and then for some time the water pressure was light and the firemen could not get the blaze under control. Every few minutes the roar of the flames was punctuated with loud explosions, as the chemicals in the laboratory exploded. Often the fumes from the burning chemicals colored the flames and gave a weird, uncanny effect to the scene.

Fireproof Library Only Saved.

The present Medical building was built in 1873. In 1885 and again in 1893 large additions were made. Again proving too small, a thorough reconstruction and enlargement of the buildings had just lately been completed. The alterations and extensions consisted of three wings, one a laboratory wing on the north; another ran east, and a third on the west side of the main central building. The building was of stone and brick, four storeys high. The total length was 280 feet, and the width 145 feet. The central part of the building is entirely destroyed, and all the wings more or less gutted except the fireproof library, which escaped, while buildings on all sides of it are destroyed. The library contained many valuable volumes, and while these will be somewhat damaged with water and smoke, the authorities are rejoicing that the library did not burn with the museum.

The Medical building was erected at a cost of $350,000 some few years ago. Lord Strathcona contributed $125,000 to help in the alterations.

Collection of a Lifetime Gone.

The greatest loss will be in the museum. Dr. Sheppard stated that the fire destroyed for him the collection of a whole lifetime, his anatomical collection being part of the portion destroyed. This collection was famous throughout America, and with its destruction passes a chapter in the history of anatomical science on this side of the ocean. Dean Roddick, who was early on the scene of the fire, said:—"Don't ask me what the damage will be; it is too awful to think of, and really we ourselves are at a loss to place any estimate on it."

Immediately after the disastrous fire which wiped out the Engineering building the university authorities, it is understood, placed half a million dollars of extra insurance on the whole university plant. The Medical building will share in this, but it is doubtful whether the insurance will cover half the loss.

Caretaker Cook, who for over a quarter of a century has had a room in the basement, knew nothing of the fire until aroused and rescued by the firemen. He had gone to bed shortly after 11 o'clock. He, with the authorities, is mystified as to the origin of the fire.

There was $350,000 insurance on the building and its contents, shared between 21 companies.

Waterford Hotel Burned.

Waterford, April 17.—The Beemer House was burned to the ground Monday night. The cause of the fire unknown. No insurance.

Spain's Naval Outlay.

Madrid, April 17.—The Minister of Marine yesterday declared that the naval program to be presented at the opening of the Cortes comprised fresh expenditures, amounting to $16,000,000 annually and lasting for several years. It is understood that the total of appropriations demanded amounts to $64,000,000.

Calls Leftists Bomb Throwers.

St. Petersburg, April 17.—V. V. Shulgin, a reactionist, workman deputy from Volhynia, was excluded by Vice-President Pozansky, who presided, from yesterday's sitting of the Lower House of Parliament for calling the members of the left party "Bomb Throwers."

Badly Hurt.

Toronto, April 17.—Charles Hone, a reamer at the Polson Iron Works, sustained severe injuries about the head by falling twelve feet from an upper floor yesterday. His face was badly bruised, and he was removed to Grace Hospital.

A Cabinet Resigns.

Vincenzo Cica, the other duellist, was found hiding in a closet in the home of his victim. As the police burst in the closet door Cica shot and killed himself.

Dumas' "Camille."

Dumas' famous play "Camille" is a dramatised novel. The book is called "The Lady With the Camellias," and the author, Alexandre Dumas, Jr., based his central character on Marie Duplessis, a Parisian actress, to whose kindness and patronage he owed much of his early success. He stopped one day, through missing a train, at a common little inn at St. Germain, frequented by laborers and carters. The idea of the story struck him while there, and he began it, writing on a corner of the inn table. He remained there three weeks, at which time it was finished. The first publisher of the story gave the young author $240 for the privilege of printing two editions, aggregating 2,700 copies. When Dumas proposed a third edition he was told to go about his business, which he did, making an immense sum for himself and his next publisher.

Two Odd Blunders.

There stands in Westminster abbey, London, a splendid monument of Cromwell in riding attire. The spurs which adorn his high boots are upside down, showing that while the man who created the statue was an expert in this line he was totally unfamiliar with the art of riding. These reversed spurs are not always noticed by visitors, but those who know about them find them one of the most interesting features of the monument. One of the famous swords wielded by that warrior, the Black Prince, is to be seen in a window in the same building. It is a painted window on the landing leading from the floor of the palace to the committee rooms above. On the weapon held in the hands of the prince may be read an inscription in which the words "Prince of Whales" figure prominently.

Young Princes Go Shooting.

Under the personal tuition of their grandfather, the King, the little Princes Edward and Albert of Wales, had their first lesson in how to behave at a big shoot the other day.

In positions selected by King Edward the royal boys took up their stand, each with his own loaders. Their success was remarkable, and each had a good bag to his credit. His Majesty, who purposely remained near them to watch their progress, was greatly pleased with their performance, and as bird after bird fell to their guns showed his delight and appreciation by crying out "Well done."

Both the princes inherit some of the skill of their father, the Prince of Wales, who is one of the best game shots in England. They have been carefully trained in the use of the gun under his personal supervision. An estimate of their respective powers shows that Prince Edward is precise and steady, while Prince Albert, though quick and eager, is a very safe shot.

Cupid and the Committee.

By CARROLL GORDON.

Copyright, 1907, by P. C. Eastman.

"Do you draw up resolutions and things?" asked Kate Masters eagerly.

"No," scorned Matie. "You send a committee to the boss and tell him we won't work any more."

"I'd rather write," declared Grace Kelso. "I'd be scared to death to go in there and talk to him."

"Writing isn't half so good," declared Matie. "You just tell him what the matter is and that we'll go on strike if Bromley isn't dismissed, and that's all there is to it."

"All," repeated Kate. "I should think it would be enough. The idea of going right in to Mr. Temple and telling him that we're not going to work any more unless Bromley is sacked. I'd be so scared I couldn't speak."

"I'm not afraid," said Matie disdainfully.

"I vote that we make Matie Lester a committee all by herself," suggested Grace, and the motion was unanimously carried without the formality of a seconding.

"No, you don't," cried Matie. "I'll do the talking, but we want a lot of girls for the committee. It has a good effect."

In the end a committee of five was appointed, and it was agreed that the noon hour the next day would be the proper time for making the demand. Matie lay awake half the night thinking what she should say, and her argument was continued in her dreams.

The room was all excitement the next morning, and as the noon hour approached the excitement grew more intense. Every girl in the room left her lunch untouched to accompany the committee on its errand of protest and left them only at the beginning of the short hall at the end of which was Edward Temple's office.

The departure of the escort seemed to have a bad effect on the others, for, as Matie rapped on the door and a deep voice responded, the other four girls right about faced as by common impulse and fled down the passageway.

For a moment Matie watched them, dismayed. Then with a firm hand she turned the knob and entered the room. In place of the gray haired man she expected to find the room was tenanted only by an alert young fellow, who looked up expectantly as she approached.

"I BEG YOUR PARDON," SHE STAMMERED.

"I beg your pardon," she stammered. "I thought that this was Mr. Temple's room."

"So it is," he responded briskly, "and this is Mr. Temple. Only it happens that my father did not come down this morning. Anything I can do for you? I am Frank Temple."

"I don't know that you'll do," she said dubiously. "You see, I'm a strike—I mean a strike committee," she corrected.

"A single committee is rather unusual," he smiled. "Do I understand that you represent the factory?"

"The finishing room," she explained. "There were five of us, but the rest ran away."

"I see," he said gravely, though his eyes twinkled. "And may I ask the nature of the demands to be made?"

"It's that horrid Jim Bromley," she exclaimed. "We don't want more money or anything, but we want a new foreman. He's just as mean as can be. He wouldn't have Bess Bradley's machine fixed the other day, and when it broke down and hurt her hand he docked her for the time she was away. He's always fining us for every little thing, and he's that mean"—

Matie's pause spoke volumes, and her eyes added to the story. Temple grinned.

"I shall have to look into this," he said. "Take a chair, please." He left her to herself, but presently he came back with another young man as clean cut as himself.

"Mr. Everett will look into the matter," said Temple. "Just tell him about the mean Mr. Bromley."

"Now you're laughing at me," said Matie indignantly.

"Far from it," he denied. "Grievance committees should be treated most seriously."

"And this is serious," she declared, turning to Everett. Her sense of wrong sustained gave her eloquence, and her eyes snapped as she recited a long tale of Bromley's wrongs. Everett listened attentively, though at times he and Temple exchanged sympathetic glances as some quaint turn of speech caught their sense of humor.

"This is a matter that most certainly should be looked into," he said. "I do not believe in fines except as a last resort. Suppose you help us get at the bottom of the trouble."

"I'm telling you all about it now," she cried.

"I know," he agreed, "but to get Bromley right we shall have to wait. Now, if you will explain to the others that the matter will be properly settled if they will go on as they have been doing for a week I think we can hand a very unpleasant surprise to the enterprising Mr. Bromley. It appears from the books that few fines have been turned in. On account of the number of employees the envelopes are made up several days ahead, and the foreman of each department takes out the fines. Now, on Saturday make a note of all the fines, bring the envelopes to me, and we will have the matter straightened out."

Matie looked him squarely in the eye. "Do you really mean that?" she demanded.

"Most certainly," he assured.

"Shake hands on it," she demanded. Everett blushed as his fingers closed over the smaller hand—and lingered there.

Matie went back to the room with a sense of importance. Word was passed along that it was all right and to meet on the corner after the factory closed. There was a babel of voices as the plot was unfolded, and when at last the impromptu meeting adjourned Everett was lingering there.

"I saw the crowd forming," he laughed as he fell into step beside Matie, "and I waited to hear the outcome."

She tucked her hand through the proffered arm, and together they went down the street.

The next night Everett was waiting again, and so on until Saturday, when at the noon hour the girls were paid off. There were the usual heavy fines marked on the envelopes, and Matie formed a line and marched off to the office. Bromley had already turned back to the cashier the fines he had collected, but a rapid computation showed that the envelopes and the statement to the cashier developed a discrepancy of more than $10. The foreman had been detained in the office on a pretext, and when he left the building it was in company with a blue coated official, and the girls lingered on the corner to hold a jubilee over the downfall of their enemy.

"Who's going to be cashier now?" demanded one of the celebrants. Matie grew red.

"I'm to be in charge for a little while," she said. "Mr. Everett arranged that last night."

"That's too bad," said one of the girls.

"Why, please?" demanded Matie hotly.

"We won't have any one to speak for us when we want to go on strike against you."

"That's so," laughed one of the others. "All the other girls on the committee ran away."

"I guess I shall not be in charge long enough for you to get sore on me," said Matie importantly. "I'm to be married in a month."

This was news indeed, and the girls crowded eagerly about her. For a moment she fought off their questioning, but at last she faced them defiantly.

"I'm going to be married to Mr. Everett, if you have to know," she said.

"That's what you get for being on the committee," said one of them enviously.

"Well," reminded Matie, "there's four of you that can't say you didn't have a chance, and I don't mind telling you that I'm glad you didn't take it. Jim Everett is worth interviewing the president himself for."

When fanning an invalid, if a few drops of aromatic spirits of ammonia be sprinkled upon the fan it will be found very refreshing.

GHOSTS IN EVENING DRESS.

Hampton Court Policeman Sees Spooks In the Palace.

Around Hampton Court Palace there clings innumerable legends of apparitions of hapless individuals who from one cause or another are unable to rest in their tombs, and whose shades continue to revisit the glimpses of the moon.

Perhaps it was the knowledge of these circumstances that led Police-constable 265 T. with over 20 years' service in the Metropolitan Force, to assert that recently, whilst stationed in the palace grounds about midnight, he saw a group of figures walking towards him along one of the walks, and that when they came within nine yards of where he was standing the whole party suddenly vanished.

The officer is certainly very circumstantial in his account, which runs this way:

"On this particular night I went on duty at the east front of the palace at 10 o'clock. I was quite alone, and was standing close to the main gates, looking towards the Home park, when suddenly I became conscious of a group of figures moving towards me along what is known as the Ditton walk. It is a most unusual thing to see anyone in the gardens at that time of night, but I thought it probable that some of the residents in the palace had been to a party at Ditton, and were returning on foot.

"The party consisted of two gentlemen in evening dress and seven or nine ladies. There were no sounds except what resembled the rustling of dresses. When they reached a point about a dozen yards from me I turned round and opened the gates to let them in.

A Vanishing Party.

"The party, however, altered their course, and headed in the direction of the Flower Pot gates, to the north of the gardens. At the same time there was a sudden movement amongst the group; they fell into processional order, two deep, with the gentlemen at the head. Then, to my utter amazement, the whole crowd of them vanished, melted, as it seemed to me, into the air. All this happened within nine yards of where I was standing, in the centre of the broad gravel walk in front of the palace. I rushed to the spot, looked up and down, but could see nothing or hear nothing to explain the mystery."

That all sounds real enough, and it looked as if the Psychical Society had scored. But a prosaic explanation of the vision has been found. It is this:

On the night in question it was misty, and the policeman when he saw the vision was standing opposite the fish pond. In the rooms behind him an evening party was in progress, and it is established that at about the time he saw the ghosts a number of ladies and gentlemen in evening dress trooped from an upstairs room and moved along the corridor, practically as he described it, in single file.

From his position the policeman naturally could not observe them in the actual flesh, but their reflections were thrown by the strong light at the back of them on the mist hanging above the fish pond.

No wonder that though they appeared to the policeman to be laughing he heard no sound, and that when he moved towards them he found nothing but shadows.

"You would hardly think, to look at me, that I am colonel of the regiment," said the Lord Mayor of London at the distribution, at Guildhall of the prizes to the First City of London Royal Garrison Artillery, of which he is honorable colonel. He is also Admiral of the Port of London.

PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY APRIL 17 1907

A MURDEROUS ASSAULT

At the Royal Hotel This Afternoon--An Unknown Man Brandished a Razor and Knife Among Spectators

ONE MAN MAY DIE

Lindsay Resident in a Very Dangerous Condition as Result of Slashes Made by Weapons.

As a result of a terrible stabbing affray at the Royal Hotel this afternoon Levi Thorndall, of Lindsay lies almost at death's door, two others are badly wounded about the face and hands and the perpetrator of the villainous deed, a stranger to the city, occupies a cell at the police station. The deed was committed about 2 o'clock and came as a sudden surprise to the inmates of the hotel who were all peacefully reclining after the midday meal.

The young man who caused the excitement is believed to have come from Toronto although nothing definite is known of him or his former character. When searched at the police station by Police Officer Meharry, a razor and a heavy knife were found in his pockets, and it was with one of these that the stabbing was done. The blade of the knife is still stained with blood. He was a well dressed youth of about 25 years of age and clean shaven.

No Motive

As far as the motive of the act is concerned, little is known by Mr. Kelly, the proprietor of the Royal, as to him he was a perfect stranger. He did not appear to be in an advanced state of intoxication but, some stated, he had been drinking during the day. Those who were in the hotel at the time the quarrel arose, state that he was the only one who appeared to be looking for trouble.

Police Phoned For

The events leading up to the stabbing are very brief. The stranger had wandered into the vicinity of St. Peters school where his actions aroused suspicion. The police station was phoned and P. C. Meharry was on the scene in a few minutes. However, when he arrived at the school he discovered the man he was after had disappeared by another street. He pursued him down Hunter street, gaining his information from inquiry. But the stranger was some distance in advance and entered the Royal Hotel where the havoc was created.

At Death's Door

On entering the rear waiting room of the hotel where a number were sitting it was stated that the stranger picked a quarrel with some of the men. They all went out into the yard to settle the dispute. Shortly after the unknown character returned to the bar room and began making vicious threats accompanied by obscene language. The bar tender ordered him out, but this only infuriated him. Then began the slashing with the knife or razor, and any person who came within his reach was in danger of his life. Thornhall, who had come down from Lindsay last night bore the brunt of the attack annd it is a question whether he will live or die.

Throat Severely Cut

The stranger aimed his attacks at the faces and necks of those who stood in his way. Thornhall's throat received a gaping wound; his face was slashed in a couple of places and the back of his head was also cut. He was carried from the scene in a dazed condition and medical aid was immediately summoned to stop the free flowing blood.

Blezard and another man were the remaining victims of the enraged man's knife. Both are severely cut about the face but their injuries are slight as compared with those of Thornhall.

Struck on the Head

In the midst of the stabbing the proprietor appeared on the scene, and requested the stranger to leave the house. This he refused to do, and the former had to use forcible measures. He was struck on the head and dazed, after which he left the hotel. The floor of the bar-room was stained with blood and a large pool lay immediately outside the door.

P. C. Meharry followed him to the corner of Charlotte and George streets, where he arrested him. At first the stranger refused to obey the officer but seeing the policeman reach for his baton, he walked quietly to the police station. The prisoner was then searched. A razor, large jack knife, a neck tie, a box of salve and a mouth organ were taken from his pockets.

Another Struggle

He permitted P. C. Meharry to inspect his pockets but refused to enter the cell. The officer then used forcible means and the two men clinched in the station. They exchanged several blows, but P. C. Meharry won the victory and the unknown soon found himself behind the bars where he was given plenty of time to review the incidents of the past few minutes.

He will probably be arraigned before the police magistrate in the morning to answer for his apparently unjustifiable and villainous deeds. He is in a dazed condition and for present can give no account of himself.

IRISH FARMER'S SEARCH FOR AN IRISH FARM LABOURER

Scotchman Was His Second Choice But He Got an Englishman—Wrote a Letter to Mr. Howson Embodying His Request.

ADVANCE NOTICES RECEIVED

The demand for farm labourers throughout the country is much greater than the supply. Mr. Geo. H. Howson, the Immigrant Agent, has received already about one hundred applications from farmers, many of whom require domestic help as well as men to work on the farms. He has, up to the present, received thirteen notices that immigrants are coming to Peterborough, all of whom will within the next month. Mr. Howson expects little difficulty in getting these persons settled on good farms, and could easily find homes for many more.

The agent has some amusing letters in his possession received from parties in the county. An Irishman from one of the townships wrote him over a week ago for a farm labourer, having heard that the "doalt in them." "I would like to get an Irishman," he wrote, "as I want the best; but if you cannot get me an Irishman, get me the next best, a Scotchman."

The farmer called upon Mr. Howson a few days ago, at a time when an English immigrant was in his office. The agent could not supply him with an Irishman nor a Scotchman, and suggested that he take the Englishman. After scrutinizing him closely, he decided to do so, and, it is stated, he has "filled the bill all right."

UMPIRE GAVE DECISION REVOLVER IN HAND

Examiner Special.

New York, April 16. — A despatch from Havana says: — There was a sensational scene on the ball field when Umpire Borrotto in the presence of 20,000 excited "fans," gave a close decision against the last man out on first, which gave the game and the Cuban championship to the Almendares club by a score of 4 to 2. Things had been hot, and Borretto, who is not five feet high, gave his last decision with revolver in hand, and then darted behind the line of police. The mob charged, but the police and rural guards closed around and saved him. The victorious team divided $5,000.

Holland Farmers Among The Army's Immigrants

A Party of Sixty Arrived in Peterborough This Morning Off the Steamer Southwark—21 Adults in the Contingent.

GREAT MANY OFF TO FARMS

The first large party of immigrants brought to Canada this year, under the immigration scheme of the Salvation Army, has arrived, and Peterborough this morning opened its arms of hospitality to a party of fifty of these. Twenty-one of this party coming to Peterborough were adults and the remainder were children. The majority of the newcomers will be willing to go on the farm, and a number have already taken places which had been arranged for them prior to their arrival. It may be stated that there were applications received for considerably more men than there were in the party which detrained at Peterough.

The steamer Southwark was chartered by the Army and with her 1400 passengers of immigrants, left Liverpool on April 4th, for Canada, arriving at Halifax on the 14th, after a pleasant voyage. Of the 1400 passengers 900 were men and there were 135 children under 12 years of age.

An interesting feature of the despatch of this party was the fact that included among them was a party of fifty from Holland, who had been brought from Amsterdam to Liverpool in charge of an officer of the Army. These Hollanders are for the most part farmers, and the Dutch farmers are recognized as among the best in the world, and, in spite of the fact that they cannot speak English, they will be readily taken by the Canadian farmers, who are finding it all too difficult to secure help. The class of immigrants in this contingent is just what Canada needs, the men are big and strong, and those who came to Peterborough seem to be willing to do any kind of work that turns up.

Mr. Michael Flood, of Ennismore, had the honour of getting the first man from the Peterborough party, while Mr. F. Sweeney, of the same township, also took one man. They will all be sent out to places during the next few days.

Among those who came on this boat load were 18 bandsmen, and two of these have located in Peterborough and will likely be found with the Salvation Army band in the near future.

This is but the first of a number of trips which the Southwark will make during the summer.

FEWER BABY CARRIAGES CARRIED BY THE C. P. R.

Passenger Traffic Manager Gives Interesting Information in Reference to Baggage Carried on That Line.

BIKES ON THE DECREASE

Examiner Special.

Montreal, April 16.—Some curious deductions may be made from a statement issued yesterday by Mr. Robert Kerr, passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific, regarding the popular idea of the hour and their evanescense. It appears that during the year 6,500,000 pieces of baggage were carried or checked on the system, nearly a million pieces over the record of any previous year. During the twelve months 1,256 corpses were carried, fifty-six more than in any previous year. In this connection it is pointed out that while the bodies of the dead are carried on ordinary railway tickets they are classed as baggage.

While the general increase of baggage is enormous, there are several specific directions in which it shows a marked diminution. The decline in the popularity of the bicycle is shown by the fact that while 20,000 of these machines were carried, there was a decrease of 800 as compared with the previous year's figures.

The C.P.R. figures do not show whether babies are on the decrease or not, but they prove that there has been a very marked decline in baby carriages transported over the system. The number of these perambulatory vehicles carried in the twelve months was 4,227, a decrease of 1,300 on the preceding year.

Total abstainers will be glad to know that the people appear to find increasing pleasure in drinking milk. The number of cans of milk carried last year was 287,411, an increase of no less than 65,000 cans.

The figures inndicate that the canine population is increasing, the number of dogs carried being 11,198, an increase of 600. There has been a great increase in the number of parcels sent by passenger trains, the number being 70,841, which was forty more than last year.

THREE INCHES OF SNOW FELL ON APRIL 16th---ALMOST A RECORD

Three inches of snow and several degrees of frost, on the 16th of April, may seem more like a recital of conditions in Alaska than in Ontario weather man promises some relief show for yesterday. At times during the afternoon, one could well imagine that it was a day in December with the winter just coming on, instead of well on to the first of May, and house cleaning time.

The present situation is anything but seasonable, and while the weather man rpomises some relief soon, it is expected that wintry conditions will prevail for a few days more at least.

There are those that believe that after the present cold spell has passed, we will have a return of the warm weather which we experienced a few weeks ago, in March, and that it will be permanent then.

The Local Option By-Law In Asphodel Is Quashed

Examiner Special.

Toronto, April 17. — Mr. Justice Anglin this morning quashed the Local Option bylaw in Asphodel township, Peterborough county, on the ground that a polling place in one of the sub-divisions had been changed without public notice having been given, and that polling took place three or four days later than required by the bylaw. The vote stood 219 for and 109 against.

New Music Hall To Be Erected In Connection With Local Conservatory

Building Will Have Accommodation for 600 Persons and Will be Built at Once—At Rear of Conservatory of Music.

AVAILABLE FOR CONCERTS

Work has been begun on the construction of a music hall and concert hall, in connection with the Peterborough Conservatory of Music. Mr. James Montgomery is the contractor, and the building is to be completed, ready for use by September 1st next. The hall will be situated at the north, or rear, of the main Conservatory building, with access both from the latter and from Rubidge street. It will be 50 by 100 feet in area, and, with gallery, will seat about 500 or 600 persons. The building of this hall, which is to be used for Conservatory purposes, as well as being available for general concert purposes, is a welcome addition, both as representing the continued prosperity of the Conservatory, and the enlargement of its facilities, and as providing an urgent necessity in the city —a hall of medium accommodation capacity for the holding of concerts for which the opera house is not available, or too large, or too expensive.

Methodist Class Leaders Have Formed Association

A large and representative gathering of the class leaders of the Methodist churches of the city, met in the parlour of the George street church last evening.

Rev. Dr. Crothers, chairman of the district, occupied the chair, and Mr. G. H. Williamson, of the Y.M.C.A., acted as secretary, pro tem.

Interesting and profitable addresses on the class meeting question were delivered by Messrs. Batten, Dumble, Tovey, Yelland and others. Steps were taken to form a regular Class Leaders' Association for the city. All leaders, past leaders and assistant leaders are invited to become members.

Ex-Ald. Batten was elected President, Mr. William Crowe of Ashburnham, vice-president, and Mr. G. W. Powell, secretary-treasurer.

An executive committee, consisting of the officers and Mr. D. W. Dumble and Mr. A. Parker, was appointed.

The next meeting will be held in the George street church on the 1st Tuesday in May.

Duncan's "Brainstorm" Cause Of His Assault On Mr. George Cochran

NEW HOME

Proposal To Build A New Parsonage

FOR MARK STREET CHURCH

Present Building Likely Soon to be Replaced by New Residence for the Pastor and His Family.

There is a probability of a new parsonage being built for the Mark street Methodist church, in the near future. It is understood that the matter has been under discussion for some little time, and it is considered probable that action will be taken soon.

It is recognized that the present parsonage is hardly suitable, and if a new building is not erected, it will be necessary to spend considerable money in repairs and improvements to the building now occupied by the pastor and his family.

Since the present pastorate began the finances of the church have been improved materially, and the present condition of the congregation from this standpoint is quite satisfactory. It is felt by a number of te prominent members of the church that it is only proper that the parsonage should be in keeping with the progress and prosperity of the church, and it is expected that in the near future matters will have progressed to such an extent that the proposition will be brought before the congregation.

BOTH THE REGIMENTS MAY COME

This is The Hope Of The 57th.—Nothing Except Acknowledgment From Them Yet

57th's TRIP IS DISCUSSED

Beyond an acknowledgment of the invitation sent to them by the 57th Regiment, nothing has been heard from either the Royal Grenadiers of Toronto or the Dufferin Rifles of Brantford in reference to their coming here on May 24. Both regiments have replied, thanking the 57th for the invitation and expressing the pleasure they would have in accepting.

Before accepting, of course, it would be necessary for them to have a meeting to discuss the matter, and this has apparently not been done yet. The local militiamen hope to have an opportunity to entertain both regiments here on the holiday, in which case the day will be marked by a big military demonstration. Replies are expected from the two regiments immediately.

The matter of where the 57th will go for their annual trip is in the hands of a committee who have not yet reported. Brockville is the place most often mentioned in this connection, but it is by no means settled that the regiment will go there this summer.

REMAINS OF LATE ALFRED HAMMOND TAKEN EAST

Body Will be Buried by Cousin in Montreal—Funeral to C. P. R. Noon Train.

The funeral of the late Alfred Hammond, who died so suddenly in the C. G. E. Works on Monday, was held this morning. It was intended that the remains would be laid away in the Roman Catholic Cemetary in Peterborough, but during the service at the Cathedral, Mr. M. McFadden, who had charge of the funeral, received a telegram from Mr. McGue, Champlain street, Montreal, a cousin of the deceased, asking that the body be forwarded to him on the noon C.P.R. train. Mr. McFadden made the necessary arrangements, and was in good time reaching the station.

The late Mr. Hammond has several sisters in England, one a music teacher, and the general impression is that the circumstances of the family are excellent. The loss of their brother will be a severe blow. His remains were made out to one of his sisters. The remains will be buried in Montreal.

The Sherbrooke Street Man Who Objected to Removal of Child to the Shelter Must Stand Trial for His Action.

BEFORE THE MACISTRATE

Preliminary Hearing Was Given This Morning—The Story of the Attack Laid in Court.

The aftermath of William Duncan's assault on Mr. George Cochrane on Saturday night last, was a hearing before Magistrate Dunable this morning resulting in Duncan being committed for trial before His Honour Judge Weller. The circumstances were as related in the Examiner a few nights ago, as were as stated in that issue. Mr. R. F. McWilliams appeared for Duncan and Mr. Goodwill on behalf of the Children's Aid Society, for which Mr. Cochrane is the agent.

To Mr. Goodwill, Mr. Cochrane stated that in 1903 Willie Duncan was placed with this family by the officers of the Children's Aid Society. Willie and the three other children were taken into the custody of the Society, four years ago when the family lived in Havelock. Willie remained at the Shelter for one year out of the three and was given back to the parents on different occasions. On several occasions he had found it necessary to reclaim the child for the society owing to improper treatment. The teacher at the school refused to admit him on account of bodily uncleanness and thus he could not be allowed to mingle with the other children.

The Fight By Rounds

Mr. Henry, who was in company with Mr. Cochrane, went to call the police, and in his absence Mr. Duncan tried to put witness out. Mr. Cochrane won the first bout by almost choking the assailant. The second round was a repetition of the first. Duncan tried to land several wild directed blows, but was managed to ward them off. Round number three was also uneventful. The other people in the room tried to keep Duncan quiet for a while. However, he got away and tried to strike witness again. Things took a hand in the game and a bit witness on the call of the fee added to this Mrs. Duncan assisted in the attack and Mr. Kelly tried to hold Mr. Cochrane, who was the sorely pressed. Duncan tried to bite witness hand, while Kelly endeavored to pinion his arms to his body. Mr. Henry entered and Duncan ran at him and had a tussle with him. Witness did not see any blows struck.

Hot Argument

Mr. McWilliams and Mr. Goodwill entered into an argument as to the right of Mr. Cochrane to go to the house and demand the boy.

Mr. Wm. Henry gave evidence similar to that already heard.

Police Officer Meharry testified as to the last scene of the fracas when Mr. Cochrane was struck by Duncan.

Duncan was committed for trial before His Honour Judge Weller.

One Section—640 Acres Land for Sale in Alberta

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Ranfurly on the Canadian Northern Railway. The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no Galicians or Doukhobors in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The farmer owning the place adjoining this section threshed about 9,000 bushels of wheat last year. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three-quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $3,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6%. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. SHADOW AND SUBSTANCE

What good object—if a good object is, indeed, aimed at—those of the city council who uphold the obnoxious sign bylaw, expect to serve in harrying our merchants, it is difficult to conceive. It is equally difficult to conceive upon what grounds of consistency the self-contradictory bylaw is justified. It forbids, on the score of danger from falling and on the score of the appearance of the streets, ordinary hanging signs, but retains illuminated signs. Why is not one as dangerous as the other and why is not one as much a disfigurement as the other? Miserable quibbling worthy of a pettifogger, seems to be evoked. What is now a blind sign can, if, a light is placed above it be regarded as an illuminated sign and immune from the penalty of this twentieth century blue law, this petty tyranny relic of mediaevalism. Under its enforcement our merchants need not have a very vivid imagination to fancy what the conditions are in Russia.

The aldermen would better fulfil their obligations to their constituents if they would take themselves seriously. There are serious and important matters to be attended to, involving the real interests and actual welfare of the ratepayers. Let some of them take a turn outside the overhanging sign area and note the condition of some of our streets. Let them cast an eye over, say, Downey street, from Charlotte north to Hunter, which looks like a raging sea of mud congealed into rigidity. In the middle of the roadway is an upheaval from an improperly filled sewer trench. Flanking this rough and frowsy hogsback of mud impossible of travel, there are at about 30 feet intervals, mud mounds with deep mud holes on either side, resulting from sewer service trenches filled in a sloppy, slovenly manner. The street is a disgrace to the city and will be unfit for comfortable use for years. Rubidge street from Simcoe to Hunter, is still in a rough country road—but not half so good—condition. The sewer was laid two years ago and the street has never been levelled since. If it is done the city will have to be at the expense of doing what the contractor was paid for doing. Hunter street, west from the Cathedral was last summer the most beautiful road bed in the city. To-day an unsightly mound of mud over a foot high fills the gutter on the south side. A trench was dug there and this elongated dam, a vicious eye-sore and obstruction to access from carriages to residences, was allowed to be left there when it could have been tamped level with the road bed. The Machine Telephone Company put in pipes and properly tamped the trenches and left the streets "in the same condition they found them," as other contractors agree to do, but never do do, though they get paid for doing it.

Instead of digging up dusty blue laws and using them to annoy our merchants who pay two-thirds of the city taxes, and who pay about the whole of our nearly $400,000 payment of customs duties, who keep the city alive and give it the reputation of having the finest shops in the province. Instead of trifling with matters which in themselves do not amount to a crooked pin, let them put their heads together to look after our streets and see that after spending nearly $20,000 a year on them they are fit for a Rockey Mountain goat to travel over in safety. Nero fiddled while Rome was burning. Our city fathers are fiddling over the resurrection of musty bylaws which might have been allowed to slumber on forever without any interest of any citizen being injured or even imperilled. It doesn't look well for business men to practice child's play. Pursue the substance rather than the shadow.

NORTHWEST RAILWAY SERVICE

The despatches inform us that the first train from Edmonton to arrive at Winnipeg in twelve days came in on Saturday. The winter has been especially and exceptionally severe in the Northwest this year, and the interruption to traffic has resulted in much business loss and no little suffering. And it seems that milder weather will not remove the congestion, especially on the Canadian Northern, which it is stated is not sufficiently equipped with rolling stock to give effective service even apart from the severity of winter weather conditions. With the inflow of imigration, it is most desirable in the country's interest that it this state of affairs continues to exist the Railway Commission might reasonably take cognizance of it. The Manitoba Free Press, than which no other journal represents a greater interest on its own behalf and that of its constituency, the West, says:—

The lamentable condition of affairs produced by the lack of equipment of the Canadian Northern is not immediately remediable. The Cannadian Northern has notified the United States railways at St. Paul that it cannot carry settlers effects. And this, with the deplorable conditions consequent upon the failure of the Canadian Northern, are the net result of six years of the Roblin Government's railway policy, by which Mr. Roblin claimed in 1901 that he had "solved the transportation problem." There is no possible way of the Roblin Government evading its responsibility. The deficiency of the Canadian Northern in rolling stock has been notorious all along, despite the fact that the Roblin Government guaranteed bonds to the extent of $2,000 a mile over the Canadian Northern system, specially and solely for the purchasing of equipment. The bonds were issued, and the Canadian Northern got the money, but there is nothing to show that the Roblin Government ever asked for an accounting, or even took any steps to find out whether this money was expended on cars and locomotives for service on the lines in Manitoba, in fulfilment of the express terms and conditions of the Province's guarantee of the bonds.

There may be a little political animus behind the strictures of the Press, but this is not the first time that inadequacy of rolling stock has been urged as representing conditions inimical to the interests of the country, and the time is past when even great railway corporations can adopt a line of policy or practice not in line with the public interest, without being called to account.

PULP WOOD PRESERVATION

The American publishers — book and newspaper — are justifiably alarmed at the rapid disappearance of the pulp wood supply in the United States, and rather frantically call for the practice of lumbering operations by "conservative methods, according to the approved principles of the science of forestry." This is rather a high-sounding synonym for carrying on lumbering operations in relation to pulp woods, by the practice of common sense, and every-day business principles. The most ordinary common sense, and the most rudimentary business principles, suggest that in cutting timber, whether for pulp or lumber, the mature, or nearly mature, trees, should alone be laid low, leaving the young trees to grow into money. Those who have not observed, or investigated, or thought about the subject, have little idea what an immense quantity of timber is represented by the aggregate growth of even one season, operating on the thousands of young trees over a large forest area. Our pine forests and our pulp wood areas, if properly treated, are eternal as sources of supply—if intelligently and carefully treated. "Spruce," an authority says, "grows quickly and matures early." If only the mature trees are taken from a pulp wood area, it is probable that the young trees left, in a year would grow enough to compensate for the matured trees removed. This sensible restriction and regulation of cutting, applied to both our pulp wood, and pine timber, will place Ontario, and Canada at large in a most enviable condition, as compared with the United States, and other countries. It will mean that when the United States is swept clear of pulp wood there will be an abundant supply in Canada and, as demand fixes prices, we shall be in a position to drive a thrifty trade. The wisdom of forest preservation is too palpable for argument, and it is difficult to conceive how the Provincial Government can be so short-sighted as to practically ignore, as it does, the work of forestry, which, in a very large sense, transcends in importance, nine-tenths of the subjects that so strenuously engage the attention of the administrators of Ontario.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Freak legislation seems to be a little rampant these days. In New Jersey a legislative lunatic has proposed a tax on whiskers, and in our own circle we have the proposal of the bachelor tax, of the head tax on Italians and we actually have in operation the overhanging sign bylaw. None of these proposed taxes are justified by reason or even regarded half seriously, but they are perhaps not more unreasonable than the sign bylaw, especially its hair splitting distinction between dark and illuminated signs which seems to represent the difference between tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee.

THE ENGLISHMEN

The printed stories of the railway horror at Chaplesu on Wednesday last abound in details of the bravery of the passengers who, at imminent risk of a death of torture, laboured to save the men, women and children imprisoned in the burning wreckage. These passengers were for the most part English immigrants, landed a few days before and on their way to make new homes for themselves in the Canadian West.

No man who has not passed through experiences can know what line of conduct he would follow if he were put to such a test. The instinct of civilized man, of course, is to give aid to the suffering; to risk life to save life, and the history of civilization, and for that matter of barbarism abounds in records of the martyrdom of self-sacrifice. But on the obverse there is the less inspiring tale of selfishness and cowardice, and in this case it is worth noting that these Englishmen at Chapleau have given striking evidence to the living influence of the English spirit. They have honoured their native land and honoured the land of their adoption, which is British as England is British.

At a time when in certain quarters there is expressed a predilection, uninformed and unthinking, though it is, against the individual Englishman in Canada, the story of Chapleau should give the unthinking and the uninformed pause for thought. Canada is glad and is proud to be able to offer homes to the English, who exemplify in their own persons the traditional virtues of the English race.—Ottawa Journal.

Editor Post Card Column:—

Dear Sir,—As a ratepayer I was much interested in City Engineer Hay's report showing how the money goes. But I failed to notice any reference to the septic tank system in Ashburnham which was finished last year with a coping consisting of a bill for extras of $1,818, which, with arbitration expenses will amount to $2,000. Does this septic tank work properly? The engineer might have given us some information about an undertaking in which so many thousands of our taxes are invested, or sunk—which is it?

Yours truly,
"Ratepayer."

Health And Vitality For Old People

As old age creeps on vitality is lowered, the heart beats more slowly, the blood becomes more thin and watery, and the power of resistance is lowered. It is the old people above all others who require the new life and energy which come with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Thousands of old people depend on this treatment, because it calms and quiets the nerves, gradually and certainly enriches the blood, builds up the system and instils new life and vigour into their shrivelled arteries.

BRIDGENORTH LOSES GOOD NAME

Was Formerly Capital of Smith But the Council Now Comes to Peterboro' —Runaway in the Village.

OTHER INTERESTING NEWS

Bridgenorth, April 16. — Bad roads and very backward weather.

The ice in Chemong Lake is still about ten inches thick, but as there is open water along the shore it will soon begin to shift and move things. On that account Caretaker O'Leary, of the Chemong Bridge, is very restless these days and nights, as he may be compelled to put up the "No Thoroughfare" sign again. It may be news to some to learn that at this season when traffic is dangerous those who cross between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m., do so at their own risk. A notice containing the new law to this effect was posted at one of the approaches but some one wished to read it at his leisure and took it home. He will confer a favour by returning the same at an early date.

After some difficulty a new pathmaster has been secured for the Bridgenorth road division. We now look forward to better roads and sidewalks.

For over 40 years this has been the "capital" of Smith township. Now the council transacts their business in the county council chambers, Peterborough. For some unknown reason this change has been made. Perhaps the legislation of 1905 has been too much for the present incumbents.

We have several miners but only one miner here, that is Mr. John Turver, who is employed in a "digging" in Galway township. On account of the spring freshets he has returned to the village to spend a few days with friends. John is looking well and reports good times in the northern country.

It is the intention of Mr. William Nicholls to sow the village lot with a choice variety of fancy peas. This will be good news to the citizens.

A commodity which can now be secured at the sawmill here is building lath, and this will be a very great convenience to house builders in this community.

The carpenters all report that this will be a busy season.

Prospects for Chemong Park are very bright as some new cottages will be erected. One of the largest and handsomest has its foundation already laid and is progressing at a rapid rate. The contract is being executed by Mr. G. J. Jopling, which ensures first class work. This cottage is on the former Deane property which is the most extensive in the park and is owned by Prof. G. H. Bull of New York City.

Only a few have the distinction of planting maple trees and collecting sap from them sufficient for a good supply of maple sugar. For the past few years Mr. J. H. Brumwell has been tapping and boiling but he says that the present season is only an average one.

Mr. Albert Nicholls is now on the sick list, but it is to be hoped it is not for long, as the spring work is almost at hand.

While Mr. Harry Stubbs was unloading grain at Kelly's chopping mill yesterday at one o'clock, his whistle blew and his team decided to go up to the post office to see whether Mr. Andrew Jobe had the correct time or not. Such business means haste, so away they went at motor car speed, but just as they were turning in to their objective point they met a telephone pole delivering a message, and their high hopes were crushed in an instant. Their capture was then effected, and it was found that the damage was only slight.

The surface of Mr. Percy Udy's lot on the corner of Ward and Dunbar streets is being somewhat disturbed as preparations are being made for building a new store.

During the winter Bridgenorth surprised some of the surrounding burgs as to their hockey abilities. It is to be regretted that they have abandoned the summer game of football which held away here so long. But then, what's the use!

The usual contingent of river-men have migrated to the north to bring down the raw material for this season's cut of lumber, laths and shingles.

Some farmers are busy now looking for seed grain, and for horses to help in the spring work. Both these are scarce and high prices rule.

The Foresters held two meetings a month during the winter and continued on the march of progress. Now, only one meeting is held, on the last Friday of each month, and a good attendance is requested as there is always important business to be transacted.

Many thousands of shingles are being laid this spring; also many dozen eggs. Everybody is busy.

What was conceded to be one of the treats of the season was given at Gilmour Baptist church on the evening of April 10th. It was a treat inasmuch as it was highly educative and at the same time new and entertaining. The Young Ladies' Class of that church had secured Dr. Marsh of Springville to give his lecture, "A night in the Skies," and their action is a highly commendable one. In spite of the bad condition of the roads, a large audience assembled from all quarters of the neighbourhood. The subject of astronomy was made more real and interesting, as Dr. Marsh is a true student of that exact science. His opening remarks gave hard blows to the reading of character by palmistry and astrology and he also severely jarred some of the superstitious as to what should be done in certain phases of the moon. The lecture was supplemented by a series of limelight views of a very high order. By means of mechanical slides the motions of the earth and moon and planets were shown in a most realistic and convincing way. The other views showed the comparative sizes of the various planets and their satellites, sun spots, sun fires, eclipses, the surface of the moon and star groups, were also described and illustrated. The list was made complete by pictures of the large telescopes and observatories by which we are enabled to get these close range views of the heavenly bodies. One of the deepest impressions left on the minds of the audience was the vastness of the universe and the precision with which its several units moved. At the close of the programme a vote of thanks was tendered to Dr. Marsh and to those who were instrumental in getting this very instructive entertainment.

WILL DESCRIBE SCENE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

An Interesting Lecture Will be Given by Rev. Dr. Marsh, President Royal Astronomical Society.

On Friday night the next lecture under the auspices of the Royal Astronomical Society, Peterborough branch, will be given in the Y.M.C.A. by Rev. Dr. Marsh, and this lecture promises to be one of the most interesting yet given under this auspices. The subject will be one with which all are, to a certain extent, familiar, the intention of the lecturer being to discuss the sun. He will make his lecture of a popular, rather than of a technical, character, and will describe the sun in such a way that everyone will be able to understand what he will say in reference to sun spots, faculae, rice grains, chromosphere, photosphere and corona. He will go deeply into the solar conditions, and the lecture will be illustrated by a large number of excellent slides from photographs taken by some of the large telescopes.

The lecture will commence promptly at 8 o'clock, when the exact and official time will be given.

BOLOGNA SAUSAGE WAS TAKEN FROM MEAT STORE

And Ernest Lowes Had to Answer to Charge of Stealing at the Police Court This Morning.

VERY CONFLICTING STORIES

Ernest Lowes pleaded not guilty at this morning's Police Court to the charge of having stolen a bologna sausage from the butcher shop of Mr. Jas. Scott, George and Perry streets, on Friday last.

Mr. Scott testified that he could not say whether a sausage had been stolen or not. When he entered on Saturday morning he found a sausage on the floor of his shop.

Mr. Simon Murphy gave evidence to the effect that he was passing the place and saw a boy climbing out through the transom over the door, and a bologna sausage was lying on the sidewalk in front. Witness said to young Lowes, "It is a shame to throw the man's meat about like that." He answered, "It is not meat, it is only a pig's bladder," and repeated the statement. Young Lowes then threw the bologna in the window again. The other boy who came through the window said that someone had thrown his cap inside.

Robt. Keegan, aged 11, one of the boys, said that Ernest Lowes had told him to go in and throw out a bologna. He pushed him up and the little fellow crawled in. Lowes threw witness' hat in, and another boy threw his hat. Lowes told him to throw out the bologna when he was in the shop.

To Mr. Goodwill witness said that all the boys cried out to him to throw out a sausage.

Mr. Dumble did not fine Lowes as he could have done, but he gave him a severe warning not to appear again.

TWO MORE CITIES GONE.

Damage Done By Earthquake In Mexico Greater Than Supposed.

Mexico City, April 17.—The extent of the damage wrought by the earthquake are greater than hitherto has been reported.

The first belated press telegrams to reach this city for 24 hours past were received by the Associated Press at one o'clock yesterday afternoon. From them it is learned that the Town of Ayutla, to the east of Acapulco, and not far from the Pacific Coast, and the Town of Ometepre, about 70 miles to the east of Ayutla, have been practically destroyed.

The shocks continued at Chilpancingo, 125 miles south of here, all Monday night, and were quite severe. Many of the buildings that were left half standing by the previous tremblings were levelled to the ground.

The last shock at Chilpancingo occurred at four o'clock yesterday morning. The general in command of the troops were severely injured. The jail, the hospitals and the school buildings at this town were destroyed. The people have deserted the town and are living in improvised structures in the open air.

The Federal Government is extending aid to the Town of Chilpancingo, but it will be impossible to restore calm until the shocks cease.

The number of deaths reported to date is 37. Fourteen persons were killed in one house. The number of injured is placed at 39.

These figures, however, are not exact, and it is believed that the casualty list eventually will be found to be much larger.

Traffic between Mexico City and Vera Cruz has been completely suspended, as large sections of the track of both the International and Mexican Railroads are sinking.

The port of Acapulco is reported to be partially submerged.

The entire Pacific Coast between Acapulco and Salina Cruz, a distance of some 50 miles, is said to have suffered more or less severely.

MRS. PERKINS ON TRIAL.

Grand Jury Charged By Judge Mabee Yesterday.

Cayuga, April 17.—"Gentlemen, you will bear in mind you do not try the guilt or innocence of this woman. Your duties end when you come to an agreement as whether or not you have heard satisfactory evidence from the crown to warrant you in bringing in either a true bill or no bill to have Mattie Perkins tried before a petty jury in the charge of poisoning Henry Perkins."

In these terms the grand jury, sitting at the opening of the spring assize court of the County of Haldimand, were admonished by Justice Mabee to consider the bill of indictment charging Mattie Perkins of Canfield with poisoning her husband, who died last Christmas, by administering strychnine.

With no report from the grand jury at 5 o'clock Justice Mabee adjourned the court until to-day.

The names of 49 witnesses are endorsed on the bill of indictment. If a true bill is found it is unlikely that the trial will close before Saturday evening. There appears to be a strong feeling in favor of the prisoner.

CUPID'S AIDE JAILED.

Accused of Bigamy and Fraud On Two Women.

Philadelphia, April 17.—James Marshall, manager of a matrimonial agency in this city, was held in $1,000 bail yesterday, charged with bigamy and desertion.

Tenie Marshall, who assisted him in the management of the agency, is charged with obtaining money under false pretences.

Mrs. Marjorie Frvel and Mrs. Jennie Matthews appeared against the prisoners. Mrs. Frvel married Marshall in this city, after he had informed her that he owned gold mines in California and Alaska. She refused to advance him money and was deserted.

Mrs. Matthews married Marshall, who had assumed the name of Williams, in New York City. She met him in Buffalo and advanced him $1,400 to operate alleged mines.

Nearly 200 letters from women desiring to secure husbands were seized.

Tenie Marshall is also the wife of Marshall, but for the purpose of the agency, assumed the relations of a daughter.

SHOT BY HIS BROTHER.

Reggie Clarke Killed By Accidental Discharge of Gun.

Brockville, April 17.—Reggie, the 4-year-old son of Robert Clarke of Horton, was fatally shot by the accidental discharge of a gun. He and his brother, two years older, secured possession of a breach-loading gun. The older lad snapped a barrel and the charge tore across the little fellow's nose, tearing out the right eye and injuring the other. He died shortly afterwards.

MRS. HOLMAN TALKS.

Says She Would Have Killed White Had She Known.

Pittsburg, April 17.—The Pittsburg Leader yesterday afternoon prints a six-column statement from Mrs. Chas. J. Holman, mother of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, in which she defends herself against the accusations expressed and implied against her during the Thaw trial.

The statement opens by saying that two nights after the night upon which Harry Thaw shot Stanford White she received this telegram from her daughter: "It is most important for you to say absolutely nothing."

Until now she has remained silent and has been forced to take the defensive because of the attack made upon her by Mr. Delmas in his closing address to the jury. She denies that she aided the district attorney in any way.

In Love With Stage.

"Florence," she says, "was in love with the stage." She did everything to discourage her, but it was useless. The story of Florence's first meeting with Stanford White, she says, is substantially as told by the former on the witness stand. When Florence returned she told her mother she had met the grandest man. White, she says, warned her specifically against several young men with whom Florence had been acquainted, but did not refer to Thaw. His manner, words and actions were the personification of wholehearted, disinterested generosity, Mrs. Holman says, and if ever a woman reposed implicit confidence in a man she says she did.

Mrs. Holman then asserts that if Florence underwent the experience that is said to have befallen her, she did not take her into her confidence.

Continuing, she says: "Had she told me what she told the Thaw jury it would not have been necessary for Harry Thaw to kill Stanford White. I would have done it myself."

"My love for my daughter is as deep and intense as it was when I first held her in my arms a helpless baby."

Rupture Between Counsel.

New York, April 17.—The first open indication of the oft-repeated trouble between the array of attorneys who represented Harry K. Thaw in his recent trial came yesterday, when Henry C. McPike, associate of D. M. Delmas, called on Clerk Penny of the Supreme Court and demanded the immediate surrender of some of the exhibits introduced by the defence during the trial.

Acting on instructions from Daniel O'Reilly, who claims to be the only lawyer retained for the defence, the application was refused.

FORMER FOES FRATERNIZE.

Lord Roberts and General Botha At Guildhall Banquet.

London, April 17.—The colonial Premiers were presented with the freedom of the Guild Hall yesterday and subsequently were entertained at luncheon by the Lord Mayor, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and the corporation. Each of the visitors received letters-patent as a freeman, enclosed in a gold casket. The Premiers drove in procession to the Guild Hall, Gen. Botha, the Transvaal Premier, as "the Benjamin of the Brotherhood," riding with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Prime Minister, and bringing up the rear. The decorations of the streets through which the procession passed were not pretentious, but the visitors received a hearty welcome from large crowds of people.

The luncheon at the Guild Hall was a brilliant function. It was attended by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Premier Campbell-Bannerman, and other Cabinet Ministers; Field Marshal Lord Roberts, who cracked jokes with Gen. Botha about their experiences on the veldt; many peers and members of the House of Commons, and military and naval men in uniforms sparkling with decorations, while the women present were dressed in the most elaborate costume.

The Boer flag captured by the City Imperial Volunteer at Jacobsdal, which usually ornaments the banqueting hall, was removed on this occasion, so as not to offend Gen. Botha and his party.

SUCCESS IS ASSURED.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Says the Conference Will Prove It.

London, April 17.—Replying to the Lord Mayor's toast to the Premiers at the Guildhall luncheon, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was seated on the Lord Mayor's right, predicted that the results of the conference just opened would demonstrate to the world that the British Empire was a living entity and that its success was assured. The presence of General Botha and Dr. Jameson at the same conference board, the speaker added, showed that the meeting could not be a failure.

TWO BEAUTIFUL WOMEN WHO ESCAPED SPRING CATARRH BY TAKING PE-RU-NA

Spring Fever Is Spring Catarrh—Nothing Robs One of Strength Like Spring Catarrh.

Miss Nellie Condon.

Pe-ru-na Is a Fine Tonic For a Weary Woman.

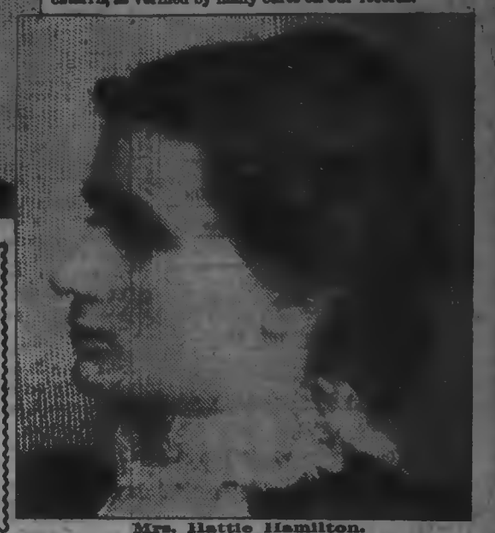
A Letter of Praise.

Miss Nellie Condon, 460 7th Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I consider Peruna the ideal spring tonic.

"For the past five years I have taken it at this time of the year and find that it enables me to endure the variable weather of the spring and the trying heat of the summer."

Peruna affords the most prompt and permanent relief in all cases of nervous prostration, caused by systemic catarrh, as verified by many cures on our records.



Mrs. Hattie Hamilton.

Gained Eighteen Pounds.

Mrs. Hattie Hamilton, R. F. D. 2, Sparta, Ky., writes: "I have taken two bottles of Peruna and commenced on the third.

"I did not really need the third one, but thought it best to take another bottle.

"I have always weighed 102 pounds, but since I began taking Peruna I weigh 120 pounds for the first time in all my life, and I am now 33 years old.

"Your medicine has surely done me a great deal of good and I have recommended it to several others who have begun taking it.

"My mother, who is 76 years old, had grown so weak she could scarcely walk.

"She took two bottles of Peruna and is fleshier and is looking well."

A Spring Tonic.

ALMOST everybody needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain, and cleanse the blood. That Peruna possesses such qualities is beyond all question.

We have on file thousands of letters which testify to the curative value of Peruna in cases of nervous depression and run down conditions of the system.

A Typical Letter.

Mrs. Rhoda Stufflebeam, Bunch, Iowa, writes:

"For years I suffered with catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes.

"I doctored with different physicians, but kept getting worse all the time.

"This spring I took a cold which settled on my lungs. I had such a cough I could not rest at night. My friends, and I myself thought I had consumption.

"A friend advised me to try Peruna. I bought a bottle and wrote to you for advice. Before I had taken one bottle, my cough was better so I concluded to give it further trial.

"I followed your directions as closely as possible, and thanks to you and Peruna, I am a well woman to-day."

Peruna never fails to prevent spring catarrh or nervous prostration, if taken in time.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotics of any kind.

Peruna is perfectly harmless, if taken according to the directions on each bottle. So used, it can be taken any length of time without acquiring a drug habit.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh.

There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years.

Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a harmful nature.

WEDDING BELLS

FRANKISH-ROSE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Rose, second line of Dummer, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, April 10th, when their youngest daughter, Mary Gertrude, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Frankish, of Douro. The house was comfortably filled by a number of the relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely robe of white voilenne over taffeta, and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. George W. Ross, B.A., of Mono Centre, uncle of the bride, the company did justice to the bountiful supper provided.

Many beautiful gifts testified to the esteem in which the young couple are held. The evening passed very pleasantly and when the "wee sma' hours" were not far ahead, the happy couple took their departure for their future home in Douro, accompanied by the good wishes of all.

OSBORNE-HAY

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mrs. C. J. Snyder, 435 1-2 George street, at 10 o'clock this morning, when her sister, Miss Maud Evelyn Hay, daughter of Mr. R. M. Hay, was united in marriage to Mr. David O. Osborne, of the local C.P.R. office staff, and son of the late J. D. Osborne, of Listowel. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Davidson in the presence of the imediate friends of the young couple. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. R. A. W. Hay.

The bride was prettily attired in an attractive gown of white silk trimmed with real lace and with a white hyacinths hat with long tulle ties. The bridesmaid, Miss Cora Louise Osborne, of Listowel, the groom's sister, wore a becoming gown of cream voilenne trimmed with chiffon and a large picture hat with plumes and long ties. Mr. A. O. Myers assisted the groom.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, a sumptuous dejeuner was served, Mr. T. H. Hooper being the caterer for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Osborne left on the 11.33 C.P.R. train on a wedding trip to Montreal and Boston. They will take up residence at 567 George street on their return. The bride's going-away gown white hyacinths hat with long tulle rose-coloured hat and gloves.

Both bride and groom are very popular in Peterboorugh, a fact that was shown by the large number of valuable and useful presents that received.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Royal Chef

"The Royal Chef," with Harry Hermsen in the stellar role, will make its first appearance in Peterborough, on Monday, April 22. The list of artists contains the names of numerous people of thorough training, wide experience and reputation, and, taken as a whole, point to a salary list very expensive, including Harry Hermsen, Oscar Ragland, Walter B. Smith, Douglas Romaine, Osborne Clemson, Gertrude Hutcheson, Elsie Frazee, Grace Outcault and Charlotte Cameron. As for the mounting of the play itself, none but the highest praise can be given. It is said to disclose a fine appreciation of scenic values and an artistic sense of correctness. The entire production throughout was built in New York for this season's tour, and displays unusual fidelity to artistic standards. The second act, showing the interior of the "Rajat's" palace, gives the appearance of architecturil solidity, distance and correct perspective, while the first act is a beautiful and rich picture of Orientalism. Every property down to the smallest detail is in keeping with the surroundings. The play is costumed with remarkable richness, and, better still, the players know how to wear them. No better example of lighting effects has ever been employed in spectacular productions. The appearance of the "Chef" in Peterborough will be awaited with interest, for, although never seen here before, much of its reputation has preceded it.

DREDGE SIR "WILFRID" IS LOCATED

Government Dredge Which Sank in Lake Ontario is Standing in 75 Feet of Water and Will be Raised.

Port Hope, April 16. — The tug Hercules, belonging to the Polson Iron Works of Toronto, has succeeded in locating the dredge Sir Wilfrid, which sank near Newcastle in 75 feet of water about three years ago, while being towed down the lake into commission. The tug commenced work last Thursday, and although the buoy which marked the location of the dredge had been washed away the crew have made excellent progress. As soon as the water becomes more calm divers will go down and the necessary pontoons will be brought from Toronto. The dredge will be raised and taken into shallow after where the machinery will be removed.

ENTERTAINED THE YOUNG MEN'S GUILD

A Delightful Evening Was Spent at St. Andrew's Manse Last Night—An Interesting Programme.

The Young Men's Guild of St. Andrew's church, met in St. Andrew's manse last night, and after the reading of the minutes and the reception of new members were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Potter and a very very pleasant evening was spent.

Mr. F. E. Kerr gave a most interesting talk on the Union Jack, explaining the term "Union" and "Jack," and giving the meanings of the three crosses, S. George's, St. Andrew's and St. Patrick's, narrating their origin and history.

Mr. Freeland delighted the company with his rousing national songs rendered in his rich basso voice. Mr Duncan Campbell also gave excellent service in his strong and inspiring patriotic solos. Mr. Moore entertained the house with his capital rendition of the "Irish Fusiliers," and responded to a well merited encore. Mr. Wm. Common assisted with the flute, and Mr. Barry treated the Guild to a well appreciated piano solo. Mr. William Campbell, on behalf of the Guild, extended the warmest gratitude to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Potter for their hospitality, to Mr. Freeland, Mrs. D. Campbell, Mr. Moore, Mr. Common, Mr. Barry and Mrs. McClelland, for their most valuable help.

This motion, seconded by Mr. T. W. B. Black, was vociferously carried.

Mr. Common proposed "thanks" to Mr. F. E. Kerr for his valuable "treat" on the Flags, and this, too, was carried amidst the wildest enthusiasm.

A musical contest formed part of the evening's programme, and on examination of the papers the prize was awarded to Mr. Gilbert Markle.

Refreshments being served, all joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne," and in recognition of the birthday party celebrating the 43rd year of the pastor, the entire company sang heartily, "For he's a jolly good fellow," and gave three cheers and a tiger.

Messrs. W. Melhroy and W. S. Davidson were in Toronto yesterday for the purpose of securing necessary facilities for the big minstrel show, which will be given in a short time under the auspices of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club. Their visit was a most successful one, inasmuch as they were able to obtain from the Toronto Elks the complete score of the great minstrel performance put on by that organization in Massey Hall recently. The score is said to be a splendid one, with some great songs and fine opportunities for chorus work.

The local minstrels will be able to put on a second part, and it will be composed of some high class vaudeville acts. Rehearsals will commence almost immediately, and the entertainment promises to be the event of the season.

Messrs. Melhroy and Davidson, while in Toronto, also secured a complete set of costumes for the performance.

MISSIONARY WORK GIVES RETURNS

Rev. H. Peckover in Address at St. Andrew's Says, "It is the Only Kind That Endures."

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY

A very large and enthusiastic meeting was held in St. Andrew's lecture hall yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Andrew's church. Many of the societies of other churches were represented and before the close of the meeting presented the greetings of their respective organizations, and all expressed their intense delight and profit at being present.

The following spoke on behalf of the societies: Mrs. Botsford, St. John's; Mrs. D. Hunter, Murray street; Miss Chamberlen, All Saints'; Mrs. Wright, Park street; Miss Best, St. Paul's; and Miss Tindall, George street Methodist.

The Rev. Horace Peckover of Omemee gave a splendid address, dealing with the most important phases of missionary effort. He gave a picture of the vastness of the field — the many difficulties to be encountered — the answers to objections raised against missions — the very many encouragements — and the ultimate triumph of the Gospel of Christ. Mr. Peckover scored the attitude of many who are hindering the great work by the spirit of Higher Criticism, and the New Theology (so-called) and urged upon all the maintenance of the truth as it has been practised in the past — inasmuch as it had proved the power of God in the conversion of sinners. The neglect of Christian missions will discredit the religion of Christ.

The speaker declared that there was no enterprise that gave such magnificent returns. The inventor, manufacturer, the chemist, etc., each put money, brains, genius, into their work, but it only fades and crumbles away. Yet the Gospel is an everlasting gospel. It is for the Christian women of our land to hold the ropes, while the missionaries are carrying forward the message of the Saviour.

He closed with eulogistic and inspiring words, concerning the important work the women had done. Her place in home, church and community could not be compared to the dignity and force she had been when reaching out the loving hand to sympathy and help to those perishing.

At the conclusion of the address, the president, Mrs. J. G. Potter, expressed the thanks of the society for the practical, encouraging and instructive address given by Mr. Peckover. A test was made of the meeting when everyone present pledged herself to do all that possibly lay in her power to help on the good work.

Rev. Mr. Potter pronounced the benediction after which refreshments were served.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY HELD MEETING

Charlotte Street Auxiliary is Strong Financially and Otherwise.

In spite of the inclement weather yesterday afternoon the attendance at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Charlotte street Methodist church was most encouraging. Mrs. Kilgour, president of the Auxiliary, presided over the meeting which was held in Charlotte street Sunday school room. The most important business was the election of officers for the coming year. It should be a matter of satisfaction to the former officers that their efforts were appreciated as was shown by all but one being re-elected.

The following will hold office for 1907:

President—Mrs. Kilgour.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Switzer.
2nnd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. McClelland.
Recording Secretary — Mrs. J. K. Moore.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs Lyle.
Treasurer—Mrs. T. Allum.

After this business was completed the ladies discussed, generally, the prospects of the Auxiliary. The finances are good and show that the past has been a prosperous year, and the ladies commence again with every encouragement for even better work.

ALL HUMAN BONES ARE BURIED

Contractor Says Particular Care is Taken of all Bones From Collegiate Institute Excavations

In yesterday's issue a paragraph appeared, founded on information supplied the Examiner by what was considered a reliable person, stating that a collie dog was seen carrying in his mouth one of the human bones unearthed in excavating for the Collegiate Institute building. It is a pleasure to state that the information left at the Examiner office was more than probably unfounded. The informant doubtless mistook an ordinary bone for that of a human being.

The fact is that the workmen employed on the excavation are instructed by the contractors to place every bone that may be unearthed, in a box provided for the purpose. It is stated that the men seem to take a great interest in doing this, and even small boys are known to look out for bones, and, if found, place them in the box mentioned. The contents of this box are regularly removed to St. Peter's Cemetery and decently and reverently interred.

PEEPS INTO WOMEN'S LETTERS

If our readers could spend one morning looking through the letters received from all over Canada by the Zam-Buk Company, it would bring home to them with irresistible force the healing virtues of this great household balm. Old women, young women, wives, mothers and even young girls have something to say about how Zam-Buk did this or that good office in their home. Many of these writers give permission to make extracts from their grateful testimony. From these the following were taken at random:

"I was troubled for some weeks with salt rheum in hands and arms, and was using a salve which did me little good. On receiving a box of Zam-Buk I applied it and it really seemed to act like magic! The itching and the burning ceased, and in a few days the skin was cleared and healthy." So writes Miss E. A. Butchard, of North Keppel.

"Three boxes of Zam-Buk cured me of eczema from which I had suffered a long time." So says Mrs. Gladden of Mansonville, Que.

Zam-Buk cured a case of blood-poison in my family and I wish to thank you for the great blessing it has proved," is the effect of a letter from Mrs. Webb, of Dovercourt.

And so one could go on quoting extract after extract, showing how Zam-Buk cures chronic sores, ulcers, abscesses, bad leg, itch and blood poison; takes the soreness out of cuts and burns, and grows new healthy skin over injured or diseased places. All stores and druggists sell at 50 cents a box, or the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, will mail for price.

GIGANTIC SALE OF BRUSSELS CARPETS

The J. C. Turnbull Company's Diplomatic Purchase of a Manufacturer's Surplus Stock.

The striking announcements made by the J. C. Turnbull Co., Limited, of the purchase of 3790 yards of Brussels Carpet at a less figure than the manufacturer's cost has become the leading topic among housekeepers and others in the city. Just at this particular season, when housefurnishing is a live question, and when they have problem of having to pay higher prices for carpets because of the advance demanded by manufacturers is being considered, the news of this timely purchase of The J. C. Turnbull Co. will be particularly welcome. The Turnbull Company never had such a satisfactory offer made to them in carpets, and the result is, they never had so much Brussels Carpet before.

The carpets will be on sale for the first time on Friday morning, April 19. It is safe to say, judging by the figures, that buyers during this sale will save at least three dollars on every ten yards they buy.

Some Results of Torpid Liver

Headache, bad taste in the mouth, indigestion, feelings of fulness and discomfort, constipation, back ache, kidney derangements and bodily pain are some results of a torpid, sluggish liver. By their extraordinary influence on the liver Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills positively removes the cause of these ailments and disorders.

AN OFFER

To the Weak and Weary Women of Peterborough.

"There are hundreds of women in this vicinity who are dragging themselves through life in pain and misery, without vitality, strength or health," said Mr. McDermid, of McDermid & Jury, our local druggists. "They get no happiness out of life and are just in a condition to be attacked by almost any disease. They need a vitality-making and strength-creating tonic.

"Now, at our expense, we want to ask every such woman to try our cod liver preparation, Vinol, which contains, beside tonic iron, the medicinal elements of cod liver oil, but no oil or grease. It is delicious to take, creates a healthy appetite, makes pure, rich, red blood, and gives strength and vigour to every organ of the body better than any medicine we have ever sold in our store, and when a woman is in this condition it makes life worth living.

"When we say 'at our expense' we mean that if the medicine you buy from us and pay for does not benefit you, we will refund every cent of it cheerfully, and thus you try it at our expense." McDermid & Jury, Druggists. Also at The Market Drug Store (The Ormond & Walsh Old Stand).

THE VESTRY MEETING WAS HELD

St. John the Baptist Church, Lakefield, Held Adjourned Meeting on Monday Night Last.

Examiner Special.

Lakefield, April 17. — On Monday night the adjourned vestry meeting in connection with St. John's Anglican church, was held, when the report of the auditors, Messrs. Graham and Hilliard, was presented. The report was adopted.

The question of the erection of a new fence to replace that which has done service for so many years, was discussed, on the report of the committee appointed to ascertain information as to the cost of a new structure. After some discussion, it was decided to make the present fence with some necessary repairs, do duty in the meantime.

BRASS WORKERS HELD DELIGHTFUL AT HOME

Many Enjoyed the Dance in the Foresters Hall Last Night

The brassworkers held the last at home of the season last night and it proved a most enjoyable event, a fact reflecting great credit on the committee, who have been most untiring in their efforts to make things pleasant.

About forty couples danced to the strains of Howard's orchestra, and the catchy, up-to-date music charmed the dancers. During the evening dainty refreshments were served by the ladies and the pleasant evening drew to a close about 1 a.m.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS.—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,
(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

STRONG LETTERS AGAINST PROFESSIONAL HOCKEY

In Voting Against the Scheme, Several Enthusiasts Give Their Views, Which Have Demoralizing Influence.

Dear Sir,—In reply to your request for opinions on the problem of professional hockey, I take this opportunity of stating my views on this most important question. I think that if the local club started in the professional game they would be making the greatest mistake of their career. When hockey reaches a business plane it is time to develop some other sport. The people of this city will not, I think, take kindly to the idea of supporting a team whose members, perhaps, never saw Peterborough before the season opens and whose only idea will be to get as much money as is possible with a minimum amount of service. Stick to the amateur game and develop your young material, following the example set by Stratford, and I do not think that the club will have any reason to complain, that they are not receiving the support they merit. By all means, have nothing to do with the professional article if you don't want to kill the game in this city.

ANTI-PRO.

Interest seems to be growing in the vote being taken on the professional hockey question, and the supporters of the amateur article are coming to the front. One man, who does not think enough of the cause to mark a ballot, at least, he has not sent one in, writes the following on the subject:

Sporting Editor Examiner,—

Your invitation to your readers to express their views on the question of professional hockey is surely superfluous. Any game which is advertised as professional hockey is no longer sport, but business, and is on the same footing as prize-fighting.

FAIR PLAY.

The insinuation that professional hockey is no better than prize-fighting will be hotly resented by the advocates of the pro. game. They have their opportunity of replying through these columns and of expressing their opinion by means of a ballot, which should be sent to this office.

Sporting Editor Examiner,—

I have pleasure in herewith recording my vote against professional hockey for Peterborough. I think it would have a demoralizing and degrading effect upon one of the brightest and healthiest of our winter sports, and will tend to discourage the development of new players, and in this way tend to destroy hockey altogether. It would die of inanition. After the first crop or two of professionals is laid on the shelf, there would be no more to take their places. Peterborough has always had a proud name for the clean and undiluted character of her amateur sporting organizations of all kinds, and should be the last place to think of professional hockey. We all know what professional baseball is, how the game has degenerated under professionalism. After all, if we had a pro. hockey team, and it won, that would be no glory to Peterborough; the winners might be rank outsiders who have no interest in Peterborough and Peterborough no interest in them. Taking up professional hockey out of pique against the Hoztown controlled O.H.A. is biting off one's nose to spite one's face. Let us keep sport clean, and keep the spirit of commercialism and graft out of our amateur sports.

Yours for clean sport,

AMATEUR.

THE HARRIERS' CLUB TO TAKE A RUN

To-night, Instead of the Football Game Scheduled Between Basketball Teams.

The football match scheduled for to-night between the members of the different Y.M.C.A. basketball teams, has been postponed on account of the unfavourable weather, and in place of the game the Harriers will take their first run. The men are asked to be ready at the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock sharp. As this is the first of the season, the distance run will not be very great. A full turnout is requested by the captain of the club.

HARRY CARR WON THE ROLLER SKATING RACE

Interesting Event at the Charlotte Street Rink Last Night—The Two-Step Competition.

There was a big crowd at the Charlotte street roller rink last night despite the inclement weather. A half mile race was one of the special features of the evening and was won by Harry Carr after an exciting race. Frank Clancy was second and Fred Miller third. A new grand march called the "Whirlpool," or the "May Pole," was introduced and was very effective and spectacular, the intricate figures being very pretty.

An interesting event was the two-step competition, the prize winners being Miss Hazel Craig, in the ladies event, and Mr. Howard Mallory among the gentlemen.

BOWLING

The entries for the big bowling tournament to be held in the Majestic alleys next week, close on Saturday night, and those intending to bowl should send in their names before that time. Already a large number of entries have been received, and the affair promises to be a great success.

• • • •

Among the teams that will be entered in the big bowling tournament to take place next week at the Majestic Alleys, will be a team representing the Munro House. The aggregation figures on carrying off considerable of the spoils.

BASEBALL

The Baltimore Eastern League team have secured the services of "Dooney" Hardy, the southpaw who twirled for Providence last year.

"Dooney" don't like Lindsay a little bit ever since Bill Cinnamon and the Redskins walloped him all over the lot on a certain occasion when the southpaw pitched for Cobourg.—Lindsay Post.

Yebbis Flaherty was on the slab for Lindsay that day against Hardy. Local fans will also remember seeing Peterborough put the southpaw to the bad in the Midland League series one year when he twirled for Lindsay against Dan McCabe, here.

AN ODE TO LOCAL GOLF PLAYERS

The Golf season will soon be opening, and in view of this fact the following parody handed the Examiner by a member of the local club will be read with interest:—

THE BATTLE OF AUBURN.
(With apologies to Goothey.)
By
"COL. D. STREAMER,"
Author of Perverted Proverbs, etc.

It was a summer's morning,
My work was not begun,
And I, before the clubhouse door,
Sat blinking in the sun;
While near me, "Putted" on the "Green"
My youngest daughter Benzoline.

She did not see her brother Fred
Take something hard and white,
Which he had found upon the ground
And throw with all his might;
But when it struck her on the head,
I can't repeat the things she said!

I took it from the lad, who stood (Expectorating) by,
And thinking it would do him good,
I mentioned, with a sigh,
"It is a ball that some poor gent.
Has lost in the great Tournament."

"I find them by the dozen, for
There's many of them lost;
I sell them cheap at 15 cents,
A dollar's what they cost;
These Haskells help to pay the rent,
After the annual Tournament."

"Now tell us what's a Tournament,"
Young Fred, excited, cries;
"And," added fragrant Benzoline,
"Without your usual lies!
Tell us precisely your intent
In mentioning this Tournament."

"It is the Golfers," I replied,
"Who knock the balls about;
And what on earth they do it for
I never could make out;
But ev'rybody says the same,
That golf is an enchanting game.

"Two players stand and strive to strike,
To poke, or push or roll,
Two balls into a hole:
He wins who can contrive to coax
His ball to need the fewest pokes.

"Your Uncle William used to play;
The secretary he,
Who falsified the club's accounts,
And so was forced to flee.
Much in demand was Uncle Bill,
The police are looking for him still.

"How well I recollect the scene!
The broken oaken door,
The office where the fire-proof safe
Lay empty on the floor!
But things like this must be, and will
While people trust your Uncle Bill.

"Now all the gold your Uncle took
He buried in that 'green,'"
"And what became of it at last?"
Quoth little Benzoline.

• • • •

"Poor Bill," said I, "was drowned at sea;
Which was a splendid thing for me!"

WRECK ON G. T. R. NEAR BIRDSALLS CLEARED UP

G. T. R. Made Excellent Arrangements for Not Delaying Passenger Trains.

The wreck on the Belleville line of the G. T. R., which occurred near Birdsall's, has been cleared up, and it has been learned that the damage was slight. The rolling stock was not badly damaged, while the buggies with which two cars were laden were protected by the cases in which they were packed. The other four cars contained lumber, and are practically intact.

The G. T. R deserve praise for the despatch in which they arranged for the passage of trains.

This accident demonstrates conclusively the great value of the air break. As soon as the cars had parted the whole train stopped within a few feet, although it was going at a high rate of speed. It proves that it is one of the greatest inventions ever patented.

"MAY DAY" WILL PASS QUIETLY IN PETERBOROUGH; LABOUR IS SATISFIED

Demand for Men in Building Trades is Good and Conditions Are Described as Satisfactory.

HIGHER WAGES PREVAIL

"May Day" is less than two weeks away, and so far as the relations between the labour unions and local employers is concerned, everything is quiet. A prominent labour union man to-day informed the Examiner that he did not anticipate any difficulty whatever when the first of May arrived. As a matter of fact, the carpenters and employers have already entered into the new wage arrangement, the new scale having taken effect on April 1, and so far as he knew there was no trouble worth mentioning.

There is a good demand for men, especially those connected with the building trades, and the result of this is that a good man can command good wages, and the employers are willing to pay well for men who can do anything in their line of work. He stated that a great many carpenters were coming to Peterborough from the Old Country, but as a general rule they were not accustomed to the class of work done in Canada, and as a consequence, did not command as high wages as those who had learned their trade here.

The wage schedules of the other trades engaged in building were acceptable, both to the employers and the tradesmen, and he looked forward to a year of peace and progress so far as the labour unions and employers in this city are concerned.

MRS. PERKINS,

Cameron In Police Court; Had No Defence To Offer

Made No Effort to Fight the Charges of Assault Laid Against Him---Pleaded Guilty to Everything---Thorndyke Believed to be Injured Internally.

"Guilty, Your Worship," was Frank Cameron's response to three charges of having unlawfully wounded three men yesterday afternoon in the Royal Hotel. Levi Thorndyke, one of his victims, is confined to St. Joseph's Hospital with a rather serious flesh wound and probable internal injuries. Patrick King and Gilbert Blezzard were the other two men who were slashed by Cameron, but their injuries are not serious.

The prisoner appeared in the box showing the effects of his bloody rampage in the hotel bar. There was a bad cut under his left eye, and his face and shirt were bespattered with blood. His bearing was quite the reverse, however, of what the eager crowd that filled the court room expected to see. He was very pale and his muscles perceptibly twitched as he acknowledged his guilt of the three offences.

Made no Defence

It was thought that he would make some effort to defend himself, and at least plead that he had acted in self defence. It was a bitter disappointment to the scandal lovers who crowded the dingy court room that the prisoner tamely submitted without any effort to save himself. In answering the charges, prisoner said that he was intoxicated and had no knowledge of what he had done. He had nothing to say regarding his deeds, and submitted himself for prosecution.

Magistrate Dumble told the prisoner that if he had anything to say to do so, that the fact that he was intoxicated was no extenuating circumstance. His Worship deferred judgment for one week.

Was Photographed

Cameron was afterwards taken from the police station to Roy's to be photographed. A large crowd waited around the station to get a glimpse of the prisoner, and thus satiate their parched thirst for the sensational. In the meantime, Cameron's past life will be microscoped, and his criminal record, if there is any, will be weighed in judgment.

NO LOUD DRESSING

Growth of Art and Refinement Responsible for the Change.

In his address to the Semi-ready stores, the president of the Semi-ready Company several months ago premised the prevailing modes for the summer of 1907. Among other things, he said:

"Anything like a vogue of bright colour is not to be expected this season, the grey tones still being proper. The attempt to introduce the various green shades has been a failure. The growth of art and refinement among the people is one cause for the more conservative style in dress. In earlier years, a few leading tailors could stampede the people from one style to another, knowing that drastic changes made for unwonted activity in business. But to-day the styles change gradually, and the colour and patterns can never become garish and loud." The chief of the Semi-ready Company has a continental reputation as a designer, and his attitude is a sensible one.

BURNING PAPERS EXPLODED

Young Lady in Hope Township Had a Very Narrow Escape—Badly Burned By Explosion in Stove.

A VERY DEEP MYSTERY

The Port Hope Guide of yesterday says: A young lady who is employed by Mr. and Mrs. Oran Dafoe, township of Hope, met with a singular, yet very serious accident yesterday. She was attending to her household duties as usual, and had just placed some old papers in the fire when, in an instant, a terrible explosion followed. The unfortunate lady was in the act of placing the cover on the stove, when the explosion took place, and her face and hand were enveloped in the flames. Her face was badly burned, and the sight of both eyes injured, one probably permanently. The windows in the room were all smashed, and the stove badly shattered.

The cause of the explosion is a deep mystery. There was no gun powder in the house, or, in fact, to Mr. Dafoe's knowledge, no explosive of any description.

Dr. Clemesha is in attendance, and under his care the lady is progressing very favourably.

HIS MATRIMONIAL ADVENTURES

Had 150 of Them and James Marshall Got Himself Into a Peck of Trouble Over the Head Of It.

HUNDREDS OF LETTERS

Examiner Special.

Philadelphia, April 18. — James Marshall, manager of a matrimonial agency in this city, was held in $1,000 bail to-day charged with bigamy and desertion. Tenie Marshall, who claimed to be a daughter of Marshall, and assisted him in the management of the agency, was held in $600 bail, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Mrs. Marjorie Friel of this city and Mrs. Jennie Matthews, who refused to give her address, appeared against the prisoners. Mrs. Friel married Marshall in this city after he had informed her that he owned gold mines in California and Alaska. She refused to advance Marshall money and was soon afterward deserted. Mrs. Matthews testified she married Marshall, who had assumed the name of Williams, in New York City. She said she met the defendant in Buffalo and advanced him $1,400 to operate his alleged mines.

When Marshall was arrested nearly 200 letters from women desiring to secure husbands were seized. The letters were from various sections of the country and were answers to advertisements inserted by Marshall in newspapers throughout the United States. Tenie Marshall is the wife of Marshall, but for the purpose of running the agency, assumed the relations of a daughter. She is said to be a resident of Rochester, N.Y.

WEDDING BELLS

MOORE-SOMMES

A pretty house wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. Walter Jarvis, 72 Victoria avenue, last evening, when Miss Cora Sommes daughter of Mr. G. Sommes, of St Ola, Ont., was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Irving Moore, of the same place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. M. Manning in the presence of the bride's father and relatives from St. Ola and this city.

The bride was attired in white silk and wore the bymenal veil. Her travelling suit was of grey lady's cloth and hat with trimmings of the same colour.

Supper was served, and the happy couple were "at home" to their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will leave on the midnight train to-night for a trip to Montreal, and returning they will reside in St. Ola. Many presents were received by the bride, most of them being at her home in St. Ola.

DEMORALIZING THE BUSINESS

Passenger and Freight Trains May Have to Stop in a Few Days if Miners' Strike Continues.

THE SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Calgary, Alta, April 18. — The situation in Western Canada created by the action of the miners in leaving work is demoralizing business. No condition quite so serious has ever existed since this country came before the public, said Mr. R. J. Jamieson, superintendent of the central division of the C. P. R. last night.

Already the cement works in Calgary have closed down. This means the loss of many hundreds of dollars. The C. P. R. is handling no dead weight, and the C. P. R. officials announce that it is only a matter of a week or two when all freight and passenger trains must stop.

Manufacturers in Calgary are soon to close. The domestic supply of coal at present is not interfered with and will not suffer for some time. There is no strike, the miners say. The miners are merely leaving work. There is no law to prevent that, and there is no conciliation act ever framed which can reach it. If a miner does not want to work, what is there to prevent him from lying idle. He is not on strike; he is merely resting.

One Section—640 Acres

Land for Sale in Alberta

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Ranfrerly on the Canadian Northern Railway. The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no Galicians or Doukhobers in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The farmer owning the place adjoining this section threshed about 9,000 bushels of wheat last year. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $3,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6%. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. Further particulars may be had at the EXAMINER OFFICE, where full information may be had.

CHEAPER POSTAGE

The thanks of the reading public, and of all those who would make good of bad in the way of current literature, are due to Hon. Mr. Lemieux, Postmaster-General, who, in conjunction with the British Postmaster-General, has arranged a postal convention with the Mother Country, by virtue of which there is to be an important reduction in the postal rate on British newspapers and periodicals. The previously existing rate on newspapers, magazines and trade journals, coming to Canada, has been a half-penny per two ounces, equivalent to eight cents per pound. Under the new arrangement the postage rate on bona-fide journals is a penny per pound, the charges on packets not exceeding two ounces, remaining at half a penny. The reduction is granted in consideration of the fact that the Dominion Postmaster - General undertakes to carry free of ocean transit charges all British magazines, magazines and trade journals sent to Canada by vessels under contract with the Canadian Government. This relieves the British post office of the cost of transit charges to the extent of four and one-third cents per pound. The cost to Canada of this new postal arrangement will be $25,000 to $30,000 per year, while the cost to the British Government will be much greater. Next to Sir William Mulock's imperial penny postage, it is one of the most important empire-cementing arrangements made in recent years.

Not only will there be the advantages consequent upon facility of access to the best current British literature, but the advantage in quality, which will help to check the demoralization of the taste of Canadians, by the use of literature of a less exalted ethical standard than that of Great Britain. Canada is flooded with the cheap and nasty literature of the United States, because of proximity, and because it is cheap, and too often, it is feared, because it is nasty. Even the higher class of journals and magazines of our American cousins is foreign in spirit and aspiration to Canadians. It deals with social and political conditions which have no place in Canadian experience. The extent to which Canadians consume American cheap literature is bound to have a demoralising effect, unless speedily counteracted. We are not populous enough, nor yet rich enough to have a class journal and magazine literature of our own, and we take to the "American" because it is convenient, and we have not taken to the British because it has been difficult of access. The new postal arrangement will give Canadian readers access to British literature of the kind named. That will not be the least of its benefits.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A British medical journal states that there is a tendency among doctors to return to the old discarded practice, bleeding. Many persons with a lively memory of doctors' bills, cannot realize that bleeding was ever discontinued.

Our local contemporary may be expected to join the British Government with the city Board of Education as an object of attack on the score of practising star-chamber methods. The colonial premiers attending the conference, now in session in London, were willing to have reporters present at the deliberations, but the Government ruled them out. There are, doubtless, matters that come before the conference for discussion which, in the interests of the Empire, should not be prematurely made known, as there are similar matters coming before the Board of Education. If Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman had known how strongly our esteemed back-door contemporary felt on the star-chamber subject he might have taken a different course and given the reporters a show.

Beecham's Pills

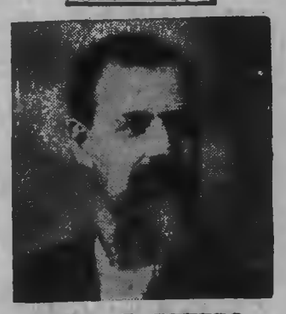
TWO SIGNIFICANT FIGURES

The two central figures at the Colonial Conference in London are Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Prime Minister of Canada, and General Botha, Premier of the Transvaal. They are not only conspicuous, the former for his inherent great qualities of statesmanship, and the latter on account of his recent history, but they are prominent as living evidences of the great success and, indeed, triumph of the historic policy of the British nation towards conquered peoples. The British policy is to follow conquest by the sword with conquest by generosity, fair treatment and the application of the world-renowned principle of British fair play. Sir Wilfrid represents the oldest evidence of the success of this policy, as the descendant of a conquered people—conquered by kindness—and a Prime Minister of a country in which a conquered people has been so thoroughly assimilated as to be dominated by British and Canadian ideals, and unswervingly loyal to them and the Empire. General Botha is now the loyal premier of a British colony, only a few short years ago in armed conflict with the Mother Land. He was received by the British people with hearty enthusiasm as a delegate to the Colonial Conference, and the Premier of Canada, of French extraction, and the Premier of the Transvaal, of Dutch extraction, had the place of honour in the London procession to the Guild Hall, the two "foreign" premiers of British colonies riding in the same carriage, living types of the magnificent triumph of the British policy of fair play and of rewarding trust with trust. Other kingdoms may wax and wane, rise and fall, but the British Empire, founded on the undying principles of justice and right, humanly promises to have no end.



MR. A. E. PETERS

President of the Record Foundry and Machine Co., of Moncton, N.B., and Montreal, P.Q.,

Mr. A. E. Peters was one of the original incorporators of this business in 1882, when it was reorganized into a joint-stock company.

Perhaps the Records Foundry and Machine Co. are known in more homes in Canada as the manufacturers of the celebrated "Penn Esther" ranges and "Admiral" and "Calorific" furnaces, than for any other reason. Their "Penn Esther" range is of the highest possible merit, and a standard to be followed by every other stove manufacturer in the Dominion.

HERPICIDE NOT A FAKE.

Unsolicited Testimonials Tell Of It's Superiority

Alf. R. Kelley, residing at 2195 Devisadero street, San Francisco, Cal., writes the following:

"When I first purchased Herpicide I thought that, like the majority of hair preparations, it would prove a fake. I a mhappy to state that, on the contrary, it is all, and even more, than you claim for it. Quite a number of barbers throughout the section in which I travel, have called attention to the new hair sprouting out on my scalp, and inquired of me what I have been using. I tell them 'Herpicide,' and also give them your name and address."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50 cents and $1. The Market Drug Store.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I would like to know whether the projecting sign bylaw passed by the council refers to awnings as well. Surely an awning, whn it bears a man's name and business inscribed upon it, becomes a sign and must therefore, under the bylaw, be removed. The council say that they are going to make the streets free for the people. A country lane is free enough but does not contain manny signs of progress.

Yours, etc.,

Baby Was Choking With Gold in Chest

PARENTS IN GREAT ANXIETY, BUT QUICK RELIEF AND CURE RESULTED FROM USE OF

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Mr. W. F. Smith, 364 Nepean street Ottawa, Ont., writes: "My sister's little baby, Albert McDermott, four months of age, was so bad with a cold on the chest that we were afraid he would choke to death. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine was obtained, and I am happy to say that it brought relief almost at once.

"The baby was completely cured by the use of three bottles, and my sister and her husband are very grateful for this cure. We shall all recommend this great medicine."

Under such circumstances does a mother feel herself so anxious and so helpless as when the child in whom her hopes are centred is seized with croup or bronchitis and struggles in vain to get its breath.

It is then she asks, "What is the most effective treatment I can buy?" and probably remembers what her friends have told her about keeping Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house for use in just such emergencies.

Any cough mixture the dealer may offer is not good enough in the face of serious illness. You must on having Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, because it has been proven by the test of time to be the most certain cure for croup, bronchitis and severe chest colds.

Children like to take Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and being composed of simple vegetable ingredients, it is well suited for their use. 25 cents a bottle, family size, 60 cents. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle.—5.

BIBLE DESTROYED GOODS STOLEN

So Affects Mr. Agustus Dundas—House Broken into While He Was in Jail.

HE KNOWS THE ROBBERS

Augustus Dundas has a tale of woe to tell of alleged wronge against him while he was serving a term in the county jail for vagrancy. He called upon Magistrate Edmison this morning and recited a lengthy story about thefts committed from his house amounting to $50, and at that he was only "half valuing the stuff."

"Gusty" as he is familiarly known, intends leaving his old home in North Monaghan next week but he has not yet decided whether he will go to Kansas or out to the Canadian West. He therefore wants to get the case settled up before his departure. He claims that a resident of East City, to whom he sold some apples and a buggy, broke into his house last fall and confiscated almost everything within his reach.

He is particularly indignant about the manner in which the old family Bible was disgraced. He alleges that the drawer in which it lay was broken open and the Bible disrespectfully torn. The sacred book was given to his father by Old Minister Taylor, he stated and that it contained a full record of the births, deaths and marriages of the Dundas family. In those days the letter "s" was made like "f" and for this reason he also valued it highly.

He claims he has exact proof as to who the perpetrator of the deed was. He had sold him the apples on the trees and also a buggy for $3.00, but instead of that $50.00 worth at least was stolen from the house. Four pair of blankets, four insides and the same number of outside shirts, a fur dog skin cap, a pair of scales, and a number of unmentionables, he alleges, were also taken. In fact he considered everything in the shape of clothes were gone with the exception of what he "wore on his back." The door, he says, was broken open with a crow bar and the house completely ransacked.

He wants action taken immediately as he wishes to leave Peterborough some time next week.

CHANGED THE POLLING PLACE IN ASPHODEL

Judge Anglin Gives This as a Reason for Quashing the Local Option By-law.

A report of the interesting case in connection with the local option by-law in Asphodel, which was quashed yesterday in Toronto by Judge Anglin, is given in the Globe to-day. It says: Re Heffernan and Township of Asphodel.—James Haverson, K.C., for Jeremiah Heffernan, moved to quash by-law No. 67 of the municipality, entitled a by-law to prohibit the sale of liquor in the Township of Asphodel, on the grounds that the by-law does not prohibit the said in other places than houses of public entertainment; that the clerk of the township was appointed a deputy returning officer; that one of the places appointed for taking votes was in the village of Norwood, outside the municipality, and that such polling place was afterwards changed. George J. Sherry, Norwood, for township corporation, contra. Order made, quashing by-law with costs, on the ground of no notice being given of change of polling place.

MANY MERCHANTS DECIVING THEIR LADY CUSTOMERS

From time to time the Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, manufacturers of the popular DIAMOND DYES, receive letters from people residing in the various provinces of Canada, telling of the attempts of retail merchants to induce the ladies to buy weak, adulterated and worthless packages of dyes when the reliable DIAMOND DYES are asked for.

These efforts of retail merchants to substitute worthless dyes should be resented by every woman and girl who has a desire to do successful home colouring.

The merchants who try to substitute and deceive the public, do so for the sake of the big profits they receive. Such merchants care little for the comfort and success of their customers.

Successful home dyeing can only be done by the use of DIAMOND DYES, which are all guaranteed to give perfect results in beautiful, bright and never-fading colours.

This month The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, P. Q., will send free to any address new Diamond Dye Booklet and pretty Souvenir Card for baby. You should have them.

GRENADIERS PREFER TRIP HERE

Would Rather Come to This City Than Go To Rochester—Captain Porter Here.

MATTER NOT SETTLED YET

Captain Porter of the Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, was in the city yesterday, and called upon Lt.-Col. Miller when the question of the Grenadiers' proposed trip to Peterborough on May 24th, was talked over. Captain Porter who was here merely on a business trip and not officially, in the interest of the Grenadiers, stated that the men of the regiment favoured the Peterborough trip. They had received an invitation to go to Rochester, but the men had expressed themselves as preferring to come to this city. The matter has not yet been decided upon by the officers of the Grenadiers, but will be taken up in a short time.

Otonabee Navigation Opening To-morrow

Steamer Water Lily Will Make the First of Her Season's Trips to Rice Lake on Friday.

RETURNS ON SATURDAY

Navigation, so far as the Otonabee River is concerned, will open to-morrow. The steamer Water-Lily, now owned by the Otonabee Navigation Company, and last year owned and sailed by Captain White, will leave for Rice Lake, in command of Captain Frewer, who will be master of the steamer this season.

On Saturday the Lily will return to Peterborough on her first Saturday trip of the season, barrying passengers from Rice Lake ports. She will be on this route during the present season, as in previous years, and will no doubt be equally popular.

During the winter she has been thoroughly overhauled and repaired, and will start out the season in splendid shape.

Captain White, who was in charge of the Water Lily himself last season, will, this year, be on the new steamer, Otonebee, which will be used largely for excursions. The new steamer will be ready to take the water in the course of a short time, and will be ready for the excursion business. As a result of the construction of this new boat, it is probable that the excursion business to and from Peterborough this summer will be more extensive than ever before. Already a number are booked by the new boat, and the management expects an unusually busy season.

"Royal Chef" Company Will Sing Mr. C. Yokome's New Song

Will be Sung by Soloist and Full Chorus on Monday Night—A Catchy "Japanesy," Song.

"THE FLOWER OF JAPAN"

It will be a source of interest to local theatregoers to learn that at the production of "The Royal Chef" at the Grand Opera House on Monday night, a new song, entitled "The Flower of Japan," written by Mr. Croyland Yokome, of this city, will be featured by one of the soloists and full chorus. Mr. Yokome has received a telegram from Mr. Ben. M. Jerome, the talented composer and musical director of this famous musical comedy, that the company is at present rehearsing "The Flower of Japan" in Toronto, where "The Royal Chef" is being greeted with a full house at the Grand every night this week.

"The Royal Chef" is one of the best musical comedies that will appear in Peterborough this year. Its vocal score has many successes that are bound to last, and that Mr. Yokome's song has been accepted by this company is certainly a recognition of its merit and a distinction for its composer.

"The Flower of Japan" is bound to make a hit. It has something of that sparkling Oriental tinge which Vivian Grey made famous in "Karama." The catchy music is most appropriate for the pretty love story that the words relate, and as a bright, tuneful solo, is as dainty as any that have been lately copyrighted. Mr. Yokome is very fortunate in having "The Royal Chef" company present it to the music-lovers of this city.

The music was written by the North American Publishing Company of New York, which is sufficient guarantee of its merit. Mr. J. M. Greene has a limited number of copies of the song for sale.

This is Mr. Yokome's first effort in song writing, and it has proved to be a splendid success. It is also a distinction for him, since there have been few, if any, writers from this city who have achieved any success. Mr. Yokome is a young man whose future gives promise of great results in the musical arena.

Firm In Nice, France, Sends For Local Firm's Catalogue

A signal distinction has been given a local firm, J. J. Turner & Sons, tent manufacturers. This morning they received a letter from Nice, France, from a firm, asking to be supplied with copies of the catalogue issued by the local firm.

The letter stated that the writers had heard of the local firm, and, being in the market for the class of goods manufactured by them had written to be supplied with catalogues and price lists. The letter was written in English, and it is unnecessary to state that the request contained in the letter was gladly complied with.

The noon mail to-day carried copies of the catalogue asked for, with a letter stating that the firm would be glad to carry out any commissions entrusted to it.

WELCOMED THEIR NEW PASTOR

Successful Reception to Rev. Mr. Keith by People of Knox Presbyterian Church.

EVENING WAS ENJOYABLE

A very successful and enjoyable reception was tendered Rev. H. J. Keith and Mrs. Keith, by the congregation of Knox Presbyterian church last night. Between two and three hundred persons were present and the spirit that characterized the gathering was one of enthusiasm in connection with the future of the church and good will towards the first pastor. Knox church sets out upon its independent career with the brightest of prospects, and with a congregation that is earnest and enthusiastic.

Rev. Mr. Keith and Mrs. Keith received the people at the door as they came and thus were speedily acquainted with the members of the congregation present.

Mr. J. F. Morrison acted as chairman and during the evening speeches in which a hearty welcome was extended to the new-comers, were made by Rev. A. H. Brace, of the Park street Baptist church; Rev. Dr. Torrance of St. Paul's; and Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's. Rev. William Major and Rev. H. M. Manning, pastors of the other two churches in the neighbourhood, were unable to be present.

Rev. Mr. Keith made an appropriate reply, stating that he was very much pleased with what he had seen of Peterborough, and his people, and expressing bright hopes for the future of the church.

A brief but very enjoyable musical programme was rendered consisting of an instrumental selection by Miss Winnie Anderson, and vocal solos by Miss Gwen. Hall and Mr. Duncan Campbell, all the numbers being received with hearty applause.

Delightful refreshments provided by the ladies, were partaken of. The tables were artistically decorated with flowers and presented a very attractive appearance. A most enjoyable social evening was brought to a close shortly after ten o'clock with prayer by Rev. Dr. Torrance.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN LONDERVILLE

A well known and highly respected resident of Peterborough has passed away in the person of Florine L. Puffer, wife of Mr. John Londerville, 56 Sophia street East City, whose death occurred at the Nicholls Hospital at 10 o'clock this morning. The deceased was taken to the hospital on Saturday, and underwent an operation on Tuesday, but it failed to save her. She was a former resident of Hastings, but had lived in Peterborough for five years, during which time she made many friends to whom the news of her death will come as a great shock. She was a member of St. Luke's church.

The deceased is survived by her husband and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Puffer, and one sister, Miss Irma Puffer, residing in Hastings. The remains have been taken to 518 Water street, where her friends will have an opportunity of viewing her mortal form for the last time. The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon in Hastings, the remains leaving on the 8.40 train to-morrow morning, and to-night at 8.30 a service will be held at the residence of Mr. James E. Henderson, 518 Water street. The deceased was a prominent worker in St. Luke's church, and until recently was president of the Girls' Auxiliary.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE AUXILIARY

Twenty-second Anniversary of the W. A. of the Anglican Church Celebrated Last Night.

AN INTERESTING ADDRESS

The 22nd anniversary of the founding of the Women's Auxiliary, of the Anglican Church, was celebrated by the three branches in the city last evening at St. Luke's church.

A large number of the members of this missionary organization was present and were deeply interested in the earnest and instructive address delivered by Rev. J. McQueen Baldwin, a veteran missionary from Japan, who is home on furlough.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of the rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, through illness, Rev. Canon Davidson conducted the opening service. After the singing of the hymn and evening prayer had been said, Canon Davidson, in appropriate words, introduced the speaker of the evening. He also congratulated the Woman's Auxiliary, on the splendid work they were doing in the cause of missions.

Rev. Mr. Baldwin prefaced his earnest and thoughtful adress, by also adding a few remarks of congratulation to the W. A. on their splendid work done through God's instrumentality. He wished that the men of the church would take such an active interest in missionary effort.

The reverend gentleman spoke first of missionary work in Japan in the 16th century. Japan was then under the missionary guidance of Rome. It was not until 260 years later that Commodore Perry sailed up the bay to Tokio, and was able to make treaties with Japan, and soon after the country was opened up to trade and commerce with western countries. It was not long after, that the Church Missionary Society began its great work. It was in 1869 the first missionary was sent. In 1888 Rev. J. Cooper Robinson went to Japan, and was followed a year after by Rev. Mr. Baldwin, who worked with Mr. Robinson in South Tokio. Some time afterwards Mr. Baldwin began his work in a place called Tomabasha, on which his remarks were particularly based. The missionary said it was on Advent Sunday, 1896, that the first regular service was held in this place. Services had been held at irregular intervals previous to this, and there were present fifty baptized persons and thirty-four communicants at the first service. At present they worshipped in a hired house, but a fund of $500 had been raised by the people and his request to the headquarters of the W. A. for help, which, he was glad to say, was received most favourably.

Mr. Baldwin gave a description of the room in which the service was held. The floor of the room upstairs was laid with mats, and everyone had to remove their boots before going upstairs. The service in this room was only for those who were members. The people sat on the floor. They also had a room downstairs, where persons who had never heard the gospel were invited. In this room an attractive service was held, consisting of a number of hymns, short prayers and two addresses.

The speaker went on to tell of the work carried on in Japan in general. He related many instances of men who were led to believe in the gospel. He spoke of difficulties that had to be contended with, and also told of many interesting features of the work.

In conclusion, he hoped that the W. A., feeling that they had a part in this great work, would instil their husbands with a desire to do greater work for the missionary cause. He hoped they would work steadily on till the church was awakened to the responsibility of Christianizing the world, and that the twentieth century would see Japan, China and other heathen lands won for Christ.

A collection was taken for missionary purposes.

Rev. Wm. Major was unable to attend, owing to having another service at the same hour.

PUT BILLBOARDS IN THE WINDOWS

One Merchant Suggests This as a Means of Bringing Aldermen to Their Senses.

One city merchant, who, though he has no projecting signs himself, sees what he believes to be an injustice in the enforcement of the bylaw, suggested, as a means of bringing that section of the governing body which insists on the enforcement of the bylaw, to its senses, that the merchants agree among themselves to place signs on their windows in the form of bill boards, and emphasize the unreasonableness of the new regulations.

Crowded Out

In saying we are crowded out of our commodious Housefurnishings Department, which comprises the entire third floor, we mean it in every sense of the word. The contractors have taken possession of this part of the store and destruction follows in their wake, i. e., to the building, but we are going to make the best of it, and instead of moving all of our beautiful stock of Carpets, Linoleums, Art Draperies, Lace Curtains, etc., to the fourth floor, we are going to submit them to a heartless sacrifice, regardless of what excellent values we heretofore considered them. These goods were not bought for this purpose, nor did we contemplate such a thing when we imported from the best manufacturers across the ocean. This magnificent stock of English Tapestries, Brussels, Velvets and Wiltons, all must go now at prices never before heard of in this class of goods.
